Always Ready and Reliable. Practically all pains arising from inflammation can be removed with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Simply rub it on the sore spot and it is quickly absorbed by the skin. Its healing power is conveyed to the inflamed tissue which is quickly relieved. This fine old remedy is also a specific for all manner of cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. ANNIVERSARY

Three years ago J. W. Robblee opened up a store for men and boys wear on Great George Street. He hung out a large electrically lit display sign which advertised to the public in emblazoned letters that his store was hereafter to be known as the House of Hobblerlin Clothes.

One year after another passed by each bringing a greater volume of business and consequently, thanks to the generous patronage of satisfied customers, a good measure of prosperity.

Mr. Hobblerlin at the end of every 365 days celebrated the anniversary of his embarkation on a business career—he did not however, celebrate as some do but with the interest of his patrons always foremost and with an eye to business commensurate the event by a grand anniversary sale.

In this way Mr. Robblee's customers and many others were offered the opportunity of procuring goods of the highest grade at very reasonable prices. So satisfied were those who attended these sales and such reductions were made that many wondered how it could be done with even a margin of profit. But as remarked before Mr. Robblee had an eye for business and was a staunch believer in the motto that "Satisfied patrons always return."

Now to the point. Another anniversary has rolled around and with it comes another anniversary sale. A new feature this year will be the giving away FREE of anniversary gifts. Of course there will be big reductions in prices and further there will be a wider range of stock than ever to choose from.

The days set for the sale are Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week and in order to give everybody an opportunity, the store will be open until 9 p. m. Thursday and Friday nights.

So don't disappoint yourself by failing to put in an appearance at this third and bigger than ever anniversary celebration.

Prosperity of England

cabled to the Sunday Times of London.

The statement was in reply to an inquiry from that paper following the appearance of a story in England quoting an unnamed treasury official as saying this country would displace England as the money centre of the world.

Cannot Dislodge England

"The United States could not dislodge England from her traditional position as the money centre if she would, and she ought not to want if she could," Kahn said.

"Because of its vast hoard of gold, and because of other compelling causes, it seems to me inevitable that, notwithstanding certain impeding influences, the United States will henceforth assume far greater importance as an international financial centre and making loans to foreign countries to a much greater extent than was the case prior to the war, but she will do this not by displacing England, but by supplementing England's position as the money centre."

"She could not dislodge England from her traditional position as the money centre if she would, and she ought not to want to if she could."

Vital to England's Welfare

"Maintenance of England's financial position is vital to England's welfare, and she is the best customer of America."

"From the point of view of America's self interest, the prosperity of England is an asset to America for surely the last five years have taught all too convincingly the internationalism of the world's world's trade and commerce and the importance of restoring the consuming power of the nations."

"From the point of view of our dealings, there ought to be live and let live spirit among the nations as among individuals."

"To create the impression that the United States would seek to use her fortunate position and her heritage of differences and perplexing problems besetting those with whom she was allied in a great conflict, for the purpose of greedily and unneighborly self aggrandizement is to make mischief, is to hurt the fair name of America and is, moreover, I am convinced, to misinterpret the spirit and aims of her people."

"That in France, as in all other activities, England and America should travel the road of cordial understanding and sincere co-operation, hold to be clearly for the best interests of both countries."

out of every ten people need to go to the hospital each year and it is a desire of the College that they should get the best service possible.

The survey has just been completed by the Maritime Provinces. Twenty eight hospitals of thirty-five beds and over were surveyed. These hospitals have a total of 2120 beds which care for 42,400 patients annually and render 636,000 hospital treatment days. Of these twenty-eight institutions, all but one require a minimum of 100 beds. Prince Edward Island has 100% its hospitals meeting all requirements. Something of which the people of this Province should be very proud.

Wednesday afternoon there will be at 2 o'clock in the Strand Theatre a most interesting meeting to which everybody is invited.

At 8 o'clock in the evening there will be in the Theatre a Community Health Meeting to which all are invited and urged to attend. Snappy, instructive and interesting illustrated addresses, in language every person can readily understand.

The medical profession is particularly interested in movements for better health, realizing that it is well as important to keep people well as to cure them when sick.

The chances of longer life increase as the years go by. If on the continent the same number of deaths took place each year as in 1880 there would have been at least 750,000 more funerals in America last year.

A child at the present time has a good chance of at least ten years longer than his grand-parents. The Maritime section of the College of Surgeons in putting on a Community Meeting is endeavoring to bring a message of better health to the people of Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island.

Meetings of this kind have been held all over the continent and have attracted large audiences, to whom the addresses of the speakers are specially directed, being couched in non-technical language.

Canadian Naval Reserves are Growing
(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, July 8.—With the present annual naval appropriation Canada could have had a permanent naval force of approximately seven hundred, but instead we have only no less than 2,900 men who are gradually becoming systematic.

Associate Director, Commander W. Hose, director of the Canadian Naval Service, who was a visitor here yesterday, the Commander who visited the Naval Volunteer reserve points in Western Canada said reports had been entirely successful that the Canadian Navals reserve are progressing favorably.

Sunday Ordination At Kinkora

Rev. George V. McCabe, son of Michael H. McCabe, Central Bede of the Holy Priesthood at St. Malachia's Church, Kinkora, on Sunday, July 6th, and Joseph Fay St. George's Parish, Newport, was ordained sub-deacon. Rt. Rev. Louis J. O'Leary, D. D., Bishop of Charlottetown, officiating. Assisting at the function were Rev. James Murphy, Rev. Raymond McKenzie, Present in the Sanctuary were Rev. George Bradley, S. J., Montreal; Rev. Chas. Trainor, Fall River, Mass.; Rev. Alexander McIntyre, Deloraine, Man.; Rev. Francis MacDonagh, Seven Mile Bay; Rev. J. McDonald, P. P., Summerside, and Rev. M. J. Smith, P. P., Kinkora.

The whole function was performed with that exactitude which characterized the ceremonies of the Church, and the beautiful harmony with which the whole event was consummated is at once a glowing tribute to His Lordship, Bishop O'Leary, to the Parish Priest, Father Smith, as well as to all who participated in the function. These ceremonies, which were of a comprehensive significance, and demonstrate how sacred and yet how awful are the vows that a candidate for Holy Orders must profess.

Rev. J. McDonald, P. P., S'ide, attending a nuptial and elucidating sermon: "Giving, therefore, teach ye all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and behold I am with you all days until the consummation of the world." Mat. 28, 19-20.

The subject matter was essentially appropriate to the function, and in the method and diction of Father John, full justice was done to the dignity of the occasion.

Father Smith, the Parish Priest, has merited the warm commendation that was heard from all sources for the complete success that attended the event in every particular.

The choir, under able leadership furnished appropriate music, showing that this feature in the parish is still prominent.—Y

Dan Murchison Passes Quietly

ANRORA, Minn., June 23.—Dan Murchison, well known head carpenter at the Miller mine since its opening and Aurora pioneer, died while sleeping in his room at the Aurora hotel some time Sunday. "Dan" had been in poor health for some time. He had been suffering from rheumatism for some time and had not done much work at the mine for nearly a year, but he was optimistic and expected soon to be on the job again.

Dan Murchison came to Aurora when the Miller mine was opened and remained here until his death. He had been in the employ of the Pitt River Mining company, which operated the Miller, for over twenty-five years and was held in high esteem by his employers, as well as by the community in which he spent the last years of his life.

He was born on Prince Edward Island, Canada, 70 years ago. He came to the Messaba range in the infancy and was known to a large circle of range pioneers. He is believed to mourn his death a brother and a sister, both living in Boston, Mass., and one sister in Iris, P. E. I. Several years ago his brother came to Aurora to pay him a visit after which "Dan" made a trip east, visiting his brother and magistrate.
