Federal Control Urged By Calgary Board of Trade

CALGARY, Oct. 25 —(AP) —Federal control of all provincial and municipal expenditures and taxation for the duration of the war was urged in a resolution forwarded to Prime Minister Mackenzie King by Calgary board of trade today.

Adopted Wednesday by the board's council, the resolution claimed federal control is essential to conserve finances for war purposes.

It emphasized that responsibility of financing Canada's war effort and the building up of Canada's defences rested solely on the Dominion Government and required all the financial resources of the Canadian people. All unnecessary or avoidable expenditures and taxation by provincial and municipal authorities would reduce the ability of the people to pay Dominion taxes and to purchase Dominion securities, and are therefore a hindrance to the prosecution of the war and the building up of Canadian defences.

All unnecessary or avoidable expenditures and taxation by provincial and municipal authorities would reduce the ability of the people to pay Dominion taxes and to purchase Dominion securities, and are therefore a hindrance to the prosecution of the war and the building up of Canadian defences.

The board contended that a "very considerable portion" of present provincial and municipal expenditure and taxation is unnecessary and avoidable in war time.

The War This Week

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Cable Editor

The pattern of Germany's plans for a winter campaign became clearer in the 60th week of the war when Hitler, abandoning the usual Nazi practice of summoning the leaders of weaker powers to Berlin, journeyed across the continent on a mission to enlist the support of Spain and Vichy France for an attempt to wrest control of the Mediterranean from the British Empire.

With German forces preparing to move against the eastern end of the Mediterranean from their Black Sea bases in Rumania, the consensus was that in his conference with Gen. Franco Hitler sought passage across Spain for German forces to attack Gibraltar and gain control of the western end of the inland sea.

From Marshal Petain, apparently, Hitler sought to obtain what remains of the French navy. Despite the losses inflicted by the British fleet at Oran and Dakar, this remains a formidable force, and in German hands would be expected, together with the Italian navy, to put up a stiff battle against Britain's Mediterranean fleet.

What else the Nazis demanded of France was a matter of speculation. The negotiations, according to Swiss sources, provoked a deep split in the Vichy cabinet. The British government apparently received word of what was in the wind well in advance, for a day before the first meeting between Hitler and Pierre Laval, Prime Minister Winston Churchill broadcast an appeal to the French people not to do anything to hinder the efforts of their old ally.

Mr. Churchill, in his speech to the French, said that next year Britain will have control of the air— "and you know what that means." More information on Britain's growing air might was given by Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert, who said new models of fighters and bombers now in production are much better than current models and that progress is being made with the problem of a night fighter to combat indiscriminate Nazi night raiding.

Glancing back 25 years: On the western front in the week of Oct. 20-26, 1915, the French captured "the curtain," a strong German position near Mesnil in Champagne. The Germans failed to gain ground against the Russians in the east. In the Balkans the Serbs retreated before superior Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian forces.

Major Discovery In Arterial Surgery

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 —(AP) — A major discovery in surgery, a method of rebuilding arteries by using sections of veins as spare parts, was reported to the American College of Surgeons here today.

This kind of new internal piping, long sought by surgeons, is made possible by a new durg, heparin, which triples the length of the time that human blood takes to clot.

Heparin, an extract of liver, was developed by a group of Canadian physicians headed by Dr. C.H. Best of Toronto, co-discover of insulin. The report of the surgical miracles it has produced was made today by Dr. Gordon Murray University of Toronto.

The obstacle to taking a section of vein and substituting it for a length of damaged artery has been the rapidity of clotting of blood. Immediately after the operation, clots formed so rapidly that they filled up the channel and clogged it permanently.

With Heparin, Dr. Murray said, the clots do not form.

The new parts have time to heal and become permanent.

The heparin is given by a needle which drips the drugs into a vein continuously, for several days after an operation.

HAILS DAVIES A TRAMP POET

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 25.—(CP) —English literature has lost the greatest nature poet since Wordsworth," said the Cardiff Western Mail, in a tribute to W. H. Davies, the tramp-poet, who has just died.

It recalled the adventurous nomadic life led by Davies and how he described his own experiences amongst tramps and hoboes in "The Autobiography of a Super-Tramp."

A Welshman, born in 1871, at Pill, Newport, Davies began life as an apprentice to a picture framer. He dropped that, however, and went to America "to lead a wandering life, peddling and begging, broken by trips to Britain on cattle boats. As he himself put it, he spent some of his early days hemmed in by wrecks of men'." On returning to Britain he lived for a time in common lodging houses and travelled as a peddler.

His first book of poems was called "Souls Destroyed." Subsequently he published 20 or 30 other volumes. The Western Mail recalls he could not speak Welsh, but says he loved to dwell on the sounds of Welsh place-names.

In an editorial tribute, the paper said he "belonged to the period of Blake, Herrick and particularly Dekker, and it was the triumph of his genius to write songs that are not unworthy to rank with the work of those immortals."

APPLE DAY

Only one week left before Apple Day—We are counting on all Scouts and Cubs to have their baskets decorated and to be on the alert for the big sale. Each group will have as its Headquarters its own Troop Hall. Maps of the districts to be covered will be supplied each Group. Apples, tags and cans will be delivered to each Group in plenty of time Friday afternoon or evening.

Each group is expected to have a Leader in charge of its own depot. We hope all Scouts and Cubs are "Prepared" to "Do Their Best" to make this day a real Scouting Success.

TINFOIL COLLECTIONS

Depots for collections have been given to each Group. We hope that you are making a systematic collection in your own area and that a special day has been set for a visit weekly or semi-monthly to your own collection depot. Do not let the foil pile up on you without scaking off the paper and sorting the lead from the tin. Keep at it and let each Scout and Cub make as great an effort as possible to accumulate a large quantity. It is important that the material is sorted before being sent to the central point for shipping. Containers to be placed at different depots are now being planned and constructed.

The toys after being reconditioned will be sent out to needy children at Christmas time.

In Memoriam

WILLIAM FRANCIS ELMER MCCARVILLE

The community of Freetown was shocked and saddened when it became known that William Francis Elmer McCarville had met with a fatal accident on Thursday, September 19th, at Halifax, at the early age of 23 years. Death at any time and under any circumstances is hard to bear but the tragic suddeness of his passing is very difficult to understand and was a tremendous shock to his family. Elmer had left his home, accompanied by his wife, last November for Halifax where he entered the employ of the Canadian National Railway in the dining car service in December. His genial disposition and constant attendance to his duties made him a general favorite with the travelling public and with all with whom he came in contact. His popularity was evidenced by the many telegrams and letters received by his wife and parents from the superintendent and general manager of the Canadian National expressing sympathy.

It was in February that he last visited his parents at his home in Freetown and no words can express the beautiful character of the young man and how sorely he will be missed by relatives and friends. He was a pleasing personality and was a general favorite with old and young.

His remains were brought home to Freetown on Saturday evening accompanied by his young wife and baby son and his sister, Miss Florence, and Walter Smith. The train was met at Kinkora station by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. A deep expression of sadness was in evidence in the grief stricken faces of those present.

The funeral took place on Sunday morning from his late home to St. Malachi's Church, Kinkora, and was one of the largest ever held in the district. Upwards of one thousand persons were present to pay their last tribute to one who was beloved by people of all classes and creeds. Rev. Dr. M. J. Smith sang the high mass and performed the last sad rites at the grave.

Sitting in the sanctuary was Rev. Phelan McKenna, Rev. W. McGuigan C. S. S. R. and Rev. George V. McCabe.

The pallbearers were —Walter Smith, Leo Greenan, Ralph McCarville, Golding Reeves, Charles Deighen, Wilfred Hammill.

To his grief stricken widow, viz. Helen Smith, Emerald, and baby son, and to his sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonsus H. McCarville and three sisters, Eunice at home, Doris at North Rustico, and Florence in Halifax, his three brothers, Gerald, Leslie, and Celestine, the deepest sympathy of the community is extended in their sad hours of sorrow.

If the car runs, many motorists don't care how shabby the fenders are.
