Lord Kyslant Is Released

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable)—After serving ten out of his 12 months sentence, Lord Kyslant, formerly one of the greatest figures in the shipping world, is going home tomorrow to his stately turret mansion in Carmarthen-shire.
In deference to wishes of the family there will be no demonstration of welcome by the villagers of Coomb, on Lord Kyslant's 900 acre estate. Lady Kyslant will meet her husband on his release from Wormwood Scrubs Prison, where she has visited him from time to time during his imprisonment. He is reported to be in excellent health.
Lord Kyslant, who rose from a clerk's stool in a Newcastle shipping office to be chairman of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company was convicted a year ago on a charge of being responsible for representations that his group of companies had made large profits in 1926 and 1927 when actually the group had sustained serious losses.

A boy was taken by his mother to see "the pictures." The film was a pathetic one, in which an ancient woman, cast off by her children, was seen struggling wearily towards the workhouse. The mother was affected visibly.
Her son gave her an encouraging nudge.
"It's all right, mummy, I won't let you go to the workhouse like that."
"Won't you dear? What will you do, then?"
"I'll get a taxi," said the young man, kindly.

TOURING TEACHERS—Twenty-five school teachers from Upper Canadian cities principally from Toronto, comprising a tourist party will arrive in the Province this evening. This is the second party of teachers from Ontario to tour the island this summer. Upon arriving here tonight the party will dine at Beach Grove Inn, remaining there for the night and breakfast. Friday morning they will be shown around the city by a well informed guide who will describe various points of interest, commenting on their tradition. In the afternoon the party will motor to Cavendish Beach where they will enjoy a clam bake and basket picnic. They will then return to Beach Grove Inn remaining overnight. At 9.30 a. m. Saturday the visitors will depart for Borden and take the 11.40 boat for the mainland.

WELCOME VISITORS—Rev. J. Heaney, B. A. and Mrs. Heaney arrived on the Island recently. Mr. Heaney was formerly pastor of the First Methodist (now the United Church) in Charlottetown. For several years past he has been stationed at Duval, Sask., his charge consisting of five appointments spread over a wide area. That part of Saskatchewan was severely struck by the drought last year and a large part of the crops were burned out. This year conditions are better and it is expected there will be at least a half a crop on the same area. Mr. and Mrs. Heaney left Saskatchewan on July 5th for St. Stephen, N. B. From there they came to this province about ten days ago. At present they are the guests of Mr. R. N. Cox and Miss Alice Cox of Charlottetown, Mrs. Heaney being a sister of the late Mrs. Cox. Mr. Heaney is a native of New London and he and his wife will visit relatives there before leaving the province.

NEWFLD SATISFIED
OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(By The Canadian Press)—The Newfoundland delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference is satisfied that the oldest colony will benefit greatly from the deliberations now drawing to a close. Hon. F. C. Alderdice, recently elected Premier of that country, said today. The Newfoundland premier, one of the speakers at the civic luncheon tendered to the conference delegates, frankly declared that "this conference cannot fail."

Speaking for Newfoundland, Mr. Alderdice said he was satisfied that agreements reached at the conference would widen the markets for that country and help to relieve unemployment. Newfoundland's greatest industry being the fisheries, this was taken to indicate that reports of preferences for fishery products were well founded.

Heads of all the delegations spoke briefly in response to the toast to the visitors, but, with the exception of Premier Alderdice all dealt in pleasantries. The head of the ancient colony, however, spoke in a serious vein.

The greatest problem of Newfoundland, he said, was unemployment. This was caused by the lack of markets to absorb what the people produced. He was satisfied, he said, that the present conference would provide an additional demand for Newfoundland products that would go a considerable distance in relieving unemployment.

Premier Alderdice went further and said that, thanks to satisfactory arrangements that were being completed with the banks, the Newfoundland budget would be balanced shortly. He was not optimistic, he believed, and he was not sure that all the benefits would be immediately felt, but he was confident they would accrue in the very near future.

CUSTOMS
OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—While dumping duties and fixing of valuation for duty purposes find no specific mention in the report of the Imperial Conference committee on customs administration steps for "reduction of friction and delay to a minimum" are recommended. The report was approved by delegation heads today. Recommendations are general in their nature, but emphasis is laid on the importance of avoiding uncertainty as to the amount of duty payable on the arrival of goods. The position taken by Canada in fixing values for duty purposes in order to avoid dumping, has been the subject of criticism.

The report is brief. It agrees "that any measure which the administrations of the various Empire countries may take to save themselves from customs shall be consistent with the principles of reducing friction and delay."

"Expeditious and effective settlement of disputes relating to all matters affecting customs administration" are recommended.

Conference Activities

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—The Imperial Economic Conference moved today to protect its accomplishments from being undermined by trade treaties with foreign powers. Each Empire country agreed that no commercial obligations it might contract in the future should endanger trade concessions granted to another Empire state. And each Dominion agreed to free itself from existing treaties with foreign countries which interfered with Empire pacts.

A conference committee on relations with foreign countries made these undertakings in a report which was accepted by the heads of the various delegations.

Whether foreign countries would challenge the "most favored nation" treatment of certain Empire trade agreements, was declared a moot question. It has never been established by a world court that Canada, for instance, was contravening its "most-favored nation" agreements with foreign countries by granting other Empire concessions to some other Empire state. The report indicates an appeal to a world court is unlikely and until one is made, the whole subject will be left in abeyance.

Empire countries are not alone in granting preferences in excess of "most-favored-nation" tariffs. United States is in the same position in regard to the special tariffs it accords Cuba. While no definite pronouncement was made, the report seemed to indicate it was agreed a pact of this type should not relieve "most-favored-nation" obligations. In some instances, it was inferred, Empire countries might waive their rights for "most-favored-nation" treatment where it was thought advisable.

Did Harden Clark Commit Suicide?

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 17.—With nearly two weeks of evidence finally at an end, arguments by counsel over the question whether Harden Clarke committed suicide or was murdered by Captain W. N. Lancaster, the culmination of a love triangle were ended today. Both sides rested shortly before noon.

Clarke, a young writer, was fatally shot April 21 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Lancaster's former flying partner and who admitted she had loved and been loved by both men.

Henry M. Jones, assistant State's attorney, attacked the defense, who claim Clarke committed suicide and charged Mrs. Keith-Miller "with protecting the lover who is alive after the death of another lover."

Arguments were not to be limited as to time.
Testimony throughout the trial centred largely on the lives and loves of the three principals, with experts taking the stand for the defense to testify Clarke, in their opinion, took his own life.

Lancaster's diary and personal letters between him and Clarke and Mrs. Keith-Miller, were introduced by the State as part of the contention Lancaster had planned Clarke's death for stealing the love of the diminutive aviatrix whom he said he learned to love on their flight from Australia to London.

As a climax to the sensational testimony which drew capacity audiences throughout the trial, the bullet pierced skull of Clarke was brought to the court and experts traced the course of the bullet and explained technical features of the wound which caused the writer's death.

As argument was resumed after the noon recess today, Mrs. Keith-Miller made her appearance in the court room after several days absence, while Mrs. Ida Clyde Clark, mother of the dead writer, made her first appearance during the trial. She was to have been called as the last of the State's rebuttal witnesses but illness prevented her appearance earlier in the day.

Before taking of testimony closed, Joseph Ince, former flying comrade of Lancaster, was called by the defense. He denied on questioning he had ever heard Captain Lancaster say in discussing Clarke that he "had seen hundreds of dead men and that one more wouldn't make any difference."

Previously M. G. Tangrel who accompanied Captain Lancaster on an unsuccessful flying adventure, had testified having heard Lancaster make such a remark in Ince's presence.

Fall Toques Are Somewhat Modified

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The hors d'oeuvres of the early autumn had feast (announced some weeks ago) was the Agnes toque, with its raku-ruby velvet bow or feather plume wheel set directly above the right eyebrow. Like all well-beloved appetizers it set the pace for the plat du jour which was to follow. Not quite so spicy in the matter of exaggeration as the advance chapeau of the season the new ones—those every one will be wearing soon after Labor Day—follow the lead in that they are made to be worn well over the forehead and, as a traffic regulations, to "keep to the right."

Toques and berets perch on the right side as if about to slip over the edge of the cranial precipice. Sailors—there is an infinite variety of them—have waved brims that describe much the curve of a roller-coaster or straight brims as flat as a table platen. But even the latter, supposed to be worn squarely above the eyebrows, will imitate the Tommy Atkins tilt, unless we are mistaken. They have molded crowns, soft as a collapsed balloon, and square ones, made with deep folds.

Paris decrees that the smart brimmed hat shall not extend more than three inches over the face. Yet we have seen some exceedingly goodlooking hats that defy this dictum. Descat launched one some time ago that continues to be a favorite. The autumn model is baku brown, burnt orange and green. In New York, an outstanding designer sponsors wide brims, because of their "distinction," he says. There is something about these hats that gives the wearer the coquetry of the bicycle-riding Gibson girl. Sailors in the course of their evolution have gone tambourine (small and round), turtle (turned up in the front) and rumba (with a Spanish slant); they have developed a double brim, and even a point in the front.

MONTREAL SEEKS BIG LOAN
MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—Montreal is going into the money market for loans totalling $11,866,500, and possibilities are that the administration may decide to float a part in the London market and profit by economies on interest through the exchange situation. The latter question is up to the city's treasury counsel.

NEW VIMY MEMORIAL IN TEMPEST'S TEETH

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—Canada's war memorial at Vimy Ridge has taken form and the magnificent bronze figure representing the spirit of Canada, is now in place. The structure itself will be completed next month, but for many months to come skilled carvers will be hewing.
Much sculpture on the pylons remains to be done, and there lie difficulty. These pylons rise 90 feet above the main platform, the whole monument being 135 feet high. That carving has to be done against a 80-mile wind at this height which involves a most ingenious structure of studios so there will not be any tremors. Only a limited number of carvers can work at one time.

MacDonald Plan Is Not Satisfactory

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(By The Canadian Press)—The Plan of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald for allotting seats in the Provincial Legislatures of India to Moslems, Hindus, Sikhs and untouchables is not satisfactory to the Mohammedans and reflects the pro-Hind leanings of the British Premier, according to Seth Abdullah Haroon member of the Indian delegation to the Imperial Conference tonight. Nevertheless the Moslems, particularly of the Punjab and Bengal, must not permit themselves to be unduly stirred by what he considers an injustice.

"I'm a long way from India, and probably unable to reach it within the next two months," declared the Mohammedan leader. "But I can suggest to my community that this decision be grasped calmly and without excitement. I would say to them: 'Try to understand the whole decision, while at the same time consolidating your position towards securing in a constitutional manner those rights that are being denied to us!'"

The Indian delegate expressed disappointment that Mr. MacDonald did not seem to have rendered decision on the other points which the Moslems had referred to him relative to their constitutional position.
