Seed For Spring Planting

Now that the season of the year is approaching when the farmers will be selecting seed for spring planting, our Department would earnestly ask all farmers to secure their seed early.

We have fifteen or sixteen thousand bushels of barley and a corresponding amount of oats made up of different varieties listed with us for sale, so that we are in a position to advise anyone having difficulty in securing their requirements.

In regard to oats our Department would strongly recommend the sowing of Erban oats. It has proven itself to be the best variety grown in the province.

With reference to wheat, we would recommend Coronation. It gives a good yield, the flour is good and it is highly rust-resistant.

W. H. DENNIS, Minister of Agriculture.

SHOTGUN SEIZED.—Yesterday evening an R.C.M.P. game patrol apprehended a man in the act of hunting black ducks on the Hillsboro River, above Mount Stewart. The offender, a resident of Mount Stewart East, threw his shotgun into the river when he saw the game officer closing in. The gun was later "fished" out and taken by the officer of R.C.M.P. headquarters at Charlottetown. The charge will be laid under the Migratory Birds Convention Act, police said last night.

WELCOMED TO CHARLOTTETOWN.—Service men are extending a cordial welcome to Lieut. John D. MacGillivray, M. M. Antigonish, formerly of No. 6 Company, Veteran's Guard, Sydney, who has been transferred to No. 6A Company, Veteran's Guard, Charlottetown, and who arrived here last evening. Lieut. MacGillivray is a brother of Major E. C. MacGillivray, M.C., E.D., senior Chaplain 3rd Canadian Division and of Mr. C. J. MacGillivray, editor of "The Casque", Antigonish.

THEATRE GUILD PROGRAM.—Another packed house greeted the second performance of the Little Theatre Guild of Charlottetown, St. James' Hall last night. The entertainment consisted of two popular comedies, "Good-night, Caroline," and "Carse You, Jack Dalton." The former was directed by Mrs. Frances Holl Trainor, and the latter by Mrs. J. A. Lawson, with script by Mrs. Hazel Henry Lawson. The play entertained the audience with piano music before the first curtain. Specialties by well known Charlottetown artists were heard between plays. These included two solos by Mr. Raoul Raymond, "There'll Always be an England," and "The Navy's Here," solo by Mr. Arthur Bruce, "The Old Refrain" and "Little Mother of Mine"; also two solos by Miss Marguerite Cudmore, "The Kerry Dance" and "Twas a Lover and His Lass." Accompanying Mrs. Raoul Raymond and Mrs. K. S. Rogers.

Peters-Dykens Nuptials

Miss Helen Peters and Mr. Joseph Dykens, both of this city were united in marriage at Paul's Chapel April 22nd by Rev. A. I. Lewis, Rector of St. Paul's Church. The bride was attended by Mrs. Arthur Brown while Mr. Roy Herman was groomsmen. The bride wore a tailored suit with powder blue accessories and a silver fox scarf while the bridesmaid wore a tailored pink stripe suit with white accessories. Both carried bouquets of roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bell where the bride had been a valued employee on the Old Spain staff. The Guardian joins with a host of friends in extending heartfelt congratulations.

ATTENDING HEALTH MEETING.—Dr. B. C. Keeping, Deputy Minister of Public Health, is at present en route to Washington, D. C. where he will attend a meeting of the American Public Health Association. Dr. Keeping will be away from the province for about two weeks.

Roosevelt Says

might travel in comparative safety. It also should ease the burden on the two belligerent navies, permitting them to concentrate more on the European side of the Atlantic where the danger is more acute.

Mr. Roosevelt compared this vast extension of United States patrols—extension anywhere on the seven seas where it is considered necessary to protect this hemisphere—with the scout system employed in the old days for the protection of wagon trains.

The train had a guard around it, but it got its reports from a long way off and didn't wait until the Indians were in sight, but had to know if they were ahead, he explained.

Would the patrol warn other wagon trains, the President was asked. "All kinds of wagon trains, the President replied.

This was interpreted as meaning that the patrols would be necessary for British shipping with warning of the presence of enemy war craft.

Unexplained was the extent to which the plan might help protect British shipping crossing the Atlantic—to carry out the declaration of Navy Secretary Knudsen, but "we cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic" for "we shall be beaten if they do."

(Pittsburgh, Wendell L. Willkie declared that it is time for the administration to "lead instead of follow public opinion." He called on the government to announce details about the gravity of the British shipping situation and to make public a "plan of protection." Asked whether he favored convoys, he said he would favor the method that military and naval experts considered most effective.

(At Sioux Falls, S.D., Senator Burton Wheeler, isolationist, said the President's remarks were "just another trial balloon" to see "if the American people will stand for convoys."

The President's announcement coincided with the release of figures by the United States Commerce Department on the speed with which British allied and neutral ships are being sunk.

The total of these losses since the war began until the end of March was placed at 3,450,000 gross tons, as compared with 7,400 of tons sunk from the time the Germans started unrestricted submarine warfare in February, 1917, until the end of the first Great War.

The reaction on Capitol Hill to the President's announcement on the extended patrol and his negative reply to a question on whether the administration had any ideas of using convoys was along the usual lines.

For the most part, congressional supporters of the administration's foreign policy voiced approval while criticism came from those quarters which have been demanding non-intervention.

In Memoriam

THOMAS BERTRAM

On February 26, 1941, Mr. Thomas Bertram passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Wigmore, Pleasant Valley. He was born at Glasgow Road on June 3, 1849. He united with Pleasant Valley Methodist Church in 1887. He was a willing worker in all departments of church work and was for many years the Superintendent of the Sunday School and Secretary-Treasurer of the Church.

In 1873 he married Miss Christine Beaton, who predeceased him seventeen years. His passing is mourned by three sons: Richard of New Bedford, U.S.A.; John, of Hazel Grove; Rev. Frederick T. D.R.E., Th. D. of Woonsocket, R.I.; by three daughters: Mrs. Emma Morrison, Brooklyn; Mrs. Ernest Pickering, Clinton; Mrs. Thomas Wigmore, and also by an adopted daughter, Mrs. Dell White, Kingston. Two sons, Samuel and Spurgeon, predeceased him.

The funeral, which was held from Pleasant Valley United Church, was largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. E. Milley and Rev. George Ayers, a former pastor. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Alec MacDonald, D. N. McKay, M.L.A., James MacSwain, Andrew Stevenson, John Weeks, Stephen Bertram. Interment was held at Hunter River Cemetery. L-87.

I.O.O.F. annual Parade Sunday

The Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs of Charlottetown are again preparing for a suitable celebration for the 122nd anniversary of the founding of their Order. Although the uncertainty and trying times through which we are now passing have a very restricting influence on many forms of celebrations, yet the membership feel, that as they are still called upon to carry on the work a fraternal society is organized to perform a work which has materially increased since the outbreak of the war, added much to the needed services of the membership; yet time must be taken and the membership gathered together for an annual stock taking and a re-counting of what has been accomplished and also what still remains to be performed.

So then when the Anniversary Day of the Order comes around, it is regarded as time for a general review of its operations, and the necessary consideration given to the many problems that present themselves. With a membership as large as that enjoyed by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the extensive features of its fraternal endeavors, it is always necessary to have an annual get together for the purpose of surveying past performances and planning for future service.

In Charlottetown, the Odd Fellows and their valuable allies, the Rebekah Sisters, have planned to hold their annual church service at the Prince Street Baptist Church tomorrow morning the 27th inst. The Rev. Hudson Levy will address the membership on this occasion, using as a topic for his address material that will furnish valuable advice to the spiritual needs of the assembled members. The Odd Fellows will parade to the Church headed by the West Kent School Cadet Band. They will be joined at the church by the Rebekah sisters who will precede the brothers into the church.
