In Memoriam

In loving memory of William Charles Whitlock, who passed away on June 14th, 1928. We cannot say and will not say that he is dead, he is just away; With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land; And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be, since he lingered there. Inserted by his wife and family.

In memory of my darling children Grattan and Richard. All thro' the busy turmoil of the day When life's stern duties seem to claim my mind, My thoughts will oft above the sorrid stray, And with my angels in their Home so fair Commune with joy sublime.

And when my heart grows sad, and bitter tears— Tears oft repressed and hidden from the world, Like rain do fall, then cease so suddenly— Sweet voices echo from the hallowed past, And seem to whisper "Peace".

"Grieve not dear mother, for your little boys," Soft falls the whisper, on my aching heart, "Happy are we—above all earthly joys, We rest forever in our Savior's smile, And wait, and pray for thee."

So, with the twittering of birds, at dawn, And when the twilight falls, on land and sea, Sweeter than dewy eve, fairer than morning Comes then the glorious thought, shining thro' sorrow's mist, "Father, they're safe with Thee!"

Will Erect Hotel In London, Eng.

(Special to The Guardian)
TORONTO, Ont., June 17 — Plans for the construction of a C. P. R. hotel in London, Eng., similar in elaborateness and architecture to the Royal York here, are definitely underway. It is understood here. The report is said to have been confirmed by a C. P. R. director who attended the Royal York opening here. Sir Herbert Holt, who has taken deep personal interest in the Royal York, and who visited Toronto to express purposes of viewing its progress during construction, is said to be the chief advocate of the project. During a recent visit to England he is said to have been impressed by the need for such a hotel in London, with its ever-growing tourist trade.

IN MEMORIAM

THE LATE CHARLES MOORE
The death occurred in the Charlottetown Hospital at 10.45 on Saturday evening of Charles Moore of Dunedin, West River. Mr. Moore met with a bad accident on Monday last at the Railway Wharf when he fell between the steamer Hansi and the wharf into the water.

He was severely injured about the back of the head and face and was at once rushed to the hospital where he has been in a critical condition until the end came.

Mr. Moore was born in Charlottetown fifty years ago, the son of the late John Moore who had come to this province from Newfoundland and was a boat builder and sailmaker. Like his father, Charles Moore had a love for the sea and started sailing when quite a young lad. He rose to the position of first mate of large vessels sailing out of New York and other ports, his brother Frank being at one time with him. For five years he served in the North West Mounted Police in Alberta and also ranged in Montana before coming back to the Island to reside permanently at Dunedin. For the past twenty-five years he had been engaged in fishing and boating and was one of the most expert yachtsmen in this province. He also sailed on Dominion Government boats during the summer. For some years he was sailing master of the yacht owned by the late Mr. George J. Rogers and the latter had always a very warm place in his heart for Charlie Moore, the two becoming very close friends.

Mr. Moore was the owner of three large boats and he was engaged in sailing one of these between West River and Charlottetown, having just finished discharging a cargo of potatoes on the Hansi when the regrettable accident occurred.

Charles Moore was somewhat reserved in manner but those who came to know him found him to be a man of splendid character, industrious, intelligent, dependable and a true friend.

There are left to mourn, a widow, nee Miss Mary MacNevin and the following sons and daughters: Vernon, Bruce, Olivia, Sicely, Florence, Dorothy, Lella and George Charles, all at Dunedin. One son died when quite young and the eldest son George was drowned on July 5th last at Malignant Cove, N. S., when out fishing in a dory with his brother Vernon.

He also leaves the following brothers and sisters: George in Charlottetown, William in Everett, Mass., Frank in Sydney, Louis in Toronto, Mrs. Charles Cummings in Gloucester, Mass., Mrs. Heath Coombs in Newark, N. J., Mrs. Fred Joyce in Boston. A brother, J. P. Moore, died 12 years ago.

To the bereaved widow and family and other relatives upon whom a great bereavement has suddenly fallen, The Guardian extends its deepest sympathy.

Eloquent Tribute To Memory Of Mr. Finlayson

The funeral of the late Mr. Kenneth Finlayson was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home. After a short service at the house, the cortege proceeded to St. James' Church.

Following were the pall-bearers: Messrs. A. W. Hyndman, D. A. MacKinnon, E. T. Higgs, George Holbrook, A. E. Morrison and C. Gavan Duffy, K. C.

Rev. W. Bruce Muir officiated at all services and during the service in the Church rendered the following touching tribute to the memory of the deceased.

Tribute to Deceased
We are gathered here in the church he loved so well to pay our last respects to all that is mortal of a well-known and highly respected citizen of Charlottetown.

By the passing of Kenneth Finlayson, a well known figure on our streets and in the homes of our people, has passed to a better land. Engaged in an occupation to which he served a long apprenticeship as a boy, he was a thoroughly skilled workman in the honourable trade of upholstering.

I feel sure that all who have employed him in his honourable calling will bear testimony to the fact that he was a workman that need not to be ashamed. There are not many left in Charlottetown now engaged in the calling in which Kenneth Finlayson was engaged during his whole lifetime, but these who are left will bear me out when I say that he turned out a class of work, the quality of which was not easily excelled.

Always diligent in his business he took a great delight in his handicraft which always bore the trademark of a well-finished article.

As a citizen Mr. Finlayson took a deep interest in civic affairs and rejoiced to see the growth and development of this beautiful city.

He had lived to see wonderful improvements from the time when he was a boy, and always rejoiced to see improvements taking place in our homes, our streets and in civic government generally. He never failed to exercise his franchise and voted for the man who according to his conviction would do his best for the civic government of Charlottetown.

As a Churchman his whole soul was bound up in the welfare of St. James, and the members of this congregation will greatly miss his venerable figure as Sunday after Sunday he so faithfully performed the duties assigned to him.

He leaves us as one of the oldest, if not the oldest members of this Church, and he was greatly pleased when this congregation, a few years ago called him to the high office of the eldership. He performed his duties with great fidelity and never failed to realize the responsibilities of his office, and if in his everyday life he was diligent in business 'he was in all his church work' fervent in spirit serving the Lord.

Now the battle day is done. "Now the labourer's task is o'er" And I feel sure every member and adherent of St. James witnesses to the fact that Kenneth Finlayson was "a good soldier of Jesus Christ." We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Finlayson and her daughter Helen not forgetting the two sons and daughter who have come so far to be with their beloved father in his deathbed as well as to his sisters.

If human wants avail anything, I assure them in your name that our most heartfelt sympathy goes out to them and our united prayer is "That God may fill their desolate hearts with His love, and turn their sorrow into eternal joy.

EARTHQUAKE

(Special to The Guardian)
WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 17 — Half a dozen lives were lost in a heavy earthquake felt throughout northern New Zealand today, causing fairly extensive damage at Nelson and West Port. One man was killed at the Fall Rock Cement Works; the main tower of the boys college at Nelson collapsed and the principal building was reported unsafe for habitation. Several boys were injured by falling masonry, but none seriously. Cracks appeared in the walls of numerous business houses in the centre of Wellington. The post office at Westport, was badly damaged. A pupil at one of the Westport schools was seriously injured when one of the towers toppled over. It was necessary to amputate one leg. Four men were reported to have been killed by a heavy landslide which blocked the Westland river. The other men are missing in the Westland district.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

An interesting account of the proceedings at the Rotary International Convention at Dallas, Texas, was given at Rotary luncheon yesterday by the local president elect, Mr. J. A. MacMillan. Mr. MacMillan described his trip out to Dallas on the New England Rotary Special which was made up at Boston. A number of Maritime Province people including Prince Edward Islanders were en route to the convention. At Kansas City they were met by the Rotarians of that city and the same day reached Ponca City, Oklahoma, where they remained eight hours. The Rotarians turned out in force with cars and drove the visitors through the country. This city is in the centre of the greatest illuminating oil producing area in the world. The Rotarian who drove Mr. MacMillan said he was manager there for Henry L. Docherty's plant, the company that bored for oil in Prince Edward Island. The Docherty Company has its most important refining plant at Ponca City with an investment of fifteen million dollars. Here also is located the famous 101 ranch of one hundred thousand acres where many of the moving picture scenes of western life are staged. Here the visitors witnessed a real rodeo. They also stopped at Oklahoma City en route and the train arrived on the opening day of the International Convention. The meetings were held on the State Fair Grounds.

The speaker then described some of the entertainment features including the wonderful Rotary Pageant and concert given by seven hundred trained singers, Negro Spirituals, and the President's ball at which over eight thousand Rotarians and Rotary Aides were present. There was also a very delightful carnival night. About twenty bands were in attendance, mostly boys' bands sponsored by Rotary Clubs. An organization that created a lot of interest was the Cowboys Band, the same as Texas sent to Washington to President Hoover's inauguration. The Girls' Kiltie Band from Oklahoma City attracted a good deal of attention.

The British Empire dinner and the Canadian dinner and other similar functions were pleasant breaks in the business sessions. At Dallas they had the pleasure of meeting Robbins and Kelly the two Fort Worth aviators who during Convention Week broke all records for continuous flying.

The speaker said that Rotary delegates had a strenuous time. They started every morning with breakfast session at 7.30 and kept at work steadily until 5 each evening. Themes for discussion ranged from the ideal of world peace to the practical application in everyday life of the principle of Rotary. Among the topics discussed were: Classified service, importance of selecting with care new members, what constitutes a good programme, what shall the weekly notice contain, student loan funds, rural-urban acquaintance, boys work, crippled children, etc.

The address which created the most enthusiasm and the most applause was delivered by the Canadian, Harold Peat, known as Private Peat, in war and peace. President Sutton's address, and the message from Paul Harris were other outstanding features.

Rotarian J. A. Clark was in the chair yesterday. The musical programme comprised a vocal solo by Mrs. Roy Cudmore who was encored. The guests present were Dr. Acker, who has charge of the Crippled Children's Clinic in Charlottetown, and Mr. Eisenach, x-ray expert. Dr. Acker gave a brief address outlining the results of his clinic which is nearing completion. About one hundred children will have been examined in this city.

Fine Exhibit Of Fancy Work At St. Joseph's

A pleasing display of fancy work at St. Joseph's Convent was viewed by a large number of parents and friends of the pupils on Saturday afternoon and many favorable comments were heard on the neatness of the sewing and intricacy of several of the designs.

The exhibits were neatly and attractively displayed on tables and lines with the names of the pupils attached.

The display of handkerchiefs—plain sewing—by Grade II pupils was much admired.

Grade III had a nice exhibit of hand towels, neatly hemmed, many of them having a touch of fancy work in colors. This grade also had a fine exhibit of darning.

Table napkins and darning was shown by Grade IV as well as prettily worked laundry bags, center pieces, etc.

In the exhibits of Grade V was to be seen pillowslips with neatly worked initials. One piece in this exhibit was finished with lace worked by the pupil.

Large laundry bags were shown by Grade VI. These were nicely lettered "Laundry Bag" and showed the more advanced work.

A display of night gowns by Grade VII was a striking example of neatness and artistic work.

Grade VIII showed similar articles but in this exhibit the garments contained crochet work and ornamentation.

A rich display of fine embroidered linen by Grades IX and X was perhaps the outstanding feature of the entire display. These articles were neatly worked and the worked lettering showed the careful attention paid by the pupils to their work.

Besides these displays there was samples of individual work—runners, centre pieces, etc., all of which were exceptionally well worked.

This exhibit was open yesterday afternoon and evening and attracted much favorable attention.

SHOULD A GIRL MARRY

A DRAMA OF UNIVERSAL APPEAL OPENED AT THE CAPITOL YESTERDAY

"Should a girl marry?" is a theme of universal interest and the story is vividly enacted under the excellent direction of Scott Fembroke. Helen Foster plays the lead—a young girl who shoots the man who betrays her sister. She is acquitted, but that is merely the beginning, for she is hounded and persecuted by a detective who is bitter because he lost his case against her. Donald Keith is the youth who saves her when she attempts suicide and his interest in the girl gives her the only happiness she has known. But tragedy pursues her to the very end. It is a story of great heart interest, and many dramatic moments, lightened by that pair of inimitable comedians, Dot Farley and Andy Clyde, who furnish some uproarious amusement. Wm. V. Mong gives an outstanding characterization in a highly unsympathetic role, while George Chesbro and Dorothy Vernon also carry their parts with distinction. Rayart may well be proud of their latest offering, with full credit going to Thr Carr, the producer, and Arthur Hoerl who wrote the original story. This picture will remain the featured attraction at the Capitol until Thursday.
