FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

By Rev. Archer Wallace

NO. 17 THE BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC

The author of this hymn, Julia Ward Howe, was born in Bowling Green, the lower part of New York City, on May 27th, 1819. She came of a most distinguished family and her own children have all distinguished themselves as literary workers.

Julia Ward was brought up in an atmosphere, not only decidedly religious, but very strict. After her marriage to Dr. Gridley Howe of Boston, who was head of the Massachusetts School for the Blind, she moved in religious circles more liberal in outlook. However she remained throughout life a woman of deep religious feeling, and up to the time of her death, at the advanced age of 91, her faith never faltered.

During the years of her young womanhood the question of slavery loomed large. For a while she sympathized with the slaves in a general way but she regarded with ill-concealed suspicion, the abolitionists. When she came into close contact with William Lloyd Garrison and other leaders of the Anti-slavery movement, she changed her mind, and with characteristic enthusiasm threw herself into the movement. In both on her father's and mother's side, she came of a race that loved to fight for great causes, and she became one of the strongest of Abolitionists.

In the fall of 1861, with her husband and some friends, she made her first visit to Washington. It was during the anxious days of the Civil War and the city was crowded with Federal troops for the defence of the nation's capital. With her friends Mrs. Howe witnessed a review of the troops and as the men marched past they broke out singing: "John Brown's body lies a mouldering in the grave." Her pastor, Rev. Dr. Clarke said to her: "Mrs. Howe, why don't you write some good words for that stirring tune?"

In her book of reminiscences, published many years later, Mrs. Howe wrote: "I went to bed that night as usual and slept quite soundly. I awoke in the gray of the morning (twilight), and as I lay waiting for the dawn, the long lines of the desired poem began to twine themselves into my mind. I said to myself 'I must get up and write these verses down, lest I fall asleep again and forget them.' I sprang out of bed and found in the dimness an old stump of a pen which I remembered to have used the day before. Having completed my writing, I returned to the bed and fell asleep saying 'I like this better than most things I have written.'"

The editor of the Atlantic Hawkesbury, N. S., Rev. W. H. Monthly, Mr. James T. Fields, accepted the poem for publication, and it generous donations of necessary articles of equipment was also read. It appeared in February 1862 and immediately attracted attention.

It is interesting to note that during the Great War of 1914-19 this hymn was tremendously popular, not only with the American soldiers but with other of the Allied armies.

New Church Is Opened

MARSHFIELD - DUNSTAFFNAGE UNITED CHURCH OPENED. INAUGURAL SERVICES.

The United Church of Canada opened and dedicated for worship and service its newly constructed and very beautiful building at Marshfield-Dunstaffnage last Sunday morning. To a congregation which filled the edifice, Rev. Dr. Ramsay, of Trinity Church, Chairman of the P. E. I. Presbytery preached an appropriate sermon from the text "I will build my Church". . . . the church as a Bride, a Building and a Body. On behalf of the trustees, (Mr. Edgar Heartz, Mr. Wylie Gibson and Mr. C. Tupper Ferguson). Mr. Wylie Gibson presented to the minister the building to be dedicated for the purposes of worship and service of Almighty God and also gave the keys to Rev. Dr. Ramsay who in the name of the United Church of Canada accepted the presentation and made the declaration accordingly. An anthem by the local choir and a solo by Mrs. W. E. Fletcher added largely to the musical part of the memorable service.

In the afternoon, Rev. Ross G. Eaton, of the Charlottetown Baptist Church acceptably preached, using the two texts, "I am the Light of the World" and "Ye are the light of the world." Christ is the illumination, the heat, the power and the healing of the world and the church is to carry on this same work for and through Christ to the world. A male trio, accompanying Mr. Eaton, sang "The Wayside Cross" and Mr. Sterns sang a solo.

To an inspiring evening congregation, Rev. J. M. McLeod, of St. Peter's, who had also kindly given his presence and co-operation all day, preached from the text "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord". . . . the call to worship, the place of worship and the spirit of worship. The local male chorus sang, with Mr. Roland Phillipson taking the solo part. Mr. A. R. Gillis contributed effectively "The Ninety and Nine". At each service, the visiting ministers congratulated the congregation on the success of the building scheme and the beauty of their church home.

Greetings were read from former pastors, Rev. J. Layton, Glenholme, N. S.; Rev. R. L. Coffon, Port Charlotte, N. S.; Rev. W. H. Monthly, Mr. James T. Fields, ac-Spencer, Toronto, and Rev. Hubert accepted the poem for publication, and it generous donations of necessary articles of equipment was also read. It appeared in February 1862 and immediately attracted attention.

been already assured months before spruce grove. On entering through the tower vestibule, one comes into an alcove separated from the main hall by a wide arch and off this, opposite the entrance, is a small classroom or library. The main church has three millioned windows with arched heads on either side filled with muranese obscured glass. The ceiling of the whole is finished throughout with Douglas Fir sheathing, the sloping down on the sides and paneled with small mouldings. The walls are sheathed similarly up to the window level and the plaster walls between are tinted to soft green. The floors are of No. 1 edge grain B. C. Fir.

The pulpit and choir platform are separated from the main hall by a wide arched opening with pillars Barrett and the painter and decorator, Mr. Kenneth Ferguson, all of side of these. In the north wall of the city. It is worthy of note that every cent expended on the building and its equipment was spent in Charlottetown.

The following is a brief description of the building. It is situated on the north side St. Peter's Road, near Suffolk Road, and is rather square in plan with main gable facing the road. This facade has the cluster of three windows, the centre one being larger than the others, the glass with designs in angle, color and a wheel window in the additional raised platform. The pulpit and rail, being immediately under the arch, the lady choristers occupy seats between the pulpit and organ.

The congregational seating of the church is provided by pews divided into three sections by two aisles, the side sections placed, at angle, the total seating capacity, including choir and entrance alcove is one hundred and seventy five. The church is heated with a warm air pipeless furnace installed in a full tower which opens into the length basement. The inaugural services will be continued Sunday next with Rev. Sidney J. Bonnell of St. Andrew's, as morning preacher and Rev. Hammond Johnson of Trinity Church the evening finish against the green of the preacher.

C. N. Railway

Canadian Pacific, exactly the same treatment from the Canadian Pacific National Railway to be compelled to grant to their shippers, and he would not be in Montreal and indeed beyond the boundary of the Dominion of Canada itself, complaining that because the Canadian National demands at least the same consideration for the whole people of Canada as the Canadian Pacific are obtaining for themselves with Mr. Baxter's consent and approbation, the Canadian National are therefore false to Confederation; and telling the people of foreign countries that in this Dominion of Canada it is the studied intent and purpose of the people of Canada through their railways to place the people of the Maritimes in a position which is so detrimental to them that the people are infuriated and intend to demand a righting of their grievances at the foot of the throne.

It must be apparent that Mr. Baxter's indignation is not on account of the people of New Brunswick, as it is apparent that the only party who has really an interest in sustaining Mr. Baxter's contention is the Canadian Pacific Railway. Under the Maritime Freight Rates Act, the Canadian Pacific is permitted to reduce the rates from points in the Maritimes to meet the 20 percent reduction on the lines of the Canadian National which has been imposed by the Act, and all such reductions are payable by the Dominion of Canada to the Canadian Pacific upon bills being rendered. Not only is it Mr. Baxter's contention that the Canadian Pacific should be able by unwarranted entry into Canadian National territory to deprive the Canadian National of business to which by all Railway practice and fairness it is entitled, but that rate reductions necessary for the purpose which are made by the Canadian Pacific Railway will be paid out of the Public Exchequer.
