Marriage During Hypnotic Spell

Millionaire German Woman Now Seeks Dissolution—Victim of Adventurer

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—A high court will be asked next week to decide whether a woman is entitled to dissolution of her marriage on the ground that she entered upon it under hypnotic influence and, therefore, was not conscious of what she was doing. The claimant is a heiress in her own right, being the orphan daughter of a wealthy Hamburg family. Her husband was formerly an engineer in the German navy.

Last year the couple met in Berlin society. None of their friends noticed that they were on specially intimate terms. Her relatives were, therefore, amazed when early in January they received a newspaper announcement of her marriage.

Several weeks passed without news. An uncle eventually came to Berlin and met his niece. She appeared absent minded, spoke in distinctly and then, saying she had to go to her bankers on urgent business, tried to slip away.

Tactfully, however the uncle persuaded her to take lunch with him and in conversation he found she knew nothing about her husband except his name, but mentioned that he was fond of making hypnotic experiments. She could not say when it yas she decided to marry and only knew the ceremony was performed conventionally in a church.

As the conversation proceeded the niece seemed suddenly aroused from her state of mental numbness and explained as if she herself were surprised, "Really the idea of marrying him had never occurred to me."

The immediate sequel was that she went to Hamburg with her uncle and has remained there ever since, appearing to regard with intense aversion any idea of return to her husband. She has never been able to explain to relatives how the marriage came about, and has asked them to assist her in getting it annulled.

They assented and convinced the girl she was the hypnotized victim of an adventurer who sought her property to revive his fortunes, shattered by the loss of his career consequent on the disappearance of the German navy.

Lots of men wouldn't know what to do with their money if they should ever get out of debt.

With plenty of love for the wife and plenty of well prepared food for the husband there would be fewer divorces.

ADDRESS CORRESPONDENCE TO WAR VETERANS COLUMN, P.O. BOX 365, CHARLOTTETOWN

YOUNG AUSTRALIA.—It has been remarked on several occasions that the discipline in the Australian regiments is not so strict as that in British regiments. In all young countries there seems to be a democratic, happy-go-lucky spirit, that in the very antithesis of the hidebound traditions in the mother land. When the first contingent of Australians arrived in Egypt, it was particularly noticeable, and on one occasion an officer stopped a man and said to him: "Look here, do you know who I am?" The Australian said "No." "Well, I'm an officer." The reply was: "Oh, you are, are you? Well, I guess you've got a soft job, mate. You stick to it."

CANADA TO BE FREE?—Extracts from a speech are never satisfactory, but the following extracts taken from a speech of Judge Cohalan will show this gentleman's love for our Empire. The extracts are taken from a short account taken from the Montreal Star The speech was delivered in Chicago at the Washington Day dinner given by the "Committee of one hundred for an Irish Republic." The report states he said "England is a menace to the United States and that the menace must be removed before this country could be assured of peace."—that the United States should insist on England freeing Canada and the West Indies as a basis of negotiations for the settlement of her war debts to the States."—"The British Empire must be dismembered if the world is to have peace."

It is interesting to note that Judge Cohalan is the man that President Wilson refused to meet because of his pro-German leanings We wonder if the committee of one hundred above referred to is the committee which was to be composed of one hundred unbiased men to pronounce judgment on the unhappy troubles in Ireland. We know that Randolph Hearst was to sit on that committee. If the committee was formed of such unbiased men as these two men well might we pray that God would save both England and Ireland from their enemies. The Montreal Star remarks that since the late sixties the "freeing" of Canada has been carried on exclusively with the weapon that Sampson used against the Philistines, and which Mr. Cohalan now weilds We hope he will inwardly digest this remark.,

CITY CLERK.—We hasten to congratulate comrade George Nicholson on his appointment to the important post of City Clerk. There have not been many returned men placed in positions of trust in this neighborhood up to the present, and we hope this appointment is only the breaking of the ice in this regard. We feel sure the appointment will be a popular one.

PROHIBITION.—A disgraceful affair took place in the western end of the City last Friday night. The cause of this affair was bad whisky or rum. Surely by this time the public can expect that affairs of this kind are not to take place under our Prohibition law. Can it be true that our liquor laws have been weighed in the balance and found wanting?

COMFORTS OF HOME.—The Veterans Association have not asked the assistance of the general public to any great extent in helping to pay of the debt on their new home, and we sincerely hope that there will be bumper houses both nights when "All the comforts of Home" will be put on in the Theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights under the auspices of the Veterans. Give the boys your assistance by being present.

AUSTRALIA TRAINING ITS BOYS.—As the rest of the world indulges in Utopian reveries on the subject of disarmament, Australia is proceeding to incorporate military training as the fundamental principle of its peace time policy of national defense.

The Australians are among the most peace-loving of people. They do not seek additional territory for themselves, nor do they cherish designs on the independence of any of their Pacific neighbors.

Yet Australia, in these papers, has deliberately chosen to establish a permanent system of universal military training: Ten weeks initial training with the colors is to be required of all able-bodied citizens on reaching a certain age. This initial training will be followed by an additional sixteen days' training during each of the succeeding years.

The Australian army will be, in every sense of the word, a citizens' army. It will be in part officered by men who are first and foremost civilians. Most of its officers will be selected from these who served with credit in the Australian overseas force. Under the proposed system, virtually the entire manhood of Australia will be trained in the use of arms and ready for instant mobilization.

Yet in all this there is not a single suggestion of militarism. All that Australia desires is to assure that the control of her destiny shall rest in her own hands.

Australia is not preparing for a new war. She is merely performing a duty which her people owe to the generations of tomorrow—the duty of leaving to those generation a free and unmortgaged Australia. Being disarmed where would she find such guarantees?—(Weekly Star).

NAVAL SUPREMACY.—If Great Britain and Japan have the same enemy it is sound policy for them to combine against that enemy. Any nation which has a navy possibly superior to that of Great Britain is Great Britain's enemy. There is no such thing as an "equal navy." One of the two rated as equal is the better. A fight would prove it. If a navy "equal" to Great Britain's" proved in a fight that it was superior, the British Empire is gone and Great Britain is a secondary nation, dependent upon the terms of another nation even for its food. It would become a vassal state. It could not be anything else. No one need think the British will take this chance.—(Chicago Tribune.)

RE-ARRANGEMENT OF BRITISH STEEL CORPORATION FAVORABLY COMMENTED ON

LONDON, March 1—Re-arrangement of the British Empire Steel Corporation evokes favorable comment here. The Times approves the abandonment of the proposal to merge shipbuilding enterprises with the new combination. The consolidation of the contiguous properties of the Dominion Steel and Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Companies is, however, a natural union, tending to make Belle Isle a great source of supply for the British iron and steel industry.

Leading British firms are to subscribe $5,000,000 privately to secure control of the British Empire Steel Corporation, but no public issue will be made. The scheme as now arranged promises to be a great step towards Empire self-sufficiency in iron, coal, and steel requirements.

Arrangements are now progressing to provide terminal facilities at British ports for the rapid discharge of ten-thousand-ton boats. It is felt that this natural affinity between Britain and Canadian industrialists and capitalists is capable of almost indefinite expansion, for despite the heavy taxation and other demands, there remains abundant British capital available for investment in sound Empire concerns overseas. Financiers say that the greatest deterrent, at the moment, is such incidents as the Grand Trunk Railway arbitration, which rightly or wrongly gives the impression here of inequity towards the British investor.

The Times today reads a solemn lecture to New South Wales and Queensland for their unfairness to British investors. Storey, the Labor Premier of New South Wales, is now on the way to England for a fresh loan. The Times warns him that he comes in vain unless the New South Wales Land Bill is dropped.
