

Woman's Realm Social and Personal Fashions Literature

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee

Window Box

Do not allow the window boxes to remain empty all winter. They can be made to look attractive with cedar or pine branches, adding a few sprigs of bittersweet to brighten them up.

Toast

To make toast more alluring to the child who is ill, try cutting the bread into shapes of animals with the cookie cutters, and then toast them.

Marble and Granite

To clean marble and granite surfaces use soap and water. If badly stained, you will find that pumice stone is satisfactory.

How Can I!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove red blotches from the face?

A. A good treatment is to rinse the face for about three minutes at a time in cool water. Also take alternate hot and cold face baths at night.

Q. How can I launder colored handkerchiefs?

A. Washing and boiling colored handkerchiefs does not fade them, but hot irons do. If ironing could be dispensed with they would remain bright much longer.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a few weeks?

A. It is claimed that eggs will keep fresh for a month if they are immersed for one minute in boiling water.

Better English

D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence: "At what hotel are you stopping?"

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "heroin"?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Magnesia, umbrella, peninsula.

4. What does the word "sodium" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with "ep" that means "a short poem"?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "At what hotel are you staying?" 2. Pronounce first e as in bet, not as in her. 3. Magnesia. 4. A sexual perversion in which gratification is got by torturing the loved person. (Pronounce first syllable sed). 5. Epigram.

Royalty Guests as Mountbatten's Daughter Weds Baron

Thousands witnessed wedding of Hon. Patricia Mountbatten and Lord Brabourne. Bridesmaids were her sister, Pamela, Princess Alexandra of Kent, Princess Margaret Rose, and Princess Elizabeth. Wedding reception was held at Broadlands, the Mountbatten home, where this family group was photographed. In back row, from left, are the Duchess of Kent, Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, the bridegroom, the King George, Lady Mountbatten and C. Harris-St. John, the best man. Also Queen Elizabeth, the bride and four bridesmaids.

Morning Smile

WORTH A SHILLING

"And so you are the noble fellow who rescued my wife at the risk of your life?" said Mr. Tightist. "Take this shilling, my brave fellow as an expression of my thankfulness." "All right 'guy' nor, thank ye," and then he added softly: "You know better'n I do what your wife's worth."

DON'T BOAST

A Scots girl obtained a situation in the South. One day her mistress asked her what particular part of Scotland she came from.

"I come from near Aberdeen," was the reply.

"Oh, said her mistress, "I'm sorry you didn't tell me before. I had some friends staying there, and I would have asked you if you knew them."

"It's like this," retorted the girl: "When I was leaving home my mother said, 'Dinna boast!'"

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When making an introduction, is it all right to say, "Mrs. Lee, I wish to make you acquainted with Mrs. Thomas?"

A. No; avoid the phrase, "make you acquainted with."

Q. Is it customary for the bridesmaids to give a wedding present to the bride?

A. Yes, but this gift may be collective. The maid of honor often gives an individual gift.

Q. Where should the place card be placed on the dinner table?

A. On the tablecloth, just above the plate, where it can be easily read.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Importance of Breakfasts

Morning Repast Has Now Deteriorated To Stepchild of Meals

According to statistics collected by the Department of Agriculture, the great majority of industrial accidents occur before eleven o'clock in the morning, and the department lays the blame for this on poor breakfasts.

Doubtless this is because the average morning meal, as it is served in the average home, not only sours on the stomachs of its victims but curdles their dispositions until it induces suicidal tendencies. There is nothing in a slab of toast that is burnt on one side and raw on the other, coupled with a gob of gooey cereal and a cup of dish water coffee, to make anybody drive carefully and refrain from monkeying with buzz-saws.

Of course, this is not according to tradition, which always represents breakfast time as the golden hour of the day when the happy family leaps from its bed, refreshed by sleep and soothed by pleasant dreams, to gather about the festive board. But the breakfast table that groans under its load of hot and savory dishes is just as much a myth now as Santa Claus coming down the chimney with his pack. There simply isn't any such thing any more.

STEPCHILD OF MEALS

Just how breakfast fell from its high estate and became the stepchild of gracious living, with none so poor as to do it reverence, is a mystery. For there was a time when housewives extended their finest skill upon it and it was a special compliment to be asked to breakfast, while Husband and the kids scarp their own meals, and if anyone invites you to breakfast you have enough self-preservation to decline.

We make a feast of luncheons and a gain affair of dinners, but in reality, they are not half so important in the domestic economy as the poor, neglected, scrippled breakfast. Breakfast strikes the keynote of the day, and whether a family rises from the breakfast table filled with good, nutritious, tasty food and is comfortable and happy, or with its tummy protesting against the outrages that have been put upon it by a scrippled meal that you wouldn't wish on a dog and with every nerve and taste bud on edge, determines the fate of many a household.

Most of the family quarrels that end in divorce, for instance, start at the breakfast table. No man picks a fight with his wife when his mouth is full of luscious food, cooked just the way he likes it. No woman slaps the children, or asks for money, or tells her husband bad news when everybody is gayly employed enjoying a good meal. It is the half-starved who quarrel.

Many a man's failure in life is due to bad breakfasts. Indigestible food goes to his brain just as much as it does to his stomach and induces in him the pessimism that makes him turn down the opportunity that would have made his fortune, or insult his best client, or quarrel with his boss.

The wife who starts her husband out in the morning to his work with a good, hearty hot breakfast under his belt has given him the best weapon against his drinking too many cocktails before lunch because he is weak and faint from lack of food, for the well-fed man doesn't need a pick-up.

A good breakfast is one of the main factors in the success of every marriage. It is a tip I give all brides free.

JELLIED CRANBERRY

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 lemon, quartered and seeded
1 apple, peeled and quartered
1 cup citrus marmalade
2 teaspoons horseradish
1 envelope plain gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
Put cranberries, lemon and apple through food chopper. Combine with marmalade and horseradish; let stand a few hours to blend. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over steam; fold into cranberry relish mixture. Fill individual molds or fill shallow square pan to a depth of one inch.

POTATO CREOLE

3 tablespoons fat
4 cups sliced raw potatoes
1 onion, sliced
2 cups canned tomatoes or tomato juice
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Melt the fat in a frying pan. Add the potatoes and onion and cook for 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender and the tomato juice has become thickened by the starch in potatoes. Six servings.

POTATO BISCUITS

2 cups hot riced potatoes
2 tablespoons grated cheese
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour or 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
To the potatoes add the grated cheese, chopped parsley and the well-beaten eggs. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Blend thoroughly with first mixture. Shape into rounds like a biscuit and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., for 15 to 20 minutes. These biscuits are good served with jam or jelly and require no butter. Yield: 18 2-inch biscuits.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

SINCE 1855

—a proven remedy for coughs and colds.

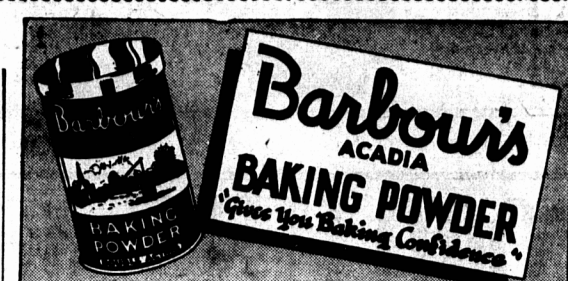

For over 90 years careful mothers have been giving Father John's Medicine to their children at the first sign of a cough or cold.

Father John's Medicine, with its valuable Vitamins A and D and other valuable properties, builds up resistance to colds, eases sore throats.

Get a bottle at your drug store.

FOR COLDS AND COUGHS

MADE IN CANADA

Living & Leisure — THE WOMAN'S REALM —

WISE WAYS

You will never be sorry for:

- Hearing before judging.
- Thinking before speaking.
- Holding an angry tongue.
- Speaking ill of none.
- Being patient with everybody.
- Asking pardon for all wrongs.
- Being kind to the unhappy.
- Doing good to all.

BABIES' HOTEL

Mothers in Melbourne, Victoria, have had their "children parking" problem solved in an ingenious way. A group of enterprising Mothercraft nurses recently established a "Babies Hotel" which caters for all children up to six years. Here mothers hook their babies for the day while they shop, go to the theatre or keep luncheon appointments. The hotel is a converted 20 room villa in a Melbourne suburb. The children have an acre and a half of ground in which to play, and there is a dining room, playroom, five nurseries and even an isolation ward. The idea has aroused considerable interest in other Australian cities.

GRAPEFRUIT JULEP

Always soak plates and forks that have been used for sardines sponged by the Government, and will find a home in one of the national collections.

GRAPEFRUIT JULEP

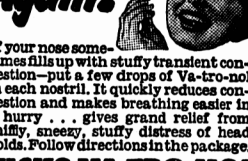

Grapefruit Julep is a delicious drink which also uses honey instead of sugar. For six servings you will

"Ah-h-h! I Can Breathe Again!"

If your nose sometimes becomes congested—put a few drops of V-A-T-R-O-NOL in each nostril. It quickly reduces congestion and makes breathing easier in a hurry... gives grand relief from sniffly, sneezy, stuffy distress of head colds. Follow directions in the package.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

STAR AND FAN DESIGN

ANCIENT GAME IN MODERN GUISE

In the Egyptian court of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, an ancient game in modern dress, Senet, the oldest board game in the world, was played the other day. On the walls of the Egyptian wing are paintings, removed from tombs, showing the people of the Nile engaged in the same while or similar tinned fish in cold water before washing up in hot; in this way the same old taste of fish will go more easily.

NEEDLECRAFT

FOR THE HOME

FIRST LOVE OF A SUIT

Miniature edition of the lumber-jacket suit with a long or short sleeved jacket and an all round pleated skirt... wear either jacket with its own skirt or mix and match them with others.

No. 2709 is cut in sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10. Size 8 skirt and short sleeved jacket require 1 1/2 yards 54-inch long sleeve. Jacket; 1 1/4 yards 54-inch.

Send 20 cents for PATTERN which includes complete sewing guide. Print your Name, Address and Style Number plainly. Be sure to state the post office, include postal unit or some number in your address.

Address: Pattern Department, The Charlottetown Guardian.

Pattern No. 2709

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ Province _____

Design No. E-1150

A beautiful dolly is crocheted in two sizes 12 and 18 inches in diameter. The lovely star and fan design is easy to create. Pattern No. E-1150 contains complete instructions.

To order: Send 20 cents in coin to Needlework Bureau, Charlottetown Guardian.

Design No. E-1150

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ Province _____

Dr. CHASE'S Paradol

FOR COLDS AND COUGHS

MADE IN CANADA

Ellen's Diary

By an Island Farmer's Wife

Jamie spent last night at Alderlea, returning home with Rob early this morning. He presently has gone fast asleep just as the Hall o'ween lady of the brown-wick was riding high above the star on the hill in the beguiling land of make-believe. So when his parents returned they were old bed in the room above the kitchen. This morning after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days, you could leave it until after the turnips are done; but any too promising this morning—and it coming along toward the last of the month—no, not many now, the gold of them continuing to fall day by day to lie in a mound of dead ones on the lawn below. And after breakfasting the three of us went our separate ways. Jamie to the toil and pleasantness of the turnip patch; Jamie home with Rob and I to visit the city. "Perhaps, Ellen," James had advanced the suggestion, "since you put off your going for the last few days