IN MEMORIAM
JAMES STANLEY MACVANE
James Stanley MacVane, son of the late Joseph and Rebecca MacVane, Bothwell, P. E. I., passed away on August 27th. He had been in failing health for a number of years with heart trouble, but had shown signs of improvement when the end came suddenly while assisting putting up a fence on his farm. He is survived by his wife (nee Caroline Publicover) one son and one daughter, Carl S. MacVane and Evelyn R. also two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Ida Protege, Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Mabel at home and Peter of Lynn, Mass.
Services were conducted on Sunday at the home and grave, by Rev. H. R. Bell. A special piece was sung by the members of the old choir of which he had been a faithful member. It was an exceptionally large funeral and bore silent testimony to the esteem and affection he held in the hearts of the people. The pall-bearers were as follows: Oswald Stewart, C. C. Dingwell, William MacDonald, Wilfred MacLean, Robert Bruce, Talbot Stewart.

LOW WAISTLINE IS ONLY BOMBSHELL
PARIS, Sept. 3.—The fall openings are over, Paris has made her dictum. Cables hum with style flashes, fashion artists busy themselves with pad and pencil, buyers are packing trunks with Parisian finery and catching the first steamer home.
The parade of beauty down the biège salons of the couturiers is over for another season. The last elegantly coiffed head has appeared from behind the velvet curtains.
It was not a sensational opening rather a quite dependable one quite in harmony with the sobered pace of world affairs. The only real bombshell of the entire show was the lowered waistline by Patou. But even it was forgivable. It was made easy for the eyes by ingenious suggestions of normal waistline belts in front and on the side. There was none of the 1928 sack-tied-in-half effect, but there were broadish belts placed flatly across the hips.
Patou's colors are always of supreme style interest. This year his epoch is medieval and his colors earth brown with much rust in it and a lovely apricot biège that he shows in costumes from morning until midnight.
Curious Change
Jones: "For a while Brown was clean out of his mind about that girl."
Smith: "And now?"
Jones: "Oh, now, the girl is clean out of his mind."

LIFE INSURANCE

A Veritable Bed Rock of our Economic Life

TESTED by every major catastrophe—world war, world epidemic and world depression—Life Insurance has demonstrated its strength and stability. It has proved a veritable bed-rock of our economic life. It has met every obligation 100 cents on the dollar and met it promptly. It has relieved financial distress, guarded families and homes, proved a sure protection against poverty and want.

Life Insurance companies in Canada have greater holdings of government and municipal bonds than the chartered banks. Their real estate loans are double those of the mortgage loan and trust companies combined. The policyholders' funds exceed the total deposits in banks, trust companies and all government depositories combined. These combined assets make Life Insurance pre-eminently safe and sound.

Life Insurance is reliable because—
It is established upon a sound scientific basis. Income from premiums is sufficient to provide a large margin of safety against all contingencies. No policyholder has ever lost a dollar through the failure of any Life Insurance company, licensed in Canada, to fulfill its obligations promptly and to pay all claims in full. All Life Insurance companies are subject to continuous government inspection and control.

Hold fast to your Life Insurance and add to your holdings whenever possible.
