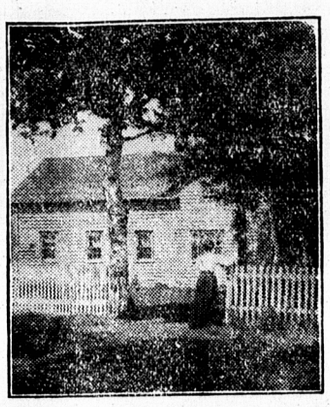
NEW GLASGOW, P.E.I. V.S. NEW ZEALAND

A Very Interesting Story Written Especially for The Guardian by W. S. Louson. Daughter Visits Her Parents After Thirty-Seven Years Absence.



Prince Edward Island family life has had much separation in it during the years that are past.

The following history should be of interese to many, and we feel disposed to think that truth is stranger than ficton.

"The Old Homestead," the very words suggest thoughts, faces and sacred associations mingled with joy and sorrow.

'Mid pleasures and palaces,
Wher'er we may roam.

Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home.

Sunshine and shadow are about equally divided.

Denman's Thompson's "Old Homestead," has made us laugh and shed tears and other scenes in life, Love, had a similar influence.

An elderly woman of Alberton got on an accommodation train. As the train started she stood up grabbed the seat and shouted, "Do you think the car will go off the thing the car will go off the Going up and sitting down beside her I tried to calm her fears. It was the first time she had ever been on a train. The horse was ill and the woman was going down the line to the christening of her daughter's child. "Be you ever in Boston, sir?" I answered in the affirmative. "Perhaps you know my son. He is a blacksmith and a lovely blacksmith he is altogether." Truth is stranger than fiction.

Don't you think so? Again upon another occasion, leaving Summerside one evening on the train a father was trying very hard to pacify his child. Two or three other children were of the party. As the child continued to cry some of us asked one of the little girls walking along the passage of the car, where their mother was? "Mother is dead and her body is ahead in the baggage car." The word soon passed from seat to seat. A lady offered to take the baby and the child soon went to sleep. The other children fared well with oranges, candy and kind attention, while the tired father rested. Truth is stranger than fiction.

Picturesque New Glasgow and far away New Zealand have associations that are dear to a number of Prince Edward Islanders. Extremes meet Sunshine and shadow, meeting and parting and hoping to meet again.

In the year 1864 there was built at New Glasgow, P. E. I., a brigantine christened Pakieh, meaning white man. This ship was built by the families, (I think three in number), who sailed in here from Charlottetown in the month of November 1864. The vessel was bound for far New Zealand. Capt. Alexander Campbell, son of the late A. Campbell, Pinette, was in command. The trip took six months touching at Cape of Good Hope! Think of the bravery of that little compnay of Islanders. We imagine now under improved transportation conditions a trip to New Zealand could be made in one month's time with much less danger. We cannot at present writing give the full list of those who composed the passengers and crew of the Pakieh. The following names have been mentioned Hon. George Bagnall and family, Mr. Bell part owner of the vessel, and a brother of Mrs. Large senior, Charlottetown, Capt. Campbell and wife Roderick McLeod, Orwell. The Our family and some others.

Miss Margaret Bagnall at the age of three years, went out on that eventful trip.

Miss Bagnall is at present visiting ral scenes taken at New Glasgow last summer of Mr. Bagnall's property and surrounding country. Sevher native land. We give you several of us enjoyed a pleasant visit at the home of Richard Bagnall a picture of which follows with a suitable piece of poetry.

THE FARMER FEEDS THEM ALL.

(Minna Irving in 'Leslie's Weekly.')

The politician talks and talks,
The actor plays his part,
The soldier glitters on parade,
The goldsmith piles his art,
The scientist pursues his germs
O'er this terrestrial ball,
The sailor navigates his ship,
But the farmer feeds them all.

The preacher pounds the pulpit desk,
The broker reads the tape,
The tailor cuts and sews his cloth
To fit the human shape,
silk
The dame of fashion dressed in
Goes forth to dine or call,
Or drive, or dance, or promenade,
But the farmer feeds them all.

The workman wields his shinin tools,
The merchant shows his wares,
The aeronaut above the slouds
A dizzy journey dares;
But art and science soon woul fade,
And commerce dead would fall,
If the farmer ceased to reap and sow,
For the farmer feeds them all.

It is interesting to know that the Bagnall family of six sons and three daughters are settled at a place called Tarna near Aukland, New Zealand.

They have extensive tracts of land and timber mills. Reader, look at that picture of the Old Homestead, with Miss Bagnall standing at the gate. Think of leaving these surroundings at three years of age and returning this year to the dear old land of her birth. Again on the other hand, imagine Capt. Campbell and wife leaving their only child (Annie) of three years behind them with grand parents intending to return in a year's time to their daughter and native land. Years rolled on and circumstances prevented reunion of parents and daughter. In 1901 as Mrs. Walter Haszard, now of Murray Harbor South, she made the long voyage to New Zealand to see her father and mother after a separation of thirty-seven years. When one thinks of these associations touching words of the old song comes to mind.

Where is now the merry party,
I remember long ago,
Laughing around the Christmas fire,
Brightened by its ruddy glow. ect, etc.
Some have gone to lands far distant,
And with strangers made their home
Some upon the world of waters,
All their lives are forced to roam.

There are still a few remaining,
who remind us of the past,
But they change as all things change here
Nothing in this world will last.

Surely truth is stranger than fiction in many cases. There is enough material in this interesting voyage of 1864 to make interesting history. All honor to Capt. Campbell and the brave crew of the Pakieh.

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.
