Canada's Exhibit At New York Motor Show

New York, Feb 23.—The Canadian Department of Railways and Canals has an exhibit, depicting the Trent Canal, at the motor boat show in the Grand Central Palace.

A working model of the largest hydraulic lift rock in the world at Peterboro, is also prominently displayed. There is also a continuous moving picture exhibit of scenes along the canal which is proving one of the popular features of the show.

could find words to describe a beautiful lawn close clipped level as a floor, banded across at measured distance, with lines of lovely flowers, and in each line of flowers the white heurstones are fixed, three feet apart, and while they form as well-ordered a whole as any regiment of soldiers, yet they are not placed to closely together to crowd each other. Each stone is set in cement, with flowers all around it, and has green turf to warms the foot of the grave. But more; through the centre of the cemetery there is a broad white pathway, bordered on each side with a line of beautiful flowers.

THE STONE OF REMEMBRANCE

At one end of this pathway is the Stone of Remembrance, about six feet long, three feet high, and 12 inches thick. On each side of this stone are the words, deeply etched in golden letters: "Their name liveth for evermore."

The stone of remembrance is raised above the ground by two steps of cement foundation. At the other end of this white pathway stands the cross, about 12 feet high, with its outstretched arms, as if shielding the departed ones; and on its side, reaching down from the top, is the sheathed sword. As the stone of remembrance, it is the most fitting and the most beautiful monument that can be placed with an atmosphere which makes you very glad and yet very humble, and that gives you the thought so well expressed in the margin of each page of the King's Book at York Minister: "They died — to save us."

THE LESSON OF THE WAR

Having seen the wreck and ruin of the war and some of the consequences, what are the thoughts that arise in our minds? What mean ye by these stones? First, I believe more firmly than ever that Christ, who holds the charter of universal Empire, will bring in His own way, some good out of all this horrible evil war. I believe that He will, in ways unknown to us now, but which we shall see later on, overrule this awful war for the great furtherance of His Kingdom, and that He will stand out in the eyes of the world, more plainly than ever before, the Saviour of mankind — the One to whom the eyes of the world are directed. In our poor way we see already many tokens of this. We are living in the day when the nations of the world are scrambling to assure universal peace; in the day when the old-time prophecy is being fulfilled concerning the Messiah and His reign; the time when men shall beat their swords into ploughs, and their spears into reaping hooks; when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

GREAT MISSIONARY ACTIVITY

We are living in the age today of great missionary activity. Our colleges are filled to overflowing with students, many of whom are studying for the Gospel ministry. We are living in the age when the men and women of our land are taking up individual work to advance in the Kingdom of Christ in the world. There are many bereaved parents who besides erecting memorials at home to the memory of their sons who have fallen in the war, are willingly making large gifts, for the benefit of humanity, as a further remembrance. They are helping needy students through college to make them more useful. They are supporting trained nurses, teachers, Bible women, Zenana workers in the foreign mission field. I know of parents who are supporting two native Korean preachers in Korea as their sons' memorials. They could not bear the thought of his bright young life so full of hope and promise, being cut off and of no more service. They wish to think of him as still doing something to make the world better, and so they are supporting two native preachers in Korea, where there has been a marvellous missionary work going on for the last few years. The new basis of their support is that in France, but in Korea preachers, through these Korean evangelists, and bringing thousands to the knowledge of Christ as their Saviour. And there are many, many bereaved Canadian parents who are making similar efforts. They seem to have received a new vision of life and service from the losses they sustained in the war. They are working, hoping and praying that the time will soon come when the world shall join in the anthem of triumph, "Aletia, the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth!" The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign for ever and ever. What mean ye by these stones? The individual graves, the stones of remembrance with its inscription, "Their name liveth for evermore," and the stone cross, symbol of our Christian faith. These all speak to us of deliverance from the darkness and power of death, and point us to our Saviour's words: "I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth in Me though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

WHAT ARE THE WAR CENTERIES LIKE?

The War Graves Commission have given long and careful consideration to the subject, and have reached this decision, viz: (1) That all cemeteries are to be of the same model or plan. (2) That all the monuments or grave stones are to be the same size, 30 inches tall and 15 inches broad. No distinction in the size of the stones as each man, whether officer or private, has his all his life for his King and country.

A VISIT TO ALBERT.

We first visited the town of Albert and the Y. M. C. A. drove to the cemetery at Bicouri, about five miles—where our soldier son is buried. It was a great comfort to see the place so well cared for. There were no stone monuments as yet—only the wooden crosses, telling the name, the regimental number, and where and how killed. Nor a weed was to be seen anywhere. It was soon with lawn grass lawns, summer. The country around Albert is a vast heap of rubbish. From Alberta we went to Arras, and here the resolution was worse, if it could be. The Y. M. C. A. motor car took us to Drury and Rallier court Cemeteries, where some of our neighbours' boys are buried. Here we found everything in beautiful order, and at all the graves visited we planted a rosemary tree—the tree of remembrance. From Arras we came by train to Armentieres, and Y. M. C. A. drove us out to look for the unidentified grave of the brave soldier in honour of whom you had a memorial service in this church a few weeks ago. I am glad to say we were successful in finding the place where he is buried.

IN BELGIUM.

We next went to Ypres in Belgium—the place where our met suffered so awfully and died so heroically at the beginning of the war. Here we found the grave of another neighbour's boy. Every thing was in utter destruction at the time of the Armistice, but now repairs are being carried out faster than at any other place. Then we came to Calais Military Cemetery, where a nephew of our own is buried. This is the only finished cemetery we visited, and having seen one we know how the others are to be treated, for the same plan will be adopted for all whether they are large or small. It is the noblest and the most perfect setting that any loving heart or any great empire could desire for her fallen heroes in a strange land. In it your own soldier has an honoured grave and the nation an everlasting memorial. I wish I
