Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralising acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

Summerside Over The Top In War Services Drive

Summerside went well over the top last night in the war services campaign after only two days canvass. The reports of the canvassers were received at a rousing supper meeting in St. Mary's Hall, the supper being served by the I. O. D. E. Mr. W. A. Currie, Summerside chairman, presided. After the delicious repast had been heartily enjoyed by those who attended Mr. Currie called on the eight team captains to deliver their reports.

The grand total showed that Summerside as usual had gone well over the top. Without exception every citizen from one end of Summerside to the other had been most generous in their response to the appeal of the canvassers.

Mr. Currie in a few remarks after hearing the reports said that every individual worker and all citizens be their contribution great or small deserved all praise as everyone had shown that they saw the need of the drive and had put into it their very best effort. One instance of a widower who only had a dime to give which had been given to him at Christmas and was all he had exemplified the spirit of the people in their giving. It was deemed advisable not to make known the exact amount realized from Summerside canvass until the country districts had reported for Prince County as a whole.

At the conclusion of the reports, Mr. P. G. Clark, chairman of the county, campaign, spoke briefly thanking one and all for their hearty and generous support.

Mr. Heath Strong in a few remarks spoke with high praise of the efforts put forth by citizens generally to make the campaign such a success. In closing Mr. Strong moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Clark, chairman for the county and Mr. C. B. Morris, vice-chairman, Mr. W. A. Currie, town chairman, and to Mr. Hugh F. Morrison, Secretary and Mr. W. Bruce Treasurer for the way in which they had put the campaign over. The motion was seconded by Mr. Donald Baker and heartily supported by other speakers. Mr. Henry Noonan moved a vote of thanks to the I.O.D.E., which was seconded by Mayor Campbell and supported by Mr. J. M. Nicholson.

Mr. Hugh F. Morrison and Mr. J. E. Dalton gave short addresses on the splendid response of all classes of citizens to the appeal and the excellent manner in which the campaign had been arranged, also paying tribute to the workers who went at their business with such good will and energy that the canvass is about completed. There was a lively singsong conducted by Mr. George Bowness with Mr. Huestis at the piano.

The meeting closed with three cheers and a "tiger" for the officials and workers. Followed by the National Anthem. —S.

Doctor regrets 'Lurid' story On epidemic

HALIFAX, March 26—(CP)—Dr. J. H. Mueller, who headed a Harvard University medical group that studied epidemics here, expressed regret tonight for "lurid newspaper stories which have originated recently in Boston" in connection with the group's report.

(A special Boston dispatch to the New York Times Sunday said the medical mission had found Halifax a "hellhole of infection." This and other statements in the story were denied by medical authorities here.)

Dr. Mueller, in a statement, said he wished "to take this opportunity to apologize publicly to Canadians in general for having been concerned, even indirectly, in making possible the publication of such a story."

"The facts in connection with our activities were embodied in a written report intended primarily for the Harvard authorities and our own records," his statement said.

"These facts were essentially those discussed with a representative of The Canadian Press in the presence of Dr. A. R. Morton (Halifax Medical Health Officer) and Dr. D. J. Mackenzie (Director of the Nova Scotia Public Health Laboratory) before we left Halifax, and a brief story of this interview appeared in the Halifax papers of Feb. 27.

"The report itself is long and somewhat technical. It contains none of the statements, even by implication, which have rendered the American newspaper story so offensive both to ourselves and to Canadians.

"These reportorial embellishments, totally unforseen by the writer (Dr. Mueller), in complying with the request of a press representative for an account of our activities, are most highly objectionable and regrettable."

The Harvard doctor, who came here from Boston after the story was published, reached Halifax last night. He conferred today with Dr. Morton and Hon. Dr. F. R. Davis, Nova Scotia Minister of Health, before issuing the statement.

He indicated he would be in the city a few days before returning home.

"I was just as hard hit as anyone by this," he told newsmen in an interview, "and I hurried to Halifax as soon as possible to try to set matters right."

Dr. Mueller quoted from the concluding paragraph of his group's report, which he said "formed the basis for this episode."

"To sum up, it can safely be said that each of us profited considerably from our experience. It seems essential that the research worker and teacher in bacteriology should occasionally get out into the field, try out and appraise the more recent developments in diagnosis and control, and in this way bring first hand information on these matters to direct his thinking and teaching.

"Our contributions to the Halifax situation have already been indicated. The most important of these, is perhaps the stimulation of the diphtheria imminization campaign and, I believe no less important, the assurance we were able to give the Halifax authorities of goodwill and cooperation in emergencies.

"On more than one occasion, reference was made to the help sent by Boston at the time of the 1917 explosion, and while this present expediton was in no way comparable, it has undoubtedly had some effect in continuing the good-will and promoting friendly relations between ourselves and the Nova Scotians."

Famous 'Kilties' Regiment back On war duty

(By J. Norman Lodge, Associated Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, March 26 — (AP)— Depleted in the retreat from France last June, the famed Scottish Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) has been re-formed and is on war duty as a regiment of the 51st Highlanders division.

The black-tartaned "Ladies from Hell" for more than 200 years have helped to make history; wherever Britons have fought, there usually has been at least one battalion of the Highlanders.

Where they will fight next they don't know, but as an officer said, "fight it'll be, laddies, with such a bonnie lass as Queen." (Her Majesty is Colonel-in-Chief of the regiment.)

Theirs is the only regiment of the army allowed to wear the red hackle of courage. The hackle—a tuft of red feathers that dangles from the tam-o-shanter—was won against the French in 1795. French cavalry overwhelmed the red-coated regulars, captured two of their cannon, and turned them on the British troops.

Only the Highlanders' lines held. The red hackle was made their official decoration by a war office memorandum of 1822.

Organized in 1729, the regiment has fought from Africa to Flanders and from India to North Africa.

The Watch suffered heavy casualties in covering the British retreat from France last spring, only a few hundred of the kilties escaping to form the nucleus of the present regiment.

Other regiments in the present 51st division are the Seaforths, Argyll and Sutherlands, the Camerons and the Gordons.

SAY NEVER AGAIN TO WEARING VEIL

AJMER, India, March 25 —(CP)— Five thousand Indian women attending a women's conference here took off their veils in public and resolved never to wear them again.

The gesture occurred after denunciation of purdah, compulsory wearing of the veil by Mrs. Satyavati Rajput, president of the conference. She condemned purdah a "pernicious custom subtly invented by man to keep women in perpetual domestic slavery and drudgery."

Purdah" was once generally observed in North India, but is rapidly disappearing, except among orthodox Moslem women.

Elmsdale and Vicinity

Mrs. Everett Rix is at present in Halifax visiting her husband who is a member of the R. C. A. F.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil MacNeill spent the week end in Coleman, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Elliot.

Sincere sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wallace, Cascumpec, in the death last week of their infant son.

The death occurred at his home on March 18th, of Mr. John Henderson at the age of seventy-five years. Although he had been in ailing health for some time, his death was a shock to his family and friends. Of a quiet unassuming disposition the deceased was a man of sterling qualities. Sympathy of a host of friends is extended to his widow and three sons, Irving, Thomas and Robert and to his two daughters living in Boston. His funeral took place on March 20th to Elmsdale United Church, Rev. W. A. Paterson officiating at the service. The following acted as pall bearers: Messrs. George Barnett, James O'Brien, Frank McKenna, John P. Wallace, Benjamin Smith and Henry Williams.

Many "Play" enthusiasts attended the St. Patrick's play at Alberton on Monday, and all are loud in their praise of the splendid entertainment furnished by the cast. Congratulations!

Mrs. Ronald McKenna has had as her guest over the week-end, her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Cameron, Tignish.

An enjoyable evening was spent on Thursday, March 20th, when the Elmsdale Women's Institute sponsored an entertainment in Elmsdale Hall, in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their organization. Rev. W. A. Paterson acted as chairman and in his own capable manner explained the purpose of this gathering and congratulated the women of Elmsdale Institute for their achievements in their fifteen years and their co-operation and good will. Mrs. Bruce Currie, the first President was called upon and in a neat speech gave an outline of the activities of this Institute, and supported the statement that Rev. Mr. Paterson had made that there had never been a quarrel in all those years. After the programme a delicious lunch was served by the ladies to the large number present. Following is the programme: Recitation, Miss Shirley Adams. Solo, Mr. Douglas Paterson. Solo, Mr. Jacob Murray. Recitation, Miss Kathleen Williams. Duet, Misses Roberta Adams and Rita O'Brien. Duet, by Mrs. W. A. Paterson and Mr. Jacob Murray National Anthem. Mrs. Hazel Cameron was the musician for the evening.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Murray on the arrival at their home on March 16th of a son.

Mr. Charles Rix of the R. C. A. F. Halifax, has returned to his duties after spending a week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Colin Rix.—E.

Hatching Eggs

Eggs which are to be used for home incubation should be sorted out at any convenient time after they have been resting for a few hours in the gathering baskets. Store on racks or tables, or in cases, so that the hatching eggs lie on their sides, and so that they may be turned every day until placed in the machine, or sold. Adopt a minimum egg size for incubation purposes of not less than 24 ounces to the dozen (the writer prefers to use a minimum of 26 ounces). An individual egg scale is a most useful and inexpensive part of the equipment of the farm egg room. Do not save for hatching, eggs which are off-shape, or peculiar in form, size, etc.

Plan hatches or sales so that hatching eggs may be incubated at least every two weeks, for better hatchability follows the use of fresh eggs for incubation purposes.

The poultry flock from which table eggs only are produced should not be furnished with male birds, for infertile eggs are best for table purposes. As soon as the breeding season is finished the male bird should be removed from the hen flock and all eggs produced between breeding seasons will then be infertile.

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—(CP) — Bears have been classed as game animals in Wyoming this year — open seasons April 1 to June 16, Sept. 15 to Nov. 15.

Tells of growth Of Canada's Armed forces

Following is the first of a Canadian Press series on Canada's expanding armed forces.

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Military Correspondent

OTTAWA, March 26. — (CP) — Canada, with a peacetime strength of less than 100,000 men in the active and reserve formations of the army, navy, and air force, will have more than 500,000 all ranks either under arms or partially trained by the end of the present year.

This moulding of a powerful overseas and home defence force has been a quiet, progressive development.

Unlike the expeditionary force of approximately 620,000 men enlisted during the four years of the first Great War, Canada's modern military organization has been built up without the aid of high-pressure recruiting campaigns.

Up to the present the voluntary response has been sufficient to meet the needs of active forces and measures have already been introduced to strengthen and consolidate the reserves.

Hum With Activity

Throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, training camps where the essential manpower is being turned out for the three branches of the services are throbbing with activity.

Troops already brought to a high pitch of proficiency are either awaiting the signal which will take them to an active theatre of war or are standing guard in home defence areas. Thousands more have undergone elementary courses of training or will be called up some time during the year under the compulsory military training plan.

A steady stream of young airmen is beginning to flow from British Commonwealth Air Training schools and reinforcements for Canada's growing navy are being marshalled in every province.

Meanwhile, the Dominion's industries are being geared to meet the ever-increasing demands of this vast war program which will entail an expenditure in excess of $1,300,000,000 during the fiscal year 1941-42. Already millions more have been expended.

In a recent speech announcing Canada's accelerated war effort, Prime Minister Mackenzie King warned that Germany was preparing to unleash a series of blows of unprecedented violence against the British Empire.

"Total war," he said, "will be waged in all its fury. There is only one way to meet total war. That is by total effort until victory has been won."

At the same time the Prime Minister disclosed that further contingents would be dispatched overseas during 1941 to augment the Canadian corps under command of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton. With the arrival of these forces it is estimated the Dominion's overseas fighting strength will be boosted beyond the 100,000 mark.

The stepped-up war program also provided for expansion of the empire training plan by the addition of approximately 36,000 men before the end of the present year.

Upwards of 25,000 airmen are expected to be turned out annually once the scheme is operating at full capacity. That stage, reliable sources say, is not far off.

The Canadian navy, which at the outbreak of the war, comprised 15 ships and a personnel of 1,774, is scheduled to be increased to 413 ships and 26,920 men by March 31, 1942.

To meet the needs of expansion in the armed services, thousands of men have been entering training centres scattered across the Dominion.

Although the actual number of recruits being trained for active service has not been revealed, camp accommodation is available for more than 200,000 men Additional billets could be found immediately if an emergency arose.

Some of this accommodation will be used by men called up under the four-month compulsory training scheme. The first class summoned to camps embraced less than 5,000 men in the 21-year-age group, but provision has been made for a turnout of upwards of 60,000 men in the 12 months from March 20. It has been announced between 40,000 and 80,000 active army recruits will also be required this year to replace troops being sent overseas.

Partial training has also been given to more than 80,000 men between the ages of 21 and 25 called up under the original 30-day training plan.

Among the reserve army formations, whose strength according to latest returns is just under 200,000, a general weeding-out process is under way.

Orders recently went out to commanding officers of reserve units advising them to get ready for a possible emergency. As a result most of these formations are being reorganized on a footing where they can be dispatched on active service, if needed or employed on home defence duties.

port of Petsamo normally pass near Iceland through the area now declared within the blockade zone.

The American export-import bank on y last week granted a $7,000,000 loan to Finland, essentially for foodstuffs.

One source, in explaining the problem, said British navicerts permitted supplies to pass through the British blockade to Finland, but did not protect Finnish ships from German submarines.

The German move brought into question the exact eastern limits of the western hemisphere and the traditional American policy of defending the area of the world.

Whether the blockade zone actually cut into the western hemisphere was uncertain because the hemisphere limits in that area are not clearly defined.

SPECULATE ON

Gen. Francisco Franco would prefer a totalitarian victory. Some believe he is waiting to see if Britain will definitely falter before throwing in his lot with the Nazis.

Hitler may dangle French Morocco as bait for Spanish concessions. There is an increasing infiltration of German technicians in Morocco, and if the Germans permitted Spain to snatch a piece of the country Vichy could do little to oppose the move.

Such a move is considered more likely than an invasion of Britain, which Hitler still may consider too tremendous a risk for the present.

Yugoslavia's fear of German power is regarded here as the main reason for that country's folding. Undoubtedly the Yugoslavs compared their position to that of Rumania and Bulgaria and the fate of other countries which resisted and concluded that it does not pay to fight.

Critics of British diplomacy contended the Royal Air Force should have bombed German troops concentrating in Rumania before the Balkan march got under way. But it is understood that the Greeks opposed such a move. The planes would have had to take off from Greece and this would have exposed the country to a German onslaught while still battling t Italians.

In the meantime Britain is see ing to rally dissident Yugosl elements by pointing out ov radio the folly of the governmen action. It is difficult to say wh ther a revolt is possible since the has been no sign of a power leader for it. The British Broa casting Corporation is stepping its Serb-Croatian broadcast peri to three hours daily.
