Summary For Domestic Market Conditions

DOMINION LIVE STOCK BRANCH

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—The month of July saw the usual sort of performances in cattle particularly and excepting in store cattle there was not very much actual difference from the set of the market twelve months ago. Store cattle were cheaper than in the same month last year and so moved more readily from supply points to pastures, particularly in Ontario. The movement, however, was not wide. Slaughter cattle showed an increasing percentage of in-between quality beef animals of all descriptions and there were not enough good cattle to go around.
 The reflection of this situation is found in the reports coming back from the United Kingdom in respect to the suitability of the stock which has gone forward to that market during the past six weeks or more. The top cattle we have sent seemed to leave little to be desired in the way of suitability, but these are becoming increasingly scarce, according to cables, and a very large percentage of the offerings at Liverpool and Glasgow recently have been described as rough by purchasers. The duties recently raised against Irish cattle have had no apparent effect on the market in England up to the present time. Of course the market is a summer market with the usual forsaking of big meats for small meats, temporarily, and as well there is the reaction of the British farmer to the imposition of the duties against Irish stock, this reaction being manifest in an increasing movement of English cattle to market centres. Under the present condition of the market, it would look as though our export cattle trade has passed its peak for the present season and there is a very great necessity for shipping at the present time only those of attractive weights and quality.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were much under a year ago, largely due to curtailed commitments from Ontario. The supply up to the end of July this year was somewhat less than for the same period of last year. The reduction in Ontario was rather a surprise, as the general impression has been that the crop was heavier in numbers than a year ago. That idea still persists in some quarters, and with it is coupled the suggestion that liquidation will be comparatively heavy later in the year.
 The prices on the basis of the best end of the crop, were from $1.50 to $2 per hundred under a year ago, at most markets.

Cattle Markets During July

Cattle runs were heavier at Toronto and Winnipeg and at Saskatchewan yards, but somewhat lighter elsewhere. The quality was generally inferior to that of the previous month, and while the relative scarcity of top stock stimulated prices on these, the general market closed lower. There was some pickup to store cattle inquiry in the east and also in the west, provided the cattle were of reasonably good type. Top cattle at Toronto made $7, at Montreal $6.50, at Winnipeg $6.25, and at Calgary and Edmonton $5.

Most of the western stocker cattle bought at the Toronto market, went out at prices approximately 75c to $1.00 under a year ago.

Calf Markets

The Toronto calf market had a smaller supply than a year ago, and this was attributed to unusually heavy slaughterings at country points, owing to the fact that for certain qualities of calves, the market is not much more than paying the freight. There was the beginnings of another export movement to the United States, and our own farmers took about 1,000 calves back for feeding. Top veal made $6, and the best stocker calves $4.50. Montreal paid steady prices on the better end with tops at $5.50. The poor end were sticky and some grassers were as low as $1.50. Winnipeg calf market cracked and only odd calves sold at the early part of the month made $5 per hundred. Calgary paid up to $4.50 and $5 and closed 50c lower on a generally lower market. Edmonton was about steady throughout although plain calves were hard to move. Odd veals made $4.50.

Hog Markets

Hog supplies were smaller than during the preceding month, but to date showed a very substantial increase over the rather small total volume of a year ago. The general situation in respect to prices may be said to have improved under the stimulus of shorter runs, but there has so far been nothing which would indicate stability to the higher value. There seem to be very wide differences of opinion as to the supply situation, and under the circumstances it would appear that most of the opinions are based on pure guess work. At any rate, the volume cannot be so reduced as some believe, or so much increased as others believe. Any definite change which would bring a dependable improvement would constitute a main factor.

Hog prices during the month showed to advantage over the previous month, but when compared with prices of over a year ago, produce a very depressing feeling.
 Hogs, of all classes of livestock, have suffered the severest decline, and the question now in the minds of a good many is whether or not other classes of livestock have yet taken their full break. The top price of hogs at Toronto was $5.75 for select, off cars, at Montreal $5.75 red and watered, Winnipeg $5.25 F. and W., and the rest of the markets ranged all the way from $4.50 at Edmonton, F. W., $4.65 at Calgary, off cars, up to $4.95, F. W., for the three Sas-atchewan yards.

"Impatient Maiden" Scores At Capitol

This exceptional screen play is a constant succession of clever lines, and its robust humor is interpreted by an ideal cast.

"When, as occasionally happens, the story takes a serious turn, the actors are fully equal to the demands made upon them, and impress throughout as a group of real human beings. Lew Ayres, as a young interne, has probably never had a more pleasing role, and Mae Clarke, in the leading feminine part, runs him a close race for honor. A large portion of the comedy is furnished by Andy Devine and Una Merkel, both of whom are delightfully natural, and John Halliday contributes a suave and slightly menacing characterization as the too popular divorce lawyer. Other less important roles are capably played by Ethel Griffies, Bert Roch, Oscar Apfel, Helen Jerome Eddy, Cecil Cunningham Arthur Hoyt and many others.

"Greeks" Brings
 Deft Comedy
 To Screen

"Meet my fiance," says Ina Claire,
 "Not that we're engaged or anything like that!" That sets the tone and the pace of Samuel Goldwyn's "The Greeks Had a Word for Them" which came to the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday, and sent its first audience away weak with laughter from contemplating the antics of its three blonde sirens as they cavort through life from millionaire to millionaire, quarrelling among themselves, but all for one and everyone for herself when it comes to making the best profit out of any situation.

They are ably aided and abetted Joan Blondell and Madge Evans, in the roles of the three charmers, but they're also the best fun seen on the screen these many months.

They are ably aided and abetted in their wild scrambles through penthouse apartments and ocean liners by Lowell Sherman and David Manners and Phillips Smalley, the veteran old-timer. It is one of those pictures you can't miss if you still figure a good laugh is worth having.

What it was the Greeks had a word for is best figured out by each spectator privately. Certainly the "Them" of the title are the three ladies concerned and their precarious but hilarious manner of life.

It would be a pity to tell the story of "The Greeks Had a Word for Them" ahead of time. Suffice it to say that, at the beginning of the picture, Joan Blondell has caught a wealthy old man, Madge Evans has caught a still wealthier young man, and Ina Claire, just back from Europe and stony broke, hasn't any kind of a man at all. She immediately sets about remedying this situation and the hilarity commences, to last down to the final foot of film.

NORMAN ELUDES
 NEWSPAPERMEN

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, sailed home today on the Duchess of Bedford. In his usual secretive fashion Mr. Norman chose an unexpected way to board the vessel. Three hours before sailing time he and Mrs. Norman emerged from an automobile at the dock and hurried up the third class gangway into the vessel. The one reporter who managed to intercept Mr. Norman was given a merry chase. As soon as the banker found himself being approached by a newspaper man, he took off at a smart trot up a ladder to the deck.

"I'd like to know about this rumored debt settlement between Britain and the United States, the reporter cried.

"I have nothing to say," Mr. Norman flung over his shoulder as he reached another stairway leading down a flight.

"Can't you tell me anything about your business here?" was the next question.

"Nothing," was the retort as the banker dashed down another stairway, nothing at all."

 "Why do you do this sort of thing, this business of secrecy of travelling under false names?" "I won't argue with you," the banker said and escaped.

While in the United States the man who probably more than any other public figure hates publicity, travelled under the name of "Professor Clarence Skinner." Neither this name nor that of "Montagu Norman" appears on the list of the ship's passengers. The Canadian Pacific Liner is due to reach Liverpool September 10.

Manchuria Is Twice As Big
 As All Japan

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 5.— (G.P.)—If Manchoukuo—new name for old Manchuria—is admitted to the family of nations, it will be a sizeable addition.

Japan has declared she will in the near future extend official recognition to the administration of which Henry Pu-Yi nominally is ruler, an administration set up by and with the protection of Japan following the military activities in Manchuria during the winter.

The United Kingdom and the United States, with other powers signatory to the peace treaties, have declared they cannot recognize treaties or agreements concluded following such military activities in any part of the world.

More definite light will be shed on Manchoukuo's relations with the world powers following the appearance of the special report by the commission established by the League of Nations, headed by Lord Lytton, which not only investigated the circumstances surrounding the changes in Manchuria but incidentally delved into the Shanghai episode which cost so many lives. The report appears next month for action by the League of Nations assembly. It is freely predicted it will prove unsatisfactory to Japan and in this connection the tone of foreign minister Yasuwa Uchida's recent outline of foreign policy to the diet was believed to be antipatory.

But if Japan carried out her plan for permanent establishment of the free state of Manchoukuo, as it is termed, Pu-Yi will rule over a country more than twice as big as the Japanese empire, and containing a population half as great.
 Manchoukuo is roughly three times the size of Germany—if you include the buffer state of Jehu which the Chinese claim Japan intends to annex to Manchuria—two and a half times the size of France. Manchuria proper has an area of 363,000 square miles, Jehu an area of 177,000 square miles. The population of Manchoukuo is computed at 30,000,000.

Korea, which Japan annexed in 1930 after breaking China's hold on it, is only about one-sixth the size of Manchoukuo with less than half the population.

Count Uchida asserted Japa-had no thought of annexing Man-choukuo but would recognize the new government and complete a mutual defense pact.

Of Manchuria's — or Manchou-kuo's population—more than 28,- 000,000 are Chinese. There are about 600,000 Koreans, less than 300,000 Japanese, more than 100,- 000 Russians and a scattering of other foreigners. Japan is estimated to have 70,000 troops in the state.

Great for Lumbago—Minard's.
