Sun Bathers Rounded Up At Locarno

LOCARNO, Sept. 28.—Locarno has turned down flatly its chance of being a world centre for sunbathers. Attracted apparently by the fact that Locarno's climate had soothed Europe's bickering statesmen sufficiently to enable them to effect the Locarno Peace Treaties, dozens of "nature students" flocked here from Germany and elsewhere.

What Europe's Royalty Would Rather Be Doing

LONDON, Sept. 28.—One of the weaknesses of Royal personages is to confide to intimate friends what they would most like to do if they were in each other's shoes. King George, incoincidentally, would prefer to attend a horse race, and mingle with the crowd. Queen Mary would ride on top of a London bus, all day long. King Albert of Belgium would travel in foreign lands and do a great deal of flying. King Alfonso of Spain would like to denude a peasant, and live the life of a peasant for a week or two. The Queen of Spain would appear on the stage. Queen Marie of Roumania would travel extensively abroad, write novels, and listen to what the people said about her. The Prince of Wales has never got over his fondness for climbing trees, which was denied him as a boy. Queen Victoria always wanted to ride on a street car, but she never had a railway ticket in her hand. King Edward often proposed to ride in London's underground, but procrastination defeated his aims.

Indian Tells Faith In British Empire

Mussolini Is "Most Taciturn" Barber Says

ROME, Sept. 28.—Mussolini is the most taciturn man in Italy, according to his barber, Domenico Rossi. "Four years ago," says Rossi, "I was working in my shop when my friend, Policeman Ambrosetti rushed in and, in an excited voice, told me to take my razor and follow him. 'Mussolini wants to be shaved,' he said. 'I had a hard job keeping my hand from trembling, but I must have given His Excellency a good shave for I have been his barber ever since. And during these four years, he has never said one word to me.'"

SAYS FRANCE WILL PAY WAR OBLIGATIONS

Poincare Declares She has Never Repudiated Debts in Past and Won't in Future—Financial Worry Laid to Germany.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Premier Poincare, making his first political speech since taking over the helm of the French government on August 17, today expressed the hope that the settlement of war debts soon will come up for discussion in Parliament. Addressing the General Council of the Department of Meuse, of which he had been a member for forty years, the Premier said that France had never repudiated her foreign debts and that she is determined to pay them in accordance with her capacity and within the limits of the possibility of transferring money abroad.

Premier in Fine Form M. Poincare was in fine form despite his strenuous life since he took up the task of rehabilitating French finances and was warmly supported by the entire Council. He was applauded enthusiastically when he recalled that France has never repudiated her debts and was given grave attention when he said that France was ready to consider closer relations with Germany providing they were in accord with the peace treaties and France's alliances.

Now I must be busy. 'Look at these.' He held up a pair of mother-of-pearl old brown breeches. 'Will they do?' Two hours later a tough-looking customer shuffled up to the Whitehall and whined, 'Got a match mister? Got a tanner on yer?' It was Stevens, completely formed, and playing his difficult role with the assurance of an old actor. Even to his voice was he changed and his make-up was masterly; that is there was not too much of it. The reporter gave him a cigarette. He impressed his thanks and shuffled off, one of a thousand of London's vagrants.

Re-election May Not Be Necessary

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Amendment of the Senate and House of Commons Act to do away with the necessity for re-election of a member of Parliament who accepts a Government portfolio may be discussed in the coming session. One private member is said to have stated his intention of bringing the matter before the House and a discussion for and against is sure to follow. Such a change on procedure in Canada would not involve amendment of the British North American Act, apparently. Re-appeal to the electors is not provided for in the British North American Act, but in the Senate and House of Commons Act, which could be changed without reference to the Imperial Parliament. The British Parliament only recently abolished the requirements, in the case of a minister, to resign some time ago. There has been talk from time to time of Canada doing likewise, but the discussion has never reached any definite stage in the Canadian Parliament.

Garages Attached to Trains for Commuters

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Garages are to be attached to London suburban railway and underground stations for the use of commuters. A charge of a shilling a day will be made to railway season ticket holders, and about 60 cents to others. The innovation is expected to increase the amenities of suburban life, enabling persons living considerable distances from the railroads to reach the stations without dependence upon trams, buses or taxicabs.

CANADA BIDS GOOD-BYE TO BARON BYNG

Thousands Assemble in Capital's Station to Say Farewell—Many Bouquets Presented.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Lord Byng of Vimy left for home yesterday. Thousands assembled to bid him good-bye. His send-off was probably the most demonstrative, and certainly the most democratic ever given to a departing Governor-General. Long before train time the station was filled. Beyond the gates people with official standing began to fill the space round the end of the Vice-Royal train. The space became too small and the train was pulled out a little to enlarge it. Again it filled and by the time their Excellencies arrived their train was almost out of the long train shed and the platform was thronged. Only a comparative few in the enclosure had official status. The rest slipped in somehow. When the final good-byes were said, cabinet ministers were jostled by messenger boys in the line which filed past to shake hands with Byng of Vimy and officers in the full dress of the navy, the air force and the militia made way for bewildered old ladies who found themselves swept into the line.

For half an hour the handshaking continued. Then their Excellencies stepped upon the platform from their train, the guard of honor which fringed the crowd with scarlet came to attention and the train-rang rang with repeated cheers. The crowd had closed in until tracks and platform, buffers, baggage trucks and ice-wagon wheels were covered with the cheering throng. The train moved out contentedly as the band played "Should we Acquaintance Be Forgotten?" Lord and Lady Byng waved from their platform until the train was out of sight.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—After a day in harness in their departments the ministers of the new King cabinet went down to the union station yesterday afternoon at four and bade farewell to His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Byng. Immediately after the departure of the vice-regal train the cabinet went into council, a conference which lasted until six o'clock, and at which present save Hon. P. J. Veniot, who left Saturday for New Brunswick and has not yet returned. Bouquets were put aboard the Killarney all afternoon long. One of red roses stood almost as high as Lady Byng herself. It was tied with the colors of the Cameron Regiment.

U. S. Should Ask For Equality Only

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—That the United States could not reasonably ask for more than a position of equality with the members of the League of Nations was the opinion expressed last night by Viscount Cecil, the chief British delegate to the League, when asked for his views on the recent treatment of reservations put forward by the United States in connection with its adherence to the world pact. "Equality," said Lord Cecil, "was the basis of the powers granted in Washington. I do not know whether the United States will be satisfied, but I think the Powers offer is reasonable."

TO HELP NEW BRUNSWICK POTATO SHIPPERS

(Special to The Guardian) BATHURST, N. B., Sept. 28.—Improved facilities for the shipment of New Brunswick's potato crop in one of the questions which will have the immediate attention of Hon. P. J. Veniot, Canada's new postmaster general and New Brunswick's representative in the new King government. Already, Hon. Mr. Veniot, whose arrival home from Ottawa on Sunday was the occasion of the greatest public reception and demonstrations ever accorded a public man on the north shore, is taking up the matter of having the present potato service improved, as well as the providing of better accommodation for housing potatoes at St. John, the point of transhipment from rail to steamers.

Hon. P. J. Veniot to Have Facilities for Marketing Potato Crop Improved.

"The matter does not come within my department, but it is of the utmost importance to New Brunswick to have the facilities for the marketing of the potato crop improved," said Hon. Dr. Veniot. "Therefore, I expect to bring about some definite results during the present week's small reunion in the province until Saturday or Sunday when I will return to Ottawa again. My family will not remove as yet from the present at least Madame Veniot desires to remain in Bathurst for the time being anyway, and from now until after the coming session of parliament will be a busy period.
