Opening Of The Local Football Season Today

Old Rivals, Abegweits And St. Dunstons Will Clash At Abegweit Grounds This Afternoon.

The first football game of the season takes place this afternoon at 3.30 when the Abegweits clash in an exhibition tussle with their old-time foes, St. Dunstan's. The latter have been practicing conscientiously, and are a pretty snappy team on the field. The Abegweits have some splendid material which should show its wares to good effect this afternoon. There should be a large attendance at this opening game to encourage the boys to greater things in sport.

A Boy Scout's Diary Of The Great Jamboree

By Scout Will R. Burnett.

July 13.
This morning I was up at half-past six, and got initiated into the art of cooking in earnest. After breakfast and clean up, we were at liberty to get about and mix with the other fellows. I got in touch with Dick and Bob, and compared notes. They are good mixers, and are already quite at home with their new chums. I started getting better acquainted and soon found our platoon was a fine bunch, full of fun and good comradeship. John McLean, Patrol Leader, is a particularly fine fellow, and we have chummed up. Only he can't stand being called a "Blue Nose," which I have dubbed him. He complained today to the rest of the Patrol that he was a "Spud," while I was only a "Scotty." We continued to practice the different stunts in the forenoon. In the afternoons we had leave to do some sight-seeing, when we went over the principal parts of the city on foot. In the evening we were again in singing session, and have already made remarkable progress. We made the "rafters resound" with our voices and everybody seemed pleased. Our camp paper: "The Canadian Jamboree Scout" announced today its first issue: "Do you know: That Prince Edward Island has three of its foxes in camp. (N.B.—They're neither silver nor black, but bronze.)"

July 14
Sunday morning. We were all up in good time, had breakfast over and a clean-up by nine o'clock as we were told there was to be church parade, our first march out in our new Jamboree uniforms. We paraded at 10.15, and were on the march at 10.30. It was arranged that the Scouts belonging to the different churches would drop off at the church of their denomination was reached. As luck would have it all our platoon are Presbyterians and we had the farthest to walk. We were wearing our new shoes for the first time, so the march was anything but agreeable, and John McLean said if he had known how far it was to the Kirk, he would have claimed to have been a Catholic for once. However, we had a good rest in the church, and a fine service, the minister making reference to the presence of the Scouts and praising our organization and its founder, Baden Powell. In the afternoon we were off duty, and were taken for a bus ride all around the city. We crossed the bridge and entered Hull, in Quebec, the manufacturing centre for Ottawa which is largely residential. We were taken out to Rockcliffe, a growing suburb. We also visited the Museum, one of the most interesting sights of the day. Returning to camp we had sup-

The weather continues fine, and we are enjoying camp life immensely. We are all better acquainted and have talks about our different provinces and cities. We were told today we were to be inspected tomorrow, so we were busy making preparations. The routine of the camp makes it easy for us to pass the time, which never hangs on our hands. We had more singing, and I am beginning to find the tunes familiar. We sing them in tent, and unfortunately tonight we got into trouble through singing when we shouldn't. Official photographers were at work today, and a lot of amateurs were busy. I snapped some, but I don't know how they will turn out. Doc Anderson, who is in charge of the health of the camp, visited us today. He is a fine genial fellow, and we think we will like him. He is going overseas with us.

July 16
We were early afoot today, making preparations for our parade to the Parliament Building to be inspected by the Prime Minister. Our march to the Hill, headed by Commissioner Dr. Robertson and Deputy Commissioner John A. Stiles, attracted a lot of attention, and quite a crowd gathered to see Hon. MacKenzie King inspect us. He is not a tall, stout man, as his picture indicates. He is rather short and dapper looking. He has a pleasant smile, and also a pleasant voice, which could be easily heard by everyone. When we gathered in the Hall of Fame he spoke to us on citizenship, and said: "You are a magnificent lot of boys, and I believe that you are safe in your hands as our representatives, and that you will do Canada proud."

July 17.
We are quickly getting into ship-shape, and not getting much time to grouse, if so inclined. We were taken on a route march this forenoon with full kit. Our new shoes are now more comfortable and not so hard on the feet as they were on Sunday and yesterday. We were inspected this afternoon by the Commissioner, who seemed pleased; and we had more singing practice. You should hear us now, 160 strong, giving vent to our musical voices! In the evening we were the guests of the various moving picture theatres. The pictures I saw were no better than those I see at home on Saturday nights. Tonight I was on guard.

(To be continued.)
On Tuesday evening, Sept. 24, the Women's Institute of Rosebank held a sale of ice cream in their school. Quite a number of people gathered and enjoyed a social time while eating the ever popular ice cream.

Possible Series Heroes

Players not featured in the advance dope frequently prove World Series heroes, whereas, quite often, great stars shine but dimly, if at all. There is a broad psychological explanation for that, i. e., the big stars suffer subconsciously from the strain of great expectations while lesser lights are inspired by the importance of the occasion to play far above their average ability.

This year "The Sport Bug" has a hunch that John Pius Quinn of the Athletics, oldest of all active big league pitchers, may shine brilliantly, if the Cubs treat Mack's great southpaw roughly and it becomes necessary to depend on right-hand hurling.

Quinn has pitched several excellent games this season, he has not been over-worked, and his ancient wing should be in excellent shape for series service.

With the Cubs, most attention seems to center on Hornsby, "Hack" Wilson and Cuyler, but it would not surprise many if Riggs Stephenson, for example, arose to great heights during the games that start at Chicago Tuesday. On his "big days," Stephenson plays like a combination of Cobb and Ruth.

Then there is the former Giant brilliant, "Art" Nehf, now a bit aged, but who has had much experience in former World Series. Suppose the

Showing Up Well In American Rings

North Sydney Battler, Jack McKenna, Is Meeting The Best In The Middleweight Class.

NORTH SYDNEY, Oct. 4.—While the boxing game in Nova Scotia is experiencing one of the worst slumps in its history Jack McKenna who is one of the most outstanding products of the ring in this province by the sea is meeting the world's best in his class in the United States.

Since his return to Eddie Mead's camp a few months ago he has met Henry Fripo, Jack Dillon, Bobby O'Hara, Johnny Burns and a number of others. He was matched with Dave Shade a couple of weeks ago, but the bout fell through for some reason or other. McKenna was also scheduled to meet Cowboy Ray Dula in another bout but Dula became ill and scrap was also called off.

In several of his fights McKenna has been the victim of raw deals from the judges and referees. In his fight with Johnny Burns, who by the way is ranked sixth among the middleweights of the world and generally looked upon in Chicago as the coming champion, he put the Californian to the floor several times though he did not get the decision.

Of his fight with Bobby O'Hara a few weeks ago that well known writer of boxing comment, Lou Diamond says "Bobby O'Hara, youthful southpaw 150 pounder held the veteran Jack McKenna, of Toronto to an eight round draw in the wind-up at the Logan Square bowl last night. Al-

SELECTION TO BE MADE AFTER SERIES

Veteran Star Has Nothing to Say; Well Known in N. B.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Eddie Collins, former pilot of the Chicago White Sox and present first lieutenant of Connie Mack's will be named manager of the New York Yankees shortly after the close of the World's Series, according to an authentic report in circulation here.

Collins, recognized as one of the shrewdest men in baseball, is the choice of Col. Jacob Ruppert, multi-millionaire owner of the Yankees, to succeed the late Miller Huggins. Last night Collins and Ruppert are said to have held a lengthy conversation over the long-distance telephone.

The erstwhile White Sox pilot refused to talk on the subject when reached at his residence in the suburbs this morning.

"I have nothing to say at the present time," declared Collins. "Right now my only interest is in helping the Athletics win the series from the Cubs."

Ruppert and Collins, it is said, have made a date for a conference in New York on Saturday morning. The Athletics and Yankees are scheduled for a two-game series in Gotham Saturday and Sunday. The New York magnate has been a great admirer of Collins for many years.

Connie Mack's comment on the report was:

"If Collins can better himself, I will be one of the first to help him do so. He has been a faithful servant to the Athletics, and if he is wanted by the Yankees we will not stand in his road, although I have heard nothing about the matter as yet. If it is to benefit Eddie, he can have his release today."

GEORGIAN PEACH IN 1930 BALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Ty Cobb will return to the baseball wars next season after a year's vacation from the game. Home again after a summer in Europe with his family, the great Georgian announced yesterday that he had been approached with offers from major league clubs, both executive and managerial. He will never play again, however.

"The executive end of the game has the most appeal to me now," said Cobb. "I am not ready to say that I would not manage a club again, although of course, I shall never play again."

The greatest player of his generation did not care to say whether the suggestions as to his return came from American or National League clubs.

Abegweits Lose To Yarmouth 7-1

Connors Hurls Heroic Game Getting Eleven Strike-Outs To Nine Credited To Bain —"Pump" Bolger And McInnis Brilliant—Abegweits Still Confident Of Coming Through.

(Special to the Guardian)
YARMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 4.—Scoring four runs in the sixth inning, Yarmouth defeated the Charlottetown Abegweits seven to one here this afternoon in the third game of the series to determine the amateur baseball championship of the Maritime Provinces.

Connors and Bain were the opposing pitchers, Francis and White catching. Connors had eleven strike-outs against nine for Bain.

A loose game by the Abegweits in the sixth inning accounted for the four runs scored by Yarmouth during this period.

A large crowd witnessed the contest, which was favored by clearing weather. In the first inning, McCarey, of Charlottetown, struck out Amrault, caught McInnis' fly to left field. McCarey took his base on a pitched ball and Bolger reached first, after hitting a slow grounder to the pitcher. McCarey was caught stealing third.

When Yarmouth came up, Veno went out on a foul caught by McInnis. Boyd made first when McInnis fumbled a grounder, and Grimshaw took his base on ball. Then White hit over second, scoring Boyd and Grimshaw. Amrault singled safely to first, but White was caught at second. Horton grounded to McInnis and was out at first. Francis of Charlottetown, was put out via shortstop to first in the second inning and Diamond and McCabe struck out.

For Yarmouth, Goudey and Horton struck out, and Bain was put out from third to first. In the third inning, Charlottetown. Williams struck out, and Connors was given a base on balls, only to be put out at second when McCarey grounded to the pitcher. McInnis singled, but was caught off first and McCarey was out at the plate. Veno struck out in the second half, Boyd was put out, second to first, and Grimshaw struck out. McCarey was put out third to first, in the first half of the fourth, and Bolger singled safely to right field. Francis made first by a grounder. Veno at right field caught Diamond's fly, and McCabe was put out, second to first. For Yarmouth, White struck out, Amrault was out at first and Horton struck out. In the fifth inning, Charlottetown up. Williams, Connors and McCarey were fanned. With Yarmouth at bat, Goudey was put out, Connors to McCarey, Horton struck out, and Bain's drive to centre field was caught by Bolger. McInnis took a base on balls in the beginning of the sixth and McCarey bunted out. Bolger hit to right field, scoring McInnis. Bolger was caught at the plate, after Francis hit a fast grounder to centre field. Diamond went out, White to Horton. In the last half, Veno was put out via Francis to McCarey and Boyd via McCarey to McCarey. Due to a pitcher's error, Grimshaw made first on a high fly. White singled and Amrault's grounder scored Grimshaw. Francis failed to catch Horton's high fly and White and Amrault scored. Goudey's two bagger scored H. Horton and D. Horton struck out.

In the seventh inning, McCabe was put out, Bain to Horton. Williams struck out, Connors singled and McCarey repeated. McInnis flied to centre field.
