THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

IT PAYS to buy in this Province.

CHERRY VALLEY.— Services will be held in Christ Church, Cherry Valley on Sunday and at 2.30. Mr. A. G. Cribb will be officiating.

UNFAIR TO THE PUBLIC.—Passengers arriving in Charlottetown Monday evening complained bitterly of the inadequate railway accommodation provided between St. John and Pt. du Chene. On that particular afternoon with its excessive heat, many of the passengers were obliged to stand, women and small children, many of them babes in arms, were crowded into the smoking car; all were crowded uncomfortable and complaining This at the height of the tourist season, is most unfair to the public and it is especially unjust to Prince Edward Island which at present is the destination of a large proportion of those who travel on the mainland railways. It is hoped that, for the credit of the Maritime Provinces and in the interest of the railways concerned, better arrangements will be made for the remainder of the season.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE

gratulated the teachers on having assembled to further their knowledge. He was delighted to hear from the Premier that a system of summer schools had been instituted and that they were combining the three provinces on this occasion as an experiment. He must congratulate those who were favoured in having an opportunity of participating in the facilities which the summer school would afford. He congratulated the young ladies and gentlemen whom he was glad to address as his fellow students, because he had discovered that "we are never too old to learn." The young people would do well to be advised by the older ones and profit by that truism. He hoped that excellent results would ensue from the summer school meetings. He would like to say to them that in all their studies, whatever they might be, they should have constantly before them the map of the Dominion; if not actually before them, at least in their mind's-eye; and he would impress upon them, as one who had visited every province of Canada, that the Dominion was a great one and that they were privileged beyond their present conception of it to be to the front in these opening years of the Twentieth Century—a century destined to be Canada's century, as the Nineteenth Century was the century of the United States of America. (Cheers.) He wanted to state emphatically that the golden State of California, as a whole, offered climatic conditions not to be compared with those of Prince Edward Island, with its beautiful scenery, sweet-smelling clover fields, happy lads and lasses. He had every good word for Prince Edward Island, the Garden of the Gulf; and he thought that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were in many respects equal in beauty. The Maritime Provinces were noted at Ottawa, throughout the great West and in far-distant British Columbia for the men and women they had produced; and it was a common saying that the men of the Maritime Provinces were exceptional in mentality. The speaker made reference to Mr. Jacob G. Schurman as an excellent type of Islander, a man who had by sheer ability, perseverance and "push" won for himself an envious position in the United States. There was another great Prince Edward Islander who was secretary in the Cabinet of the Republic. (Cheers.) And so, with these worthy examples of what these provinces could produce, continued the speaker, they might proudly, courageously and hopefully look forward to very great possibilities. The speaker, in dealing with the great development and importance of the Canadian railway systems stated that no true Canadian could help contemplating the C. P. R without a sense of pride that he was a Canadian and that this was Canada's century. "I am not a special representative of the C. P. R., Mr. Chairman, I paid my way," he added, amidst loud laughter.

The Chairman next called on Professor Theodore Ross to address the meeting. Mr. Ross said he remembered having been impressed by the words of one of the great orators of Rome, who, in beginning one of his famous orations, said that the subject was so important that he had given the very best of his time to its preparation, and that the people were so important that he would not have dared to come before them unless he had done his best to prepare himself for the occasion. He (Mr. Ross) felt that it was not just well for him to go before them without having made some extra preparation. But he was sure he would have the sympathy of the teachers, who were the most patient and indulgent of audiences. Last year they were privileged to gather in that hall nearly three hundred teachers to begin a movement in connection with nature study in the public schools. This year they had gone one step further and they were glad to welcome not only the students of the Island but those from the neighbouring provinces. The great idea which informed Professor Ross's address was, that labour should be made more valuable than it has ever been by the application of scientific knowledge to it. It should be skilled labour against muscular and ignorant mechanical force. Mr. Ross welcomed the teachers to the province and congratulated them. He hoped they would all enjoy themselves.

Dr. S. A. Starratt, after a few preliminary remarks in which he congratulated the teachers and said many very complimentary things in regard to the Island, gave instructions as to organization of classes, etc., this morning. He stated that Dr. Bigelow had not yet arrived and that nothing would be done in regard to chemistry until he came. He said that sensible, helpful criticism was invited. He had asked for a boat in which the teachers could go sailing.. He strongly advocated the learning of the art of swimming and floating.

The Hon. W. S. Stewart also gave a short address. He said it was a supreme pleasure to him to be at such a large and important [illegible] ing of the teachers of the Maritime Provinces. During the past thirty years there had been inter-Maritime rifle matches and the object of the soldiers had been to aim straight. He supposed the object of the teachers was to aim high; but they should also endeavour to aim straight. The unselfishness that actuated teachers to take up the life work of teaching should be extolled on occasions like the present. Mr. Stewart concluded by giving to the visitors a hearty welcome to the Island and expressing the fervent hope that they would be able to make their stay here a pleasant and enjoyable one.

Principal Seaman having given general instructions as to arrangements for classes, etc., the meeting was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The classes in oratory and voice culture are to be taught by Miss Gorman Superintendent of the Charlottetown School of Expression and graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, Mass. The candidates for these subjects will meet Miss Gorman in the assembly hall of Prince of Wales College at 3 p. m. today.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—A horse attached to the delivery waggon of the Sterns Steam Laundry became frightened yesterday morning and started to run at a rapid pace. In his vehemence he broke the shafts away from the vehicle and with them jumping at his heels continued on his mad career up Great George St. and up Sunnyside, veering wildly from side to side, and almost running down a number of pedestrians. He was captured, however, before he caused any damage.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED

Rash on Legs and Back. Scratching Irritated Breaking Out. Used Cuticura Ointment. Disease Vanished.

Kentville, N. S.—"For about five years I was bothered with a light rash which would appear most heavily on my legs and back. This troubled me most in the spring of the year. They said it was eczema. The eczema itched and burned and my scratching irritated the breaking out. After it broke out I could not obtain more than three hours' sleep each night it pained me so. My legs and back were a solid mass of itching sores.

"I was given some salve and after using this preparation about a week the disease became worse and I could not obtain any rest at night. I used all the patent preparations on the market but they only seemed to increase the suffering and afforded me no relief whatever. About this time a friend recommended Cuticura Ointment to me. However, I had lost faith in all remedies and told him so, but he insisted that I try Cuticura Ointment so I purchased a box. The first application gave relief and in about a week the sores were healing and I was able to obtain a good night's rest, the first I had enjoyed for many months. I continued the treatment for another month and by that time all signs of the disease had vanished." (Signed) Willard F. Allen, May 16, 1913.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp that torture, itch, burn, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U.S.A.

MOTHER HUNGER.

If only I could find her—for the mother-hunger's on me;
I want to see and touch her, to know her close beside;
I want to put my head in the hollow of her shoulder,
I want to feel her love me as she did before she died.

In all the world is nothing, love of husband or of children,
In all the world is nothing than can soothe me or can stir
Like the memory of her frangile hand on which the ring was slipped—
The hand that wakes my longing at the very thought of her.

The window in the sunshine and the empty chair beside it,
The loneliness that mocks me as I find the sacred place!
O mother, is there naught in the unerring speech of silence
To let me know your presence, tho' I cannot see your face?

Thank God that I have had you—that we held each other closer,
As women and as sisters and as souls that claimed their own,
Than any tie of blood could bind;
and now my heart is bleeding,
My heart is bleeding, mother, and yours is turned to stone.

O, no, I've not forgotten the triumph and the glory—
I would bring you back again to struggle and to pain
This hour will pass; but O, just now,
the Mother-hunger's on me,
And I would give my soul tonight to kiss your hair again.

ROOSEVELT'S DAUGHTER MAKES BREAK

LONDON, July 6.—Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, formerly Miss Alice Roosevelt, made a little break at a smart party dinner the other night which has been the talk of the London drawing rooms ever since. Sir Edward Carson has been much annoyed by statements that he is to marry a niece of Morton Frewen, a well-known writer on political economy.

This matter has never been mentioned in the presence of Sir Edward but Mrs. Longworth cheerfully and in a loud voice asked him at the dinner: "When's the wedding going to be?"

"There is not going to be any wedding," replied Sir Edward curtly and coldly.
