Passes Without Formal Vote

Justice Minister Is Final Speaker As House Debates New Security Set-Up

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—The Commons today unanimously voted to ratify the United Nations charter. The ratifying resolution passed without a formal vote. There were no dissenting voices raised and general applause broke out as Speaker Caspar Patteux declared it carried.

Justice Minister St. Laurent finished the debate by declaring his belief that "the great majority, if not the unanimity of the people with Canada to be a member of this United Nations organization and to do whatever may be required to be a full partner."

Finishing the charter through the house was Mr. St. Laurent's first big parliamentary job in his capacity as acting Secretary of State for External Affairs, representing Prime Minister Mackenzie King who is in London.

He was one of the two signers of the charter for Canada and supporting him in the House were two other delegates to the San Francisco conference, Gordon Graydon (P.O.-Fed) and M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader.

Earlier in the debate Allister Stewart (COP-Winnipeg North) appealed that Palestine be opened to the Jews and Fred Rose (Liberal-Camden) said some people were talking as though Russia rather than Germany and Japan was the world's enemy.

Some members of the Commons had said as much in recent speeches. Mr. John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) said there could be no peace until there was freedom from fear and there could be no freedom from fear as long as atomic bombs were uncontrolled.

The atomic bomb was undreamed of by many of the statesmen who assisted in the framing of the charter at San Francisco where he had gone as an observer. Now the people of the world feared there would be an abuse of atomic energy.

Stresses Necessity Of Return To Saner Financial Policies

First Opposition Speaker Heard In House Of Commons Debate On Ilsey Budget

MR. J. M. MACDONNELL

Ont. Girl Student Is Found Strangled

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 19.—(CP)—Body of Theresa Decourcy, 18-year-old technical school student, was found this morning near the South Ste. Marie technical school. Police said she had been strangled.

Investigation revealed evidence of a scuffle along gravel bordering some side tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway near where the body was found and police said there also was evidence she had been slain by a sex maniac.

By FRANK WLAHERTY
OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(CP)—An ill-timed tax cut and failure to relieve low income tax payers and failure to curtail extravagant expenditures were main points of criticism directed at the Government today by J. M. MacDonnell, chief financial critic for the Progressive Conservative party.

Leading off in the budget debate, traditionally one of the major debates of every parliamentary session, MacDonnell, member for Muskoka-Ontario, moved an amendment to Finance Minister Ilsey's motion to put the House into committee on the budget resolutions. The amendment has the effect of a vote of confidence motion.

The amendment would declare the House's regret that:

1. No effective plan has been proposed to ensure full production and employment.

2. No satisfactory policy has been announced for the elimination of extravagant governmental expenditures which have been made for the immediate relief of the people in the face of excessive taxation.

After Mr. MacDonnell finished his speech the budget debate was adjourned by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and the House turned to adoption of the United Nations charter drawn up at San Francisco.

The budget unsatisfactory in the information it provided, in particular it failed to show when and what it would be eliminated and what were bound to continue so that the House could know when Canada was to begin to pay for its share of the world's debt.

French People Vote On Sunday

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(CP Cable)—A dozen political persons will donate the party field in the French general election campaign which comes to an end with voting Sunday.

Probably the most powerful party spokesman is Leon Blum, chief of the Socialist Party which is expected to win the largest number of seats in the new assembly. Although 73 M. Blum is taking an active part in the campaign, making speeches and writing front-page editorials daily in his newspaper, Le Populaire.

Gen. de Gaulle, head of the French provisional government, which has no party and apart from a broad speech this week has taken no direct part in the campaign.

Waiting at the airport for him were his mother, Mrs. Ronald MacGillivray, of Spring Street, Charlottetown, and his brother, Alec. When the hero stepped off the plane he walked into the arms of his mother and brother. He was shortly after his release from hospital.

Charlie does not talk much of his exploit, but the fact that he won his country's equivalent to our Victoria Cross tells its own story. He got it for wounding a series of German machine gun nests singlehanded, killing 79 S.E. troops and wounding 100. He was arm shattered by 22 bullets. Following the presentation of the Congressional Medal of Honor to him by President Truman in the White House last August he was asked for some comment on his heroic action. His only remark symbolized the philosophy of all heroes when he remarked simply, "I guess we all want to do something decent."

Glad To Assist
Back in civvies again, Charlie is now employed in Boston where a grateful city government has provided employment for its one-armed hero. He expressed himself as delighted to be back in the Victory Loan because he knows what service men of all countries need. He only remark is important to all the people, not only to themselves, and that they will need help in getting back to the life they once knew.

MacGillivray will speak at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Charlottetown Hotel on the opening day of the 9th Victory Loan campaign next Monday. He will also speak at the ceremony for the unveiling of the plaque symbolizing the pledge of the people of this Province to do their part in rehabilitating our warriors. This latter ceremony will be held under the Welcome Home arch being constructed on Grafton Street at Queen Street at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Public address system will permit those witnessing the ceremony to hear him clearly.

Attractive Flag Design To Be Submitted From Summerside Businessman

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Maritimes have declared themselves in on what has become Canada's favorite indoor sport—the designing of a new Canadian flag which King, who has promised this session together with an exact definition of what is a citizen of this Dominion.

Some 400 designs for the flag have come, mail, parcel post and by personal messenger to the West Block offices of State Secretary Paul Martin.

And among the top-notch flag-designers is Mr. J. W. Holman of Summerside, Prince Edward Island, a leading Canadian designer of flags and a director of the Bank of Canada.

He has sent his design to J. W. McLaughlin, the Liberal member for Prince, who will place it before a provincial parliamentary commission to be set up for the purpose of finding a flag of distinction for Canada.

Striking Design
Mr. Holman's flag has the Union Jack in the upper left-hand corner, with the whole bordered in a thin line of blue.

On a white field four blue bars run diagonally from upper right to lower left, and set on them is a white circle, bordered in blue, in the centre of which is a red maple leaf. The design has a very striking appearance, compelling to the eye.

The 400 other designs lack neither for color or variety. One of the most striking comes from a woman in Toronto. She has placed the Jack in the usual place at the upper left, and the flag carries a sickly purple field, sitting smack-dab in the centre of this field is an orange circle, from the centre of which glares a wide starting sunburst.

Majority of the flags carry the Jack in the upper left, but the variety of substitutions for the Canadian Coat of Arms of the flag is immense.

They run all the way from even rows of golden ripe wheat on a field of green to rows of British Columbia firs on a field of yellow. One flag designer ransacked black buffaloes on a field of white in much the same fashion as the stars are distributed in the upper left of the American flag.

Prince Edward Island's entry from Summerside, looks like a good bet.

N. S. Election Campaign Heads Down Homestretch

HALIFAX, Oct. 19.—(CP)—The Nova Scotia election campaign, comparatively quiet so far, quickened in tempo today with a heated clash over the wartime closing of the Acadia sugar refinery at nearby Dartmouth.

The flare-up came as the field headed down the homestretch for the election next Tuesday, Oct. 23. Two Halifax C.C.F. candidates, provincial organizer Fred Young and Omnd. R. B. Mitchell, R.C. N.R., last night charged that the refinery would not reopen if the present Liberal Government were returned to power.

Mr. Young said that the machinery from the plant had been removed, and Omnd. Mitchell said the C.C.F. files contained a letter from a mapy who said he helped smash the machinery.

Tonight, Industries Minister Har, old Connolly replied to the charge with a press statement which said the machinery and equipment was intact and that "maintenance men are now working on the equipment in order that it may be put into operation as soon as the sugar controller permits."
