Kerosene Emulsion Kills Mites.

Many chicken growers know what a nuisance the chicken mite is, and they will find the following by J. J. Repp of Iowa, interesting:

The mites live and breed in fissures about buildings and feed upon the fowls when they go upon the nest or perch.

Mites may be introduced into a flock by a fowl or other bearer brought from infected premises.

Mites may be exterminated by thoroughly spraying the building and its contents with keroscene emulsion.

Kerosene emulsion kills not only the mites, but also their eggs, when it comes into contact with them.

Freight Cost in Britain.

The cost of hauling freight per ton per mile on the London Northwestern Railway, England's most important line, expressed in cents, is 1.49. On the Pennsylvania railway the cost is .404 of a cent and on the New York Central .416 of a cent. This is true, although the wages of English trainmen are but half the American. An eminent expert attributes the greater cost to the rigidity of the four wheeler English freight wagons, which, he says, are "track murderers and power absorbers."

Coolie Power Car Line.

A curious street car line is that between Atami and Yoshihoma, two coast towns in the province of Izie, Japan. The line is seven miles long, the rolling-stock consists of a single car, and the motive power is furnished by a couple of muscular coolies, who push the car along wherever power is necessary.

A DIPLOMA RECEIVED BY THE I. C. R.

For Exhibit of Pictures at the Toronto Exposition.

A diploma has been received by General Traffic Manager Tiffin from the Directors of the Dominion Industrial Exposition, recently held in Toronto, on which appear the words "Awarded to the Intercolonial Railway by the Jury of Awards for exhibit of pictures, etc." The diploma is a very fine production of the lithographic art. It will be suitably framed, and added to the railway's permanent collection. The exhibit meriting this award consisted of one hundred and twenty-seven large bromide enlargements arranged to illustrate in order the route traversed by Canada's famous train the "Maritime Express," mounted Restigouche salmon, illustrating the rise, strike, struggle and victory—and moose heads, the whole exhibit occupying nearly one thousand square feet. The many thousands of visitors to this largest of Canadian exhibitions were loud in their praise of the beautiful scenery and sporting trophies of Quebec and the Provinces by the Sea, and it will no doubt result in many of our Upper Canadian brothers visiting us next year.
