MONTE ALBION RED CROSS

The regular meeting of the Mount Albion Red Cross was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Robertson, with 16 members and two visitors present. The meeting opened by singing "There'll Always be an England." The minutes were read and approved. Collection amounted to $6.00. A neat sum was realized from the Cake Sale. Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins donated $1.00 to our Red Cross. It was decided that we give $15.00 to the Canadian Red Cross Society. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

In his morning sermon the Rev. J. Judson Levy, taking as his theme, "Help from Beyond the Hills" based his thought on the beautiful one hundred and twenty first psalm, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." Whether this psalm may be the song of a traveller, coming in sight of the beloved hills of Jerusalem, or the song of an exile far from the hills of home, it expresses an eternal spirit in the heart of man. Man is a being of the upward look. His feet may be on the ground but his soul reaches to the everlasting hills and the Great Helper beyond. The psalm includes a resolution "I will lift up my eyes unto the hills," it offers a question, "from whence shall my help come?" it expresses an assurance, "my help cometh from the Lord." It sets forth a confident, abiding faith in the Lord as the keeper, the preserver, who neither slumbers nor sleeps. The anthem of the morning was Attwood's "Teach Me, O Lord." Mr. Levy's evening sermon on "The Wayside Ministries of Life" gave eloquent expression to the thought involved in the words of his Bennett's "God is a Spirit." The Church school had an encouraging attendance in its 2:30 P. M. session. On this occasion the Young Men's Brotherhood took up their program for the Fall and Winter months. John Inch, Mus. Bac. was in charge of the music.

Carry On Canada Corps

The regular meeting of the Eastern King's Carry On Canada Corps was held in their hall at Souris on Friday evening, October 11th, with a large number of members present. The meeting opened with singing which was enjoyed immensely, the ladies present joining in the presentation of many old marching songs of the Canadian Corps of other days. Mr. Clifford Peters accompanied on the organ. The secretary, Mr. West, read correspondence which had passed between the secretary of the Charlottetown Corps and this branch relative to the series of concerts which the members of the Charlottetown Corps have been presenting throughout the country, so ably and willingly for Red Cross purposes. There was some discussion following the reading of this correspondence and a full and detailed explanation of the matters referred to was given by the President, Mr. Holland.

ST. JAMES CHURCH

Rev. Dr. R. Moorhead Legate preached an encouraging and stimulating sermon at the morning services from Joshua 1 and 16, emphasizing the fact that in the last analysis the war in which we were engaged was one for the maintenance of Christian principles and ideals against the attack of anti-Christian forces. The ultimate outcome was in the hands of God in whom we must place our trust. The soloist was Mr. Raoul Remond who rendered "The Lost Chord" (Sullivan). At the evening service the Minister, by request, re-preached a sermon delivered by him at Wednesday's Prayer Meeting on "Back to Calvary." Mrs. K. S. Rogers was organist and the music for the day was under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Henderson.

BILL WAS A WARM-ROOM OFFENDER

SCIENTIFIC FACTS ABOUT BO.

The adult skin has 2 to 3 million sweat glands which act as a cooling system, giving off from 1 to 3 pints of perspiration daily—when we are sitting still. If perspiration stopped, we would die from hyperpyrexia (heat stroke).

Because much of the water in perspiration evaporates, we do not see it in its changeable weather. Heated rooms, lack of fresh air and heavy clothes quickly decompose this great department of the body—cause offensive "B.O." (Body Odor).

ON the telephone... On the platform at sales meetings... Anywhere that didn't put him next to others, Bill was superb! He could thaw out a hard buyer with a few letters and a long-distance call... But when he sat down with a prospect he paid a bitter penalty for lacking personal cleanliness... His best sales always fell through.

Bill didn't realize that perspiring is like breathing—we can't live without it. In this changing weather, rooms become stuffy, over-heated and sweat quickly decomposes—turns stale. Everybody who is careless can seriously offend with "B.O."—even YOU. Why not let Lifebuoy stand between you and B.O.?

Lifebuoy has an exclusive deodorizing ingredient not found in any other leading toilet soap. Used in your daily bath Lifebuoy stops "B.O.", washes stale sweat deposits away—peeps you up—protects you from offending others.

Next to others - YOU NEED ME MOST!

Roosevelt Plans Political Speeches

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt sent word to a Democratic rally tonight that "there has been so much deliberate misrepresentation in this campaign I am determined to correct these misstatements and give the true facts to the people."

Mavor La Guardia of New York read the message after discussing what he described as "reckless, irresponsible utterances" of Republican candidate Wendell Willkie.

The President's statement apparently referred to his announced intention of making four political speeches soon.

"This is going to be a campaign from now on," declared La Guardia. "Believe me, we'll get the true facts—in keeping with the dignity of the President of the United States."

La Guardia charged that leaders of the Willkie campaign were asking the United States to vote for "the most synthetic build-up ever staged."

The Mavor, championing the third-term candidacy of President Roosevelt, declared that those paying for social security "will never get the principal of social aid when they need it in their old age unless this administration is removed from power."

'Times' Approves Relief System For Civilians

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(CP)—The Times today approved the suggestion of Lord Horder, noted surgeon and physician-in-ordinary to the King, that "a system of relief akin to that applied to troops in the line should be organized for those so continuously subject to the danger and noise of aerial bombardment."

"Our lives cannot be run on peacetime lines nor by any mere adaptation of the peacetime authorities," the newspaper declared in an editorial analyzing air raid defenses.

Commenting on "certain hygienic and administrative deductions to be made from the results of air raids," the Times said: "The course of the German air offensive, which continues to concentrate mainly on London, shows that these questions are becoming more and more urgent."

Second-Line Services

The Times went on: "Organizations of first-line air raid precautions services, that is fire-fighting and hospital services, has stood and will stand severe tests magnificently. But the second-line services need greater revision and reinforcement. In actual preparations to deal with air raids local authorities were executive agents; and not all of them were equally far-sighted and efficient."

"Thus it was certainly not appreciated fully that shelters would have to be dormitories; and no one can visit any public shelter today, whether standardized or improvised, without realizing the grave potential dangers to health existing under present conditions. Nor was it foreseen that loss of

THE KING ENJOYS MEAL WITH CANADIANS

THAMESVILLE, Ont., Oct. 19.—In a letter to his home here, Harold Gardner, a cook of a Canadian army camp in England, related how the King sat down in an ordinary mess room and enjoyed his dinner with the troops.

Gardner said that after the King had accepted the invitation to dine, the King had entered the mess room and, taking a carving knife, cut himself a ham and a slice of roast beef. As he left the room, he said: "If the Queen knew about this she'd wish she had come with me."
