

Suffered With Nerve Trouble For Two Years.

IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR HIM TO SLEEP.

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be sound while the nervous system alone may be diseased, therefore it is necessary for anyone suffering from any nervous trouble to procure a remedy which will at once quieten the nerves and build up the system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will do this for you, providing you give them a fair trial.

Mr. Chas. W. Wood, Montreal, Que., writes: "For two years I had suffered with nerve trouble, and it was impossible for me to sleep. It did not matter what time I went to bed, in the morning I was even worse than the night before. I consulted a doctor, and he gave me a tonic to take a half hour before going to bed. It was all right for a time, but the old trouble returned with greater force than before. One of the boys, who works with me, gave me half a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took them and I got such satisfaction that I got another box, and before I finished it I could enjoy sleep from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m., and now feel good."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WOMEN NOT BOUND TO RAISE SKIRTS.

BOSTON, May 29—Women are not bound to lift their skirts in alighting from street cars unless they choose to. They have every right, furthermore to wear skirts of whatever length they choose. The Supreme Court of Massachusetts determined these momentous questions. Miranda R. Martin, of Brockton, was getting off a car on the Old Colony Street Railway some time ago when her skirt caught on a sand plunger which projected from the front platform. She was flung to the street, and sued the company, recovering $1,000 damages. The company took an appeal, alleging that the woman had been negligent in failing to lift her long skirt high enough to clear the plunger.

In affirming the judgment, the Supreme Court holds that the company's objection was untenable. Having been told to leave by the front door, it was the company that was negligent in having failed to caution the woman of the presence of the plunger, since it had not been protected.

SHAW READY FOR TRIAL.

BOSTON, May 28—The trial of Arthur W. Shaw, president of the A.W. Shaw Shoe Company of Freeport,

PURE WHOLESOME MADE IN CANADA MAGIC BAKING POWDER CONTAINS NO ALUM RELIABLE ECONOMICAL

Me., who is under indictment for the larceny of $19,000 from the company, begins tomorrow in the Suffolk Superior Court.

With him will be tried Mrs. George Mayo Stuart, indicted for complicity in the alleged thefts and for receiving stolen funds.

Shaw's life story is a remarkable narrative. The man's life as a model citizen, the patron of the town of Freeport and the head of a respectable family, together with his friendship with Mrs. Stuart from a strange contrast.

Not the least fascinating chapter of the long story is that which tells how, when Shaw fancied himself safe in Los Angeles, a letter which he wrote to Mrs. Stuart, and which was discovered, gave his address and made it possible for the police to apprehend him and bring him back to Boston for trial.

Both Shaw and Mrs. Stuart are out on bail. Shaw's bail is fixed at $8,500. Mrs. Stuart turned over to Charles G. Bancroft, receiver of the A. W. Shaw corporation, $14,000 worth of securities upon the advice of the court, after the charges against her were made public.

The first hint of the alleged defalcations came in the form of a letter from Shaw himself. This letter was received early in February by J. W. Amick, treasurer of the Shaw shoe factory. In that letter Shaw confessed to thefts from the company, and declared it his intention to commit suicide by jumping overboard from a steamer in midocean.

When the letter was received an examination of the books of the company showed that there was in fact a shortage, but then treat of suicide began to be doubted.

OHIO SUFFRAGETTES

CINCINNATI, May 28—Mrs. Susan Fitzgerald of Boston, with three other fashionably dressed women, started the guests from the hotel, owned by President Taft's brother, when they appeared wearing "sandwich signs" bearing the inscriptions "votes for women." Mrs. Fitzgerald's companions were: Mrs. Stanley McCormack of Chicago, whose husband is a member of the International Harvester Company, who led the van of Washington, all wearing the placards sandwich fashion.

The action was taken in order to attract general attention to the big suffrage meeting at the Emery Auditorium opening in favor of the woman suffrage campaign. The time, place and purpose of the meeting were announced on the placards worn by the women.

$2,500 VERDICT.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29—The trial of the suit of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Schaller, a widow, against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Katherine Schaller, before Judge Carr resulted in a verdict of $2,500 in favor of the plaintiff. Mrs. Schaller charged that her mother-in-law had alienated the affections of her husband.

The younger Mrs. Schaller accused her mother-in-law of breaking up her home and inducing her husband, Charles Schaller, to desert her and return to his mother's house. The husband died in October, 1906, some months after he left his wife.

Another specification was that her husband was induced by his mother and others to revoke a will leaving all of his $3,000 estate to his wife and to make another by which his mother's family got half of the estate. Mrs. Schaller, the plaintiff in other proceedings, however, failed to invalidate the second will.

The mother-in-law entered a general denial.

BALFOUR RESENTS

BERLIN, May 28—The German answer to Mr. Balfour's statement of the English point of view on German armaments contained in a statement by Prof. Delbrueck, undoubtedly expresses the opinion held in responsible quarters regarding Mr. Balfour's elucidation of the Anglo-American situation.

"When you last visited me I asked the melancholy question whether war between England and Germany could still be averted. Since then conditions have improved considerably, but after reading Mr. Balfour's letter, pessimistic feeling has again gained the upper hand."

"When a statesman of the importance of Mr. Balfour cherishes such inaccurate suspicions and conceptions of German policy, the danger of a clash between ourselves and Great Britain is certainly very much increased."

"Mr. Balfour accuses Germany of not realizing how England is menaced by the German fleet, not only in her policy but in her security, vital conditions and national existence. We know that in Germany very well, but England itself nevertheless compelled us to build our fleet."

"The German people since attaining unity as a great nation have gradually reached the determination not to permit the world to be divided up among other nations, but demand their own share."

"Since 1871 enormous and very productive territories have continually been seized by Great Britain, France, Russia, the United States and Japan, such territories, moreover, being continually occupied, the French bringing Morocco under their supremacy, Russia and England expanding in Persia, and Japan and Russia seizing their feet in Mongolia and Manchuria."

"That is a natural process, and Germany has no reason to oppose it, but she wants to participate in it. For this object she needs a fleet."

"Neither England nor any other of these states would ever concede to us a share we had not proceded to create a fleet."

"England and other powers still refuse to recognize the natural demands of Germany for full equality in world politics. That was proved fresh in the Morocco affair, when England supported France in order to reduce our compensation demand to a minimum, instead of recognizing their illegitimacy and inducing France to meet us in an appropriate manner."

"Germany's natural answer has been again considerably strengthened both the army and navy. Mr. Balfour repeats in his letter that Germany must not expect Englishmen to approve her intentions in the direction of territorial acquisition."

"What remains, then, for us is to expect to enforce the accomplishment of our purposes by increased armaments. If one puts the question, as I have just done, Mr. Balfour would perhaps be prepared to recognize Germany's right to participate in colonial acquisitions to the same degree as other civilized nations. The peril of a great conflict would thereby be eradicated, but Mr. Balfour credits us with altogether other motives."

Swift's Animal High-Grade Fertilizers

High-grade Fertilizer versus Low Grade Fertilizer

This is a question that naturally arises in the mind of a farmer. The question of crops is a relative question. If the farmer can expend $5.00 per acre in Fertilizers, and get a net profit of $12.00 over what he could have gotten without the Fertilizers, and if he can expend $10.00 in high grade Fertilizers and get a net profit of $18.00 over what he could have gotten without any Fertilizer, is he not wiser for using this material?

What the farmer wants is immediate and profitable returns for his investment, as well as to maintain his soil fertility. This again emphasizes the necessity of using high grade available Fertilizers which will not only give reasonable, immediate returns, but will actually increase the fertility of the soil.
