PROWSE BROS. LTD.

We ask you to come and see our wonderful Collection

—VISITOR TO KENSINGTON—Mr. Michael Lux, of Woburn, Mass., who is an annual visitor, has arrived, and is buying up a very large flock of geese. The receiving depot is at Tom Gorman's farm. Mr. Lux's son, Anthony, who bought geese here two years ago, has struck a rich "pay-streak" since being here. He financed an inventor, who invented an electric target, of which he now has the patent right. This target is a great improvement on the old system of registering the "score," and is being installed in nearly all the armories of the United States, and is eagerly sought after by foreign nations.—especially Germany, but the neutrality laws of the United States forbid even correspondence on the matter, with any of the warring nations. Mr. Lux is an enthusiastic autoist, and hopes to be able to bring his auto and some of his family when he comes next year. K

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Anthony J. Dougan, who died September 25th, 1915

MOTHER

It is a wonderful thing a Mother,
Other folks can love you,
But only your mother understands;
She works for you, looks after you
Loves you, forgives you anything you may do,
And then the only thing bad she ever does to you,
Is to die and leave you.

Address And Presentation

On September 15th about forty of the friends of (Miss) Janie MacLeod assembled at her home in Hopevale to bid farewell to the eve of her departure to another province. The evening was spent in games and other amusements. After refreshments were served, Mr. Dr. M. MacDonald on behalf of those present read the following address and presented Miss MacLeod with a beautiful Ebony toilet set:

Dear Friend:—As you are about to leave us,—for a time at least, to take up your residence in another province, we realize that we would not do our feeling justice if we failed to give some expression to our sense as the loss we as a community are to sustain by your departure.

We have noted with admiration your conduct in your home in the face of great responsibilities. You have endeared yourself to us by your kindly disposition ever manifesting a spirit of helpfulness and continually sowing seeds of kindness with an impartiality all too rare in this material age. We will miss you greatly from our social gatherings where you were ready, quietly and unostentatiously to lend the helping hand. You will be missed in your place in the choir of the Hartsville church which you so competently filled. But above all your place will be difficult to fill as teacher and leader of the service of praise in the Hopevale Sabbath school. But why make your parting harder by our complaints.

We ask you to kindly accept this gift as a slight expression of our esteem, with the prayer that Providence may protect and keep you.

Signed in behalf of those present,

ANNIE B. NICHOLSON,
D. M. MACDONALD,
FLORENCE MACINNIS.

MACLAUCHLIN-MACMILLAN WEDDING.—The home of Mr. James R. MacMillan, Covehead, was brilliantly lighted and tastefully decorated on the evening of the 20th inst. and the most careless observer would come to the conclusion that something important was about to take place. As he stepped inside of the house a large number of happy looking faces greeted him and in a short time Mrs. Allison Holmes seated herself at the piano and began playing the "Wedding March," then appeared on the scene Miss Luella J. MacMillan leaning on the arm of her father, and was escorted by him to the side of Mr. A. Ashley MacLauchlin, a prosperous young farmer of Stanhope. Beside the groom stood Mr. D. J. Brent MacMillan and to the left of the happy looking bride stood Miss Katie MacCallum of Lot 48, and Miss Holmes was little Estella MacLauchlin, niece of the bridegroom. The marriage ceremony was then performed by the Rev. D. MacLean. When the happy couple had received the congratulations of the large number of guests tea was served in the dining room and needless to say, all did ample justice to the many rich dainties that were provided by Mrs. MacMillan. Probably it was the first time in the history of the Province when half a dozen automobiles were seen on the lawn of a country home. As the Union Road is open for autos many embraced the opportunity of driving the gasoline horse. Numerous beautiful and useful were the presents received by the bride. The Guardian extends to Mr. and Mrs. MacLauchlin its hearty congratulations.

The Incomparable Flavor---

Obtained by combining with the rich sweetness of whole wheat, the delicious zest of malted barley—is a big factor in the ever increasing popularity of

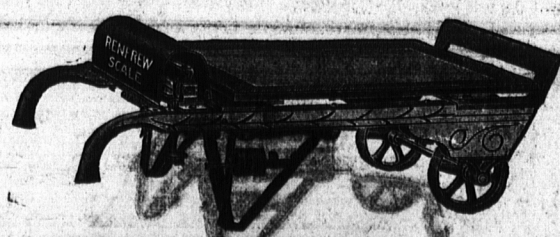

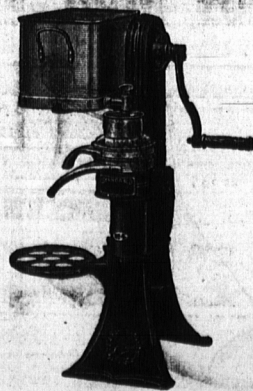

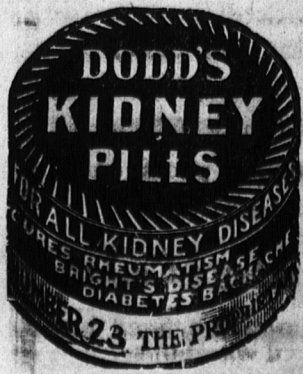

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

It's the always-ready food - just add cream or good milk. Every family should have its daily ration of Grape-Nuts.
