

WHAT DID BETTY BUY?

GOOD GRACIOUS! This letter can't be for me? Oh yes it is!

COPY OF BETTY'S LETTER

Dear Mr. Simpson
You know Clara Green, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO APE A SISTER OF MINE. However she left her luggage when they got to the train so fast Topsy ruptured a blood vessel in her leg. How ever Clara got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TURNED AND FELL HELMEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? I BET SHE WANTED TO HAN A NASTY ENGINEER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN SO SHE TOOK HER OFF IN ORDER AND REACHED HER SEAT SAFELY. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMBREAD PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and hurried off. Her baggage was heavy and

FIND ABOVE THE NAMES OF 12 ARTICLES SOLD IN A GROCERY STORE

Mr. Simpson was amazed when he read the letter which Betty Beauty had handed him. "The order in that letter," said Betty, "is a list of the names of twelve articles which I bought in each of the twelve counters of the store. I will tell you the quantities, and you must find the names of the articles in the store. It is not one of the names of the articles, but the name of the counter in which they are sold. It is only the name of the counter, and there is just one of each in the store. The letter is just as it is. For instance, if you start on the letter 'B' in the first word of the first under-

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pretty wedding took place at St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River, on the morning of Oct. 12th, when Miss Annie S. Fraught, of Powhat, was united in marriage to Mr. Venanches Curley, Village Green, the ceremony was performed by Rev. P. D. McGuigan, parish priest. The bride who was one of Powhat's most popular young ladies looked charming in a tailored suit of sand with beaver trimmings and hat to match, was attended by her cousin, Miss Winnie Fraught of Charlottetown while the groom was ably supported by Mr. C. J. McKenzie, Millville. Following the church service the bridal party motored to Montserrat after which they returned to the home of the bride's father at Powhat where dinner was served at which only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in music and dancing until six o'clock, when the parties motored to the home of the groom where a sumptuous prepared wedding supper awaited them, after which the evening was very pleasantly spent. Previously to the marriage the bride was waited upon by a large number of her friends and showered with a numerous lot of costly gifts, including a beautiful china tea set. All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Curley a happy and prosperous wedded life.

McClary's

Cast Iron Ranges and Stoves

NO MATTER what your stove or range need may be, there is a McClary's that will fill it—will give the service, be it light for a small family, or heavy and exacting for a big household.

Whether your purse demands a range at an economical price with efficiency and durability, or whether you demand a range of the highest development with every refinement which seventy years' experience can suggest—you can get what you want in McClary's series of high-class stoves and ranges.

In the McClary's series of cast-iron ranges there is a range for every kind of service ever demanded of a range, and that service McClary's guarantee the range to perform.

McClary's Gloria Range

The Gloria Range is a well-constructed, practical and efficient range, built with a view to secure economy in price while, at the same time, maintaining the McClary's reputation for efficiency. The Gloria is a medium sized range, with an oven 18 inches square by 11 inches high. The fire box is properly proportioned to the oven, and the flue arrangement assures the greatest economy of fuel by putting to use all the heat generated. The Gloria has a burnished top easily cleaned, and has many features designed for the easy management of the range.

McClary's Casroy

At the price for which the Casroy is sold no one needs to be without a good stove. It is built as carefully as the Pandora or any other McClary's product. The Casroy has 4 cooking holes, a roaster, reliable oven, nickel-plated towel bar, knobs, etc. A generous sized reservoir gives a good supply of hot water. The Casroy is a fine stove at a price to meet the modest purse.

McClary's Rob Roy Range

The Rob Roy is the third in the series of McClary's cast-iron ranges, and is handsomely designed and trimmed. It is an Al Baker and cooker. The oven is good sized. A high shelf, a large broiler door, large ash pan, swing hearth, are some of the features which make it a Rob Roy the popular medium priced range.

CLARA BARTON, THE RED CROSS FOUNDER

The little town of North Oxford, Mass., which is some twelve miles from Worcester, has recently been consecrating a shrine to the memory of one of the greatest heroes America has ever produced. I refer to Clara Barton, the founder of the American Red Cross, who earned for herself the title of "The Angel of the Battlefield."

A band of men and women gathered in the white farmhouse where she was born one century ago this Christmas, and dedicated a memorial to her. It is to be maintained as a shrine by the Women's National Missionary Association, the women's organization of the Universalist Church of which Miss Barton was a member. Her work was recognized by many countries in addition to her own and she was decorated by the German, Turkish, Spanish, Belgian,

Russian and Serbian governments, amongst others, for the work she did on the battlefield of America, Cuba and Europe. Her reputation was truly international, and she ranks with Florence Nightingale as one of the world's great women. When Senator Hoar was once asked who, in his opinion, was the greatest living American, he hesitatingly replied: "Clara Barton." Thinking he had not been understood, the questioner repeated: "Who is the greatest American man?" Again came the reply, "Clara Barton, where will you find the man to equal her?"

ed a position in the Washington navy yard to be near his ward. While the lad was still in college Captain Ord was taken ill and died, leaving some private papers, which she requested should remain in her hands. He tried to tell the true name of his parent, the name of whom he had previously said would startle Europe. He died in a fit of coughing after saying that he had sworn not to tell, but was trying to give the name.

"Young 'Ord' was supplied liberally with funds while at school, and even after he graduated he was privately tutored by a Maryland priest, who tried to trace his parentage. The search led to the unsupported conclusion that he was the son of King George IV of England, and that his mother was Marie Anne Smythe Fitzherbert, whom the king married in 1733. The Jesuit fathers of Georgetown college believed the report, and he is listed in the centenary history of the institution as "James Orb, son of King George IV."
