

New Suits Arrived For The Races

Dress up in one of our new suits, cut and tailored by our made to measure firm Shiffer Hillman and Master Tailor...

J. P. MacPherson & Son

QUEEN STREET CHARLOTTETOWN

The Central Guardian

This column is reserved for news of local interest, but advertising of a newsworthy nature may be inserted at 6 cents a word, strictly payable in advance.

COOKS for Photographs. L-1995-7-2-L July 30

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE. L-9788

SUMMER SPECIALS.—A lot of summer dresses and coats clearing at one third price discount.

POLICE COURT—Three juveniles appeared before Magistrate K. M. Martin in the Police Court yesterday charged with theft of cigarettes.

CENTRAL PARISH CHURCH SERVICES for August 10th. The Rev. J. C. Lord's Supper Cance Cove 10.30 A.M. and 7.30 P.M.

TWO VACANCIES—With the recent retirement of John MacLeod, station master at Royalty Junction, two C. N. R. stations in this province are left temporarily without agents.

HOLD CLOSING MEETING—The Enna Getic Club of Mt. Hermon held the closing meeting of the season in the Orphanage on Monday evening last.

INTERESTING VIEWS OF P. E. ISLAND—Water color paintings of interesting views of Prince Edward Island by G. H. Landenberg...

EDEN REVEALS Middle East—where troops are ready to stand in Syria and Iraq facing Iran.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE RE-ORGANIZED—A meeting was held in the Mt. Albion Hall on the evening of Tuesday, August 5th.

RECEIVED SAD NEWS—Mrs. R. E. Kemp of this city has received the sad news of the death of her uncle, Mr. Allan Hazard...

MEMORIAL TABLE TO BE UNVEILED—Much interest is evident in the service to be held in the Charlottetown United Church, August 10th when a tablet to the memory of the late Rev. Robert Laird, minister to the Prince...

PERSONALS Mrs. Murdock MacKenzie and daughter Jean left yesterday morning for Toronto to spend a month's vacation visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alex Corbett.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. F. G. Spencer, Saint John, is in the city.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

Trinity United Church

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7th 8.00—Midweek Prayer Service.

VISITED HERE UNOFFICIALLY—Mr. H. G. Muntz, Montreal, British Trade Commissioner, left the province yesterday for a holiday holiday spent at Bedeque.

DELIGHTED WITH HOLIDAY—Recent visitors to the province were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Holmes, Charlottetown, who spent a few days here.

CENTRAL PARISH CHURCH SERVICES for August 10th. The Rev. J. C. Lord's Supper Cance Cove 10.30 A.M. and 7.30 P.M.

TWO VACANCIES—With the recent retirement of John MacLeod, station master at Royalty Junction, two C. N. R. stations in this province are left temporarily without agents.

HOLD CLOSING MEETING—The Enna Getic Club of Mt. Hermon held the closing meeting of the season in the Orphanage on Monday evening last.

INTERESTING VIEWS OF P. E. ISLAND—Water color paintings of interesting views of Prince Edward Island by G. H. Landenberg...

EDEN REVEALS Middle East—where troops are ready to stand in Syria and Iraq facing Iran.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE RE-ORGANIZED—A meeting was held in the Mt. Albion Hall on the evening of Tuesday, August 5th.

RECEIVED SAD NEWS—Mrs. R. E. Kemp of this city has received the sad news of the death of her uncle, Mr. Allan Hazard...

MEMORIAL TABLE TO BE UNVEILED—Much interest is evident in the service to be held in the Charlottetown United Church, August 10th when a tablet to the memory of the late Rev. Robert Laird, minister to the Prince...

PERSONALS Mrs. Murdock MacKenzie and daughter Jean left yesterday morning for Toronto to spend a month's vacation visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alex Corbett.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Mrs. L. C. Snider, New York, arrived in Charlottetown last night to join her husband, Dr. L. C. Snider, who has been here several weeks in the interests of the Cities Service Oil Company.

PERSONALS Mrs. Edgar C. Duff with her two children David and Mary arrived last evening from Montreal, on a visit to her parents, Dr. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Ayers with her daughter, Charlotte, is also spending the summer at her old home, her husband, Capt. McCutcheon having gone overseas with the McGill Medical Corps some two months ago.

PERSONALS Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiggins of Ottawa are visiting Mr. Kiggins' brother, Mr. James Kiggins, Cumberland St., and Mr. James Atkins of Mount Stewart.

PERSONALS Miss Lillian Walsh has arrived from Boston to spend a vacation, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emily McAulay of St. Avards.

'Iron Duke' Tea Canteen Closes Triumphal Tour

Blitz-scarred Relic Seen by Nearly A Million People.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Last week its 2,000 mile tour of Ontario and Quebec came to an end with a visit to the Montreal City Hall where Miss Flora Wright and representatives of the Queen's Canadian Fund presented one of the British Government's official war paintings to the city as a memento of the 'Duke's' visit to Montreal.

The 'Iron Duke', Britain's famous blitz-scarred mobile tea canteen which has been on tour for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is at last on leave after months of effective war work on two continents.

Girls who keep skin sweet win out

YOU'LL FIND A DAILY LUX TOILET SOAP BEAUTY BATH MAKES YOU SURE OF DAINTINESS—LEAVES SKIN DELICATELY FRAGRANT

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Although the primary object of the tour was to show contributors to the Queen's Canadian Fund one of the important uses to which the donations were being put and to give them a better understanding of the need of air-raid victims, collections made during the tour swelled the fund by thousands of dollars, collected mostly in nickels and dimes.

Thousands of miles from the front-line it continued to serve the people of Britain as it brought some of the atmosphere of wartime conditions in the Old Country into scores of cities and towns.

Officials of the Queen's Canadian Fund estimate that close to 1,000,000 people saw the famous tea wagon during its eleven weeks tour of Ontario and Quebec which reached a climax in Montreal last week when 10,000 citizens led by Mayor Adhemar Raynault jammed

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Although the primary object of the tour was to show contributors to the Queen's Canadian Fund one of the important uses to which the donations were being put and to give them a better understanding of the need of air-raid victims, collections made during the tour swelled the fund by thousands of dollars, collected mostly in nickels and dimes.

Thousands of miles from the front-line it continued to serve the people of Britain as it brought some of the atmosphere of wartime conditions in the Old Country into scores of cities and towns.

Officials of the Queen's Canadian Fund estimate that close to 1,000,000 people saw the famous tea wagon during its eleven weeks tour of Ontario and Quebec which reached a climax in Montreal last week when 10,000 citizens led by Mayor Adhemar Raynault jammed

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Although the primary object of the tour was to show contributors to the Queen's Canadian Fund one of the important uses to which the donations were being put and to give them a better understanding of the need of air-raid victims, collections made during the tour swelled the fund by thousands of dollars, collected mostly in nickels and dimes.

Thousands of miles from the front-line it continued to serve the people of Britain as it brought some of the atmosphere of wartime conditions in the Old Country into scores of cities and towns.

Officials of the Queen's Canadian Fund estimate that close to 1,000,000 people saw the famous tea wagon during its eleven weeks tour of Ontario and Quebec which reached a climax in Montreal last week when 10,000 citizens led by Mayor Adhemar Raynault jammed

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Although the primary object of the tour was to show contributors to the Queen's Canadian Fund one of the important uses to which the donations were being put and to give them a better understanding of the need of air-raid victims, collections made during the tour swelled the fund by thousands of dollars, collected mostly in nickels and dimes.

Thousands of miles from the front-line it continued to serve the people of Britain as it brought some of the atmosphere of wartime conditions in the Old Country into scores of cities and towns.

Officials of the Queen's Canadian Fund estimate that close to 1,000,000 people saw the famous tea wagon during its eleven weeks tour of Ontario and Quebec which reached a climax in Montreal last week when 10,000 citizens led by Mayor Adhemar Raynault jammed

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Although the primary object of the tour was to show contributors to the Queen's Canadian Fund one of the important uses to which the donations were being put and to give them a better understanding of the need of air-raid victims, collections made during the tour swelled the fund by thousands of dollars, collected mostly in nickels and dimes.

Thousands of miles from the front-line it continued to serve the people of Britain as it brought some of the atmosphere of wartime conditions in the Old Country into scores of cities and towns.

Officials of the Queen's Canadian Fund estimate that close to 1,000,000 people saw the famous tea wagon during its eleven weeks tour of Ontario and Quebec which reached a climax in Montreal last week when 10,000 citizens led by Mayor Adhemar Raynault jammed

Phillips Square to greet the 'Duke' during a vivid simulated air-raid staged by the Montreal police, fire department and Civilian Protection Corps.

Starting out from Ottawa, where it was inspected by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, the canteen proceeded westward into the Niagara Peninsula, going as far as Windsor before heading up into Northern Ontario where the Dionne Quintuplets were among those who clambered aboard it.

Five Boys' and Girls' poultry Clubs operate

Mr. A.F. Darnell, officer in charge Poultry Marketing and Production Services advises that five Boys' & Girls' Poultry Clubs are being operated in this province this year at the following points:

Mt. Herbert, with 11 members, and as President, Daniel Driscoll, Vice-President, Erwin Jenkins, Secretary Albert Jins.

Mermaid, 11 members, President Kathleen Doyle, Vice-President, Richard Currie and Secretary Athol MacDonald.

Indian River, 10 members, President Allan MacLellan, Vice-President, Carl Ramsay, Secretary Bernice Gillis.

Fort Augustus, 13 members, President Arnold Dalton and Secretary Harold Weatherbie.

These members purchased a total of 6,763 chicks. Mortality was very light and chicks are now showing good development.

The objects of the Poultry Club Policy are to stimulate greater interest in a community, and to develop a more general knowledge of poultry management and marketing.

To give the young people practical instruction in poultry judging so that they may have a sufficient knowledge of the desirable utility and breed type in poultry to enable them to select breeding stock intelligently.

Each club holds monthly meetings at which time lessons for study are reviewed. Local fairs are held with judging competitions, followed by a central judging competition, and the team winning the province at the National Competition to be held at Toronto.

All expenses for the trip are taken care of by the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

Prize money for local and central competitions is provided by the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, and in addition the Provincial Department pays a bonus of $4.00 a hundred on chicks purchased by club members from approved hatcheries within the province.

Mr. Darnell reports that interest in poultry among club members is excellent, and competition this year should be very keen.

Address and Presentation

Sgt. A. B. Martin, C. G. & J. left on Sunday last to report his unit in Halifax, after ten days leave spent pleasantly at his home in Springfield. Previous to his departure a large number of relatives and friends gathered in the school house to wish him God speed.

Mr. Ewen Lamont called the meeting to order and called on Mr. Chalmers MacLeod, who read the following address:

Dear Allister: We are again assembled to bid farewell and to seek to honour one of our number who has enlisted in the defence of King and Country, and our difficulty of the moment is to honour him enough. The commission of war brings a grim situation, one that is difficult to face; but alas it is here, and when it is here it is a matter of pride and abiding satisfaction that our young men are made of such mettle, that they are possessed of such spiritual resources, that they flinch not from going down into the valley of the shadows to face this thing. One day over a year ago while delivering an address of welcome to those brave sailors who returned victors from that naval battle on the South American shore, Mr. Chaurchill said in a ringing voice: "That British bulldog breed still lives," and if that bulldog breed that has so often fought, and of whom many are right on their taps to fight for the cause of right, justice and liberty, we might add that they are not all found on the other side of the Atlantic. We have our representatives of them here, and we are just as proud of them as they are. We are sorry that we are not all millionaires so that we could present you with a princely gift that would be in keeping with your service to our country, but we can ask you to accept this little gift of ours with the greatest confidence, knowing that you will not make the mistake of using the smallness of our gift as a yardstick to measure the depth of our affection and appreciation.

It is quite likely that in a fairly short time you will be gone from our midst, gone but not forgotten, for right here there are some people who of you can say, with pardonable pride, "he is flesh of my flesh, and bone of my bone." These can never forget, for joyfully, longingly, yearningly, they will be remembering you. As for the neighbors, they won't be so very far behind them in the fondness of their interest in your welfare.

It is our earnest wish and hope that the firm of A. Hilder & Co. will soon meet with such an end as they so richly deserve, so that our brave boys may soon return home, where they will be so heartily welcomed.

A well filled purse was then presented to Sgt. Martin by Mr. Will Cameron, for which Allister thanked his friends briefly and sincerely. All joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow", following which the ladies served lunch, and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse and dancing. Music was supplied by Mr. Ewen Lamont, Mr. Sam Champion and Todd's Orchestra. L-171.

PRIPET PROPULSION

Flat-bottomed boats, propelled by poles are the principal means of transportation in Poland's Pripet marshes.

Old Home Week And Provincial Exhibition notes

The entry list for Old Home Week races August 12th to 15th is one of the largest on record. 93 individual horses make 163 entries.

Every class is filled and there will be some wonderful contests, of that there can be no doubt. The fastest and best trotters and pacers in Canada will measure strides on a fast track and fast time is sure to be hung out. Race days will be gala days indeed, days that will dispel away our cares and worries and fill us full of new zest to counter the difficulties of the days to come.

Make up your mind to spend at least one afternoon and evening at Old Home Week.

What seemed to be an ammunition store went up with a "catastrophic" explosion after another stack of bombs fell.

Another pilot said it "looked as though the industrial part of Karlsruhe be ablaze from end to end."

The attacks last night were part of the ever-growing E. A. F. offensive which, according to the Press Association, has seen the weight of bombs dropped by aircraft of the bomber command more than trebled in a year.

Figures were not announced but the total weight for July was nearly 3 1/2 times greater than in July, 1940, although weather conditions last year were more favorable.

At the same time, the operational strength was nearly doubled and there was a still greater increase in operational reserve.

Nazis Issue

most fantastic in magnitude," D. N. B. described them — were anywhere close to accurate, the Russian dead in this fierce campaign only seven weeks old already exceeded the total of 1,700,000 lost by Russians in the first Great War.

The Russian wounded in the present campaign did not even figure in the German reports or estimates.

Nothing was said of German losses either in men or material, only that the German army was preparing to strike another blow.

Although the German reports, blared over the radio with great ceremony, were hailed as "triumphal," the high command was unable to announce that any additional large cities had fallen to the Nazis and there were no great claims of territories taken.

It was merely claimed that the German army had broken into the broad regions west of Moscow and south of Kiev. These two cities and Leningrad were still under Russian command. Precisely where the battle lines were drawn still was a secret.

The announcements