DETROIT RED WINGS RETAIN STANLEY CUP

Brilliant Work Of Rookie Netminder Plays Prominent Part In Red Wings' Victory

DETROIT, April 15—(CP)—The Red Wings of Detroit climaxing a long series of injuries with an amazing performance, won the venerable Stanley Cup for the second successive year tonight, defeating New York's Rangers 3-0 in the fifth game of the final series before 14,102 spectators.

Two goals by big Marty Barry, winner of the Lady Byng Trophy, and one by "Long" John Sorrell marked the successful defense of the cup in a swift and rough game as the Red Wings became the first American team in history to win the Stanley Cup and the National Hockey League championship two years in succession.

Detroit won hockey's greatest honor with a rookie goalie, Earl Robertson, who played most of the season with Pittsburgh in the minor leagues, in the nets. Robertson, substituting for the Vezina Trophy winner, injured Normie Smith, turned in an amazing performance, his sensational stops came and again robbing the Rangers of goals. It was his second successive shutout.

Red Wings the Masters

The Red Wings, who twice fought back to even the series after the Rangers, in an inspired rush, had taken the lead, were masters of the situation tonight after Barry's first goal 38 seconds before the end of the first period. It was scored while Joe Cooper cooled in the penalty box for holding Herbie Lewis. Barry deflected Syd Howe's hard shot from the blue line, to catch the Ranger goalie, Dave Kerr, out of position.

Ranger Goal Called Back

The New York team which had swept aside the Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Maroons to reach the finals, came back with wild five-man rushes in a mad attempt to score, and almost did. Only a referee's decision that Lewis held Neil Colville as the "man with the iron jaw" shot, prevented a goal by Babe Pratt from counting in the second period. Alex Shibicky was awarded a penalty shot that Robertson stopped easily.

Barry set the stage for Detroit's second goal, getting the puck away from Pratt and shoving it to Herbie Lewis who pushed it back for Barry's shot. Sorrell came in for the rebound and poked the puck under Kerr, diving in a futile attempt to save.

Barry counted again at 2:33 of the third period, putting the game out of the Rangers' reach. Sorrell, breaking up a Ranger rush, passed to Barry, who poked it past Pratt, then broke swiftly into the clear to skate in and beat Kerr.

Although the Rangers never stopped rushing the Detroit nets, and at intervals literally rained pucks at Robertson, the rookie met all attacks without faltering, and hard-checking Red Wing defense men usually saw that the Rangers were off balance when shots were made.

SUMMARY

BILLIARDS

Arthur Peterson reached the final in the Provincial Billiard Tournament last evening by virtue of his win over Bill Phillips in their semi-final match. The scores were Peterson 300, Phillips 266. Both players while not up to the form expected of them nevertheless gave a good exhibition of the game. The highest break in the match was 43 by Peterson.

The second semi-final match will be played on Monday evening between Carl McKenna and Harry Redmond.

Red Wings Are Jubilant Over Victory

BY ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
DETROIT, April 15—His life's ambition realized for the second year in succession, jovial Jack Adams posed for all kinds of pictures in the world-champion Detroit Red Wings' dressing room. He jumped, roared and laughed; then, for probably the first time in his life he fainted.

The room, transformed into a mad house of berserk humanity, became silent while Coach Adams was half carried into a separate room, and then the bedlam broke out all over again when it was ascertained it was nothing more serious than a weak spell from excitement, joy and worry.

As usual, pudgy John led his world champion through a massed crowd into the dressing room. While players fell all over each other in joy and pride, Adams jumped up and down in the centre of the floor, threw his battered hat at a group of newspaper men and jumped on it.

Under escort of several police officers the battered Stanley Cup was brought in the room where Frank Calder, President of the N.H.L., familiar bowler hat and walking stick conspicuous, presented it to Herbie Lewis, Adams and owner James Norris, Sr., each in turn for the benefit of photographers.

The room flowed with beer as weary players gulped it down and passed bottles to newspaper men. Cigars and cigarettes were handed out and flashlight bulbs "popped" persistently to light up the smoke-laden scene.

Good-looking Earl Robertson, the minor league netminder brought in to take the place of the Vezina Trophy winner, Normie Smith, was mobbed as he waddled into the room with his arms about two-goal Marty Barry.

Everyone had the opinion "Robbie" gave one of the greatest performances ever seen here. They told him so as he smiled happily and almost had his hand and shoulder broken by hand-shakers and back-slappers.

"They just can't keep you in the minors now," the dark-haired Barry told him. "You were great, kid, sensational."

"That last part goes for you too, Marty," Earl said, and launched into homely words of praise for the handsome centre.

Little Larry Aurie, out of the series through an injury, threw his crutches on the floor and did a waltz dance.

"That's one goal for each broke-up speed ball pitcher of all time, suggested today that rookie Bob Feller forget about spot pitching and "just ram that fast one past the batter."

Farmer Walter, who now outdates 560 acres of rolling land, stopped his chores today to give advice to the young Cleveland sensation who may be the fireball king of a new baseball era.

"A strong boy like Feller, with speed to spare and a good curve, doesn't have to worry much about a hitter's likes or dislikes," Walter said.

"He'll have more success and his arm will last longer if he doesn't try to hit a certain spot," he said. "When he loses steam, he can turn to spot shots."

"They tell me Bob's control isn't too good and hitters are leary of standing up to the plate. That's in Bob's favor now, for when they back away he can shoot a fast one down the middle or break a curve over."

Baer Stopped Suddenly In Comeback Attempt Losing Decision To British Champ

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer)
LONDON, April 15—Tommy Farr, stolid, unimaginative 23-year-old Welshman, sprang into the front ranks of the world's heavyweights tonight with a clean-cut victory over Max Baer before 14,000 wildly cheering fans in Harrogate Arena.

Baer, bloodied from the beating he absorbed through 12 grueling rounds, Baer announced disconsolately in his dressing room that he was through with the game.

"I'm washed up," said the former playboy of the ring. "I'm going back to my ranch in California and retire."

Farr, weighing 196, 16 pounds less than Baer, wasn't supposed to have a chance. He was on the short end of 3-1 odds when he entered the ring, but before he had finished with Maxie he proved his left is one of the most formidable weapons in the boxing game today.

Experts who watched him take Baer apart, freely predicted he will score an equally easy victory over Walter Neusel of Germany whom he will meet next month.

From the very first the Welshman carried the fight. Before he entered the ring he promised to prove all British heavyweights did not conform to the common notion of British heavyweights. He left little improved.

In the first round he bashed Baer with a hard left and opened a gash above the American's eyebrow. And from then on it was easy sailing. Half-blinded with the blood, Baer contented himself with desperate tries for a knockout but the knockout punch never landed.

The Welshman collected only $15,000 for tonight's fight compared to playboy Maxie's $22,500 cut in the gate, but in addition to the cash return, he came up with an increased drawing power.

Baer's bad eye, ripped deeply and dripping blood all the way, was largely responsible for the Californian's setback. He himself said so.

"You'll never catch me without plenty of good old Rosebud. Now, there's a tobacco that's real neighbourly... friendly and comforting from beginning to end. Yes, sir, we can do without a lot of fancy fluffing in the Bush Camps but we must have our Rosebud. It's satisfying smoke, Mister, a downright satisfying smoke."

Holm Trains For Bout With Bill Sparks

The Labor Union Hall is the scene of much interest and activity these afternoons and the reason for it is that Billy Holm, the Fighting Dane from Springhill is going through his paces for his coming bout on April 20th with Bill Sparks of Amherst.

Holm, looking to be in great condition, goes through tough training grinds every day and the consensus of opinion of the fans is that the coming bout will be a real old-fashioned slug-fest. Holm, possessing a terrific left hand punch like the heavy miller in preference to boxing, and although both boys are adept boxers it appears that the fight will likely be a knock-em-down, drag-em-out affair.

Holm arrived Wednesday night accompanied by his manager and a Springhill youngster, Harry Livingstone, who meets Kid Nickerson in the semi-final. Livingstone is a boy who can absorb plenty of punishment as his workouts with Holm testify and he should give the local boy a battle of it every minute.

Holm is to work out daily and Promoter Joey McDonald states that everybody is welcome to witness the workouts.

Hart Pleased With Visit To The Maritimes

MONTREAL, April 15—(CP)—Cecil Hart and his Montreal Canadiens came home today, chockful of praise for Maritime Canada and its treatment of the hockeyists during their recent tour of the sea-side provinces.

"I've always thought Canadiens were the greatest team in the world," Hart said. "And after the way everybody went for us down east it proved I must be right. I never realized just how popular Canadians are."

"It was really wonderful the way they treated us everywhere. And we gave them their money's worth. They were amazed at the speed and the passing, the only thing we didn't show them was body-checking."

The trip was a success all round, netting each player $197.

Record Crowd For English-Scottish Tilt

GLASGOW, April 15—An all-time high in football attendance—international tilts or otherwise—is expected to be recorded Saturday at Hampden Park when the annual international match between Scotland and England is played off.

Football Association officials are making plans to accommodate 150,000 persons. The previous high was established in this celebrated enclosure in 1933, the Scotland-England tangle serving as magnet.

There were 136,259 paid admissions. A remarkable feature lies in the fact the match will have no betting on the international standing.

Wales was returned victor of the competition March 17 when the Welshmen blasted England's hopes of winning at least one tangle this year with a 4-1 verdict at Wrexham.

At Wembley Stadium, London, last year, Scotland clinched international honors with a 1-1 draw before a 90,000 crowd. It was the 50th meeting between the two countries and the 17th stadium. At present the score card reads Scotland, winner 27 times and England 18.
