INTERESTING EVENT—An interesting event took place in St. Lawrence Lodge, No. 8 I. O. O. F., last evening when seven brothers were presented with Veteran Jewels by J. J. MacKinnon, Grand Secty., these Jewels are presented to members who have completed two to five years continuous membership. The members were—Seymour McInnis, Harry Mathieson, Ernest Cameron, C. W. Patterson, W. R. Garrick, Murdoch McLean, John Stentford.

LEGION DANCES—The usual Easter dances sponsored by the Canadian Legion were held last evening at the Canadian National Hotel and the I. O. O. F. Hall. A large number took advantage of the opportunity afforded by the entertainments at those two popular dancing resorts. The chaperones at the I. O. O. F. Hall were Mrs. Alex. Prowse and Mrs. I. E. Croken. Miss Hornby's Orchestra was in attendance. At the Canadian National the chaperones were Mrs. W. J. Macdonald and Mrs. V. L. Goodwill. The music was supplied by Dixon's Orchestra.

Turn To Canada To Supply Demand

(Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, April 17.—Unable to keep up with the ever increasing thirst of its citizens, brewers of Kansas City have turned to Canada to supply the demand. Approximately 71 carloads, equal to 52,000 cases, of Canadian ale and lager will start on a journey to the American city this week.
So anxious are United States brewers to satisfy their customers that they are paying the duty of one dollar a gallon. One Winnipeg brewery has been swamped with orders from all parts of the United States.

SHORE CHOSEN MOST VALUABLE MAN IN N.H.L.

Bruins Defenceman Wins David Hart Trophy. Boucher Awarded Lady Byng Trophy For Fifth Time.

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, April 17.—Eddie Shore, dynamic mainpring of the Boston Bruins' "power play" has been chosen by newspaper writers over the National Hockey League circuit as the most useful player to his team in the 1932-33 season just closed, it was announced from the league headquarters here tonight.

For the fifth time in his career, Frank Boucher, clever centre player of the New York Rangers, has been adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship combined with a high standard of playing ability. To defenceman Shore goes the Dr. David A. Hart trophy and to Boucher the Lady Byng trophy.

Giving players on United States teams a clean sweep of the three personal annual awards, "Tiny" Thompson, goalie of the Boston Bruins, has captured the George Vezina memorial trophy for the best goalling record of the season.

Although Shore has been for years one of the most outstanding players in the league this was the first time newspaper writers had singled him out for recognition as the most valuable player. He succeeds Howie Morenz of Canadiens as holder of the trophy which was presented at the close of the 1923-24 season by the late Dr. David A. Hart, of Montreal.

Bill Cook, right winger of New York Rangers, and Lawrence "Baldy" Northcott, left winger of Montreal Maroons, were runners-up to Shore.

Boucher has held the Lady Byng trophy since the spring of 1928 with the exception of last year when it went to Joe Primeau, centre of the "kid line" of the then, world champion Toronto Maple Leafs. Primeau was runner up this year, pressed by Paul Haynes, rookie find of the Maroons for whom he plays centre. Lady Byng, consort of a former Governor-General of Canada, presented the trophy in the season of 1924-25 as a recognition of clean sportsmanlike play when combined with high playing ability.

Both Shore and Boucher were chosen by sports editors some weeks ago as members of the Canadian Press all star team but the voters for that team selected John Ross Roach of the Detroit Red Wings for the goalling assignment. Thompson beat out Roach for the lowest goals against record in the closing week or two of the campaign. Thompson let 88 pucks into his cage against 93 for Roach.

The Vezina trophy was presented to commemorate the performances of the late Georges Vezina, the "Chicotimi Cucumber" who, as goalie for Montreal Canadiens for a decade established his name as one of the greatest goal tenders of all time. The trophy was given by Joe Cattarinich and Leo Dandurand, owners of Canadiens.

The amateur golf championship of the United States will be held in Cincinnati, O., September 11 to 16.

company. For the remaining five Britons and all the Russians, Vishinsky asked conviction as "spies, saboteurs and bribers."

Only lawyers for the four accused who pleaded guilty were heard tonight and their argument necessarily was perfunctory.

Smirnov made an eloquent plea for lenient treatment of MacDonald, pointing out his legs had been crippled since he was a child. "Otherwise," he declared, "his legs might have brought him to a proletarian environment."

MacDonald, Smirnov continued, lacked a university education and normal association with other youths. For this reason, he maintained, he fell easily under the influence of "terrible Gusev who would sell his country for a few hundred roubles."

His client, he told the court, had been taught from his youth to uphold the honor and interests of his firm, and when he was told to collect information he did it. He held it was unjust to class the underling MacDonald with Allan Monkhouse, head of the firm in Russia, and L. C. Thornton, one of his chief engineers.

He urged the court to consider in its verdicts that although MacDonald had committed a serious crime he had given his word never to repeat it. MacDonald, he declared, justified the hope he might prove useful to the Soviet union in future.

Smirnov countered Vishinsky's intimation that the Russian defendant came under the influence of the British members of the firm by asking sharply "why should the Soviet engineers be taught by the English technicians how to behave?"

"MacDonald," he maintained, "merely obeyed orders of his superiors. MacDonald made a sincere and courageous confession, and others of his fellow citizens did not."

Smirnov's speech appeared to have impressed the court.

Russian defenders of Gusev, V. A. Sikoloff, P. E. Olyenik, M. O. Krashennnikov and others pleaded that their clients had fallen under the influence of the Britons and, therefore, were entitled to consideration in the verdicts notwithstanding their pleas of guilty.

Five other defence attorneys, including those for Thornton, Charles Nordwall, Gregory, John Cushny and Monkhouse, the other British defendants, will resume the defence summations tomorrow.

Thereafter Assistant-Prosecutor Roginsky probably will give the state's rebuttal. The defendants subsequently will have a chance to make statements in their own behalf.

The prosecutor's bitterest attack was saved for the last when he accused Thornton of being "a coward lacking the courage of MacDonald."

Talking directly to Thornton, Vishinsky asserted: "After confessing at a preliminary examination you now try to deny your acts of spying, sabotage and bribery. You are also an incompetent agent of the British Intelligence Service. You said you were told that unless you confessed you would be of no use either here or in England."

"Well, you are already out of use. Some day you may serve as fertilizer on our Soviet fields. You may just as well be dead now as far as the British Intelligence Service is concerned."

Thornton, a slight middle-aged man whose hair is growing gray, showed no emotion as the prosecutor told him that he was "interested in collecting political and economic information."

Ontario Technical School Team On Way To Canadian Interscholastic Basketball Title

(Canadian Press)

SAINT JOHN, N. B., April 17.—Forging ahead in the last two quarters, Windsor-Wallerville Technical School ran up a lead of eight points over Saint John High School tonight in the final round for the Canadian interscholastic basketball title. The Ontario champions won the first game 37-29, giving them a valuable margin to take into the second game tomorrow night.

Fighting to bring Saint John its first Dominion basketball title, the local cagers held their opponents to a 13-13 tie in the first quarter and led by two points at half time. Windsor-Wallerville had the long end of a 31-24 score at the three-quarter mark, however, and increased their lead by another point before play ended.

LOCAL PLAYERS

The part of Claire Lang was played by Miss Vivian McGuigan. Although it was only her second appearance on the stage, she handled her part with great poise and ease. Her voice and appearance were very pleasing to the audience.

The part of Ma Slawson was played by Miss Anne MacIntyre. Although it was her first appearance in amateur theatricals, Miss MacIntyre proved herself to be one of the best character actresses seen locally. She played the part of an old lady to perfection, particularly in vocal interpretation.

Miss Nan Leightner in her first appearance before local theatre-goers, played the part of Cora Slawson, a young girl, about sweet sixteen, in a manner which would indicate that she has a great future in amateur theatricals. Her voice was particularly good for a girl so young in years.

The part of Francis, Cora's youngest sister, was played by Miss Jean MacDonald, who also made her first bow before the public of Charlottetown. She proved herself to be a clever little lady, playing her part naturally and most effectively.

The part of Mrs. Alan Sherman was played by Miss Edith Doyle, who needs no introduction to a Charlottetown audience, having long since proved herself one of the cleverest of local actresses.

Miss Connie Coyle, as Amy Pelham, was noticeable for her ease of manner and expression and for her vivacity.

Mr. A. M. Douglas, as Frank Ronald, showed that he not only can play a character part, but also that he is one of the very best leaders. Charlottetown audiences will anxiously watch for his reappearance.

Mr. Eddie Hornby played the part both of Steve Lundy, and of Shaw, the butler, in his usual dependable manner. He is always versatile and clever in his interpretations.

The part of Sam Slawson was played by Mr. St. Clair Trainor. This was Mr. Trainor's second appearance on the local stage. He played his part ably and well, and gave a very effective portrayal.

Mr. Harry Richardson coming out of his usual role, played the part of Alan Sherman, the ex-convict. His interpretation was particularly good.

Last, but not least, was Flicker, Martha's little dog, for whom she risked her life by going down Mrs. Peckett's well.

MAY SHIFT 1936 OLYMPIAD

BALTIMORE, Md., April 17.—(A.P.)—The opinion that Hitler's anti-Jewish campaign may bring a shift of the 1936 Olympic Games from Germany was expressed by Avery Brundage, President of the American Olympic Committee, in a letter received today.

Writing to K. A. Miller, managing editor of the Jewish Times, a Baltimore publication, Brundage said it was his "personal but unofficial opinion" that the games will not be held in any country where there will be interference with the fundamental Olympic theory of equality of all races.

order. The first was a drill parade of wooden soldiers in which ten costumed girls participated. The manner in which they executed their performance indicated that they had had considerable training. Those participating were Misses Enid Cantwell, Eileen O'Neill, Gertrude McCarron, Lily McNeil, Cavell Dix, Marie Arsenault, Florence Howatt, Melda McLellan, Catherine McGuigan, Nita MacNeill.

The second specialty was a soprano solo by Mrs. A. H. Roper who rendered with great clarity and fine feeling "L'Estasi" by Arditi, and as an encore "You had better ask me." Mrs. G. E. Full was accompanist.

"The Glow Worm" in which twelve girls took part was a particularly beautiful specialty, and was different from anything staged here for some time. The girls attired in beautiful organdie dresses, flashing their lights, made very beautiful glow worms. Mrs. Roper sang the obligato for the chorus part of the number. Particularly appealing were the two little children, Joan McCarey and Earle Doyle, who were in evening dress. They did their parts enthusiastically and faultlessly. Lighting effects in the scene were particularly good.

The twelve girls were Misses Pearl Burns, Enid Cantwell, Gertrude McCarron, Lily McNeil, Cavell Dix, Helen Calbeck, Marie Arsenault, Florence Howatt, Melda McLellan, Catherine McGuigan, Nita MacNeill.

Mr. Fremont Archer was accompanist.

Step dancing numbers by little Dennis Dowling and Margaret Hennessey were also greatly appreciated.

Miss Kathleen Hornby's orchestra rendered numbers between acts.

The play will be repeated tonight when another large audience is expected to be present.

BRIT. STEAMER IS PERMITTED TO SAIL

BOSTON, Mass., April 17.—(A.P.)—The British steamer Pronto of Yarmouth, N. S., which has been having trouble with United States officials ever since she appeared within the 12-mile limit with 50,000 cases of liquor, was given a clean bill of health today and clearance papers permitting her to sail from Boston.

The difficulties began when the coast guard seized the cargo more than a year ago. On April 6, the Federal Court decided the Pronto's presence within the 12-mile limit was legal but ordered Captain Arlington Conrad to return his liquor cargo to St. Pierre, Miquelon. On the night of April 6 a coast guard escorted the Pronto to a point 70 miles east of Cape Ann en route to St. Pierre.

To the surprise of Federal officials, the Pronto re-appeared in Boston Harbor April 14 with her cargo of liquor missing. Captain Conrad explained that the Pronto had been in distress as a result of a serious leak and had transferred her cargo to a passing steamer and returned to port. Deputy collector of Customs, Thomas F. Finnegan and other custom officials refused to grant clearance, however, on the ground that Conrad had failed to obey the order of the court.

"The Pronto was put on the ways, meanwhile, and examination showed she had been leaking badly. So today, customs officials decided that no law had been violated and issued papers permitting the Pronto to clear the port. The Pronto is owned by the Associated Traders, Ltd., of Yarmouth.

The second specialty was a soprano solo by Mrs. A. H. Roper who rendered with great clarity and fine feeling "L'Estasi" by Arditi, and as an encore "You had better ask me." Mrs. G. E. Full was accompanist.

Must Pay Import Tax On Beer

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 17.—Imported beer will not have to pay the $5 a barrel internal revenue tax that is applied to domestic beer but a $31 a barrel duty is charged for its entrance to the country.

Frank Dow, acting Commissioner of Customs, said today that customs collectors had been notified not to levy the $5 tax but that the beer would continue to pay $1 a gallon import duty.

Dow said the internal revenue tax had been levied against imported beer until it was discovered that the law legalizing beer did not mention imported beverages.

ANSWER

Here's the answer to our statement that the "BLUE BLADE" provides the cheapest shaving method known. "BLUE BLADE" edges cut glass. Steel hard enough do this gives far more shaves per penny. For real saving economy buy "BLUE BLADES."

The "BLUE BLADE" is made in addition to the regular Gillette Blade sold in the green package.
