Ministers Wait for Communication

LONDON, May 12.—In expectation of some important communication from the labor men in conference at headquarters in Eccles Street, Premier Baldwin, Winston Churchill, Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, Minister of Labor and the Earl of Birkenhead, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Earl of Balfour and others waited in the Premier's residence in Downing Street to receive it.

Shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning they were informed that the representatives of the Trades Union Congress did not propose to send any communication at present.

Embargo on Foreign Funds

LONDON, May 11.—A Trades Union Congress spokesman announced tonight that he understood the Government has placed an embargo on foreign funds which might be sent to the British strikers.

Freighter Held Up

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Barber Line freighter Sandgate Castle, which was to have sailed today for Capetown, via Philadelphia with a general cargo was detained when it was held up by a strike of the American crew at work in sympathy with the British general strike at the instigation of the Marine Transport Workers Industrial Union.

It was the first vessel to be held up since the union, a branch of the American seafarers, declared a strike at midnight Sunday for a flat $15 a month wage increase for all grades. In addition, the union claimed a complete walk-out of the crew of oil tankers and American freighter.

Sir John Simon's Speech

LONDON, May 11.—Sir John Simon in behalf of the Liberal party today made a fresh bid for restoration of the peace negotiations in the course of a speech in the House of Commons. He maintained his argument that the general strike was illegal as opposed to the contention of Sir Henry Slesser, legal adviser of the Trades Union Congress, that it was covered by the Trades Disputes Act. A fight to a finish he said meant striking down our own flesh and blood and no man ought to talk of such a terrible conflict.

Then reiterating that both the Trades Union Congress and the Government appeared to be afraid to make a move for fear of displaying weakness he announced that he and some of his friends proposed to assume the responsibility.

Six Nurses Graduate

against the invisible demon of disease, he is entitled to whatever our science and good nursing can give him and also to human sympathy and kindness. You will therefore, I sincerely hope, not fall into the error of attempting to pick and choose your patients. You must take the good with the bad, the hard case with the easy. To do otherwise is to seek your own interest and to make of a high and sacred calling a sordid business. In so doing you will have bartered away the birthright of a noble heritage, traduced the nurse's well deserved title of the friend of man, and falsified the best traditions of an ancient and honorable Guild. With the ideals you entertain now, your future is indissolubly bound.

It is, perhaps not without some justification, that we are sometimes accused of thinking too much of the malady and too little of the patient. The remark of an old English physician, although addressed to physicians applies more aptly, I think, to nurses: "It is of more importance to know what sort of a patient has a disease than what sort of disease a patient has."

The successful nurse will, by a finely measured sympathy and a wise combination of intellect with firmness, gain the full confidence of her patient, will know what sort of patient has a disease, and more than anyone else will be in a position to "minister to the diseased, pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow and raze out the written troubles of the brain." Who is there to say that this is not of equal importance with the direct treatment of the disease? It is the quaint language of Sir Thomas Brown. "There are infinities not only of Body but of Soul and Fortunes that do require the merciful hand of our abilities." There is just some danger that, in these days of great advancement in the material sciences, the nurse should become so engrossed in the intellectual side of her profession as to lose the distinctly human touch, the kindly service and the wide sympathies which, after all, are the life giving principles of your calling. To have a sound knowledge of Anatomy and Physiology is good but to faithfully carry out the instructions of the attending physician and to deal skillfully and kindly with the needs and eccentricities of your patient, is better.

In these modern days, when, as someone has said, "Speech has taken the place of thought," there has developed a practice which, if you honor your profession, you will have nothing to do. I refer to the habit of openly and loudly discussing ailments and surgical operations that should never be mentioned. It is a common thing to hear now-a-days, diseases and conditions spoken of in public that our grandmothers would have blushed to mention to the family physician. No right thinking nurse will take part in conversations of this sort. It is so easy to go a step farther and discuss the affairs of your patients which you are in honor bound to keep secret. While you are not the recipient of all the wretched secrets of life as are the clergymen and the doctors, you frequently be in households, the miseries of which cannot be hid, all the embowments of which are open unto you and you become the involuntary possessor of the most sacred confidences, known perhaps to no other soul. Cultivate what Cardale calls the talent for silence which, we are told, is not the wisdom of fools, but if rightly timed, the honor of wise men. Remember the words of the Psalmist and keep your mouth as it were with a bridle.

Do not think that because you have completed your course of training the need of further study is over. On the contrary, being on your own resources, you may realize that there is still a lot to be learned. As often as circumstances permit go away to work in other hospitals, among other teachers, learn new methods and get new ideas and thus keep in touch with the progress of your profession.

John Bright once defined a business as a congenial occupation with a continual sense of progress. Your presence here tonight is evidence that your occupation is congenial. It remains for you to so govern your life that you will know that continual sense of progress.

In conclusion allow me to quote the words of Lord Lister: "If you had nothing but pecuniary rewards to look to your profession would not be once to be desired. But in its practice you will find it to be attended with peculiar privileges second to none in intense interest and pure pleasures. It is your proud office to attend the fleshly tabernacle of the immortal spirit and your path if rightly followed, will be guided by unfettered truth and love unforged."

In pursuit of this noble and holy calling I wish you all God-speed.

The second part of the program began with a very pleasingly rendered vocal duet, "O, That We Two Were Maying," by Mrs. Lat We Two.

Mr. Elmer Ritchie followed by a vocal solo, "Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing," sung with splendid effect by Mrs. W. E. Fletcher, and a violin solo, "Spanish Dance, played by Miss Kathleen Hornby, whose popularity with local audiences was expressed by insistent demands for an encore. The closing number was a vocal trio "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," sung with remarkable fine effect by Messrs. Dingwell, Quigley, and Sterns, and also calling for an encore.

Just before the exercises closed, the chairman, Mr. Rogers, tendered his congratulations to the graduates and remarked that the nursing profession was one of those in the profession who received their early training in is## land hospitals invariably stood at the top of the profession in foreign fields. He added that financial restrictions prevented the P. E. I. Hospital from enlarging its training school, so that the maximum number of graduates was about six hardly enough to supply the demand, and not sufficient to cope against the loss incurred by nurses leaving for other fields. He spoke in commendation of the increasing attention that was being paid by Island institutions to this branch of hospital work, and in conclusion reminded the public that the annual meeting of the trustees and contributors to the Prince Edward Hospital was being held on Monday next.

70th Annual Meeting

Student Work

Our program for the Students, outside of the regular gym work for the members, was continued on Saturday night, when each week from 150 to 200 gathered for a program of singing, musical numbers, talks, readings and games. These socials were for the girls as well as the boys. The students attend the Sunday Services in large numbers each week.

Radio Concerts

Our Radio has proved to be a source of delight and interest to our Senior Members as well as our boys. During the winter season, the Radio was always in use, and we were able to entertain large numbers of our members and their friends.

Summer Camps

It has been difficult to get any large number of boys to attend the M. R. E. C. Provincial Camp, on which seem to come off at the same time.

A Maritime Institute was held in Big Cove, N. S., last year, and four of our members attended; it is expected that a larger number will attend this year.

It is planned to hold a Y. M. C. A. Camp this year for Charlottetown boys and a large number are expected to attend.

National Council and Special

We were favored with many visitors the past year from our National Men, who helped us along with their work in fine shape. Among the visitors for the year were Mr. T. D. Patton, our Regional Secretary, Mr. J. H. Crocker, National Director of Physical Work, Mr. L. A. Buckley, National Boys' Work Secretary, Mr. John Isaac, of Bangalore, India, Mr. Tom Best, of Toronto, Mr. A. M. Gregg, Saint John and Mr. Murray Brooks, of Ceylon, India, who is with us today.

The inspiration and help given us especially to our staff by the visiting Secretaries is of great value, and goes to show us that even though the Charlottetown Association is 71 years old, it is only a link in the chain that circles the world in a brotherhood of service.

Membership

Our membership has grown a little each month, and on April 30th, had reached the highest point in its history, 608, divided as follows: Juniors, 84; Intermediates, 49; Students, 36; Limited, 79; Seniors, 211; Business Men, 158; Total 608.

Conferences and Conventions

It has always been the policy of your Board of Directors to let our Staff attend the various Y. M. C. A. Conventions. This past year, Mr. Walker attended the annual meeting of all the Canadian Y.M.C.A. men and Mr. Penleton attended the Maritime meeting at Moncton.

During the year, Mr. Walker further completed his studies at Lake Couchiching, the Y. M. C. A. Summer School, and our General Secretary attended the Maritime School at Big Cove, N. S. These courses and conventions materially helped our Secretaries.

Staff

No change of Staff took place during the year, except the addition to it of Mr. Jewer Clow who is in charge of the Bowling Alley and certain office work.

The Ladies' Auxiliary

No verbal praise would be sufficient to thank our noble band of workers, who under the leadership of Mrs. W. T. Huggan, and later so efficiently to the various needs of our large membership, throughout the year, the ladies have been at our back to assist us in every way possible. We wish at this time to let them know how much the Directors and the membership in general appreciate their faithful and untiring service throughout the year.

It would have been impossible for our Staff to have carried out the work they did if it had not been for the wonderful backing they received from the ladies.

New Year's Reception

The Annual New Year's Reception was most successfully carried out by the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Board of Directors. The usual gymnastic exhibition and games took place. The building in its special evergreen decorations looked lovely. Refreshments were served by the ladies to the large number of guests.

Y's Men's Club

This service club of the Y. M. C. A., composed of members from twenty years of age and up, meets each Thursday night in the "Y" for supper, sing-song and lecture or talk, the program lasting for one hour. "Service" is the motto of this Club, and the members are all solidly behind the Y. M. C. A. The Club was organized in December with 18 members, and now has 33 on its roll.

In General

Our Building forms the recreational centre of the city, and serves for the holding of many different meetings. About 15 different organizations used our Building once or more during the year for their meetings.

The thanks of the Directors and Staff is due those who have given so freely of their time and money for the support and the enlarging of the work of the Charlottetown Young Men's Christian Association.

To the retiring Directors, who have served their Association so well, we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation.

The Directors gratefully acknowledge the continued whole-hearted support and courtesies received from the press of our city.

To the Ministers who have so loyally supported the Association and the work it is doing, we can but express our thanks and say that the Y. M. C. A. is theirs to command. It is our hope that the Association may be able to serve the Churches in a larger measure than ever before in the work of our Lord and Master.

In closing, we wish to express our earnest appreciation of God's Divine Leadership and Blessing. We pray that the influence of the Young Men's Christian Association will be far-reaching and that it may be increasingly the means of leading many young men and boys to acknowledge Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LADIES AUXILIARY

At the close of another year the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. notwithstanding the "Y" Men's Club the winter and the numerous calls on the members for other duties, a very encouraging report.

During the year four banquets have been held, the first was the collectors' banquet at which a small fee was charged. This was followed by the annual banquet, which was given by the ladies of the Auxiliary free of charge, another one in November when the directors were present added to our funds. The fourth and last was the Father and Son banquet held in February. Quite a substantial sum was realized at this affair.

Two rummage sales were held during the year—the first was in May this being the annual one, the other in November a good sum was realized from both.

In December a bean supper was given but through lack of advertising it was not as well patronized as the Auxiliary expected.

We held our "At Home" first was in honor of Mrs. Ray Bentley and Mr. R. H. MacNeill. A bride-a presentation was made Mrs. Penleton and a very of a social afternoon was spent.

New Year's Day the second "At Home" was held, quite a number of both old and young availed themselves of the opportunity to call at the "Y". All there were pleased with their afternoon.

During the winter the Ladies Auxiliary served supper every Thursday night to the Y's Men's Club, this was one of the chief sources to revenue.

In March candy was sold at an entertainment in the "Y" and in April a party sale was conducted at Holman's store. This finished the year's work. The total amount raised was $487.49 with $116.21 expenditures leaving a balance of $371.28.

The success of the year's work is due in a great measure to our retiring President, Mrs. Samuel Campbell, who as we all know had so many demands on her time, but never failed to be ready to work for the "Y" all times ready to work for the "Y" also to the people of the various churches who responded so generously to the call for contributions.

The members of the Auxiliary deeply appreciate the kindness and good will shown by Mr. Penleton and his assistant, Mr. Walker both of whom were always ready to assist in whatever way they could.
