

Propose Duke As Next Governor-General

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) REGINA, Dec. 16—The Kinsmen Club of Regina considered tonight a proposal to have former King Edward appointed Canada's next Governor-General. A motion left over for members' consideration would, if adopted lead to the British Government being asked to make the appointment.

Rebel Bomb Falls In French Territory

PARIS, Dec. 16—(CP-Havas)—A 330-pound dud bomb, dropped by one of four Spanish insurgent planes which bombed the frontier village of Port Bou, fell on French territory today. A French citizen named Verge, who was in the Spanish border settlement on business, was one of two persons wounded by the raiders, who crippled the French-owned railway line but failed to hit a railway bridge they apparently had been ordered to destroy. The incident stirred immediate official action. The Mayor of Cerbere, France, had a barbed wire fence erected around the spot to permit neutral observers to witness that the missile rested on French territory.

U.S. Naval Ship Runs Aground

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—United States Naval Transport Chaumont radioed the Navy Department today it had gone aground in the harbor of Chinwangtao, off the northeast China coast. Although first efforts to refloat the 10,500-ton craft at high water were unsuccessful, the ship apparently had suffered no damage and none of its crew of 250 was injured.

BONES UNEARTHED MYSTERY SOLVED

DUNCAN, B. C., Dec. 16—(CP)—The spirit of this Indian can rest more peacefully now, the bones of its material self at least in a permanent grave. The bones, dug up in the highway by workmen, caused some mystery until Tom Colvin, testifying at a coroner's inquiry, explained their presence. Fifty years ago Tom said, when he was felling a tree to widen the same road, a wooden coffin fell from a limb. It contained the remains of an Indian, which, according to the burial custom of the coast tribe, had been placed there. Believing the bones would not again be disturbed, the workmen had buried them in the road, Tom said.

MARK CENTENARY OF PERFECT WIFE

LONDON, Dec. 16—The luckiest man in the world, and the happiest husband of all time must have been Mr. Beeton, once said Thomas Carlyle. Writing in "Overseas" on the centenary of Mrs. Beeton, "The Perfect Housewife," Charles Bailey says: "For many generations the name of Mrs. Beeton has been a household word in the fullest sense of that much-abused phrase. Yet few of the millions of housewives who have pored over her famous recipes know anything at all about the celebrated woman herself. Mrs. Beeton was no mythical or legendary figure, but a very practical and level-headed young Englishwoman who died rather tragically before she reached the age of 29 and this is the centenary of her birth. Her husband, Samuel Beeton, was a very prosperous publisher; one of his most successful ventures was the publication in England of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." He and his gifted young wife were a very happy couple, and his grief was intense when she died in giving birth to their fourth son in 1855. "Mrs. Beeton's maiden name was Isabella Mayson and her family came from Cumberland, her father at one time having been a popular clergyman in that country. "Isabella was sent to school at Heidelberg, and while there acquired a considerable reputation as a linguist and a musician. She spoke French, German and Italian fluently before she was 17, yet the chief passion of this gifted girl was cooking and household management. When she was 20 she married Samuel Beeton. "It is recorded Mrs. Beeton revolutionized the art of cooking in England just as the "Lady with the Lamp" transformed conditions in the nursing vocation. Proper nursing and cooking are now recognized as the chief enemies of disease and the best preservers of health.

BALDWIN'S ROAD W. I.
The annual meeting of the Baldwin's Road Women's Institute was held in the school room. The meeting opened by roll call, followed by reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting. Cor-respondence was read by the sec-etary and arrangements were made to have a lunch in the school during winter months. Five dollars was voted for Christmas tree funds, and it was decided also that each member contribute some article to the Christmas box for St. Vincent's Orphanage. The minutes of the last annual meeting and the financial statement were then read by the secretary. The state-ment showed a favorable balance. The officers for the coming year are as follows:
President, Mrs. M. P. Corcoran;
vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Cor-coran; secretary, Miss Rita Corcoran, (re-elected); directors, Mrs. Peter Carter, Mrs. Harry Trainor, Mrs. John M. Curran; auditors, Mrs. Thos. Baldwin, Mrs. James Bald-win; school committee, Mrs. Peter McKenna, Mrs. Joseph Cullen.
Mrs. Martin P. Corcoran invited the members to her home for the January meeting where roll call will be answered by "sing, say or pay." The meeting closed by singing "O Canada."

May Preserve Fort MacLeod

MACLEOD, Alta., Dec. 16—(CP)—Demolition of Fort MacLeod, original Royal North West Mounted Police barracks, has brought appeals for the preservation of one of the 15 buildings as a historical museum. Headquarters for the police in Alberta, the barracks were built in 1874 on an island in the Old Man River. They were abandoned in 1921. Buildings that once housed famous officers of the old R.N.W.M.P., now the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, are being dismantled for their lumber. The guard room, which had held many early fur criminals' was sold to a farm-er.

Champion Paddler Quits Paddling

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—Frank Amoyot, blond paddler who is Canada's sole Olympic champion in 1936 and who ran aground on an A. U. of C. reef when he got home, isn't worrying about his amateur status. He's all through with paddling a canoe in competition. Officially, Amoyot's standing is unchallenged but A. U. C. author-ities made no bones about their dis-approval of his accepting a $1,000 gift by Ottawa admirers on his re-turn from Berlin. They took no ac-tion. Amoyot won't paddle any more. He made that plain when, loaded down with honors for his triumph in the Olympics, he started home with his team-mates.

GEORGETOWN W. I.

The annual meeting of the Georgetown Women's Institute was held on Nov. 13th. After the usual routine work was completed the president, Mrs. George Hibbett, gave a very interesting address. At this meeting eleven dollars was voted for the Sanitorium and Tuberculosis League. Mrs. Hibbett appointed a committee to organize a girl's sewing club. The following are the officers for 1937: Mrs. George Hibbett, president (re-elected); Miss Isobel McPhee, vice-president; Mrs. James Hessian, sec. treas.; re-elected; directors, Miss Mary McDonald, (re-elected), Miss Alice Compton, Mrs. N. D. McDonald; auditors, Mrs. L. H. Douglas (re-elected), Mrs. E. B. McLaren, (re-elected). International peace day was observed by a special program. The president stated the object of the program, which is as follows: The object of this program is to increase international thinking, sympathy and understanding with special thought given to the prob-lem of how we, as women may best serve to promote peace. Reading, "Women Lack Interest in World Affairs," by Mrs. W. W. McLaren; recitation, A Friendship Song, by Mrs. L. H. Douglas; read-ing, "The Peace Bridge Ceremony" by Miss Isobel McPhee; recitation "Peace," by Miss Alice Compton; address, The special speaker of the evening was Mrs. John Stirling who gave a very splendid address on "Peace" which shall not soon be forgotten. Discussion on "What we can do in our own community to promote peace" was led by the president. Closing, National Anthem.

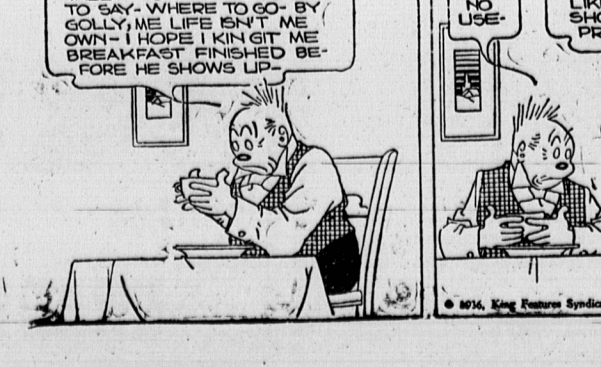

Convicts Paroled For Christmas

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 16—Governor Bibb Graves gave out his Christmas presents today to Alabama's 494 best convicts—two week paroles and a wish for a happy holiday season at home with their families. "I believe they can be trusted," he said. "It means more to a man to know he can be trusted than anything in the world."

BRINGING UP FATHER

Will Continue As The Browns

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16—St. Louis' American League baseball club will continue to be known as the Browns. A committee of seven, named by the new owners to supervise a contest for a new nickname, reported tonight the vote was 4-1 in favor of the name by which the team has been known since it entered the League in 1902.

PROLIFIC DREAM DRAAMA INCLINED

BOSTON, Dec. 16—Louisa M. Alcott had by no means the characteristics of the shy little country mouse with which she has been so often credited, says a writer dealing with a new book about the author of "Little Women." As a matter of fact, in her youthful days she had an ambition to become an actress, and went so far as to study and rehearse and to find herself cast for the playing of minor parts. However, she renounced that ambition, began to write for newspapers, engaged in teaching, and volunteered for nursing during the Civil War, this service resulting in the writing of her "Hospital Sketches," which were really the beginning of her career as an author. Minor work followed, and then at the request of a Boston publisher she wrote "Little Women."

DIED BUILDING ABBEY ORGAN

LONDON—Builder of some of England's finest church organs, Arthur Harrison, 63, died while super-vising construction of the Coro-nation organ in Westminster Abbey. Londoneer by birth he was senior partner of the Durham organ build-ing firm of Harrison and Harrison, established in 1871.

DEATHS FOUR DAYS APART

PINGHER CREEK, Alta.—(CP)— Four days after his father's funeral, Conway Cameron, 35, died following an operation in Lethbridge. The father had driven his son to the station and was returning home when stricken. The son was re-called from Lethbridge, attended the funeral and then returned for the operation. He died in hospi-tal, established in 1871.

TAX ARREARS DOWN

VANCOUVER—(CP)—When Van-couver closes its books for 1936 the first decrease in outstanding tax arrears since 1929 will be noted. Acting City Comptroller Frank Jones has announced Collections of both arrears and current taxes in November grossed more than $300,000 compared with a little more than $200,000 in the same month last year.
