KEEP SWEATERS FRESH AS WELL AS TRIM AND YOU'LL GET LOTS MORE DATES WITH HIM!

Here's how to keep woollens DAINTY NEW-LOOKING

A girl can't be really attractive unless she's dainty, so resolve never, never to risk wearing your sweaters too long. Wool carries perspiration odor and a sweater in need of a wash is fatal to charm!

Play safe! Dip your knitted things often in Lux. A dip in Lux leaves sweaters fresh as daisies. And Lux keeps colors bright as new, wool soft and elastic. Sweaters dipped in Lux stay new-looking for months.

Keep Baby's things dainty Daily dipping in Lux keeps wee woollies fresh and sweet. Lux is absolutely pure and gentle—it's the safest care for baby's tender skin.

Rare Sugar From Wood Pulpe Waste

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 9 — (AP) — A rare sugar, which until recently cost $18,000 a pound and is needed to make vitamin B-2, now can be had in almost unlimited quantities from the liquor waste of American paper mills.

The sugar is D-ribose. The waste is sulfate liquor. Just a small fraction of the liquor now poured into streams will supply the world with all this sugar it needs for all now-known purposes. The report was made to the American chemical society today by Dr. Jonas Kamlet of the Miles Laboratories, New York.

Living & Leisure

The Woman's Realm

IF I CAN LIVE

If I can live To make some pale face brighter And to give a second luster to some tear-dimmed eye, Or e'en impart One throeb of comfort to an aching heart, Or cheer some wayworn soul in passing by;

If I can lend A strong hand to the fallen, or defend The right against a single envious strain— My life, though bare, Perhaps, will seemeth dear and fair To us of earth, will not have been in vain.

The purest joy, Most near to heaven, far from earth's alloy, Is bidding cloud give way to sun and shine; And 'twill be well If on that day of days the angels tell Of me, "She did her best for one of Thine."

—Helen Hunt Jackson

To clean aluminum cooking utensils, especially after they have been badly stained by artichokes or asparagus, boil peelings of ribarb or spinach in the stained vessel.

BUY AS NEEDED

Buy your needs only as you need them and buy only a few at a time. If you keep needles on hand for a long period, they are likely to rust and lose their usefulness.

REMOVING PAINT

To remove paint from white cotton clothing, soak the spot two or three times with equal parts of ammonia and turpentine, then wash in soapsuds.

CLEANING THE REFRIGERATOR

For complete sanitation give the freezing compartment as well as the rest of mechanical refrigeration a thorough weekly washing with soda water. Use two tablespoons soda for each quart of hot water. Remove the ice trays, discard ice, scald the trays, cool and then refill with fresh water.

FALL ACCESSORIES MAKE WARDROBES VERSATILE

You'll fall for the Fall accessories, they're so distinctive and vital to a feeling of a few good "transition" dresses, a doted and abetted by a battery of smart accessories to build personality; and even the busiest woman can look "right" for work, play and war activities.

BEAUTIFUL BAGS

Handbags reflect the accelerated tempo of life and living, for Fall 1942. There are tailored glossy leather knapsacks for the woman in uniform—with detachable shoulder straps for quick-changes. Then there are big, squashy pouch bags that have a place-for-everything, including knitting! For formal afternoons, and dinner-in-town evenings, nothing could be sleeker than velvet-smooth black broadcloth, dressed up with crystal, and draped with dressmaker finesse. Formal evenings are "in the bag" with a wealth of beaded pouches, quilted satins—and slim little en-

—every blackhead will be gone.

BLACKHEADS

Blackheads simply dissolve and disappear by this one simple, safe and sure method. Get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store, sprinkle on a hot, wet cloth, and apply gently.

HOW DID MEN GET PRIVILEGE OF BEING FAMILY KILL-JOYS? In These Trying Times Husbands Should Help In Making Home Cheerful

One of the things that women bitterly resent—and Heaven knows you can't blame them for getting peevish over it—is that they are held entirely responsible for making a happy home and keeping up the family morale. Wives are adured always to meet their husbands with a glad sweet smile no matter whether they have neuralgia in their face or not.

They are told they must be gay and amusing and make the domestic atmosphere so hilarious their husbands and children would rather stay at home than go to a night-club, even when they have spent the whole day cooking, washing and taking care of the baby and have had no more exciting adventures than ordering the groceries or complaining to the butcher boy about how the price of meat has gone up. And, above all, they are warned that it is their bounden duty to keep themselves slim and young and glamorous and simper up to the door of the bungalow apron out of the bargain basement shop.

But nobody says a word about its being a man's duty to make a happy home. That job is wished off on the wife and she is expected to monopolize it. The husband feels that for him to be a little ray of sunshine in the house was not specified in his part of the marriage contract and that he has done his full duty by his family when he feeds and clothes them, and pays for his wife's beauty treatments and having the children's adenoids out, and their teeth straightened.

Worse still many men regard their homes as a dumping ground for all their troubles and nerves and temper and their wives as stooges to whom they can say all of the mean things they have ever wanted to say all day to their clients, or customers, or bosses. The minute they enter the door the temperature in the house drops to zero and the storm signals go up; the children hush their prattle, and the cat flies for cover, and the poor wife rushes to the kitchen to hurry up the dinner for fear she knows that only food will even temporarily stop the mouth of the growler.

EXHORTED TO CHEER HUSBANDS How men manage to acquire the privilege to being kill-joys in their home while women are lamasted if they don't keep everything pepped up and put on a continuous entertaining and amusing act, is one of the mysteries of domestic life that no one can explain. It is just one of those things. Just now we are being presented with an interesting example of it.

For everywhere, in the newspapers, on the radio, in the pulpits women are being exhorted to cheer up their husbands during these war times. Keep smiling, they are told, make your house bright and cheerful; pick up your spirits, they are told, when he comes home at night; don't let him see that you are downhearted. Buck him up with your optimism. Bite your tongue out rather than tell him of your fears and anxieties about your boy at the front. If you have any tears to shed do your weeping in secret.

Life is hard on men now. Your husband's nerves are shot to pieces with anxiety about Johnny at the front, about his business and about you and the little children. All day he has to listen to the croakings of peace and the little children. All day he has to listen to the croakings of peace and the little children. All day he has to listen to the croakings of peace and the little children. All day he has to listen to the croakings of peace and the little children.

WHAT ABOUT THE MEN? Fine. Nobody will deny that it is good advice but what about the husbands doing a little of this cheerful stuff? What about its being their duty to cheer up their wives and do something to dispel the gloom that has settled on so many homes and made them nothing more than a walling wall? Surely, what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Surely at a time like this women need comforting and cheering up more than men do. The trouble with a woman who spends her days in her own house with no occupation except her housework is that she has too much time to think. Too much time to brood. Too much time to fear. While she is cooking, or washing, or ironing, only her hands are busy with that task. Her thoughts are traveling with her boy, magnifying his every hardship and danger.

She needs a husband who will brace up her weakness with his strength, who will breathe the fresh hope into her faltering soul, who will give her out of his own courage the bravery to fight her battle and take whatever comes without whining. She needs a husband whose coming home at night will be like turning on all the lights in a dark place and it will make her feel, for the moment at least, that all is right with the world and God is still in His heaven.

If men need cheering up now, the women at home who wait, need it more.

CHURCHILL'S COAT APPEARS IN FUR

NEW YORK.—Winston Churchill's in a loose-sleeved swaggar with a famous coat took its place in the feminine wardrobe when it was presented by Arnold Constable in a fashion preview. In Safari United States Government Alaskan Seal, it was short and snug, with wide lapels and military buttons. Classic lines allowing the beauty of the skins to tell their story, appeared throughout the collection. Shoulders were natural and smooth, and a practical, double-duty feature was achieved by convertible necklines and cuffs that turned up for more formal wear.

The luxury of mink is no more. Except in its beauty, because Arnold Constable produced coats of rench his duties as Supt. of the Edmundston division of the Canadian National Railways. During his absence Mr. Griffin was relieved by E. W. G. Chapman, Assistant Supt.

RESUMES DUTIES

EDMUNDSTON, N. B. Sept. 9 — F. Griffin who has been absent on account of illness, has resumed his duties as Supt. of the Edmundston division of the Canadian National Railways. During his absence Mr. Griffin was relieved by E. W. G. Chapman, Assistant Supt.

A Morning Smile

A SMILE In a London club a member was complaining to a friend of the inexperience of his new manservant. "Ah," murmured the film-fan friend, "a clear case of how green is my valet."

NO CHANCE

"Any complaints?" asked the orderly officer, entering the mess-room. "Yes sir!" replied Private Smith. "They've all got bigger dinners than me." "Well, said the orderly officer, smiling, "they're all bigger lads than you aren't they?" "Yes sir," Smithy agreed; "an' allus will be at this rate."

If your oven is very hot, put a piece of waxed paper under the casserole cover. This will prevent the contents of the casserole from baking too quickly.

Nicer Friends Won by Nicer Manners

Girl Uses Wrong Introduction

Do your attempts to win nicer friends fall flat? Maybe you've neglected the social forms so important to well-bred people! Introducing any person with "Meet my friend Mr. Jones" you imply that only Mr. Jones is your friend. Such introductions are as crude as saying "I'd like to make you acquainted with" or putting the man's name before the girl's. Simple and always correct is "Miss Dell, Mr. Jones."

Remember, your manners are all that strangers can see! You make such a poor impression, out with a party, if you attempt to hail taxis or open doors yourself—but such a good impression if you let the men in the group do those things for you.

Then, knowing what's correct on special occasions you receive special invitations! At a formal affair, you precede your beau in the reception line; with a theatre party you wait for your host to suggest your place. Our 32-page booklet has all the important Do's and Don'ts for graceful social life. Tells how to date, behave at dances, games, the theatre; what to say at introductions, invitations.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. When it's the "pain cry" give Baby's Own Tablets at once. Mrs. May Mundy, of Toronto, finds they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for diarrhoea, upset stomach, simple croup, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies. Quickly effective. Safe and harmless. Contains no opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package gives an analyst's report. Get a package today. Sickness often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Your waste money if you are not satisfied.

Kentville Merchants Aid Apple Growers

KENTVILLE, N.S., Sept. 9 — (CP) — Kentville merchants voted today to close their stores one or two days each week during the harvest season so that they and their clerks can help farmers pick the expected 1,000,000-barrel Annapolis Valley apple crop. A wartime shortage has threatened to
