INSECT EXHIBITION.—Mr. S. H. Payne, Junior Entomologist of Annapolis Royal and Mrs. Payne are among the visitors to the Exhibition. Mr. Payne is an animal and as usual has his collection of injurious and beneficial insects displayed in the main exhibition building. This collection which numbers several thousand specimens should be seen and studied by every farmer and fruit grower in the province. Mr. Payne is an expert on insects of all kinds, and courteously explains the life history and control of each species. Insect life has much to do with the success or failure of farming and horticulture and every person interested in these should visit this very interesting part of the show.
