The Guardian regrets to announce the death of Evelyn Bradley which occurred at her home Kelly's Cross after a nine days illness of the fatal influenza. During her illness she was greatly comforted and consoled by the ministrations of her good pastor, Rev. Dr. Curran, and fortified by the last sacraments of Holy Church she peacefully breathed her last on the morning of Tuesday the fifth inst. The deceased was of a kind, unassuming disposition and faithful in the performance of every duty and her early passing away in the twenty-second year of her age will be deeply regretted by her friends and neighbors. There are left to mourn two sisters and three brothers all of whom were prostrated with the prevailing disease during the sickness and death of their loved sister, making their severe trial still harder to bear. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. May her soul rest in peace.

ISLAND NURSE FOR OVERSEAS.—Among a party of eighteen trained nurses from San Francisco and vicinity who have recently sailed from New York for service overseas, was Miss Lucy J. Howatt who is a graduate of the Mass General Hospital has been engaged in nursing for several years in Oakland, Cal. where her splendid efficiency as a nurse coupled with her pleasing personality made her services much sought after. She is a daughter of the late Jas. A. Howatt of Victoria and her mother who has been in delicate health for some years still resides in Berkeley, Cal. She will greatly miss the thoughtful care and tender ministrations of her devoted daughter, but her many friends trust that when the war is over she may be spared to return to the land of her adoption and see many years of noble service in her chosen profession. All honour is due the brave army of young women of which Miss Howatt is a splendid type, who have with courage and patriotism, given up comfortable and lucrative positions and have counted their own lives dear until them, that they might be able to minister to the needs of the brave boys at the front, who are fighting and dying for freedom, home and country.

The sad death of Frederick McKenna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McKenna, occurred at Conway on Oct. 25th, after an illness of six months. He suffered with great patience and was never heard to complain. He was attended in his last illness by his devoted Pastor Rev. Father Herrell. Deceased was twenty nine years of age and for the past two years resided on his farm at Tracadie until last May when he was stricken down with rheumatism and returned to his parents in Conway.

All the tender care of his loving parents and friends was of no use God had willed it otherwise. He was a young man of exemplary character, sober and industrious and had many, many friends both at home and at Tracadie.

He leaves to mourn his sorrowing parents five sisters and five brothers, three of whom are serving their Country's call. His funeral which left Conway on Friday morning's train was largely attended and arrived in Tracadie in the afternoon. The large number assembled to show their respect for one of their number who had only left them a few short months and had taken with him the very best wishes of the entire neighborhood. Police Sergt. Joseph McKinnon of the Lagrange station, Boston, is receiving the sympathy of his many friends on the death of his brother James F. McKinnon, who was killed in action in France on Sept. 29th.

Young McKinnon who was a native of St. Peter's Bay, P. E. I., was a member of the McLean Kilties, having enlisted in Boston during the drive for recruits made by this famous outfit early last year. The enlistment, against the wishes of his family followed a notice received that his brother Hugh, who was in France with another Canadian regiment, had been wounded and was at the point of death. When he enlisted it was for the purpose of avenging his brother. Hugh is now in England, but in a condition that will prevent any more military service. The notice of his death was first seen in the Globe, but the failure of the Government to officially notify the family led them to believe that it was another man of the same name. A few days ago, when no letters of any kind had been recently received, his wife, Henrietta, formerly Miss Bradley of Vernon River, P. E. I., called on the local Red Cross unit for assistance, and a telegram was sent to Canada. Mrs. McKinnon has since received a letter from Capt. G. D. Kilpatrick, Chaplain of the 42nd Bn. Canadians which stated that Private McKinnon was killed by machine gun fire while gallantly advancing with his company in the attack and was buried on the battle field. He is a brother of Joseph McKinnon of the Sergeant Police Div. 4 Boston, Mass.
