FREE DISPENSARY

The relief furnished by the State to the poor of the City, has relieved the Free Dispensary, to some extent, of its financial burden but it has by no means reduced its efficiency or philanthropic usefulness. The activities of our capable Social Service Worker, are as necessary and helpful today, as they were at any time in the past.

Care Of Sick

The State Relief furnishes food, but does not directly administer to the wants of the sick, all of whom require care and medicine. During the last year the sum of $390.50 was expended in medicine, an increase of $214.32 over the previous year, which was very necessary for the comfort and wellbeing of the suffering poor.

I feel, that the public realize, that the Free Dispensary is a useful and necessary adjunct to the philanthropic endeavor in this city, and will put forth every effort to sustain it.

The yearly envelope collection will take place, on Monday, May 1st, and my sincere hope is that it will receive the same generous support, as has been accorded it in the past.

Miss Earle's Report

The following report was presented by Miss Amy Earle:

The records of the Free Dispensary for the past twenty-two years may seem insignificant but the appreciation of those helped convinces us more and more that we are meeting a great need.

There are four hundred and sixty five families on relief in this City. In four hundred and sixty-five Charlottetown homes at least the burden of distress has become greater than the heads of those families can bear without aid from their fellow citizens. In most of these homes there would be nothing to eat for jobless fathers, for anxious mothers, for children whose young lives are shadowed by want, if it were not for aid dispensed at the City relief office, for private charity or for one or other of the benevolent organizations. This eliminated all necessity for house to house begging.

The Dispensary co-operated with the Church and City Charities and finding coal and groceries supplied by them, with the exception of relief to old people kept principally to the giving of medicine. Day after day a steady stream of people asking for a Doctor's prescription filled or for medicine of some sort applied here. I cannot pass without a word of praise to the Doctors who never refuse of their services to the poor. We gave out 479 orders for medicine amounting to $395.50. This does not include the many samples of drugs we handle. 380 orders for groceries amounting to $452.80, 560 visits to homes.

The Dr. Jenkins Coal Fund was very small, only $50.50—owing no doubt to the city giving relief at that time.

Christmas Work

It has been the purpose of the Free Dispensary to care for deserving families at Christmas time. This year although the response to our appeal was not as generous as usual, we sent out boxes containing chicken, pudding, preserves, canned goods, fruit, etc. If individual donors could be on hand when these deliveries were made they would feel amply repaid for their sacrifices.

The gifts each child received from Santa Claus handed down from a glistening Christmas tree included a bag of candy, nuts, apples, oranges, together with stockings, mitts and some Christmas favour. For two exciting hours the shouts of happy children filled the air as each waited their turn.

Help Received

The Rotarians sent their usual generous donation and we must not forget the Y's Men. For several years their committee asked for the names of twelve needy families with children. We give the children's ages and size of articles required. The kiddies were fitted out with shoes, rubbers, clothing and the parcels delivered Christmas eve by the Y's Men personally.

The Old Age Pension which many elderly people have been looking forward to is at last in sight, and the anticipation of getting it in June is a great joy to them. Names are already made by several old persons to sell their few belongings and board, another to go to the Country with friends. One gets very close to the essential kindness and helpfulness of the poor in work of this kind as the following letter in part will show:

"I have a charitable offer to make towards the Free Dispensary. I hope it will be accepted in these hard and trying winter days. It is this: I will give away every Saturday beginning January 14th and ending March 25th one loaf home made bread. This is to help some poor down and out over Sunday. I have full and plenty this winter and as a Christian I desire to help some one less fortunate. Don't you think the best way to do this will be for you to give the order with your name signed. Hope others in a position to do so will do the same as I feel it would go a good way in affording relief."

Emergency Cases

A morning visit on a cold October day found a feeble old lady very much in need of help. She stood shivering with cold, no stove, just a tiny oil lamp. We had to act at once which necessitated a stove, pipe, plumber, coal box, coal, kindling. Six visits were made to that room in one day, but we left her radiantly happy with a bright fire and plenty to eat.

A woman from the country who had been a patient in Hospital for several months had learned from a friend of the Dispensary and applied for help. She was in destitute circumstances, having borrowed the coat she wore to come to town. She was supplied with clothing, a ticket to her destination and taxi fare to station.

There were five deaths in the homes visited during the year.

We have been asked—Are there not many worthless people applying for help who would rather accept charity than work? I will give an incident: A young man went to the country looking for work. He succeeded in getting meals and lodging for six weeks by chopping wood, etc., with no remuneration whatever. At the end of that time he came back to town applied to the Dispensary and within a few hours was furnished with a ticket to another part of the Island and has been able to make good ever since.

A splendid piece of service was done by the Pure Milk Co., when they offered to supply a quart of milk a day to a needy family for each person who visited their plant. Members of the different churches and societies took advantage of this generous offer with the result that one thousand quarts of milk were delivered. This work was done in conjunction with the Red Cross Society.

Reference was made to the resolution passed at the last annual meeting urging the Government and City Council to take steps toward the improving of the housing conditions of the destitute.

Canon Malone thought that the resolution regarding housing should be incorporated in the minutes, and should again be brought to the attention of the Government and City Council.

INDIAN TO GIVE UP PONY WEALTH

KAMLOOPS, B. C., April 27—(C.P.)—Having now given up the age-old belief their wealth and position in the world is indicated by the number of dogs and ponies they possess, aboriginals of British Columbia have promised to assist authorities in ridding the interior of both scourges, according to Rev. A. R. Lett of St. George's Indian School at Lytton, B. C.

Because Indians reckoned their wealth in ponies and dogs there is today a surplus of the animals in interior British Columbia, Mr. Lett stated. They are destroying sheep and poultry and are of no value. Fortunately the modern Indian sees this and is helping to rid the reserves of dogs and the ranges of wild horses, he said.

There was a drawback as shelter had to be found for the families whose dwellings were thus removed. The resolution had merit in itself if it could be accomplished. The carrying out of the idea had always met some obstacle beyond which it was impossible to go. The responsibility was one which the City Government should assume.

Mr. John MacKenna moved a resolution of thanks to the Garden City Milk Co., for generous donations of milk. The resolution was seconded by Dr. MacMillan.

It was moved by Canon Malone seconded by John MacKenna that the thanks of the meeting be extended to the Rotary and Y's Men's Clubs.

Boy Scout Troop Comes To The Aid Of Ken Maynard In "Drum Taps"

"Drum Taps" now at the Capitol has many novel angles to commend it. Being a thrilling outdoor drama, it has its full quota of great horseman ship, keen hand-to-hand tussles, last minute rescues and the participation of a full Boy Scout Troop, who enter the story in the beginning and play an important part in the unfolding of the story.

The Boy Scouts are shown going through many of their interesting manoeuvres in the course of the picture, and their help in rounding up the gang of rustlers was wildly applauded.

"State Fair" Excellent Entertainment

ALL-STAR FILM HAS EVERYTHING AND SOME TO SPARE.

Surpassing in entertainment value and supreme in characterization the eagerly awaited "State Fair" opened at the Prince Edward yesterday with a winning combination of a great cast and great story. Such an array of stars as Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayers, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, could scarcely fail to provide outstanding entertainment. When those players are presented in a story as rich in romance, comedy and plot as "State Fair" the result is nothing less than delight.

AVIATION IS POPULAR CHOICE

TORONTO, April 26—(C.P.)—Survey of vocational choices of pupils of senior fourth classes in Toronto public schools, made by Superintendent of Schools, Dr. C. C. Goldring, indicates there will be plenty of aviators and dietitians in the next generation.

BRITISH SURVEY BACK FROM TRIP

EDMONTON, April 22—(C.P.)—Returned from a three-month topographical survey north of Fort Rae L. Clive and J. H. Martin, F.R.G.S., sent out by the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain, laughed heartily when told of their reported hardships and privations on the trip.

Martin, however, was forced to spend a few days in hospital here, suffering from frostbitten feet. His condition was not serious. "It is true we ran short of food and two of our dogs died," said Clive, "but to say we experienced danger is wide of the mark."

The two-man expedition conducted surveys for the Royal Society in the Lac Martre region, far north of Fort Rae. Wild stories of their "terrible hardships" had been reported here. Martin will head an expedition to Spitzbergen this summer after he returns to England.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB—MR. H. W. CLAY

Mr. H. W. Clay of the Dominion Live Stock branch was the speaker at the Y's Men's Club last evening. Mr. Clay gave a very interesting description of the improvements in Agriculture, particularly the Live Stock branch. He told of the growth from the time the office was opened in 1921 when fourteen hundred head of live stock were shipped, to the past year when it was increased to fourteen thousand head. Mr. Clay went on to explain why the thirty various clubs that are in operation on the Island were organized and the benefits derived therefrom through lessening marketing expenses and giving the farmers the facilities of shipping fifty two weeks of the year. He also stated that one man looked after the marketing for the ninety clubs that are operating in the Maritimes. Y's Man Aben McLean acted as chairman, and Mr. Forbes Kennedy was introduced as a guest to the club.

PUBLIC FORUM

and ever here shall I dwell because I have chosen it."

About 11.45 the singing of the "Pange Lingua" announced that the door had been opened and that the Holy Father was entering.

To really appreciate what followed one would have to be present. Notwithstanding the fact, or as the Italians would say, on account of the fact that they are in the church, the house of God their Father, they always greet the Pope with cheers and shouts and applause in which everyone joins, glad of the custom that gives them an opportunity to do so. As he passed through the long nave of St. Peter's preceded by the Noble Guard and the Cardinals, Archbishops and Bishops vested in cope and mitre, carried shoulder high by twelve men on the Sede Gestatoria, there arose a mighty shout and cheer from forty thousand throats that is impossible to describe. It was almost impossible to hear the salute of the trumpeters who were above the main door, the sound of their trumpets being heard only during the short lulls between the rounds of applause. "Viva il Papa" was the shout heard on all sides. Men and women held up their little children so that they too could wave their handkerchiefs in greeting to the Pope. The salute continued during the entire passing of the Pope through St. Peter's and the humble, saintly old man Pius XI looked down from his throne on his children assembled from the four corners of the earth, raised his hand continually in Benediction, first to one side and then to the other, and as the procession stopped before the altar of the Blessed Sacrament for a visit, he must have offered with joy to God the homage and loyalty of His children which they presented through him, His vicar on earth.

ANCIENT BIBLES ARE ON DISPLAY

WINNIPEG, April 27—(C.P.)—Arranged by St. John's College authorities in connection with the Anglican Restoration Fund campaign, early English Bibles and other books dating from the 15th century are on exhibition here. They were presented to the College by Rev. Daniel Carostorex, Vicar of St. Paul's Whitechapel, in 1897.

The earliest printed book in the collection is a fine Latin Bible, printed by Anthony Couburger of Nuremberg, in 1478, four years after the first English book was printed by William Caxton. A great manuscript volume, dated 1417, is contained in the collection. The pencil marks used by the ancient scribe to keep his lines straight are still visible on the manuscript.

Other notable exhibits are Mathew's Bible of 1537, made up from early translations of Tyndale and Coverdale, the Great Bible of 1539, the Bishop's Bible of 1568, a 1577 copy of the Geneva Bible, and a first edition of the Authorized Version believed to have been in the possession of King James I.
