THE HILLS OF HOME
The hills of home are calling me They whisper low sweet memories I'm hoping, yearning again to see The hills of home.

Though years have passed and life has changed The hills of home shall e'er remain Fresh is the breeze that blows o'er their crest, The hills of home.

Stalwart they stand against the sky Locked in my heart their memory lies Treasured are they, ordained by God, The beautiful hills of home.

It's years since I wandered o'er the While the twilight lingers in the glowing west And watched as the shadows softly steal O'er the resounding hills of home.

I must go back once more to see Because they're calling—calling me They whisper low sweet memories The hills of home.

Colgate-Palmolive President Presents Prize

C. R. Vint, President of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company Limited, accompanied by m. c. Stan Francis and announcer Cy Mack, is shown presenting a $355.50 cheque to the winner of the "Share the Wealth" Oscar on the last program of the season — George Loke of Sherbrooke, Quebec. Mr. Loke's air partner, Mrs. Rose Connolly of Saint John, N. B., doubled her prize to $1,111.00 for enclosing a boxfront with her entry letter.

Expressing his company's congratulations, C. R. Vint, President of Colgate-Palmolive, presented Mr. George Loke of Sherbrooke, Quebec, with a cheque for $355.50 for answering the Oscar question on the June 11th "Share the Wealth" radio program. Listeners to the program will remember that Mr. Loke, after having given the correct answer to the deciding Oscar question, became confused in the excitement of the occasion and changed his answer. However, upon reviewing a recording of the program, a board of Colgate-Palmolive executives agreed with m. c. Stan Francis that Mr. Loke be given the benefit of the doubt. The result was good news to Mr. Loke and his air partner, Mrs. Rose Connolly of Saint John, N. B., who as her share of Oscar, won $1,111.00 for having included a boxfront from Colgate Dental Cream in her "Share the Wealth" entry. Although the winning of Oscar would normally mean that "Share the Wealth's" biggest cash prize would start from scratch with the first program of the fall season, Colgate-Palmolive decided not to disappoint the listeners. Accordingly, when the program returns, Oscar, as announced on the June 17th program, will be worth a total of $1,666.50.
