

PREMIER DEALS WITH DANGER OF INFLATION

Maintenance of International Trade Depends on Stable Dollar, Says Bennett.

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(C.P.)—The dangers of currency inflation, from the aspect of international credit, were outlined by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in an address today before the Ottawa Woman's Club. "Inflation means that without any real restriction a nation continues to issue promises to pay without having gold reserves to back up the promise," said Mr. Bennett. "The danger lies not in what we do at home because any medium might be used for domestic purposes. But when you consider the position of Canada as a country borrowing in the markets of the world, a debtor to the extent of hundreds of millions, then you can see that maintenance of international credit depends upon the nation placing behind its paper promise something that inspires confidence in its power to redeem it to the letter of the contract."

ISSUING OF NOTES

"It is clear that if governments issue enormous quantities of these pieces of paper the value of its promise to pay goes down in proportion to the number put into circulation," said Mr. Bennett. "When you come to consider this paper from the standpoint of other nations, you come to the real difficulties."

"Why doesn't the United States pay us five dollars for this note?" the Prime Minister asked, displaying a Dominion of Canada five dollar bill. "It is because our own ability to redeem it is measured by our resources and territorial area, and its value in other countries is gauged by what they think our promise to pay is worth."

DESCRIBES DIFFICULTIES

Mr. Bennett described at some length the difficulties to international trade caused by constant fluctuations of money values and the efforts set in motion at last summer's world conference to establish an international unit of value that would be recognized everywhere.

"He realized that he was speaking to an audience containing people holding views widely different from his own, Mr. Bennett said. He did not wish to convert them, he said, "but if I have induced any of you to make a closer study and seek a better understanding of the problems that affect our national credit, I am indeed content."

"The result of inflation in France, after the war, had meant a drop in the value of the franc from about 10 cents to five where it was stabilized by gold coverage, the Prime Minister recalled, and he described the result in Germany where the Mark fell so low in value that it required a cart-load, he said, to buy a postage stamp.

"TOPPING" SAYS FLIER WHEN GIVEN $15,000

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 26.—As the result of wide public agitation for appointment of Air-Commander Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, famous flier, to some public position the Federal Government has announced a grant of $15,000 to him, no positions being available.

"Topping," commented Sir Charles. He said that the money would go towards establishing him in the aviation business.

Sir Charles early this month set a new record of seven days and four hours for the flight from England to Australia, but this was eclipsed by some hours a few days later by T. P. Ulm, a former flying companion.

Change In Eastern Steamship Service

The liner Evangeline which has been in the service of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., between Boston and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, will take the place of the liner Saint John on the Boston-Saint John route Tuesday October 31st. The Saint John on Monday, October 30th, will take the place of the steamer Boston on the Boston-New York run.

The Evangeline is one of the finest ships of the Eastern fleet—speedy, comfortable and seaworthy—before she began substituting for the Saint John between Boston and Saint John made numerous West India cruises from New York.

The Saint John will return to the Saint John-Boston route next May when the Evangeline will be placed back in the service between Boston and Yarmouth.

Since the re-establishment of the Boston-Saint John winter service last year the Eastern officials have been extremely pleased with the business done and they look for even a better business this winter.

It has come to the attention of the Eastern officials that a story has been circulated in the Province that the Saint John-Boston service would not be resumed this year.

"Our answer to that story," said President Alton B. Sharp, "is that the Evangeline will replace the Saint John on the route Tuesday, October 31st, and she will leave Boston every Tuesday and Friday for Saint John and will sail from Saint John for Boston every Wednesday and Saturday throughout the winter."

Doull - MacLean Nuptials

A wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, October 25th, when Miss Helen Francis, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund D. Doull of New Dominion was united in marriage to Mr. George MacLean of Long Creek. Rev. J. G. Wakeling officiating.

The bride who looked very charming wore a beautiful dress of brown chiffon velvet with contrasting trimmings.

After the usual congratulations and good wishes had been offered, the happy couple sat down with their immediate relatives and friends to a dainty wedding repast. Mr. and Mrs. MacLean left on a short honeymoon trip to the mainland. On their return they will reside in Long Creek where a host of friends wish them every happiness and success.

of them were accused of trespassing on other than their own territory. The convention decided upon and approved the policy of one fisherman, one license, each district to keep its own season and each fisherman his own district.

Norman P. Sollows introduced a resolution, which was adopted unanimously, asking the Canadian government to remove all restrictions and tariffs on lobsters entering Canada from the United States. "This was in accordance with the action taken at yesterday's meeting when it was thought that if some such proposal were adopted it might have a beneficial effect in preventing the United States government from imposing regulations and tariffs against Canadian fish entering the markets of the southern neighbor."

The following were elected to hold office for the ensuing year: President, Alfred Hanlon, of Canso, N.S.; vice-president, Joseph Arsenault, of Summerside, P. E. I. Mr. Arsenault was chosen unanimously after Norman P. Sollows, of Port Maitland, last year's official, had declined the nomination.

"You Can Knock 'em Over, Babe"

Babe Ruth, who arrived in Honolulu from Los Angeles, was perturbed when he learned the right field fence of the park in which he will play exhibition games is 380 feet from the home plate, 85 feet longer than that of the Yankee Stadium.

"Turn the park around," Babe suggested to Herb Hunter, baseball promoter, who arranged his visit. "Oh, you can knock 'em over," Hunter assured him.

A FREE WHEEL

Young Jimmie was pushing his baby sister's perambulator down the street. "Hey, Jimmie," cried another urchin from across the street, "do you get paid for that?" "Now," replied Jimmie, disgustedly, "this is a free wheeling job."

TRAIN DELAYED—Due to a wash-out on the railway line between Pettitcodiac and Anagnag, about twenty miles west of Moncton, the train from the mainland, scheduled to arrive there at 6.30 was delayed till 10.45. A bridge had been washed out by the heavy rain on Wednesday.

LITERARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Literary Society of Prince Street School resumed its meetings on Thursday afternoon. After welcoming the visitors, the president, Miss Nora Mackenzie, introduced the speaker, Rev. George Quigley. M. Quigley prefaced his address with some very interesting observations regarding life and customs in the Isle of Man, a subject on which he is particularly qualified to speak. His main topic was the life and literary work of T. E. Brown, a Manx poet, from whose work he read several interesting extracts. A vote of thanks, moved by Miss Muriel Weeks and seconded by Miss Marian Douglas was tendered the speaker of the afternoon. After some remarks by a number of the members the meeting adjourned.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB—At the weekly supper of the Y's Men's Club last night, Y's Man Reg. McNutt presided as chairman. The speaker was Mr. R. G. Parent, of the experimental farm staff, who read an interesting paper on Boy Scout Work, beginning with its first formation by Lord Baden Powell, Chief of Scouts and its widespread growth to an international body which embraces practically the whole world. Mr. Parent also quoted from a number of interesting books written by Baden Powell, which make good reading material for both young and old. This talk was followed by a vote of thanks extended by Y's Man T. W. Bentley on behalf of the club to Mr. Connelly, who has acted as pianist the past few weeks, during the absence of the regular pianist, Mr. Wm. Massey, Provincial Auditor who then introduced to the club as a member by Y's Man Ray Pendleton. President W. R. LePage reported for picture sponsored by the Club which showed a nice net profit and the sum of two hundred and forty dollars was voted by the Club to the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Mason B. McKay, director of Charlottetown Male Chorus, arrived in Charlottetown last evening.

N.R.A. ATTEMPTS

Roosevelt either expects to receive assurance that the agreement will be forthcoming immediately, or to lay down his own description of working arrangements in these shafts which unlike commercial mines, send their whole output to the steel mills that control them.

Leave Petition

A petition for him to act as a delegate at the White House today by a delegation of Union leaders. It said "these private coal producing companies have refused to recognize the United Mine Workers of America and to bargain collectively with their employees. We are demanding recognition of our Union and the same contract and conditions as prevail in the commercial mines of this territory."

Except for the phrase "recognition of our Union" this was what the Chief Executive had requested of the steel men. The workers, however, had been requested by him to go back to work immediately, pending negotiation of a contract. This they failed to do. The same delegation was escorted into the office of H. B. Johnson, N. R. A. head, by John L. Lewis, the Union President, to leave an identical petition.

Hate A Necessity

At N. R. A., meanwhile, the entire staff had word passed down the line from Johnson to "step on the gas" and get the collection of six to seven hundred industrial codes through the mill by December 31 when the voluntary Blue Eagle agreements expire.

Court tests on either steel or Ford cases could result only if, in the first case the President ordered the steel men to take his terms on a mine contract and they decided to fight; and in the second, Ford low bids were submitted and rejected and he decided to go to court for redress.

In the Ford case word got about that the War Department already had decided to eliminate the Ford Company from consideration but closer study led officials to point out that the Company would not have to make a showing of compliance with the code, which it has not signed, until it puts in bids.

ASHES OF IBANEZ WILL REST IN SPAIN

MENTON, France, Oct. 26.—An urn containing the ashes of Blasco Ibanez, Spanish author, was transferred with military honors, today from Trabuquet cemetery to the villa where he had lived in exile during the reign of former King Alfonso. The ashes will be taken by the Spanish cruiser Don Jaime to Valencia on Thursday, after lying in state at the Town Hall.

The twenty-fifth battalion of the famous Alpine Chasseurs was present when the ashes were interred. Ibanez's widow, members of the Town Council, and a delegation of Spanish Governmental officials attended.

Inspiring Sermon On Service

"Your Reasonable Service" was the subject of the sermon preached by Evangelist R. George Quigley last evening at the Central Christian Church.

The text upon which this sermon was based was Romans, 12:1, "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." This twelfth chapter of Romans is a treatise on practical Christianity. The chapter opens with the humble, yet pleading word, "beseech." There is the element of humility, it is a word which calls one to swallow pride and plead with people to accept Christ. What matters how important or obscure may be the personality, if by pleading a victory may be won for Christ? It is not by the blood of bulls and goats that men are saved, and yet there is something in man that cries out for sacrifice. Of what use are votive offerings to Deity if one does not translate this sacrifice into every day living?

The New Testament idea is this: "Lo, I come to do Thy will, O God." It is not a dead sacrifice, but a living sacrifice that is called for. However much one may deprecate his body it still is capable of becoming the "Temple of the Living God."

If one knows and feels that his body is the "Temple of the Holy Spirit," that one is a safe companion, an asset to society. The danger signal of the text is this: "Be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. If your mind is right your body will be right. You sow a thought and you'll reap an act; You sow an act and you'll reap a habit; You sow a habit and you'll reap a destiny.

The service begins tonight at 7.30. The meeting closes Sunday evening.

FINDING OF

having died of exposure at some other place than the point at which she was found.

Rush Investigation

Meanwhile, police pushed investigation of the death from all angles, including the possibility of murder, which was the first assumption when the body was found, lying partly under the rusted door of a junk-heap touring car.

Over against any opinion that the child was undressed by other children or an adult and left where she was found, was set the fact of her nearness to the Hillier home; had she been handled brutally her cries would have roused the neighborhood.

Possibility that the child was thrown when her body was placed or dropped in the position in which it was found was occupying police attention tonight. This is the expressed opinion of Alfred Hillier, the father, who last night joined 300 police and many private citizens in the search which ended in the dump off Boulton Avenue in the city's east end today. It is supported by several of the searchers, who say they crossed within feet of the spot where the body was found, and could not have missed seeing it.

HAIRDRESS AND HAT TO COMPLEMENT EACH OTHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The hair and hat this winter will have that made-for-each-other look. This is the aim of creative hat designers and hairdressers in presenting this week a new type of fashion revue at the convention of New York State Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Association.

One hat shown was mostly a huge velvet strap, with curls visible on both sides.

There was a "widow's peak" shaped hat, of close fitting velvet, which came down on the forehead to a decided point almost between the eyes. It was cut high on the sides, making the hat almost a strip from front to back, where it was also pointed.

Daytime hats tended toward simplicity in the crown in order not to muss up the hair.

Most of the hair styles shown at the convention have featured the higher hairdress. The locks are waved, combed or curled up in the back, and curls are banked on top of the head, or the hair is so parted as to bring it forward on the sides, with curls over, or just behind, the ears.

And there were variations of the pompadour, cockscomb, swirl, and of hairdresses suggesting demureness, sophistication and coquetry.

Mr. John Alfred MacDonald Birthday Party

The death occurred in this city Wednesday after a brief illness of John Alfred MacDonald, who was born at Hermanville sixty-eight years ago. His father, the late Herman MacDonald, was the grandson of Donald MacDonald, a native of Perth, Scotland, who came to Prince Edward Island in 1771 with Capt. John MacDonald's colony, settled at Tracadie and subsequently removed to Nauraga. The family belonged to the Clan Ronald. Another member of the family, Donald MacDonald, an uncle of the late John Alfred, was a member of the local Legislature in 1839 and was a strong advocate of the abolition of sale of land-lords' lands to the tenants, during the agitation preceding the settlement of the land question.

John Alfred MacDonald was a civil engineer and a surveyor and was employed on the transcontinental railway, the construction of which began about twenty-nine years ago.

For a number of years he was also engaged at farming at Hermanville, specializing in the breeding of Tainworth hogs.

Subsequently he resumed his old profession of land surveyor and carried on that work throughout prince Edward Island. He was a frequent contributor to the press, writing articles for magazines and newspapers. In recent years he acted as correspondent for local papers, his contact with the people in different parts of the country enabling him to acquire many interesting items of news.

The loss of his home by fire and the destruction of his surveying instruments was a heavy financial blow to him, especially to a man at his time of life, and he was unable to make good his loss.

Mr. MacDonald was a man of more than ordinary intelligence, honorable and upright. He was very fond of reading and had a wide knowledge of various subjects.

Pledged to continue a policy of financial restoration, Premier Sarraut worked ceaselessly since his designation as Premier by the President to form a cabinet replacing that of M. Daladier, which fell Monday.

(Associated Press) PAR'S, Oct. 26.—Pledged to continue a policy of financial restoration, Premier designate Albert Sarraut put the finishing touches tonight on his Ministry, having to complete it in short order.

George Bonnet, in a ceasing against the Finance Portfolio, stressed the "imperious necessity of financial restoration" and added that "M. Sarraut is in full accord with me."

An unofficial line-up of the new Government showed several ministers in the posts they held in the Cabinet of Edouard Daladier. Which was defeated Tuesday on a Chamber of Deputies vote of non-confidence in connection with 8,000,000 franc taxation and economy programme.

Seeks Backin

M. Sarraut, a youthful Senator, publisher, and Radical Socialist party member, during consultations at the Marine Ministry sought support of the whole left wing, except Communists and Socialists, although it was promised the backing of dissident Socialists and scattered votes from the centre and right parties.

Shortly after deciding definitely to accept the commission to form a ministry, he obtained enthusiastic endorsement of his programme to balance the budget at a Conference with Radical Socialist colleagues and announced a firm stand for gold against inflation and devaluation, for his and M. Daladier's privity as a bulwark, and for reductions in taxes and friction to encourage business.

Mr. John Alfred Birthday Party

A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Martin, M. s. ouche, on Monday evening, Oct. 23, when a number of Mrs. Martin's friends from Rustico, Summerside, Mt. Carmel and other points surprised Mrs. Martin on her birthday and presented her with the following address which was read by M. s. T. B. Gallant.

Music for the occasion was furnished by a Summerside orchestra, Mrs. Martin herself accompanying on the piano. Needless to say everyone had a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. P. C. Martin: Miscouche, P. E. I. Dear Mrs. Martin—

It is indeed an honor and privilege for your many friends gathered here tonight to congratulate you on reaching another milestone in the journey of life, and we felt that we could not let this, your birthday, pass without expressing in some way our deep appreciation of your many acts of kindness to us in the past year.

To your many friends whose names are legion you have extended the hospitality of your lovely home, and it has been our great privilege to spend many happy hours here. In fact, you have been so busy endeavoring to make others happy, that we feel sure that the 365 days of the past year have passed so quickly that this thirty-fourth anniversary has rolled around before you could scarcely realize same, and we wish to take this opportunity of extending to you our most hearty congratulations and felicitations, and wish you most sincere and many happy returns of the day.

In offering you our congratulations, we would ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your worth and many acts of kindness to your numerous friends.

Trust that you, along with your esteemed and popular husband in the past many years of happiness, and that this gathering here tonight may be only one of the many enjoyable evenings spent here, we again wish you many happy returns of the day.

Signed on behalf of your friends,

Trust that you, along with your esteemed and popular husband in the past many years of happiness, and that this gathering here tonight may be only one of the many enjoyable evenings spent here, we again wish you many happy returns of the day.

Signed on behalf of your friends,

The following reference to the Misses Helen and Catherine Moore will be of interest here as they are daughters of Mr. Wm. G. Moore, D.D.S., of Seattle, Wash., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus Moore of this city. The girls are also granddaughters of Mr. George M. Moore of Moore & McLeod's.

Miss Helen M. Moore, graduate of the University of Washington in 1929, and librarian of the California Region of the United States Forest Service in San Francisco for the past three years, has been promoted to chief librarian at the Forest Service headquarters in Washington, D. C. It was announced today by S. B. Shaw, regional forester in California.

Miss Moore left San Francisco for Chicago today to represent the Forest Service at the American Library Association convention October 16 to 21. Upon her arrival in Washington, D. C., she will have charge of a forestry library of more than 50,000 volumes.

Seattle Girl Gives Recital Catherine Moore, Seattle violinist who won a scholarship to the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester last year, is one of the advanced students being presented by the school in its Kilburn Hall recitals, according to word received here yesterday.

Only faculty members and students "of special capacity" appear in the performances. Miss Moore was presented Wednesday with several others from the classes of Gustave Tinlot.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Moore of 4113 Eastern Ave.—Seattle Daily Times.

Soviet Envoy Enroute To U. S.

(Associated Press) MOSCOW, Oct. 26.—Max M. Litvinov, Soviet Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, was enroute to Washington tonight to confer with President Roosevelt regarding United States recognition of Russia.

The C. C. commissar's departure was attended by a great air of mystery and secrecy because of his desire to travel incognito. His private car was attached to the Berlin train. Its cuts was by way of Warsaw, Pola d.

Nations and in Foreign Affairs would be like that of M. D. Daladier, he said. On war debts his viewpoint was not known.

The members of the Steering Committee will consult their governments before assembling in December.

Meantime the disarmament section of the League will prepare a statement on the draft convention although without incorporating the provisions concerning Germany included in the report of Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary,

PAGEANT OF HISTORY PRESENTED

Alpha Rebekah Lodge Stage Successful Production in I. O. D. E. Hall Last Evening.

Quaint and beautiful costumes, precision of movement, and a clever exhibition of dramatic art made the Pageant of History presented last evening by the Alpha Rebekah Lodge a most successful production. The flawless manner in which the pageant was presented bore testimony to the careful direction of Mrs. A. J. Houle as well as to the ability of the caste of fifty-three members who took part.

The first scene was laid in Ancient Britain at the time of the conversion of the land to Christianity by Augustine. The portrayal of the royal family and the monks was most effective.

In the second scene the action moved to America, and the time advanced to 1620, the occasion of the arrival of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. The scene of the famous landing was effectively dramatized. The friendly attitude of the Indians and the joy of the Pilgrims, as evidenced in their "Song of Thanksgiving" were also shown.

The third scene, "Spirit of May Day," was very pretty, as it provided scope for the use of varicoloured costumes, and for the execution of a number of group movements, requiring grace, poise, and a sense of rhythm.

A tableaux, "The First Union Jack" with a descriptive reading was also very effectively presented the Grand Finale following.

Special musical numbers were much appreciated. Contralto solos were rendered by Miss Jacqueline MacDonald and Mrs. N. D. MacLean, and a baritone solo by Mr. James Calder. A violin solo was rendered by Miss Thelma Teed.

Mrs. J. A. McNair was pianist for the pageant. Prof. A. Roy Kendall was accompanist for the special numbers. The Pageant will be repeated this evening.

to confer with any delegation to the World Conference, particularly any delegation which has tabled amendments to the British plan, accepted months ago as the basis for discussion. As Germany is among these delegations submitting amendments, the Steering Committee is hopeful the Germans will be brought back into the negotiations.

Will Submit Conditions

There have been suggestions from German quarters that after the German plebiscite of Nov. 12 Germany may submit conditions on which she would return to the arms conference and the League of Nations.

In any event the Steering Committee will proceed with the task. Failure to go ahead, stressed Arthur Henderson, conference chairman, at this afternoon's meeting would be a confession the governments represented were not prepared to discharge their obligations. "That is a responsibility no government would agree to assume before its own people and before the world," he said.
