SUCCESSFUL BALL LAST NIGHT
His Honour Lieutenant-Governor F. R. Hears entertained the officers of H. M. S. Wistaria, at a dance given at Government House last evening. There was a very large attendance of invited guests. The affair was voted one of the most successful functions of the season. The ballroom was tastefully decorated for the occasion and this together with the magnificent gowns worn by the ladies and the snappy dress uniforms of the officers added much to the splendour of the occasion.

RETIRE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Conductor William O. Davey Receives Superannuation After Forty-seven and a Half Years of Faithful Duty.

Forty-seven and a half years of faithful and honest duty is a record that any man should well feel proud of; a tribute in itself that any person may cherish for the remaining years to come.

Mr. William O. Davey, C. N. R. conductor of the Prince Edward Island division, after forty-seven and a half years of duty has received his superannuation, and with it a very complimentary letter of congratulations from Superintendent Mr. T. B. Grady.

Conductor Davey began his railroad career in the spring of 1882 as a section man, and for six and a half years continued in this line of work. For the remaining forty-one years he was employed as a trainman and to date has the longest service of any trainman on the local division.

During these years Conductor "Bill" Davey, as he was familiarly known by his host of friends and acquaintances, has seen many changes in the development of the steel rail in this province. He has enjoyed the realization of railroad progressiveness and worked and lived with it up through the years, and during that time, Mr. Davey, a faithful railroad employee, conscientious and devoted in the performance of his duty, has not only reaped a well earned reward, but has made thousands of friends among the travelling public with whom his duty brought him in contact.

Conductor Davey has worked under seven Superintendents, namely, L. E. Archibald, James Coleman, J. Unsworth, A. McDonald, J. A. Sharp, H. McEwen, T. B. Grady. Of the seven only the last two gentlemen named are living.

The Guardian joins with Mr. Davey's legion of friends in wishing him many, many years of happy and healthful retirement.

COMMISSION MEETS IN SOUTH-EARN KINGS

It was suggested that the Board of Education should be made non-political. The idea of amalgamation was approved although the difficulties were pointed out; and it was the unanimous opinion that the problem of the one-room rural school should be courageously met and where possible, the very small school should be absorbed into other schools with the resultant establishment of the graded schools, which would mean greater efficiency in teaching. Specific examples were given of areas where such amalgamation could be easily effected. The necessity of more normal training was stressed. It was felt that there was not sufficient supervision from the rural school board, especially in the case of inexperienced teachers and with the inspectorial system as at present functioning is of little supervisory value. One witness declared that there are too many inspectors, considering the character of their work. A system of travelling instructors or supervisors who could remain in the school for a day or two was advocated.

The course of studies was said to contain too many subjects. Some witnesses suggested that the text books of the British History would be removed entirely and that instruction should be given in the form of talks and discussion. It was felt that too much time was placed on memorizing these subjects. Examples were given of alleged absurd questions in Geography which students entering the Prince of Wales College were supposed to answer. More attention was asked for English, Compositions, Drawing and Arithmetic. French, as taught in the schools today, was said to be little or no value. It was suggested that Latin should not be taught until after grade ten and that the more important subjects such as English, arithmetic and writing should receive more attention.

School fairs in general were approved, but it was recommended that the price list for the September fair should be distributed in June previously.

co-operation is needed, and perhaps a Provincial Athletic meet could be held well for Charlottetown, more held here the latter part of September.

Options were advocated in upper grades. It was suggested that every school board should have one woman member.

Teachers' salaries were unanimously considered to be too low. It was suggested that this method of raising the supplements should be discontinued, that the government should be the sole agency of collecting and distributing funds, exclusive of school contingencies.

It was recommended that home work should be reduced to a minimum, and that credit should be given to pupils for outside reading of standard quality. It was suggested that grades nine and ten should not be taught in one roomed schools. It was believed that the necessary revenue could be obtained by a special educational tax.

In answer to the chairman as to whether or not he would approve of such means one representative witness stated: "If I were not going to run an election I would not hesitate to impose such a necessary tax. If I were going to run an election I might be somewhat reluctant."

It was felt however, that education of value would be willingly paid for.

St. LOUIS, Mo, Sept. 6.—Trans-continental air transport officials said here late today the four men sighted by Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson and believed to be survivors of the T. A. T. air liner, City of San Francisco, were Indians.

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—The Soviet Government today abolished Sunday as a regular day of rest inaugurating in scores of Soviet trades and other institutions what is known as the "continuous production weeks." The move is calculated to quicken the pace of industry, increase the productivity of labor and relieve unemployment. Each employee will be required to work the usual number of hours, which now range from 39 to 46. All, however, will have a day of rest after every five or six days of labor. In this way, while one group is resting, another bunch of employees will be carrying on the full activities of the factory or institution.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., Sept. 6.—The New Glasgow-Reserve baseball game this afternoon was a draw, each team scoring two runs, and a sixth game will be played for the right to meet Yarmouth in the final series for the amateur championship of Nova Scotia.
