

Lovely new Velvet Hats for early fall $6.

Among the first arrivals from the selections made by Misses MacLellan and Foster during their recent tour of the markets — is this wonderful assortment of new Velvet Hats.

These Hats are all ready to put on and wear away. While the price is low the value is simply amazing—they're decidedly the sort of hats that you'd expect to pay ten dollars for.

On sale to-day at SIX DOLLARS MOORE & McLEOD LIMITED

HONESTY Nothing more completely baffles one who is full of trick and duplicity himself, than straight forward and simple integrity. A knave would rather quarrel with a brother-knave, than an end; but behold, the honest man, he would rather avoid a quarrel with one Man, than with both. He can combat a Fool by management and address, and he can conquer a Knave by temptations. But the Honest Man is neither bamboozled nor bribed.—Colton.

LIFE Bestow thy Youth so that thou mayst have comfort to remember it, when it hath forsaken thee, and not sigh and grieve at the account thereof. Whilst thou art young quarrel with a brother-knave, but when thou shalt enjoy it but once, that thou shalt never again; use it therefore as the Spring-time, which soon departeth, and wherein thou oughtest to plant and sow all provisions for a long and happy Life.

—SADLY BEREAVED—The sympathy of the community is extended to Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Sinclair of Summerside in the death of their little daughter, Beatrice, who passed away on Tuesday at the age of six years and was laid to rest on Wednesday afternoon. The little one was attacked in infancy with spinal meningitis and had since been an invalid and suffered but none the less beloved.

—ENJOYED SHOW—T. Eckardt and Sons presented their musical show in the Strand Theatre, Kensington, last Friday night. The large Strand appreciative audience followed the lead of the entertainment with keen and satisfactory interest and showered applause where merit deserved and that was frequent. Competent critics pronounced the performance the very best that has been shown there for some time and not a heavy interval was suffered to intervene. The quality of the musical selections was superior, the rendition was faultless and the effect was marvelous. In fact the audience was confounded to understand how music so sweet and so true can be produced on instruments so simple. The productions that were furnished by the cleverly manipulated bells were truly ingenious and awakened associations in many a mind that furnished pleasant contemplation. The skill evident in the preparation was not less emphatic than the success shown in the performance. Taker in all the show is one of the best that had ever come to the Province.—Y.

HISTORIC AT KENSINGTON

In the Strand Theatre, Kensington on Thursday, Sept. 12th, the Freetown Dramatic Players presented their spectacularly realistic drama "Cranberry Corners" to a keenly interested and highly appreciative audience. The intricate interweavings of the plot were skillfully unravelled by the competent players, and the audience followed the development with encouraging interest. The bill showed the following:—

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Charlotta Bannister, a child of late—Doris Jardine.
Anastasia Bannister, her 'stylish' aunt from New York—Emily Driscoll.
Annelia Dexter, sister of Andrew—Miss Russell Burns.
Mrs. Muslin, something of a talker "as you might say"—Erna Murphy.
Bella Ann, hired girl at the farm—The Maid.
Florine, the maid in New York—Marguerite Auld.
Tom Dexter, one of Nature's noblemen—Ward McCall.
Sidney Everett, of the world, worldly—Silas MacFarlane.
Ben Latham, a wanderer—J. B. Lewis.
Andrew Dexter, Tom's father—Colby Lewis.
Hezekiah Hopkins, fond of an argument—R. Brewer Auld.
Nathan Speck, the hired man—John Lewis.
The dramatic personae one and all, spiritually entered into the very soul of the drama and performed their parts as if appearing in real life. Never once did in-

Earl Engaged to Literary Genius

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The engagement is announced of the Earl of Kinnoull, of Balhousie Castle, Perth, and Enid Margaret Hamilton, only child of Mrs. Hamilton-Fellows, of Tangle Park, Worpleston, near Guildford.

Miss Hamilton-Fellows is eight years and the Earl is twenty-one. Miss Hamilton-Fellows is a grand-daughter of the late Sir Frederick Wills, of the Imperial Tobacco Company, a niece of Sir Gilbert Wills, and a great-niece of the late Lord Winterstoke.

She was among this season's debutantes, and a ball in her honour was given at the Hyde Park Hotel in June.

Among her accomplishments is that of verse writing. Her work, which has been published from time to time in the Weekly-Westminster Gazette, is noteworthy for its delicate simplicity, as is shown in the following example:

THE WEB

Slowly from point to point
Her web the spider weaves,
Hanging her filmy net,
Trembling, between two leaves.

Work of minutest care,
Blown by the merest breath
To infinite air,
A delicate, swinging trap.

Thus Music thread like spins
From mind to mind her web,
Using as simple aids
Thin strings and fingers deft.

Hang it between two worlds,
A fragile, lovely snare,
To lure the venturesome
Who trespass there.

Miss Hamilton-Fellows, who is a dancer, golfer, and tennis player, became engaged to the Earl who will be remembered for his supposed engagement last year to an American widow, Mrs. Surle at the house of a mutual friend in Warwickshire.

Her acquaintance with the Earl had been only a short one. Both were staying at the Old Guard House, St. Margaret's Bay during last month. No arrangements have yet been made for the wedding.

Lord Kinnoull, who returned from South Africa some six weeks ago, was educated at Eton, and has estates in Perthshire. His mother Lady Dupplin, claims to be a descendant of Byron's "lanthe," to whom the poet "dedicated" "Childe Harold."

MUSIC

For mine is the Lay that lightly floats,
And mine are the murmuring dying notes,
That fall as soft as Snow on the sea,
And melt in the Heart as instantly!
And the passionate strain that deep going,
Refines the Bosom it trembles through,
As the musk-wind, over the water blowing,
Ruffles the wave, but sweetens it too!

—Moore

rest abate, and never did the audience mis-interpret the true meaning of the plot. The leading characters certainly played well and the minor ones ably supported them. The whole effect showed at once that the young people of Freetown can stage a drama in a manner creditable to themselves and delightful to the audience.

The intervals between acts were amplified by the subjoined specialities:—Vocal solo, J. B. Lewis, (encored); vocal solo, Hon. T. W. Bentley, (encored) instrumental quartette, Colby Lewis, W. McCall, R. B. Auld, J. B. Lavis.

The generous applause that was bestowed upon the performers was indicative of the merits of the performance, and the support that was thus given the players encouraged them to execute their parts with consummate skill. Should these Freetown players decide again to visit Kensington, they will assuredly draw a good house.—Y.

DYING FROM X-RAYS

TO SAVE OTHER MEN

PARIS, Sept. 17.—"It may be suicide, but God will pardon me!" is the comment of Abbe Faulcigne, priest of a small parish at Pontigny, who has been awarded a Carnegie medal for devoting his life to the interest of science and humanity. He is dying by inches as the result of X-ray beams received while trying to solve the problem of finding foreign objects in the human body.

Early in the war the abbe became alarmed over the large number of deaths due to inability to discover where shell fragments or bullets were lodged. He decided to use himself both as experimenter and the subject for his experiments, although he realized that he was imperiling his life without assurance that he would meet with success.

"I was not attached to any hospital, but I decided to try out my theories on myself," explained the Pontigny priest. "For several months I swallowed daily a dose of small shot, taking X-ray photographs of all parts of the alimentary system, and when I had perfected a method of photographing the effects I turned all my data over to army officials."

The result was that thousands of lives were saved. But as the abbe had no assistance in conducting his experiments he frequently burned his flesh. Although he took immediate precautions, physicians warned him just after the armistice that his life was in danger. Today his right arm is completely paralyzed and the other is so weak that he cannot lift a pound weight. One of his kidneys is completely atrophied. In the last few months his teeth have begun to fall out and he began to suffer from anaemia. Last week one of his eyes developed crystalline sclerosis, but the abbe smiles over this latest misadventure and says as long as his other remains good he will continue his researches. "The abbe's plight has caused great here in the lack of any gives such heroes, and it is found which will enable science to continue their work, with assurance that if they are crippled or blinded while so engaged will be properly provided for during their last days.

Many People Wonder

why it is that glasses are worn more commonly in the present generation than in the past. Some say that the race is deteriorating, some that it is for style, but the real reason is that our modern civilization requires the eye to do more work than was even the case before. Consequently, the eyes, if in the least defective, may give you a lot of trouble, though in reality they are no worse than those of your grandfather who did not wear glasses till he was an old man. If you feel the least symptom of eyestrain, remember that it is nature warning you and consult us at once.
