BRITISHER SMASHED, INSTRUMENT RATHER THAN CABLE LEIPZIG

Tells The Story of How German Cruisers Received Coal off California

NEWCASTLE IN CHASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 7.—The German cruiser Leipzig was coaled and supplied near Magdalena from the cargo of the German freighter Mazatlan, to Rear Admiral Bond according to a story told today by G. D. Smith, wireless operator of the Mazatlan, to Rear Admiral Bond, superintendent of the 12th district States naval district. Smith said that the Leipzig took mail and supplies direct from the Mazatlan to another vessel, Smith is a British subject. He was ordered to communicate with the Leipzig off the coast of Lower California, he said, but refused and wrecked the wireless apparatus of the freighter.

After much correspondence with Washington the Mazatlan, with 900 tons of coal aboard was permitted to clear from San Francisco for Guaymas, Mexico, August 13, under $20,000 bond to deliver the coal as consigned. Two days later, said Smith, Captain Frederick Jensen, the owner, who is a German reservist, a German officer called Helle, and one, Gustav Traub, were taken on at San Pedro. THREATENED WITH THRASHING.

"When I refused to communicate with the Leipzig, I was threatened with a beating. To make good my refusal, I put the apparatus out of commission," Smith declared. "North of Magdalena Bay, however, we picked up the Leipzig and transferred mail and stores to her. The coal was carried to Guaymas where it was transferred to the German steamer Marie which in turn later coaled the Leipzig.

"Somewhere the British cruiser Newcastle got wind of us and came cruising southward, but the Leipzig gave her the slip."

The Mazatlan was formerly under the Mexican flag. During the series of revolutions in Mexico she was transferred for safety to German registry and when the European war broke out she again hoisted the Mexican flag. The coal she carried south was said to have been originally consigned to the Leipzig but later was declared to have been sold to others for delivery at Guaymas.

FOX PURCHASER.—Mr. Angus Finlayson returned to his home in Grand View yesterday after visiting his daughter, Mrs. James McBride, Charlottetown, while in the city he was the purchaser of a splendid pair of patch foxes. Mr. Finlayson is to be congratulated for being able to secure them.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—It was decided at a meeting of the ladies of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday afternoon not to hold the usual sale, on account of the war, and the probability of it interfering with the Red Cross work, but instead to raise the equivalent of the proceeds by private subscription. At the meeting over $100 was promised.

ARMY FIELD SERVICE.—It is expected that the bags for distribution will be here by the middle of next week, and that the various chairmen of committees will be in a position to receive oats from contributors after the 15th inst. Local contributions by farmers in the vicinity of Charlottetown will be received at the Marine Wharf after the 15th inst.

WEDDING AT MORELL.—St. Joseph's Church, Morell, was the scene of an interesting event on September 29th, when Miss Stasia Sinnott was united in marriage to Mr. P. A. Kelly, of Rosneath. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. McIntyre. The bride was attired in a suit of Westonia broadcloth with hat to match and was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Sinnott, while the groom was supported by Mr. Peter Murphy, of Cardigan. After the nuptial Mass, the happy couple drove to the bride's home, where a wedding dinner was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Kelly drove to their future home in Rosneath amid the well wishes of their many friends.

Protect Your Complexion "The woman beautiful" remains so as long as she can retain the charm of a fresh and fair complexion. The right way to care for the skin is to feed it. Creme Veloute is essentially a skin food and a tissue builder. It is readily absorbed by the pores, removes impurities, quickens the circulation of the blood in the external tissues, rounds out the muscles and makes the skin fair and firm. It is free from irritating qualities and is delicately perfumed, making its use a pleasure.
