

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ST. JAMES KIRK TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

A large congregation attended the service yesterday morning, including many tourists and visitors. The service was conducted and the sermon preached by the minister, the Rev. R. Hoorhead Legate, D.D., who took as his text the account from St. Mark's gospel of the diseased woman touching the hem of the Saviour's garment. It is good, Dr. Legate said, to be near Christ, to be among the crowd which throngs Him out of general interest, or out of admiration or out of curiosity, but in order to get the blessing of His strength and peace and salvation, we must come into actual personal contact with Him, the contact of a longing, earnest and personal faith. The trouble with the Church today is that so many are near Him, and yet have not made that personal contact with Him which is the only means of having His blessing conferred. The soloist was Miss Lena McAure, who sang with her accustomed sweet effect "Nearer my God, to Thee." The processional hymn was "This is the day of light," and recessional "O, for a faith." Mrs. Keith Rogers, who has lately returned from an extended trip to the west, was at her place at the organ.

Salvation Army

The Holiness meeting at 11 o'clock Bandmaster Dobson Clark was an address. Following Sunday School at 2 the League of Mercy held a meeting at the jail which was much appreciated by the prisoners. Sergeant Major David Carr, led the open air service at 6.30 and the Band never played better. A real old time Salvation service was held in the Citadel at 7 attended by an attentive audience. Recruiting officer Frederick Chandler spoke taking as his text, Behold I stand at the door and knock. This meeting was followed by a prayer service led by Mrs. Samuel Crockett. The singing was excellent and the prayers full of fervor. God certainly is blessing the Army meetings these days and though our officers are on their vacation the good work is going on everyone doing their part well.

CHURCH OF CHRIST ANNUAL CONVENTION

On Saturday morning the Convention of the Church of Christ opened with a devotional period by Rev. Mr. Quigley, whose subject was Loyalty to our Missionary Enterprises. This was followed by a business session when reports of the different churches were brought in, after which two very able addresses were given, the speakers were Rev. John H. Booth of Indianapolis, and Dr. A. E. Corey of the same place.

Mr. Booth who is director of the department of Church Extension is a very forceful speaker and brought home to his audience the necessity of congregations giving to the limit in support of the Church. Speaking from 1st Cor. chapter 15 and 16, he said it is not enough that ministers should like St. Paul of old give assurance of Christ's victory over death, but that like him they should show them the necessity of laying aside a portion of their wealth for God's Church every Sunday according to the way in which God has prospered him. Every congregation should stand by their minister to uphold the Church, and give it unstinted support. The way a man makes and spends his money as a Christian should be one of the first principles of his life.

Dr. Corey a noted speaker, followed Mr. Booth and in an eloquent address appealed to those present to see to it that they gave support to the pension fund, and to widows, orphans and disabled ministers. He made a touching reference to the late Archbishop McLean, whose home was in Summerside and who was the greatest Missionary leader of the Church of Christ on Prince Edward Island.

Dr. Corey brought a special message to the ministers in connection with their office in the Church, both to the Church itself and to every individual member. He exhorted them to preach with the authority of Jesus Christ and love and to be a priest in the true sense of the word to their congregations ministering to their spiritual needs; and to preach the Cross. He also told the congregation not to hamper the minister, but allow him to speak with a free mind. The greatest curse of the Church today is that it caters to the people; what is needed is ministers of the voice of that noble prelate, Bishop MacEachern who laid, so thoroughly and heroically, the foundations of the Church in this diocese. The gospel was preached here for many years in that ancient and classic tongue that is heard so seldom now and is understood by few in these parts, but it is becoming that on this occasion we recall, with loving tribute, this historic trend of events, even as last year we had the memorable privilege of hearing the illustrious Bishop of Rimouski speak in the language that first carried the message of Christ Crucified to the primitive inhabitants of this land. Tongues may change but the Catholic Faith is the same today as when it was brought hither from distant homes beyond the sea, and its liturgy is preserved unaltered in the same majestic Latin which was ancient ages before all modern tongues were born, and in that unique Catholicity of doctrine and worship which is ours, we will offer solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, to be given by His Excellency, the Most Reverend Bishop of Antigonish, one of the many distinguished sons of St. Andrew's who have entered the sanctuary of the Church from the sanctuary of devout Catholic homes that flourished around the first humble building, once the Cathedral of this Diocese.

"On Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, Bishop Morrison will celebrate Holy Mass, at which the parishioners and visitors will receive Holy Communion. At 10 o'clock, solemn Pontifical Mass will be sung, in the open air, if weather permits, and Bishop Morrison will preach. Following the Mass, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the altar of the Church for private adoration, and during the afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, Holy Hour will be conducted by Rev. Francis McQuaid of St. Dunstan's University, while at the same hour, the Clergy will hold their Conference meeting in the vestry. The Congress will be brought to a close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, August 16th, with a public procession of the Blessed Sacrament. All the Clergy of the Diocese are to attend the Solemn Mass and closing services at St. Andrew's, and every parish should endeavor to be well represented by the laity."

The letter concludes with special instructions. The following are the officers for the various functions: General Master of Ceremonies: Rev. George MacDonald, of St. Dunstan's University. Tuesday evening: Chaplains to Bishop MacDonald: Rev. Dr. Murphy and Rev. N. Poirier. Chaplains to Bishop Morrison: Rev. A. McAulay and Rev. I. R. A. MacDonald. Chaplains to Bishop O'Sullivan:

Following is the order to be followed in Procession of Blessed Sacrament: Cross-bearer and Acolytes, Boys and Men, League of the Cross Band, Basilica Corpus Christi Choir, Sanctuary Boys, Clergy, Flower Girls, Torch Bearers, Thurifers, Canopy Bearers with clergy bearing the Blessed Sacrament, Monsignor and Bishop's Council, St. Andrew's Choir, Girls and Religious Sisters, Women.

Following is in part the circular letter of His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan, read in the parish churches yesterday: "It is with great confidence in your generous and enthusiastic co-operation that this year's program has been arranged, for the inspiring demonstration of devotion which greeted last year's Congress was a convincing proof that the vast majority of our people possess a genuine love for our Blessed Lord, abiding with us in the adorable Sacrament of the Eucharist. As all our religious events of this year are aglow with centenary remembrances of our Redemption, I am sure that every parish will endeavor to surpass last year's achievements, not only in the numbers who will devoutly receive Holy Communion in their parishes during the days of the Congress, but also in the attendance at the general diocesan assemblies which will be held at the venerable birthplace of our diocese."

The letter then outlines in detail the object of the Congress: to provide time and instruction for quiet and concentrated thought on the Blessed Sacrament. The special services in the parish churches are also referred to.

"On Tuesday evening, August 15th, the Congress will centre its activities at St. Andrew's, which is veritably the historic spot which witnessed the first blossoming of Island. At St. Andrew's the first Bishop resided and reared his Apostolic throne, and his revered ashes rest beneath the sanctuary of the present beautiful parish church which later generations reared to the glory of the same Eucharistic Lord Whom he loved and served so well. It is truly a fitting shrine around which we should gather to offer the same unceasing memorial of our Saviour's Passion which he daily offered, and to proclaim the truths of the Blessed Sacrament as in the olden days his hallowed lips had done. His Excellency, Bishop MacDonald of Hebron, has kindly promised to preach and will give part of his sermon in Gaelic, as a living echo of the voice of that noble prelate, Bishop MacEachern who laid, so thoroughly and heroically, the foundations of the Church in this diocese. The gospel was preached here for many years in that ancient and classic tongue that is heard so seldom now and is understood by few in these parts, but it is becoming that on this occasion we recall, with loving tribute, this historic trend of events, even as last year we had the memorable privilege of hearing the illustrious Bishop of Rimouski speak in the language that first carried the message of Christ Crucified to the primitive inhabitants of this land. It is truly a fitting shrine around which we should gather to offer the same unceasing memorial of our Saviour's Passion which he daily offered, and to proclaim the truths of the Blessed Sacrament as in the olden days his hallowed lips had done. His Excellency, Bishop MacDonald of Hebron, has kindly promised to preach and will give part of his sermon in Gaelic, as a living echo of the voice of that noble prelate, Bishop MacEachern who laid, so thoroughly and heroically, the foundations of the Church in this diocese. The gospel was preached here for many years in that ancient and classic tongue that is heard so seldom now and is understood by few in these parts, but it is becoming that on this occasion we recall, with loving tribute, this historic trend of events, even as last year we had the memorable privilege of hearing the illustrious Bishop of Rimouski speak in the language that first carried the message of Christ Crucified to the primitive inhabitants of this land. Tongues may change but the Catholic Faith is the same today as when it was brought hither from distant homes beyond the sea, and its liturgy is preserved unaltered in the same majestic Latin which was ancient ages before all modern tongues were born, and in that unique Catholicity of doctrine and worship which is ours, we will offer solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, to be given by His Excellency, the Most Reverend Bishop of Antigonish, one of the many distinguished sons of St. Andrew's who have entered the sanctuary of the Church from the sanctuary of devout Catholic homes that flourished around the first humble building, once the Cathedral of this Diocese.

"On Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, Bishop Morrison will celebrate Holy Mass, at which the parishioners and visitors will receive Holy Communion. At 10 o'clock, solemn Pontifical Mass will be sung, in the open air, if weather permits, and Bishop Morrison will preach. Following the Mass, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the altar of the Church for private adoration, and during the afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, Holy Hour will be conducted by Rev. Francis McQuaid of St. Dunstan's University, while at the same hour, the Clergy will hold their Conference meeting in the vestry. The Congress will be brought to a close at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, August 16th, with a public procession of the Blessed Sacrament. All the Clergy of the Diocese are to attend the Solemn Mass and closing services at St. Andrew's, and every parish should endeavor to be well represented by the laity."

The letter concludes with special instructions. The following are the officers for the various functions: General Master of Ceremonies: Rev. George MacDonald, of St. Dunstan's University. Tuesday evening: Chaplains to Bishop MacDonald: Rev. Dr. Murphy and Rev. N. Poirier. Chaplains to Bishop Morrison: Rev. A. McAulay and Rev. I. R. A. MacDonald. Chaplains to Bishop O'Sullivan:

Following is the order to be followed in Procession of
