FINANCE LEADERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Rumored That They Discussed Means to aid in Recovery of France.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The New York Times in a Washington despatch today says that a meeting of Secretary Mellon of the United States Treasury and several important figures in European finance yesterday, is accepted generally in official circles as foreshadowing international fiscal developments. Treasury officials described the visits as merely courtesy calls. Those who called on Secretary Mellon were Montague Norman, Governor of the Bank of England; S. Parker Gilbert, Agent General of German reparations payments; and Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The Times says in some well informed circles it is believed that ways and means to aid in recovery of France under the Briand ministry, which might involve the sale of part of German railroad bonds held by the Reparations Commission and a readjustment of German reparations were discussed.

The three financial leaders who saw Mr. Mellon are expected to confer with President Coolidge and Secretaries Kellogg and Hoover.

Three Master is Reported in Sinking Condition

HALIFAX, Jan. 3.—The three masted schooner Myrtle Percy has been abandoned in a sinking condition off Cape Race according to word reaching the Marine and Fisheries agency here this morning from the Dutch steamer Beantsterdick enroute from Rotterdam to Boston.

The message relayed through Cape Race wireless station gave the position of the derelict schooner as 47.13 north 35.54 west but made no mention of the crew.

The Percy was last reported Dec. 5th loading for the Mediterranean at Twillingate, Nfld. The position given is 750 miles east of Cape Race and is midway between the eastern and western steamer lanes.

Abegweit Reception at Prince Edward

That the Pretty Nifty Revue, now playing at the Prince Edward Theatre, continues to be held in favor by Charlottetown theatregoers, is being shown in the large audiences that are attending the daily performances. Saturday's show was replete with entertainment and a splendid program of varied numbers was rendered.

Today there will be a complete change of bill, and tonight will be Abegweit reception night, the members of the Abbie hockey team having been invited to be present as the show's guests.

(Special to the Guardian)
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The House Commerce Committee expect to begin its investigation of the alleged monopoly of crude rubber by the British colonial governments Tuesday. Secretary of Commerce Hoover is expected to be the first witness.

Over 700 Attended Gov. General's New Year Reception

(Canadian Press)
 OTTAWA, Jan. 3.—His Excellency the Governor General received more than seven hundred visitors at the annual New Year's day levee. Lord Byng attended by his staff greeted each visitor personally.

Premier King, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, cabinet ministers, members of parliament, officers of the permanent forces and nonactive militia, many civil servants and civilians from all walks of life were among the long line which extended from the Governor General's office to the door of the east block of the parliament buildings.

Sorrowful End Of Joyful Day

(Special to the Guardian)
 PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 3.—A day of roses and joy ended in sorrow for 235 persons who were precipitated into a tangled mass of wreckage when a temporary private grand stand collapsed during the parade of the tournament of roses here today. More than 30 with various injuries were treated in the operating room in the Pasadena Hospital and 200 others received treatment. Of those 100 left after first aid and went to their homes.

New Year's Day at the "Y"

The New Year was ushered into the local "Y" amidst great splendor. Gaily festooned with spruce and other New Year decorations the whole building presented an aspect of activity from early morning till late at night and the bowling alleys, pool tables, reading room and the gym had an extra share of use.

Starting at 3 o'clock the junior class assisted by Togo, the greatest by far of all local clowns and Mr. Wendall Phillips put on a Gym Ex. which is worthy of more than passing notice. The boys went through their games and apparatus work in A1 style, clearly demonstrating the fact that some excellent gymnasts and athletes are being developed.

Special mention should be made of the work of "Togo" the clown, Mr. Phillips and Messrs Henry and McLeod on the apparatus.

Then at four o'clock all were invited down to the social room where the Ladies' auxiliary in their usual capable manner provided afternoon tea to the guests while Mr. Walter McNutt, one of Charlottetown's best boy musicians, provided very pleasing accompaniments on the piano.

Back in the gym again for some exhibition games of volleyball between two picked teams which clearly demonstrates to all the benefits derived by indulging in this form of popular exercise.

Last but not least the games for the boys after supper when a number adjourned to the gym for over an hour enjoying games of various kinds to the limit.

This was by far the most successful New Year of the "Y" enjoyed by its membership and staff in joining one another in friendly chat and handshake wishing one another many happy returns.

Entertainment at Falconwood on New Year's Day

INMATES ENTERTAINED BY MEMBERS OF FRANK SOPERS PRETTY NIFTY REVUE

The male members of Frank Sopers' Pretty Nifty Revue now playing at the Prince Edward Theatre, journeyed to Falconwood New Year's morning and entertained the inmates of that institution. The party was composed of Frank Soper, Joe Doran, Tom Delay, Ed. Soper, Benny McNally, Ed. McCharles, Hap Wagner, Sid Elliott, Edward and pianist of the Prince Edward and C. J. Gallagher, manager of the Prince Edward. The party gave an hour's concert which was greatly enjoyed by the inmates and staff and at close of the program a hearty vote of thanks moved by Dr. Goodwill was tendered the visiting performers.

SHOOT'S WIFE THEN SUICIDE

(Canadian Press)
 BROADVIEW, Sask., Jan. 3.—George Ford, a farmer living six miles south of here is believed to have shot his wife in the back of the head with a shotgun Saturday and to have then turned the gun on himself, blowing his brains out. Neighbors found the two bodies late Saturday afternoon. There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy but the positions of the bodies led the authorities to the conclusion that the deaths resulted from a shooting and a suicide.

No One to Blame For Wreck of U. S. Dirigible

(Canadian Press)
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—No one can be blamed for the wreck of the navy dirigible Shenandoah and the loss with her of Lieutenant Commander Lansdowne and thirteen other officers and men. The naval court of inquiry which investigated the disaster has concluded and in a statement now made public says that the catastrophe is part of the price that must inevitably be paid in the development of any new and hazardous art.

New Chinese Cabinet

(Special to the Guardian)
 PEKIN, Jan. 3.—The new cabinet with Hsu Shin Ying, former Minister of Justice as Premier and C. T'wang, former President of the Senate as Foreign Minister was announced today. It will succeed the old cabinet which was practically non-existent through resignations following the recent shifting of the political balance.

The Late Mrs. Otto Campbell

The death occurred at Winsloe on Saturday after a short illness of Mrs. Otto W. Campbell (nee Miss Daisy Turner) daughter of the late H. W. Turner of this city.

The late Mrs. Campbell who was only 28 years of age had during the past few weeks been confined to her bed suffering from a tumor of the brain caused by a fall some two years ago. On the day before her demise her condition became more serious and she was conveyed to the P. E. I. Hospital.

It was not thought that she was in immediate danger and the news of her death was received with a great shock by her husband and relatives.

The deceased who possessed a kind and cheery disposition had a host of friends both in city and country who will regret to learn of her sudden death at such an early age. She had all the qualities of a loving wife and mother and had always taken the greatest interest in both church and community life.

She leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing husband and two young children, her mother, Mrs. H. W. Turner of this city, two brothers, P. W. of this city and B. H. of O'Leary to all of whom the Guardian extends most sincere sympathy.

The funeral will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home in Winsloe and will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Palmer.

TURKEY SHUNS RED ACCORD

Talk of all Russian Alliance, but Communism Feared by Govt.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—In the first of a series of articles from Ankara published by the Westminster Gazette, J. Alfred Spender, editor of the paper, expresses the opinion that in the sharp struggle between prudence and precipitancy, for the present at any rate, prudence seems to have won for the time being. He says the talk is all of an alliance with Russia for the redemption of the Eastern world from British imperialism, but he finds it difficult to believe in any long-standing intimacy between the Russians and Turks because Mustafa Kemal Pasha (President of Turkey) would not for a moment tolerate Communism in Turkey. Kemal also would need to be very sure that the Russians would go away again before he invited them to come to his assistance. Mr. Spender thinks the Turkish method will be rather to make constant trouble on the Iraq border and so render Mosul a very uncomfortable and expensive possession.

THE ABEGWEITS AGAIN TRIM THE DALHOUSIE TIGERS

Game on New Year's Afternoon was a splendid Exhibition, With Dal. Working Hard to Turn Aside Defeat.

Defeat, this time to the tune of 5 to 2, was again the lot of the visiting Dalhousie sextet, in their second encounter with a fast and aggressive Abbie team in the Arena Rink on New Year's afternoon.

The college boys did not show the same class as they did in the match of the previous night, and the local sextet excelled them in speed, team-work, and general tactics.

Although, as the score indicates, the contest was not so close as the previous one, it was on the whole a far better exhibition of the national sport, and kept a large crowd of fans on edge with excitement for the entire three stanzas. The pace set was at first terrific, and was maintained well into the final period, when the effects of the hard grind began to make themselves manifest, and the game slowed considerably.

"Chic" Williams, who scored three of the Abbies goals, gave a wonderful account of himself in his first reappearance on local ice in several years. His whirl wind rushes and hard and accurate shooting were largely responsible for the Tigers' decisive defeat. Whackey MacEachern, who opened the scoring eight minutes after the start, and who realized the home team's remaining tally, in the second period, also showed that he has lost none of his class. He and Gordon in combination, as was the case on Friday, proved themselves a scoring machine to be reckoned with. Prowse and Kelly, although not starting individually as in the opening encounter with the Black and Gold, played a good game and were always to be depended upon in the pinches. Lou Campbell who played for only a short time in the final period, showed that he has lost none of his old hockey level, and should be a valuable component of the senior team this season. Cox, Cronin, Diamond and Aylward, all played good consistent games, and should be a valuable component self with much more to do than in

Investigation Into Death of St. John Policeman

(Canadian Press)
 SAINT JOHN, N. B., Jan. 3.—Murdoch Eving of St. Peters, C. B. seaman, admitted while on the stand at the coroner's inquest Saturday evening, convened for the purpose of inquiring into the tragic death of policeman William P. McCavour in the Seaman's Institute early Friday morning, that he had "pushed the policeman" when the latter tried to follow him up stairs. Eving stated that he had no intention of hurting the officer, after he had left the dance hall where much drinking had been going on among the men.

Walter Steele, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., witness for the police, stated that he saw Eving strike the policeman when the latter came upstairs, apparently for the purpose of quelling an argument between some of the men.

Steele stated further that he was standing at the door of the reading room and saw Eving hit the officer. With this, he (Steele) rushed forward and shouted "What the hell is the matter here?"

With this someone replied, near him "What is your business?" followed up by a punch on the head and as he fell, a kick in the mouth. He recovered himself and rushed down the stairs, passed the body and went out to secure help.

Evidence was also given by Walter Brindle, caretaker of the Institute, Harry Bowden his assistant, who had been left in charge when Mr. Brindle had gone home. Mr. Bowden said that there had been much drinking but he had not seen any of them actually taking a drink. He had locked the dance hall at 2:20 and all was quiet. Shortly after this he heard the front door open and somebody go upstairs. Within a few minutes the door opened again and somebody went upstairs. Shortly after, he said, he heard a scuffle followed by a thud. He rushed out of the office and saw policeman McCavour lying at the foot of the

DOCTOR HOPES LATEST FROM THE CAPITAL FOR PARALYSIS CURE

Chicago Physician's Experiments Lead to Hope of Success.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3.—Hope of finding a cure for paralysis was raised today by Dr. R. R. Gerard, C.D., University of Chicago, who presided the final session of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in an annual convention here. He told of broken spinal cords and had grown normally.

In man, incurable paralysis has invariably followed the severing of the spinal cord. Hundreds of men were thus incapacitated during the war.

The most remarkable of Dr. Gerard's operation was one in which he operated on embryo rats in gestation and severed their cords. The severed cords mended, the rats were born normal and they lived long and healthy lives.

The success of these experiments led Dr. Gerard to suggest the possibility of mending severed spinal cord in man. This he said, was only speculation, though he intended to work on the problem.

Dr. A. A. James, University of Western Ontario, reported further studies taken from the liver on high blood pressure. This treatment has given relief for long periods, although scientists have not been able to determine the exact chemistry of the treatment.

Dr. Leo Loeb, Washington University, told of the transplantation of a piece of cartilage from one animal to another, and of its continued life and growth. After the animal from which the tissue was taken had long been dead, the cartilage will live on in another body or in a laboratory test tube.

The success of this experiment opens a new vista for man. If transplantation of tissues should become universally successful, man's body might be replaced, piece by piece, until he could live forever. This line of speculation was pursued outside the scientific meetings, however, as none of the research workers would indulge in guesses respecting immortality.

Dr. G. H. Stewart and Dr. J. H. Rogoff, of Western Reserve University, reported success in keeping alive longer than ever before animals from which the adrenal glands had been removed. Lack of these glands in man caused Addison's Disease, characterized by brown skin and low blood pressure.

Further success, it was believed might lead to the discovery of a cure for Addison's Disease.

First Electrocution of The New Year

(Special to the Guardian)
 NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The first attempt to hold a world wide New Year's celebration by radio was made tonight when New York and London exchanged New Year's greetings and a musical entertainment was given by transoceanic superbroadcasting. Efforts were made to rebroadcast the program not only from coast to coast in the United States but also throughout the British Isles the continent of Europe, South America and as far east of Hawaii.

Cablegrams and telegrams received at station WJZ showed that the experiment had been a success to the extent that English radio fans had heard the American program and that Americans all the way to Los Angeles had heard New Year's greetings and dance music broadcast from London. Word was awaited from continental Europe South America and Hawaii whether it had been a complete success.

KILLS THREE CHILDREN

(Canadian Press)
 OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 3.—Mrs. Ruth Townsley, Friday afternoon and killed her three youngest children ranging in age from a month to five years, wounded the eldest child and then attempted suicide by shooting herself in the breast. Both the wounded will recover, doctors state.

The woman is apparently insane, said the doctors, "she had to do it," she said. She is bitter toward her husband, Frank Townsley.

PLEDGE LOYALTY TO RT. HON MR. MEIGHEN

Speakers promise help in Bringing Together Any Party Factions.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—Loyalty and devotion to the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as leader of the Conservative party of Canada, was one of the points which speakers emphasized at the New Year's reception given by the Liberal Conservative Association here today.

The main speakers were the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Hon. Rodolphe Monty and Leslie G. Bell, M. P. for St. Antoine, who especially pledged himself to aid in bringing together Conservative factions, should it be true that there still exist factions in the party.

Hon. Mr. Monty said that many Conservatives had not yet recovered from the effects of the last election. Some people, he said, claimed that Quebec was in a peculiar position. That was true, said Mr. Monty. Some people claimed that it had voted exclusively on prejudice. That was not quite true. Personally, he said, he had made his position clear in the matter and he wished to emphasize the principles expressed by Browning to the effect that there cannot be two kinds of right men, nor two ways for leading a straight life.

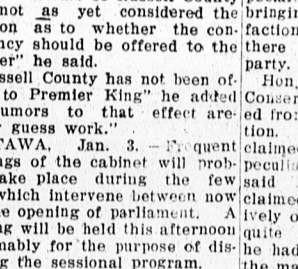

Mr. Monty felt also that a good deal could be learned from today's proceedings. He said that he presented a spectacle much in the line of a last year's calendar which bore the motto: "When you have reached your goal, tie the knot and hang on."

Mr. Monty said that the surviving members of the King Government had read this motto, and so were hanging on, while the hanging was good. There was some talk in the Liberal ranks of the Hon. Mr. Dunning's replacing Mr. King, but all these matters, said Mr. Monty, would be settled within a few days. Pending such changes, said he, Conservatives might well remember that principles triumph and truth prevails. In this province the Conservative party was preparing for future battles, so that it might go forward in the spirit of devotion for the interest of the people and with unflinching loyalty to Mr. Meighen.

Hon. Mr. Ballantyne brought a message of good will for 1926 from "our gifted and duly leader, the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen," and added that while the year passed had been a very good one for the Conservative party it must be believed that the party was growing, and all evidence lent itself to the belief that the party would be more successful in this province than had been the case in previous years.

"It will not be very long before Mr. Meighen is called on to form a government," said Mr. Ballantyne. "This may not come in the next division, but in the course of the session, the government will fall as it should fall and Mr. Meighen will be called on to complete the session. He will form a government and if it should be that there is not a sufficiently strong working majority, then we all feel it will be up to the electors of Canada again and it is not a matter for a prophet to believe that when he goes on, he will be returned with a large working majority."
