New Schedule Of Rates For Private Nursing

The Private Duty Nurses of the P. E. I. and Charlottetown Hospitals have been holding a series of meetings during the past two months to discuss different problems in connection with their work. The keynote of these discussions was the advisability of changing the hours of duty and the amount of fees received. For the past fifteen or twenty years or probably more the nurses of P. E. I. have been working on a twenty-four hour and twelve hour day basis for the fee of $4.00 and $3.00 respectively. About four years ago 24 hour duty in hospitals was abolished and the twelve hour day has been in vogue since then. The fee received for a twelve hour day is $3.00 which is only 25 cents per hour. A very low wage for a professional person, who requires three years of preparation before qualifying for a graduate nurse. This would probably be considered a fairly adequate living wage in the early years of the P. E. I. Nurses Association, but at the present time cost of living, rentals, etc., are higher than ever before and the nurses are finding it almost impossible to carry on and pay their expenses.

Nicholson's Horse Health

Or else he's an Ass

This powder acts as a preventive and conditioner in some cases cures disease. For horses that are run down and bad coated it works wonders and will put them on their feet quicker than any other. In cases of poor feeders it acts like magic; starts them eating almost at once, and when they eat they do work and are all right. For stallions it is particularly efficacious and you will find that your horse will be more vigorous and in better condition to go into a season and will prove to be a surer foal getter by 20 per cent than before. For colts and brood mares it will convince you that it is a good investment for it will keep the colts healthy and in show shape all the time and will carry them through the winter in better condition and with less feed than ever before. For mares in foal you will find it beneficial as it will keep them in a natural robust condition and they will be in shape to raise a strong colt when the time comes. Price 2 lb. Box 70c.
