NERVES
THE MODERN VIPER

Too many people disregard the warning of jangled nerves. And slowly but surely—neglect lets this curse of modern life affect every organ and every function of the body and mind.

First, remove the cause of the trouble. If you don't know what the cause is, consult a capable physician at once.

Second, rebuild and tone up your nervous system with

'ZOE-TIC'

The Greek Health Tonic.

This splendid preparation is accomplishing what seem like wonders to those who have suffered, and drugged, and dragged themselves through the day's work to sleepless nights. But it is no wonder to those who know that health is natural—that headache, indigestion, chronic fatigue and "Nerves" are unnatural and unnecessary. Zoe-tic simply restores through proper nerve-food the balance of natural joyous health.

Don't drug yourself—it is often dangerous—always temporary in relief—and as unnatural as taking a pill when you are hungry.

Take Zoe-tic—the health food for nerve hunger, live naturally and drink lots of pure water. If you cannot report real progress toward better health within two weeks return the unused portion of the bottle of Zoe-tic and we will refund your money without question. That's the measure of our faith—our knowledge of what Zoe-tic will do.

Everywhere in Canada at the same price.

One Dollar for a Generous Bottle.

(There is no substitute for Zoe-tic.)

The sons and daughters of Peter the Great, 2.07¼, won $68634 on the Grand Circuit this season.

Margaret Druien, 2.03¼, has been consigned to the Old Glory Sale at New York this month.

Goshen's 1916 progressive is announced the meeting is to continue for three days. There are three races on the cards for each day. There are $20,000 in purses besides $5,000 in special prizes.

Earl Jr., broke the track record at the Sage Park Speedway, Windsor, Conn., last week going the mile in the third heat of the free-for-all in 2.09¼. The former record was 2.10 flat and was made last year by Fred W., which took fourth money in the race won by Earl Jr.

An interesting and important announcement during the last week of the Kentucky meeting, was that the sale of the weanling colt by Axworthy, 2.15½, dam, Nervolo Belle, dam of Peter oVlo, 2.02, by Nervolo, p. 2.04¼. William Simpson, owner of Axworthy, looked the weanling over with a critical eye some time ago, and was so impressed with the youngster's conformation, gait and way of handling himself generally that negotiations for his transfer to the New York breeder's ownership soon were concluded. As the owner of Axworthy—which horse is now well along in years—Mr. Simpson naturally had an eye out for a successor when death shall take the great son of Axtel, 2.12. In this quest he has looked at many colts but the one from Nervolo Belle suited him so well that there was no hesitation in making a decision.

The other morning says the Western Horseman, Uri Pierce, the Longwood, Ont., horseman, worked his trotting gelding Vanko, 2.11¼, a mile in 2.10½, in company with the three year old pacing filly Miss Harris M., 2.07¼, driven by Lon McDonald. The pair stepped home from the half in 1.02¾ and came the last quarter in 30½ seconds. This was the first time that Vanko had been on a mile track this season, so Mr. Pierce did not ask him for anything better. Vanko has been a star over the half mile tracks this year. He started out early in the season, has raced over all kinds of tacks and has won nine times and got four second moneys in fourteen starts. He has been in 2.10 over a half mile track and as he is but a five year old the Canadian gelding should improve enough next year to make good enough for the Grand Circuit.

Previous to the offering of Mayor Todd at the Old Glory Horse Sale in New York in 1912. J. M. Johnson, his owner, said, among other things: Mayor Todd was trained this year on the farm track and has worked a mile in 2.18, the last half in 1.08. I believe he is surely a 2.10 trotter and will make a fine stock horse. Those who have followed the fortunes of Mayor Todd since Hammond Kelly brought him to Prince Edward Island will agree with the writer that he has made good on the directorship of his former owner. There is little doubt that if properly fitted Mayor Todd is capable of going miles in 2.05 an d2.06. He now holds the trotting stallion record for the Maritime Provinces and has to his credit the fastest mile ever trotted in Prince Edward Island. He has also won twelve races in succession and has been shown in the ring sixteen times winning twelve firsts and two seconds. His colts also have a habit of winning prizes wherever shown.

R. H. Brett, 2.03¼, gave Peter Stevens, 2.02¼, a walloping at Philadelphia the other day. The Peter the Great stallion was the favorite, too.

Barings Comet, owned in Halifax was distanced in the second heat of the 2.16 trot at Windsor, which went to Frank Fox's Canathen in 2.16½.

Simon McGregor, of New Glasgow, N. S., has bought the stallion, Crown Jay, 2.15¼, from J. D. Keith, of Stellarton, N. S., Mr. Keith bought the son of Jay Bird at the last Old Glory Sale.

Axtien, the Axworthy horse pulled down the big end of the 2.12 trot purse at Lexington last week in 2.07¾, 2.09½ and 2.07¼, Guy Nella getting second money and Abux third. On the same day Hal Napes got away with the 2.10 pace, after a close contest with Barlight. The race went six heats. Barlight took the first and second heats, Fred Mack the third. Then Hal Napes, which had been racing 7-4-7, came up strong and took the last three heats. The best time was 2.04¾.

In the list of horses offered for sale by Duncan Robertson, the well-known speed manufacturer of North River, is Commodore Ledyard, a son of Admiral Dewey, and undoubtedly the best sire. We have in Lower Canada: Parkoria by Parkside, 2.22½, (the dam of Oakley H., 2.18¾); Rexlight, 2.17½, and The Abegweit, 2.24½ Altho, a three-year-old stud (by Princeton, 2.19½, dam by Parkside, 2.22½), a full brother to the fleet pacer, The Abegweit, 2.24½; a three-year-old stud by The Peer, 2.15¼, out of Viola (tr. 2.22), dam of Arena Belle, 2.22½, and a young weanling, full sister to Rexlight, 2.17¼, besides several others of more or less note. Horsemen wanting some good racing prospects would do well to patronize this extraordinary sale of speed horses.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE TEMPLE RESTORED

Nov. 7, 1915—II. Kings 11: 17 to 12:16; II. Chron. 24:1-16.

In II. Chronicles 24:4 it is said that after all God's goodness to Jonas, he "was minded to restore the house of the Lord." God had spared his life and had exalted him to the throne, and this was his thank-offering. Gratitude to God is well expressed by service rendered to God's house. The world can understand such an expression of our feelings, and it is a help to the cause of God. It is a poor, mean spirit which can rejoice in God's gifts to us and at the same time can see God's house neglected without being moved to restore it. Joash in his youth was not of this type; he manifested his thankfulness by restoring the temple.

Previous to this, however, the King and people had convenanted to be the Lord's (11. Kings 11:17-20). This was followed up by the overthrow of the worship of Baal and the utter destruction of everything connected with it in Jerusalem. This action is significant. The evil is rooted out before the temple is touched. The ethical precedes the ritual. Obedience is better than sacrifice (1 Sam. 15:32). To have restored the worship of Jehovah while the worship of Jehovah while the abominations of Baal-worship were tolerated in the land, and to plead for God's favor while His law was being violated, would have been a mockery to the Most High. God is holy and just; evil is hateful in His sight. His first demand of the nation is the removal of all unrighteousness.

After the overthrow of Baal-worship the King, priests and people turned with one accord to repair the temple.

(1) All the resources of the temple were used for this purpose. II. Kings 12:4 and 16 are difficult verses to understand in view of our ignorance of the customs of the time. But verse 16 seems to suggest that certain sacrifices were commuted for a money payment at that time, and such monies were turned over to the repair fund. Further, if verse 4 be compared with Levit. 27:2-4 it will be seen that vows might be redeemed with money, and the priests were authorized to fix the amounts due. This also was to go into the temple treasury. The point of interest to us is that the resources of God's worshipping people were all devoted to this one purpose until it was completed. The priests and Levites were directed to give the enterprise their time and attention, and to push the work forward with all speed. This shows how important the work was regarded. The nation's chief concern for the time was to restore Jehovah's worship.

(2) The free-will offerings of the people were devoted to the same purpose (II. Kings 12:4; II. Chron. 24-10). It was a joy to the people to help in such a work. Now a tax is one thing (even a temple tax); a free-will offering is another, wholly different. The tax may be paid willingly still it is a tax, while the free-will offering is a tribute of thanksgiving and devotion. In our country religious institutions are supported almost entirely by voluntary contributions. In the first place their needs are fully met. God provides for His work when His people trust Him. Next, it cultivates a deeper loyalty among Christians.

(3) Honest dealing characterized all the work (II. Kings 12:15). The great difficulty in all Oriental countries is to get honest and reliable men to take charge of any work. But so high was the enthusiasm with which this work was undertaken, and so excellent the character of the leaders, that they did not need even to audit the accounts of the men who handled the money. They wanted to make no private fortunes out of this public enterprise.

(4) Finally, the narrative shows the need of efficient leadership. The generosity of the people and their joy in the restoration of the House of God were vain until the King and the priests took up the work vigorously and pushed it forward. The best army with poor Generals is as ineffective as a mob. The most earnest congregation with muddling and incapable officials will labor in vain.

The different church organizations are just beginning another season's work. Let those on the different committees understand that everything depends on their initiative and energy. So often people accept office and never put forth any effort to make the work a real success. As in our lesson, this brings everything to a standstill. A new leader should have new ideas, and should inspire the members with new vision of their possibilities and new zeal for their realization. This work should not have been left to Joash; he had enough to do elsewhere. It is a shame when a church's leaders throw everything on their minister, as they do by neglect. The work drags slowly on as a result, and the duties which are his peculiar charge cannot be done.

Here then are the conditions of successful church work, illustrated by this old story of failure and success; First, the removal of evil from the land; second, the enthusiasm and generosity of the people; third, honesty in dealing, fourth, efficient and energetic leadership. As the Sabbath schools all over the land are studying this subject this week, let us look into the needs of our place of worship and for God's glory seek to meet them. Our temple should be worthy of God's gifts to us. Our gratitude should be shown by building it up. Then let the whole work of the congregation be done with all our might, and God's Kingdom will be greatly advanced by our endeavors.
