THE LOOKOUT ON THE S. S. GLADSTONE

QUEBEC, November 20—The evidence in the inquiry into the grounding of the steamer Gladstone was concluded this afternoon. The man who was on the lookout stated he had been only two months at sea and was a blacksmith by trade. The pilot said that after the ship past St. Lawrence point, he saw a bright light and took it to be the headlight of a steamer coming down the river. He therefore put the Gladstone's helm to port to keep his position to the south or starboard side of the river coming up. When he discovered that the light was on a motor boat at anchor, he ordered the helm starboard, but before the steamer would answer, she ran full speed ashore. There was no time to reverse the engines before she struck. The court will render a decision in a few days.

SERVIANS ACCUSED OF INHUMAN BARBARITIES

PECULIAR VERDICT OF TRIBUNAL

GENEVA, Nov. 22—(Special)—The Federal Tribunal, the highest court of appeals in Switzerland, has just given an extraordinary verdict. A wealthy Swiss woman, who for the last twenty years has been an inmate of an asylum, left a will which is contested by her relations, the sum involved being nearly $150,000. The court did not find that the two conditions of incapacity provided by law—namely, absence of will and privation of reason—could be applied in this case, and therefore decided in favor of the will.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE BEFORE DANES

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22—(Special)—The question of Woman Suffrage is now before the Danes in the House of Commons, and is arousing widespread interest. The reform is bound up with the projected general amendment of the Danish Constitution. Herr Berntsen, the Danish Premier has introduced the measure for this purpose. Two points are involved: One, the manner of election for the Landsting (Upper House); and two, the lowering of the qualifying voting age for the Lower House, from 30 to 25 years, together with the extension of this franchise to women.

SUSPEND OFFICERS OF BENGORE HEAD

PARLIAMENT OPENS

OTTAWA, Nov. 21—The opening of the second session of the Twelfth Parliament today was attended by a much larger company of spectators than have found their way into the galleries of the two houses in years. The importance attached to the work of the coming session, and the fact that Mr. Borden, Mr. Horden and other Ministers had with the British Government last summer, on the question of Naval Defence and an announcement of the early introduction of a bill which will embody the results of that conference was made. Reference was made to a trade agreement between Canada and the British West Indies and British Guiana, and a reduction in Cable Rates was spoken of by His Royal Highness. The revision of the Bank Act, the reintroduction of the highways bill which the Senate killed last year and a bill providing for improvement in the policy of assistance to the provinces in providing instruction in agriculture all were mentioned. There is also announced a bill to increase the Western representation in the Senate, each of the Prairie Provinces being given two additional Senators. Little will be done on Thursday outside of the formal opening and the introduction of the dummy bill respecting the administration of "paths" of office. The swearing-in of the new members will likely take place on Friday. The debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne may begin on Friday, but is just as likely to be deferred until the first of the week. Following the usual custom, it is probable that both parties will go into caucus on one of the first days of the session to discuss the sessional work.

Women and Children Mercilessly Killed. Prisoners Formed into Rows and Shot

(Canadian Press) VIENNA, Nov. 21—Emperor Francis Joseph expressed his admiration at the way the Bulgarian troops had behaved during the war in the course of a speech to the Hungarian delegates at a banquet last evening. On the other hand however, His Majesty declared he could not understand why the fortunes of war were so unfavorable to Turkey. Referring to the despatch of the Austro-Hungarian consular official to investigate the situation at Pristina, the Emperor expressed the hope that the reports published regarding Servian treatment of the Austro-Hungarian consul there would prove exaggerated and that the incident would be settled peacefully. While staying at Nish Lieut. Wagner reports he heard well high incredible details of barbarities committed by Servian troops on Albanians. The Red Cross doctor with the Servian army told him, "The Servians gave no quarter. All Albanians armed or unarmed as well as women and children who fell into their hands were mercilessly killed. General Stephonovich the Servian commander had Albanians captured at Knatova formed into two rows and shot dead with machine guns. The General remarked, we must extirpate these Austro-Hungarian favorites."

(Canadian Press) VIENNA, Nov. 21—General Zivkovich also had 950 Albanian and Turkish notables cut down near Sienitz. After the battle of Kumanovo numerous wounded Albanians and Turks were buried with the dead. In the Servian troops entering Veriovit were killed by Servian troops, who battered in their skulls with the butt ends of their rifles. Another Turkish prisoner was beaten to death in the hospital at Nish and one was maltreated and kicked by Servians, until he was dead.

SITUATION NOW MORE FAVORABLE TO MEN

ST. JOHN, Nov. 20—M. M. McLean, Secretary Treasurer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, states that from the nature of the despatches it would appear that the true situation and importance of the strike of that organization on the Canadian Pacific Railway has been very much misrepresented. The Grand President of the Brotherhood has issued a statement from Ottawa warning the members against reports which appear in the press to the effect that the strike is not effective, and repudiating statements that strike-breakers are filling the places of men who are out at Ottawa and other points. He denies that members of the Brotherhood at North Bay, returned to work as intimidated by C. Fort William and Smith Falls have all three steamers and the resolution P. R. officials in the papers.

FEARFUL UNCERTAINTY AS TO FATE OF MISSING BOSTON BOYS

BOSTON, Nov. 20—Captain John J. Hanley of the Roxbury Crossing Police Station received a postcard in the mail today stating that Joseph O'Connor of No. 21 Phillips street, Roxbury, the boy who disappeared November 8, is buried in the woods at Chestnut Hill, and that body will be found there if a searching party is sent out. The postcard stated that J. Frank Hickey, now under arrest at Tom's River, N. J., for the murder of Joseph Joseph of Lakawanna, N. Y., did not kill the Joseph boy. Captain Hanley read the postcard, then immediately notified police headquarters. Next he sent the postcard to headquarters in care of one of his patrolmen. This sinister missive centres in Boston the terrible case of the mysterious stranger, murderer of young boys, who writes to the police after lives at No. 569 Talbot avenue, Dorchester, disappeared November 10. The Kramer boy, who lives in Lynn vanished September 3, and the O'Connor lad November 8. BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19—E. C. Rosenstiel, the man arrested here today in connection with the murder of Joseph Joseph, the seven-year-old victim of the post card slayer, was released this afternoon. The police are confident he had nothing to do with the case, though they at first announced he had been identified. Chief of Police Regan stated at 11 o'clock that J. Frank Hickey, another suspect in the Joseph case, had been arrested at Whiting, N. J. Requestion papers will be sought and the prisoner brought here from New Jersey. Hickey protests his innocence.

HOUSE COLLAPSES KILLING MANY

MILAN, Nov. 22—(Special)—Five persons were killed and ten others frightfully injured by the collapse of Countess Vialardi's new country house in the suburbs of Vercelli. The villa, which was constructed of armored cement, has only just been completed, and the countess had invited a number of guests to a musical party in celebration of the event. Several tons of bricks had been heaped on the top floor to test the resistance of the building. Suddenly while the orchestra was playing, ominous cracking sounds were heard, and there was a wild rush for the doors, but before many of the guests had time to escape to the garden the whole building came down like a house of cards. The countess herself was the first of the buried victims to be extricated alive. An hour later the rescuers began to reach the first of the corpses. Among the dead was the mother of the contractor. The latter had in the meantime fled, but he has just been arrested at the countess's town residence at Vercelli.

It was the last trip of the liner, and the men were charged by Captain Main, with having broken in to the hold and stolen gin, brandy, Scotch and Irish whiskey. Mason, when brought before Magistrate Lanclot in the arraignment court, pleaded guilty, but all the others said they were not guilty and were remanded for trial.

KILLS HIS BABY SISTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Two-year-old Mildred Bordeaux died at Bellevue Hospital yesterday as a result of playing "doctor and patient" with her little brother and sister on Nov. 13. On that day six-year-old William Bordeaux was struck with the idea it would be fun to play being a physician with his sisters as patients. He suggested the scheme to Mildred and Margaret, four. The youngsters were in the playroom of their home. Their father, William Bordeaux, is a stationary engineer. "That would be fine," said Margaret to her brother's suggestion. "Mildred and I'll play we're sick and you'll have us well." William got his father's hat and cane, borrowed a small grip from the storeroom and announced he was a full-fledged medical man. "But I must get some medicine," he said. He went to the medicine closet and took down a bottle which contained poison. Then he got a teaspoon and proceeded to pay his first professional call. "You've got a sore throat," he told Margaret after examining her. "and must take a spoonful of this." "I don't like that medicine," said Margaret. "It's got a sore throat," declared baby Mildred, "and I'll take it." So William gave Mildred a full teaspoonful. In a second she was shrieking with pain. Her mother dashed into the room, called a doctor and then took the child to Bellevue.

THE WEST HILL HAVE MORE IN SERATE

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—An early care of the Borden government will be increased representation of western Canada in the senate. On the score of population the newer provinces of Canada are fully entitled to larger membership in the red chamber, and the red session is likely to see an early introduction of a bill to this effect. Indeed, it is probable that an announcement to this effect will be found in the speech from the throne. The expectation is that each of the prairie provinces will be given two additional senators. The speech may also be expected to contain a reference to the conference which Mr. Borden, Mr. Hazen and other ministers had with the British government last summer on the question of naval defense, and an announcement of the early introduction of a bill which will embody the results of that conference.

JAMES PATON OF CHARLOTTETOWN

Appointed Regent of Mount Allison College Succeeding Dr. Inch (Special to the Guardian) SACKVILLE, Nov. 21—At a meeting of the Mount Allison Board of Regents today James Paton, Charlottetown, was appointed a member to succeed the late Dr. J. R. Inch.

VOTES DOWN POLICY OF INDUSTRIAL UNIONISM

ROCHESTER, November 20—After a debate that lasted all day, members of the radical wing of the American federation of labor were defeated by a vote of nearly 2 to 1 in their attempt to have the federation adopt the principle of industrial unionism in place of its policy of trade autonomy. Two hundred and forty-nine delegates voted against the minority report of the committee on education, which favored the principle of industrial unionism and 142 voted in its favor. The voting strength of constitution based on the membership it represented went 10,983 against the minority report and 5,929 for it. After the minority report had been defeated, the majority report in favor of the continuance of trade autonomy was adopted by acclamation. As a result of the adoption of the majority report, the federation will continue, for a year at least, to recognize the independent autonomy of international and national unions affiliated with it, and wherever its policy of trade autonomy seems unopposed to the industry, it will introduce the principle of industrial unionism.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

SKOWEGAN, Me., Nov. 20—On a charge of shooting a human being for a deer, William Wilding, the Indianapolis railroad conductor, arrested in connection with the killing of Warren Holden, of Jackman, in the woods near the Canadian line, was bound over to the December term of the supreme court to-day, after hearing at Jackman. WALTER LONG TALKS ABOUT CANADA

LONDON, Nov. 20—Walter Long opened the discussion at the Constitutional Club on Home Rule as an imperial question, in the course of which he referred to his Canadian visit. Home Rule, as understood here, he said, was quite hostile to the empire's interests. He went to Canada believing Canadians favored Irish Home Rule, but came to the conclusion that the basic principle of all political action and thought in Canada was that whatever action they took in politics, the objective was expansion. Canada has turned her mind to the solution of great imperial problems to a degree not attained in the old world. Underlying every political problem in Canada was the question, "What will be its contribution to the solidarity of the empire?" He had discussed Home Rule with Canadians of all classes of politics and creeds and found few who still held the views that it would be a desirable thing for Ireland. He never found anybody to defend the home rule bill. Canadians in general seemed to think this is not self government, but the beginning of separation. Canadians frequently said to him "We cannot understand your position in the old land. It seems you are prepared to do honor to anybody who is going to build a workhouse or an asylum or a home for the aged and distressed, but you do nothing for men who are willing to build a factory. The men we honor in Canada are those who will put their capital and brains into the establishment of a factory."
