JAPAN'S TRADE WITH CANADA

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Japan's total trade with Canada for the nine months of 1933 was valued at 39,620,976 yen as compared with 38,650,225 yen in the 1932 period, an increase of 3,172,851 yen. Exports to Canada were valued at 4,534,524 yen as against 6,387,066 yen, a decrease of 1,852,542 yen; imports from Canada were valued at 35,286,752 yen as against 30,319,169 yen, an increase of 4,976,583 yen.

Japan had thus an unfavorable balance of trade with Canada amounting to 30,752,228 yen as compared with 23,976,113 yen in the 1932 period, an increase of 6,776,315 yen.

Japan's chief export to Canada, was pottery, valued at 1,231,498 yen as against 1,042,890 yen in last year's period, a decrease of 21,362 yen. Next in importance was tea, valued at 628,538 yen as against 594,462 for the period, an increase of 34,076 yen. Exports of rice to Canada showed a large increase—463,809 yen as compared with 296,229 yen. Exports of raw silk to the Dominion, which used to be Japan's largest export item to Canada, showed a large decrease, and amounted to only 156 bales valued at 131,250 yen as against 1,452 bales valued at 920,587 yen in the 1932 period, and 3,836 bales valued at 1,970,735 yen in the 1931 period. Exports of silk tissues valued at 186,579 yen also show a large decrease, valued at 6,785,401 yen in the same months of 1932, a decrease in quantity although an increase in value. Canada's contributions, however, was 18.5 per cent of Japan's total wheat imports as against 15 per cent in last year's period, against 79.5 per cent and 82.1 per cent from Australia in the respective periods.

Imports of lumber from Canada are separately mentioned. Canada was the largest supplier of paper pulp from a tonnage viewpoint although shipments of 492,000 tons were of a greater value. Shipments from Canada amounted to 43,088 tons valued at 4,872,081 yen, or 30 per cent of the total imports. The next largest supplier (in tonnage) was the United States, closely followed by Norway, Sweden and Germany also supplied considerable quantities.

Canada continued to hold her position as chief supplier of lead and zinc to Japan. Imports of lead from Canada amounted to 29,218 tons valued at 4,563,284 yen, as against 18,140 tons valued at 3,063,066 yen in last year's period, an increase in both quantity and value. Canada's share of the lead imports represents 47 per cent of the total imports. Other suppliers were the United States (34 per cent) and British India (15 per cent).

NOTE: The Japanese yen has a gold parity value of 40 cents in Canadian currency. The average rate of exchange in 1931 was 51 cents and in 1932 it fell to 32 cents.

I'm a musician ... my husband is a hard-headed business-man

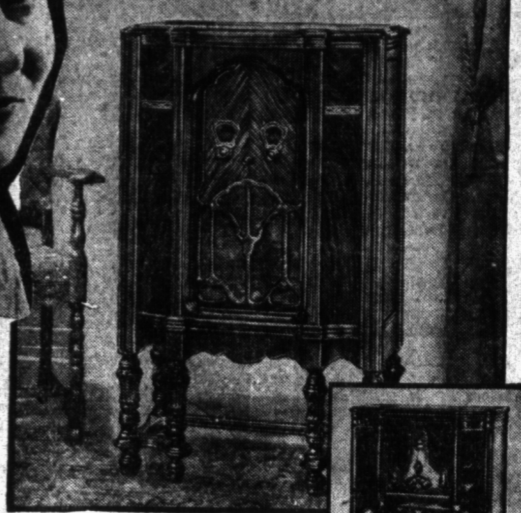

... this '99 radio was the one that pleased us both"

"Please an artist and a business-man at the same time... there's a really difficult task."

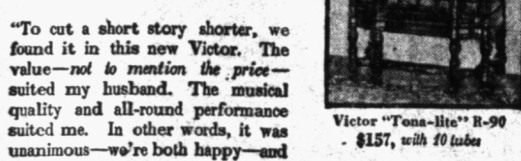

"I don't think there's anyone more thoroughly aware of a dollar's value than my husband. In everything he buys, quality is the watchword—but he insists on value and has a keen eye for price.

"On the other hand, I'd choose entirely by my ear where music is concerned. That is, so you can see there was plenty of room for a difference of opinion. How to get around it was quite a problem.

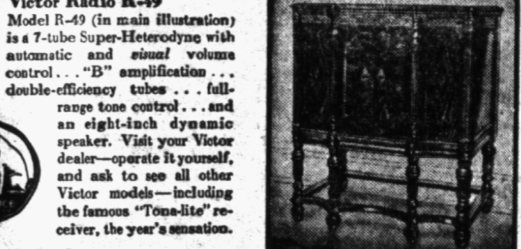

"Interested in everything musical, I'd read some radio advertising about hard buyers—people who demanded a lot for their money—hard-to-please couples. That, I thought, fits our case to a 'T', so we went shopping around to see if there was such a thing as a radio that really could meet our contrasted demands.

Catering Record For Restaurant

LONDON, Dec. 14—A world's catering record was set up one day recently at London's newest restaurant.

Thirty-five thousand patrons were served in 14 hours at the Marlborough Corner House, Marlborough Arch, during the first day of the Christmas season.

This feat was accomplished, said an official of Messrs. J. Lyons, only by sheering the staff of 1,000 for weeks past the minutes, detail was taken into consideration to avoid delay in the kitchen.

At the peak period the secret checks showed that:

Forty-two waitresses were passing out of the kitchen with fully laden trays in a minute.

Thirty-two thousand dishes were being washed, rinsed and dried by patent machines every eight minutes.

Three thousand people passed through the doors in 30 minutes.

Women Should Regulate Style Of Bathing Suits

(Canadian Press)
CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Dec. 14—A woman's page editor wants to know why women aren't consulted when it comes to regulations as to bathing suits. Those members of the South African Swimming Union have been informed that they may no longer wear "backless" costumes, or costumes of "bright" colors.

New regulations have been promulgated by the Union. The costumes must now be of dark color, and must have a "skirt" attached. But racing costumes cannot be brought with "skirt" attached, and the swollen variety is heavy for speed swimming. The various swimming associations are not likely to take the new regulations without some word of protest.

CELEBRATES SILVER WEDDING IN SOUTH AFRICA

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Ont., Dec. 14—Major and Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw, of this city, were married in Halifax, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in South Africa, and marked their golden wedding here on Dec. 12.

Major Bradshaw served in the British Army 48 years. As an officer of the Royal Army Service Corps, he was on duty at Netley Hospital, England, during the Great War. As a young soldier stationed in Halifax, he met Annie Martin of that city. She was in her teens still at school and the romance was quick, culminating in a "run-away" marriage of 80 years ago has been entirely successful.

For half a century Major Bradshaw and Mrs. Bradshaw have been a devoted and happy couple.

They returned to England and were stationed at different military centres in the British Isles. When the South African War broke out Major Bradshaw was detailed for service there, and later, on his return to England, received an appointment to South Africa, where with his wife and children he resided for a number of years, and where they celebrated their silver wedding. Thirteen years ago they returned to Canada and have made their home in London during the greater part of that time.

Senator Hardy And Family Sail

PARIS, Dec. 14—Mrs. A. C. Hardy, wife of Senator Hardy of Brockville, Ont., sailed for home today on the Europa, fully recovered from ailments which she suffered in an accident here several weeks ago.

Her son, Pufford Patrick Hardy, was charged with striking his mother and was released today. Senator Hardy will sail Saturday for Canada with his son.

Young Hardy had been in police custody for several weeks charged with striking his mother.

The young man went from Bante prison to his father's hotel. They will sail from Havre on the Cunard liner Albatros, for Halifax.

Investigating Magistrate Last Night Formally Issued a "non lieu"

The investigating magistrate last night formally issued a "non lieu" in the case of the young man, Mr. Hardy, charged with striking his mother and was released today. Senator Hardy will sail Saturday for Canada with his son.

On Nov. 30 the distinguished French civilist Truelle declared young Hardy "irresponsible" for his acts in a report submitted to Magistrate Gloria.

The incident occurred Nov. 12. Mrs. Hardy was struck about the head with a motor car crank handle. She said her son wielded the instrument although she later admitted she had not clearly seen her assailant. Hardy declared she charged and a id he himself was set upon and robbed.

Closing Date For Montreal Port

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(C. P.): If proposals are made to the Department of Marine by representatives of the shipping industry for a date for closing navigation in the Port of Montreal, they will be received with a very receptive ear, it was intimated today. Shipping interests and operators in the Montreal Port are considering making a request of this nature to the Dominion Government. November 26 has been suggested.

As a result of the standpoint of shipping interests purely, there are reasons, it is understood, which would operate in favor of taking this step. The cost of the services of ice breaking and other assistance which the Department has been called upon to make on the St. Lawrence route near Montreal, particularly in the case of foreign tramp steamers bringing in belated freight, runs into a considerable sum of money, and this has been especially true in the past season.
