HOPES TROTSKY WILL END EUROPE'S RED PERIL

Statesmen Want Former War Lord's Return to Power for Own Security -- Compromise With Communism is Aim

LONDON, May 6.—Old world statesmen are looking to Leon Trotsky to save Russia, and perhaps the world, from the unpromising communism of the present dictators in Moscow. Two years ago Trotsky was the most feared man in the world and no conventional politician would have looked to him for anything but trouble. They Want Him Back. But now leaders in Britain, and elsewhere are hoping that the Red war maker, who created a Bolshevik army so imposing that it sent shivers up the spines of its European neighbors, will overcome the opposition of the Third Internationale and of Michael Frunze. They would like to see Trotsky once more dominant in Moscow and the dependent Soviet Republics. They believe that Trotsky is the agent through whom Russia's economic restoration could be completed. Friday's meeting of the All-Russian Soviets may not provide an opportunity for Trotsky to come back from the exile imposed upon him several months ago when his writings and spoken words denied the infallibility of some articles of the Communist dogma, but it is believed that his return is inevitable. Better Than Rest. Even among groups which have regarded all Bolsheviks as anathema there are persons who regard the fiery Trotsky as better than the rest. They think he has been reconciled to the impracticability of complete application of Communism and that he would be inclined to hasten the reestablishment of order in the world. The sole fear regarding Trotsky concerns his fanatic interest in the Red army.

Suggests Putting Strikers On Land

OTTAWA, May 6.—Senator Robertson, in the Senate today expressed the opinion that it would be an excellent idea if the Federal government would make some arrangement to place a number of the 4000 railway men included in the miners on strike, in the Cape Breton coal fields, on the land, under some scheme similar to the soldiers' settlement board. The industrial conditions in Nova Scotia from 1909 to the present time were traced by Senator Robertson, in which there had been a strike lasting over six months, causing much distress, and from that arose a bitterness which had been felt for many years. This feeling, he stated, was being gradually eliminated until in 1921, twenty four military forces were sent into Cape Breton which were unnecessary, and had done much to destroy confidence between employer and employee.

An Unionist declares that while the assembly has entered the union, the people have not gone in and they seek continued connection with the Scottish Church. Dr. McMillan will represent one hundred and fifty thousand Presbyterian laymen who have already voted to remain Presbyterian, and will speak on Church Union from the Canadian Presbyterian laymen's point of view. Officials will not be interfered with, but attempts to peacefully persuade others to remain away from work will be made for the first few days. LATER GLACE BAY, N. S., May 6.—Pickets were active at some of the collieries of the British Empire Steel Corporation here this morning, but only at No. 2 colliery were any of officials and men doing maintenance work stopped from entering the plant. At a big producer, between 200 and 250 pickets were on duty. An official below status of underground manager was not allowed to go into the plant, with the exception of colliery engineers, who were not stopped. Four workmen, some members of the electrical department and engineering staff were present back. District Secretary of the United Mine Workers, Alexander McKay asked this morning if the Union officers had advised the locals by circular to stop officials below rank of underground manager, said the Union had issued no such instruction. GLACE BAY, May 6.—District President J. W. MacLeod and District Secretary A. A. MacKay of the United Mine Workers of America issued the following circular, which clearly outlined they said the position of the executive and the instructions given with regard to picketing men, to the officers and members of local union brothers. From information received in the district office it appears that the Company has been introducing outside labor in some of the mining operations. Each local Union should therefore appoint pickets and make their own investigations and promptly send to this office written reports as to the result of those investigations as to outside labor doing any "scabbing". Each local Union will see that pickets do not interfere with Company officials and that there is continuance of good order that has prevailed and no destruction of property.

Reports from Detroit say "dry fleet" of ten craft is expected to be ready by summer for action on the Great Lakes. Later it will be supplemented by another construction of which has started. Rum row's finish is foreseen by R. Q. Merrick, Federal Prohibition Director for New York and Northern New Jersey.
