DO INSECTS USE WIRELESS?
An English scientist is conducting some amazing experiments at the present time in an effort to receive wireless messages from moths and other insects.

TRAINING VESSELS TO TALK AT SEA.
One of the interesting duties of a certain section of His Majesty's Navy is the training of ships at sea in signalling. This applies to all grades of vessels, from the tramp steamer to the ocean liner, as all vessels must be able to talk at sea.

-Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Arbuckle, of Vancouver, are spending a few days in Summerside.
-Dr. and Mrs. Harry Allen, Summerside, have returned from Boston, where they were on a visit.

chant vessel shall be able to signal fluently and quickly. That is where her tutor comes in. There is nothing about signalling that the Navy does not know, and she is equally thorough in imparting that knowledge to others.

In a few lessons a tramp steamer picks up quite a number of excellent hints, and that without delaying her voyage one bit. In time of war warships look to tramp steamers to give them useful information on many points. This is only possible by long-distance signalling.

Ships always use flags when speaking. Most of them carry wireless, of course, but this is not generally used for ordinary intercourse. Many ships have no installation and must fall back on the flags of the international code.

At night they signal by means of lamps. The Morse code is used then, and this is an even more difficult form of communication. Although merchant sailors may never attain the proficiency of warship sailors in signalling, they are able to learn quite a bit from their big grey schoolmasters out there on the lonely sea-lanes where all is quiet.

Small washable cotton rug adds to the comfort of the kitchen and take away the coldness of the linoleum.

CIRCUS PERFORMERS KILLED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—Three persons dead, four seriously injured and two slightly hurt, was the toll of the rear-end collision early today of the fast Sunset Express, New Orleans-San Francisco Southern Pacific passenger train, and a Sells-Floto Circus special en route from New Orleans to New Iberia, La. The dead and injured were circus performers. The locomotive of the passenger train ploughed through two of the sleepers on the rear end of the circus train before it was brought to a standstill, and the sleeping performers were hurled from their berths by the impact.

SCHOOL FAIR

CHARLETON SCHOOL FAIR

One of the most pleasant outings of the season took place at Charleton Village on September 22nd when the School Fair of the surrounding districts took place. The day was ideal and the visitors came from all parts of the country to enjoy the sports, etc. Great credit it was due the teachers the way they arranged the exhibits which was displayed in the spacious rink. The children made a grand showing of exhibits almost equal to an exhibition. The boys and girls were delighted to have with them their Inspector Mr. Brewer Auld as he carried out the sports in his usual pleasing manner that it all helped to make it a day long to be remembered by both young and old.

Drink Water Often If Kidneys Bother

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles

Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.
"Drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
