NAPOLEON'S MAXIMS

The following are some of Napoleon's maxims, taken from H. A. L. Fisher's "Napoleon."
"Unity of command is a first necessity of war."
"Love is the occupation of the idle man, the distraction of the warrior, the stumbling block of the sovereign."
"The first quality of a commander-in-chief is a cool head."
"He lies too much. One may very well lie sometimes, but always is too much."
"A great captain ought to say to himself several times a day: 'if the enemy appear on my front, my right or my left, what should I do?' If he finds himself embarrassed, he is ill posted."

Following an Army
The track of an army over any country is disgusting; the dirt of it is hopeless. Even the odd places where a few trains stop in war time, become unclean. When an army tramps it leaves a dirty mark for each way on the right and left of it.

WHOLE BODY A SOLID RASH

Thick, Fine and Red. Agony of Itching and Burning Frightful. One Cake of Cuticura Soap and Box of Cuticura Ointment Cured.

Lower Goslow, N. S.—"At first we thought my child's trouble was his teeth. The whole body was a solid rash and at the arm pits and elbows and thighs the skin came off as if he had been scalded. It was a very thick fine rash, red in color and intensely itchy and burning. The skin just wiped off leaving a raw sore with little specks of yellow matter in them. The skin on every finger split down on each side and looked like a ruffie. His toes broke out in little yellow pimples and the bottom of his feet did the same and he would say he could not walk, that there were pins sticking in his feet."

"The agony of itching and burning was something frightful. If he got a chance he would scratch his skin right off and make a sore, but to prevent that I made mittens for him out of cotton. Every night from twelve o'clock until three in the morning he would have to be taken up out of bed and rocked, his sufferings were so bad."
"With no permanent cure in sight I got the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first night the child slept the whole night through, the first night for four months. I am thankful to say the cure was complete and I just got one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Samuel Higgins, May 17, 1913.
Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold everywhere. For liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

ANTWERP'S HISTORY

Fortified City Once Most Populous in Continental Europe
Antwerp has always been regarded as Belgium's principal fortified stronghold. Although sixty miles from the sea it is still one of the greatest sea ports of Europe, because the broad and deep Scheldt river gives it an excellent outlet. Its population is almost entirely Flemish. Under Emperor Charles V. it is said to have been the most populous city of Continental Europe.

In the middle of the sixteenth century its population was 150,000. The great fairs held then attracted the great merchants of the world. Under the Spanish regime it declined and in 20 years fell to a population of 55,000. The treaty of Westphalia closed the Scheldt to Spanish vessels and it was not opened until the French did so in 1794. Napoleon undertook to revivify it, but it was surrendered to the English in 1814. It began to grow again but was almost ruined in the military operations of 1830 and thereafter.

Netherlands retained the right to levy navigation dues on the Scheldt, which laid a heavy hand on Antwerp until 1863, when the levy was commuted by the payment of about $7,000,000. The fortifications were built to serve as the rallying ground for the Belgian army in case it was overpowered in the field by a superior force.

The Tribute

Not by the valor of Belgium, nor the lightning sabre of France, Not by the thunder of Britain's fleet, and the Boer's unchecked advance, Not by these fears, Lord Kaiser, tho' they shatter a tyrant's lust, Is your heart, most darkly troubled, and your soul brought down to the dust.

But by the great affirming of the lands we have knit as one; By the love, by the passionate loyal love, of each separate free-born son, Canada cries "We are coming!" and Australia "We come!" And you scowl that no Boer is rising at the beat of your German drum.

And the sons of Ind bear witness— We have grumbled, but now no more; We have shared your plentiful righteous Peace, we will share your righteous War. Trust us to guard your honor, one with yours is our breath; You have dealt us an even justice, we are yours to the gates of Death.

Here in these rain-swept islands where we fought for the things of peace, Where we quarrelled and stormed in factions, at a stroke all factions cease
And there in the vast dominions, more free than your Prussian lords, The women are shouting for England and the men are drawing their swords.

—By Harold Regbie—In the London Daily Chronicle.

Peace Advocate's Mistake

Political economists have lost much ammunition, many of their guns will have to be recast before again they can fire this charge which is taken from a popular work of a British authority:
"It is commerce which is rapidly rendering war obsolete, by strengthening and multiplying interests which are in natural opposition to it. And it may be said without exaggeration, that the great extent and rapid increase of international trade, in being the principal guarantee of the peace of the world, is the great permanent security for the uninterrupted progress of the ideas, the institutions and the character of the human race."
—Monetary Times.

Iron Wedding Rings

It is estimated that nearly half the Viennese aristocracy has given up the golden wedding ring. In exchange the person making the sacrifice secures an iron ring bearing the inscription: "Gold I give for iron."

Polishing up on History

Librarians in Canada report that the war caused a great rush for books bearing on the history of the countries in the war zone.
