THAT CONFISCATION—One of the ladies whose grips were confiscated a few days ago at Borden, called on the Guardian yesterday evening and indignantly denied the statements made in yesterday's Patriot regarding the regrettable affair. The ladies were on board the train from the car ferry to Borden station. Two of the grips were between the seats in the car and one at the side of one of the seats. No boys carried their grips. The husbands of two of the women accompanied the party and they carried the grips from the steamer to the car. The confiscation took place, as previously stated in The Guardian, in the presence of a carload of passengers en route to the Island.

THE MARKETS (Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1.—(Eggs) Canadian egg markets are generally unchanged and firm today.

Toronto—The local egg market is firm with extras in demand, buying prices are unchanged. Wholesalers are selling to retailers at extras 42, firsts 38, seconds 31.

Montreal—The local situation is firm with wholesalers selling to dealers at extras 43, firsts 38, seconds 33. The market is higher for good quality eggs of current receipts.

Edmonton—The local egg market is steady. Receipts are falling off but consumptive demand is also lighter and there is still a surplus of local requirements.

Halifax—The local egg market is quiet with no change in prices.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—The export trade in Canadian grain here today was moderate and sales of wheat and oats were made to the United Kingdom and the continent. The domestic trade was also good. An easier feeling again prevailed in the market for Canadian Western oats and prices were reduced another cent per bushel. The foreign and local demand for spring wheat grades of flour showed a slight improvement and a moderate amount of business was done at steady prices. The winter wheat flour market was quiet and values were unchanged. A feature of the millfeed trade was the weakness that developed and prices for bran were reduced $2 per ton and shorts declined $4 per ton. This was attributed to the break in the U. S. Market and falling off in the demand. Standard grades of rolled oats were steady with a small trace passing. A moderate amount of business was done in butter and the undertone to the market was firm. The receipts were 41 packages. The trade in cheese was inactive owing to the fact that buyers showed little disposition to operate at the present level of prices. The receipts were 4,397 boxes. A stronger feeling developed in the egg market and prices for extras were marked up one cent per dozen. The demand continued good. The receipts were 1,006 cases. The bean market was active and firm. New crop were quoted at $2.40 to $2.59 per bushel for car lots to arrive, ex track, while old grades in car lots sold at $3.90 per bushel.

The Late Captain Finlayson

The death occurred in this city on Tuesday evening of Captain Allan Finlayson, Master Mariner, a man who had followed the sea for over half a century, twenty-five years of which was spent in command of the different ice breaking steamers which have successively plied between this province and the mainland.

He was born at Eldon, April 14, 1842 and was a son of the late Angus Finlayson. In 1858 when only sixteen years of age he started going to sea in the barque "Hero" owned by the Honourable Joseph Wightman of St. Andrew's Point opposite Georgetown.

After having served on many ships he secured his masters papers in Glasgow in 1868, and in 1876 entered the service of the Marine Department, receiving his appointment at the hands of the late Hon. J. C. Pope, then Minister of Marine.

It was given command of the "Northern Light"—the first real ice breaker to be used between the Island and the mainland. He remained with her until she was withdrawn from her service in 1888, when he assumed command of the new C. G. S. "Stanley" which replaced her. In 1899, he became master of C. G. S. "Minto", which in that year was added to the service.

It will be remembered by many that in the winter of 1903, the ice conditions were the worst that had ever been encountered since the inauguration of the winter services. The "Stanley" then commanded by Capt. Brown, while running on the Summerside-Tormentine route, got stuck in the ice, and was held fast for several days.

The "Minto", under Captain Finlayson's command, went to her assistance, but in doing so lost two blades from her propeller, and was herself stuck in the ice pack, where she lay for sixteen days. Finally on St. Patrick's day, the "Stanley" worked herself clear and cutting her way through to the "Minto", released her also.

In 1911 at the end of December Captain Finlayson resigned from the "Minto" and took the position of storekeeper at the Marine Wharf Charlottetown. He was offered the command of the "Earl Grey" but having served at sea for fifty-three years he felt that it was time for him to retire.

In 1920 he left the service having been supernumerary. Captain Finlayson was, in very truth, a gentleman of the old school. Although somewhat reserved in disposition and stern and unbending in the faithful discharge of his responsible duties, he was yet a man who respected others and looked for a similar respect from them to himself. He was tendered honours and appreciation for his skill as a safe and sure navigator from the highest personages in the land and his knowledge of the waters surrounding our country and beyond.

His shores were second to none. Captain Finlayson had been in failing health ever since his birthday on April 14th and since then he has been gradually growing weaker. His wife, a sister of the late Honourable George Forbes of Vernon River predeceased him, also his daughter Edith, and one son Edgar, the latter being killed in France in 1918.

There are left to mourn one son, George, and four daughters, Mrs. Lucas of Halifax, Blanche, Myrtle and Alma.

MISS MARY CLOW It was with feelings of sadness that the many friends and acquaintances of Mary Clow learned of her untimely death, which occurred at her home on the fifth of July, and in the twenty second year of her age.

The deceased was the second eldest daughter of James P. and Jennie Clow, of Murray Harbor North, and lived with her parents until about five years ago. She moved to Montague, where she was a respected employee in the Poole Hotel, and with the Montague Furnishing Co.

At both of these places she won the esteem and confidence of the proprietors for the efficient and faithful performance of all her varied duties.

Besides being trustworthy Mary was also a charming girl, her genial smile and dimpled cheeks, betokened a warm heart, from which issued a sunny radiance that made her a general favorite with every one.

It seems strange that one so young and companionable, and apparently in vigorous health, should be stricken and in a few months clasped in the cold and icy embrace of death, but we know that God in His inscrutable wisdom doth everything for the best, and it is our duty to bow to His Holy Will, and to remember that "In the midst of life we are in death."

During her sickness she received the best medical skill, and was tenderly and lovingly nursed by her sister Lucy, which in Montague, then as the weather grew warmer, she was taken to her old home, where everything possible was done by a loving mother and father and brothers to restore her to health, but to no avail, as in a few weeks her Spirit passed to Its Eternal re-

In Memoriam

MRS. ELIZABETH MATHESON The passing of Mrs. Elizabeth Matheson, late of Brackley Point, widow of the late James Matheson, which occurred at the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Friday last was an event of unusual suddenness and many friends.

The late Mrs. Matheson had been visiting with her daughters, Mrs. Jas. E. Shaw, of Watertown, Mass., and Mrs. William Brown of Woburn, Mass., for the past year or so and within a week of her demise had returned to her old home. At the time when she was taken ill she was with her brother, Mr. William W. Robinson at Robinson's Island, Rustico.

Although the deceased lady had been indisposed for a short time last March no serious symptoms developed until she was taken ill a few days ago when she was ordered to the hospital for treatment. An operation, which was performed, unfortunately, failed to be of effect in her case, and she gradually sank until the end came.

Mrs. Matheson leaves to mourn her sudden demise besides her two daughters above mentioned, two brothers, Charles S. Robinson and William W. Robinson, as well as a number of grandchildren, one of whom is Miss Sunie Shaw in the employ of Moore & McLeod, Ltd., of this city. The other grandchildren, including Miss Alba Shaw and Miss Fern Shaw, formerly of Charlottetown, are living with their parents in Massachusetts.

The funeral was held from the home of Mr. Charles S. Robinson on Sunday last and was largely attended. Interment took place at the Rustico Anglican Church burying ground. Service at the home was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wilson of Covehead, and at the church and grave by Rev. Mr. Johnston of Milton.

The pallbearers were David Prout and Frederick Prout of North River, Neil L. Robinson of Charlottetown, M. A. Shaw, Edward Shaw, and Cleveland Robinson of Brackley Point.

To the bereaved relatives the Guardian extends deep sympathy.

MRS. W. H. SUTHERLAND GAGETOWN, Aug. 1.—Word was received by relatives here this morning of the death of Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Dr. W. H. Sutherland, recently re-elected member for Revelstoke, B. C., which occurred at the family residence in Foul Bay road, Victoria, B. C., on Saturday, July 28. Mrs. Sutherland had been in somewhat failing health for several months but only during the last few days had her condition given rise to alarm.

Previous to her marriage she was Miss Lillian O'Donahue, of Ottawa, a sister of Lt.-Col. J. Vincent O'Donahue, D. S. O., who commanded the Irish Rangers during the war. The deceased was kind where Dr. Sutherland has since represented Revelstoke in the British Columbia Legislature, being Minister of Public Works and later Minister of Railways under the late Mr. Macaern administration.

He was re-elected a member of a large majority over the other candidates in his constituency. Mrs. Sutherland throughout his public life had been of great assistance to her husband and had a host of friends wherever she had been, including many in the Maritime Provinces, where news of her death will be heard with regret.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Sutherland leaves three daughters and one son. The daughters are the Misses Helen and Mary Sutherland, attending the University of British Columbia, and Miss Patricia and Master William Sutherland, at home. Miss Helen Sutherland, who made her debut on the occasion of the last visit of the Prince of Wales to British Columbia was one of his partners at the ball given in his honor. Dr. Sutherland, who is a native of Prince Edward Island, is a brother of J. S. Sutherland, manager of the Gagetown branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

MISS MARY CLOW It was with feelings of sadness that the many friends and acquaintances of Mary Clow learned of her untimely death, which occurred at her home on the fifth of July, and in the twenty second year of her age.

The deceased was the second eldest daughter of James P. and Jennie Clow, of Murray Harbor North, and lived with her parents until about five years ago. She moved to Montague, where she was a respected employee in the Poole Hotel, and with the Montague Furnishing Co.

During her sickness she received the best medical skill, and was tenderly and lovingly nursed by her sister Lucy, which in Montague, then as the weather grew warmer, she was taken to her old home, where everything possible was done by a loving mother and father and brothers to restore her to health, but to no avail, as in a few weeks her Spirit passed to Its Eternal reward, and her body was laid in the old family plot within sight of her father's home.

Besides a large circle of friends and acquaintances she leaves to mourn her death, her father and mother, four brothers, Stanley, Edward and Roy at home and Jack in Montague, and two sisters, Mrs. James Lowery in Montague, and Evelyn at home.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. D. V. O'Meara. The pall bearers were Allison McLean, Alfred Lowery, Forest Clow, of Montague, and George Clow, Thomas Clow and Edward Miller of Murray Harbor North.

The Hymns sung were, The Lord is my Shepherd, Rock of Ages, Shall we meet beyond the river. Solo, Mrs. Garrick, Montague. Sometime we'll understand.

Floral tributes were as follows: Pillow—The family; Crescent—Lucy and Jim; Wreath—Montague Furnishing Co.; Wreath—Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Wightman and staff of Kings Co. Garage; Crescent—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Garrick; Crescent—Mr. and Mrs. Neil Macdonald; Spray—Sister Mary George Hemphill and Margaret Crozier; Spray—Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Sleep on beloved and take thy rest. Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast. We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best. Good night. Until we meet again before His Throne, Clothed in the Apostle's robe I give his own. Until we know even as we are known. Good night.

HARRY J. E. HIGGINBOTHAM 1928

The whole community surrounding Cambridge were shocked when it became known that on Saturday, July 14th, Mr. Harry Higginbotham, an esteemed citizen of Cambridge, had suddenly passed away at the early age of 43 years.

Although not in the best of health for some time, this sad event was quite unexpected and came as a severe shock to his family, and to the many relatives and friends to whom Harry was so well and favorably known.

The best medical skill combined with careful nursing and tender care proved ineffective, and almost amidst the activities of a busy life he was called home.

The dealings of Providence is mysterious and beyond our narrow earthly conception, yet we cannot doubt but God in His infinite wisdom doeth all things well.

The deceased was a son of the late Frederick and Mrs. Higginbotham, of Cambridge, and was a general favorite with all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance—kind, cheerful and obliging he will be missed by a host of friends.

In the home, to which he was so much attached, he will indeed, be sorely missed by the bereaved wife, mother and children.

Yet we are assured that their Heavenly Father will care for them through every trial, if he confide in Him in their sorrow.

The following brothers and sisters survive: Thomas, Coleman, Alta.; Carrie, (Mrs. Frank Vuozzo) Montague; Laura (Mrs. Benj. Richards) Cambridge; Annie (Mrs. Nell Van Iderstine) Peters Road; Gladstone, Cambridge; Daisy (Mrs. Albert McLeod) Cambridge.

Besides the bereaved wife and his aged mother the following are the family at home: Gladstone, David, Marion McDonald, Bessie, Lorne, Neil Van Iderstine, Hector, Bruce and Janie Amanda.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. D. V. O'Meara, who spoke most appropriately on the sad occasion. The services at the grave were conducted by his brethren of the Orange Society.

The following hymns were sung: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" "Lead Kindly Light" "Nearer my God to Thee" "Does Jesus Care" "Shall we gather at the River?" The pall-bearers were: (Messrs) Cameron Clow, William McMillan, Stanley Graham, Arthur Reynolds, William Graham, and Benj. Sennebaugh. The assemblage at the home and procession to the New Cemetery at Peters Road was very large.

Mr. H. R. Stephenson, General Manager of the Crown Life Insurance Co., who, with Mr. R. C. Macdonald, Maritime Superintendent, will be in Charlottetown today and will address the Life Underwriters Associations.

AIR THRILLS FOUND CLOSE TO GROUND.

BOSTON, July 26.—Stunt flying holds out no thrills to the aviator unless he performs at a dangerously low altitude, according to Lieutenant Francis E. Crowley, one of the crack stunt fliers of the United States Army.

Army airmen are under orders to perform no stunts under 500 feet from the ground, and 1000 feet is declared preferable.

"There is no particular thrill to the aviator in doing his stuff at that altitude," Lieutenant Crowley declares. "Although the spectators may be gasping at the apparent audacity of the manoeuvres, to the flier it is old, conventional stuff for which he has been trained."

"But if they let us come low, our thrill comes in wondering if we are going to clear the ground when we start a loop, or if on climbing a bank, that is when a flier has not quite reached the altitude he seeks, he is decidedly out of luck. The plane will fall into a spin and there is no chance to get out of it because of the low altitude."

"If a flier falls into a spin at a high altitude, he has a certain chance to recover, but at a low altitude it
