WASHINGTON, July 22—Amendments to the agricultural adjustment administration prohibiting the United States government from issuing orders restricting advertising or imposing a processing tax on newsprint were approved today by the Senate.

Both proposals, offered by Senator Augustine Lonergan (D., Conn), had the approval of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Chairman Ellison Smith of the Senate agriculture committee said the amendments were "appropriate in view of fears expressed that the Secretary of Agriculture could regulate advertising or restrict certain kinds of paper."

Death Of Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, July 22—Noted for his pioneering work in the Yukon, Rev Dr. A. S. Grant, 73, famed Yukon missionary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada died here today.

A native of Quebec, Dr. Grant attended McGill University and the Presbyterian College at Montreal, graduating with honors in 1888. Then, preparing for work in a foreign field, he took a course in medicine—training which stood him in good stead in Canada's north.

Recently, in an address, he reviewed his work in the Yukon, and made mention of serving as physician and surgeon. After a year's post-graduate study he was ordained and inducted as minister of St. Andrew's Church, Almonte, in 1889.

He resigned from that charge in 1896. Two years later gold was discovered in the Yukon and with the hordes of men who rushed northwards went Dr. Grant, not for personal gain, but to aid the thousands seeking gold.

Leaving his wife and family he disappeared into the north. He was not heard of for two years. It was during this period that the name "Grant of the Yukon" became famous. Dr. Grant refused to discuss his work there, other than to say "I merely did my duty and gave the best I had for those workers."

Gangsters Are Sentenced For Mail Robbery

They were: Carl Rettich of Warwick, R. I.; Joseph Fisher of Providence, R. I.; John "Sonny" McGlone, Thomas Duggan and Charles Harrigan of New York.

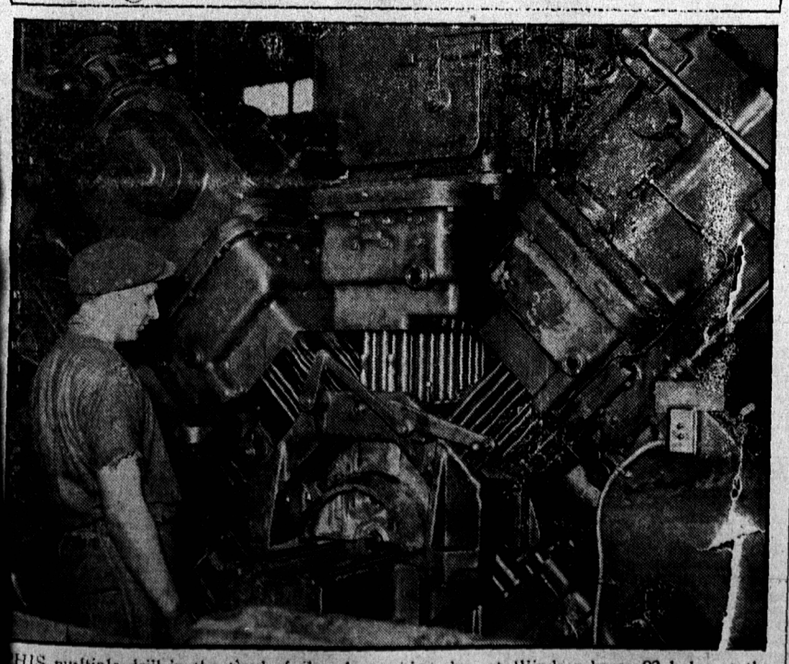
Drilling 92 Holes at Once in a Ford V-8 Block



THIS multiple drill in the Ford of Canada machine shop at Windsor bores 92 holes at the same time in the Ford V-8 cylinder block—a striking example of how modern manufacturing methods permit the giving of greater value every year in automobiles. Although the machine can handle 576 cylinder blocks in an eight-hour day with a single operator, this does not mean that less labor is required in the factory. More man-hours of labor at high wages are used in the manufacture of the Canadian Ford V-8 than in any earlier Ford cars, because standards of accuracy, durability, performance and safety are constantly rising.

Believes Tidal Power Project Will Be Built

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

AUGUSTA, Me., July 22.—Representative Ralph Brewster (R-Me), whose charges against Thomas Corcoran, Reconstruction Finance Corporation Attorney, precipitated the lobby investigation at Washington, today reiterated his belief the $36,000,000 Quoddy tidal power project "will continue to be built."

Brewster said "it would be time enough at the next regular session of the Legislature (January 1937) when a new administration comes in," to consider proposed state legislation to protect the development.

"As long as work on Quoddy continues," the representative said, "there is no reason for us to precipitate anything. The new Legislature will be in a position to protect Quoddy."

The present Legislature, now in adjournment, after holding a Quoddy authority bill in committee for many weeks, rejected the measure when Governor Louis Brann said he did not believe enactment of the bill was required to assure work starting on the project.

Brewster said the chief concern of Quoddy proponents now was to find a market for the power. He said Dexter P. Cooper, originator of the plan to harness the abnormal tides of the Bay of Fundy, was devoting all his time to that angle.

Good Angling For 35 Pound Salmon

Bigger fish are sometimes taken, of course, but 35-pound salmon will satisfy most anglers and that's why there are satisfied sportsmen at Saanich Arm and other places in British Columbia just now. "Sport fishing at Saanich Arm," said a recent report made to the Dominion Department of Fisheries by one of its Pacific Coast inspectors, "is decidedly good at present for Spring salmon up to 35 pounds."

British Columbia salmon are so important commercially that perhaps some people have not realized that two of the five species, the Spring and the Coho, offer the angler tip-top sport, beside joining the Sockeyes, Pinks, and Chums in making many dollars every year for the commercial fisherman, the canner, the fish dealer. In angling the Coho and Spring are both taken by trolling with light tackle and spoon lures but the Coho will also rise to the fly.

Saanich, of course, is only one place among a number where anglers find good sport fishing for Pacific salmon. On several parts of the British Columbia coast the fishing is so good that organized competitions are held and awards given those who land big fish under strict specified conditions as to the light weight of tackle, etc. At Campbell River, for instance, where, in the angling world, the Indian name "Tyee", rather than the more commonplace Anglo-Saxon word, is applied to the Spring salmon, bronze, silver, gold, and diamond buttons are awarded under private auspices for the capture of fish within certain weight limits, by means of wooden rods measuring at least six feet over all, with the tip in each case not less than five feet in length or more than six ounces in weight. The diamond buttons go only to those lucky people who catch Tyees weighing 60 pounds or more, and if they're not won very often there have at least been several winners.

The gold button is the prize for a fish weighing over 50 pounds but under 60, and is quite often won. The silver button indicates a 40-pounder landed, and the bronze button a 30-pounder or better.

Not a Question of Quality Says Judge

HALIFAX, July 20.—While considering a motion for an injunction restraining certain directors of Moirs Limited from acting, Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll is not going to decide the quality of chocolates produced by the Company under different presidents.

"I am not a chocolate eater, anyway—I like suckers," His Lordship explained in heading off argument which might have left the question of quality in 1927 as compared with 1933 to the Court.

Most of today's session was taken up with operations of the lumbering division of the Company as expanded on the advice of Frank L. Lewis, former president.

C. B. Smith, K.C., opposing the motion on behalf of six defendants including President J. C. MacKeen, submitted a number of Mr. Lewis' lumber dealings had been entered into with companies in which he had a personal interest. An affidavit, signed by President MacKeen, purported to show these dealings had been costly to Moirs.

The suit was brought by bondholders and preferential shareholders alleging holders of common stock gained control of the Company by irregular means at the annual meeting last March.

"There is not the slightest evidence of a conspiracy on the part of MacKeen, Proctor or anyone else, to place the Royal Securities or the common shareholders in control of the Company, except the loose statements made in the affivadit of George E. M. Lewis," Mr. Smith declared.

"The allegations are completely, emphatically and specifically denied and that denial is corroborated by statements and facts about which there cannot be any doubt."

N.S. Boy Is Large For Years

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LUNENBURG, N. S., July 22—Harry Heckman, Nova Scotia's 184-pound boy mountan of eight and a half years, says he can give Joe Randazzo and Leslie Bowels, rivals in an international bout to declare the world's largest boy, a "small" idea of what they can look forward to in a couple of years.

Harry never did match the size of the two 3 1-2 years old weight-racers, but down through his early years he was always a step ahead of most.

Now with his four feet nine inches of height and 184 pounds, he measures 46 inches around the waist. 40 inches around the chest. 28 about the legs and 16 across the shouders. His feet are small—only size six.

With his weight and size developed entirely from muscle, he has literally the strength of an ox, in fact a yoke of them. Often as a bit of exercise, he will lift up the shaft of a heavy ox-team and haul it easiy around the barnyard.

In the field's of his father's farm, he does the work of a hired man every day.

Two years ago, aged six, he weighed 130 pounds.

Leslie Bowels of Ramsgate, England, little more than half that age, already tops his record of 142, while Joe Randazza weighs 135.

WOULD MAKE TRY WHERE MEN FAIL

CHARLESTON, Va., July 22.—(C.P.)—The University of Virginia Institute of Public Affairs heard about the "evolution of women brain trusters" when Mrs. William Dick Sporborg of Port Chester, N. Y., reviewed some of the steps taken in meeting the challenge implied in the frequent assertion that some problem of public concern is "up to the women." The challenge is taken up all the more readily, she said, because men have made a mess of so many affairs.

Mrs. Sporborg, who is chairman of the committee on crime prevention and social adjustment of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs, named some of the women to whom, in addition to those holding office at Washington, she believed the term "brain truster" might be applied. Three names on her list were: Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Carrie Chapman Catt, suffragist and peace leader and Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College.

Discussing some present social problems, Mrs. Sporborg said that if the stability of their democracy was to be practically considered, available jobs should be given to youth instead of older men and women during economic chaotic periods. When conditions warrant and demand relief, she stated, relief should preferably be given to the elders and youth should receive opportunity for work.

The crime situation, which reveals that the average age of all the inmates in American prisons and correctionals is 23 years, should be frankly faced, said Mrs. Sporborg. Something was fundamentally wrong with the education in homes, schools, churches and communities to allow this condition to exist, she believed. In each of these fields she believed there was a job for the woman "brain truster."

Gets Third Draw In Six Game

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

CAMBRIDGE, England, July 20—Canada's schoolboy cricketers touring England drew today in the one-day fixture against Leys School. It was the third draw for the overseas visitors in six games played. They have won one and lost two.

Leys, batting first, scored 196 runs for nine wickets declared. The visitors had scored 99 runs with the loss of seven wickets when time was called.

F. E. Cochrane, Trinity College School, Port Hope, who was slightly injured in the game with Dulwich College on Tuesday, starred for the Canadians taking four wickets for 51 runs.

MODERN GIRL FINE TO LLOYD GEORGE

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON, July 22—Lloyd George prefers the modern girl and the education which makes her what she is.

He said so at the speech day of St. Felix School, Southwold, where his grand-daughter is a pupil. Recalling that the school was founded just at the time "when the prim and grim Victorian era was coming to an end," he went on:

"The old academies for young ladies—they were not girls in those days—at best were an expensive joke, and at the worst they were an atrocity."

WILL COMPLETE SURVEY

LACONIA, N.H., July 22. — Dr. Alexander Forbes, of the Harvard Medical School, and Charles Hubbard former Harvard football captain, will leave Wednesday or Thursday for an aerial survey of Labrador, they announced today.

Dr. Forbes and Hubbard, who came here for their plane, left for Boston today where the plane will be overhauled. They plan a three weeks trip, during which they will take aerial photographs to complete a survey begun two years ago.

Patients Improve Under Care Of Dr. Connell

(C P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

KINGSTON, Ont., July 22—Dr. H. C. Connell, who last week announced discovery of biological products he named "ensols" for treatment of Cancer, said today he was greatly encouraged over results so far achieved He has been working steadily on detailed reports for publication in scientific and medical journals with the assistance of a pathologist. He has also been studying the cause of cancer.

Marked improvement has been shown by patients under Dr. Connell's care, even after ten days treatment. Requests for treatment, from as far away as Texas continue.

Dr. Connell has found that injection of the "ensol" solution into the blood stream arrests cancer growth. He hopes the treatment may prove definitely to control cancer.

Dope Smugglers Will Be Hanged

(C. P. Cable)
(By Guardian's Special Wire)

KINGSTON, Jamaica, July 22.—Two Cuban dope smugglers, Alfonso Roubal and Serafin Diaz, convicted of the murder of two compatriots, will be hanged at 8.30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the prison here.

The pair followed Aurelio Pollan and Francisco Gomez to Kingston in January and stabbed them in a rooming house before robbing them of $2,500. Their trial, which ended June 23, exposed many secrets of white slavery and dope traffic in Jamaica.

During their month of imprisonment in the death cells, Roubal and Diaz have accepted their fate as a matter of course, and prison officials tonight reported both had gained weight.

South Africans Held To Draw

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

GLASGOW, July 20—Scotland held the touring South Africans to a draw in the two-day cricket match ended here today.

The Scottish eleven batted first yestreday and splendid bowling by R. J. Crisp, fast bowler, held them to 91 runs. The visitors declared at 199 runs for five wickets today and Scotland had scored 126 runs for the loss of six wickets when stumps were drawn. E. A. P. Rowan was the batting star knocking up 71 runs.

GUIDED BY TOES WHEN SIGHTLESS

(By The Canadian Press)

HERTFORD, Engand, July 22—Blind girls use their toes instead of their eyes, as was demonstrated to Viscountess Hampden at the opening of the new swimming pool at Chorleywood College where blind girls are being educated.

The pool has a raised pavement round the edge and the springboard is fitted with a double thickness of matting at its end. Using their toes as guides instead of their eyes, the girls plunge in with easy grace.

An official of the National Institute of the Blind says: "Swimming is one of the exercises that the blind enjoy with the confidence of sighted people and the coolness with which some of the blind girls at Chorleywood leap off a six foot diving board is amazing."

The college is for those who are totally blind or whose sight is so poor that they dare not read more than one or two books in a year.

British Troops Fire On Moslems

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LAHORE, India, July 21—British troops were forced to fire on three occasions today in an attempt to disperse rioting moslems who have been striving since yesterday to gain possession of the Gurwara Moxque, which is being demolished by Sikhs.

The total deaths since the outbreak of the trouble yesterday are estimated at 10. The actual number is not ascertainable due to the native custom of quickly removing the slain and wounded.

Cavalry and armored car units were summoned today to support the Royal Scots Guard who have been doing duty under the blazing sun.

The fighting continued through most of the night and became violent early today when the stone-throwing Moslems advanced on the troops. Fifty policemen, including five of the British force, were injured. One cavalryman fell from his horse and was trampled to death.

The moslem crowd of about 2,000 was shut off from the mosque by barbed wire entanglements. But throughout the night, defying orders to disperse, the moslems increased their ranks. This morning they became violent. They stormed the troops, hurling bricks, stones and other missiles.

The troops warned they would fire, but this failed to halt the onrush. Six rounds were fired and the moslems fell back.

Island Subsidy Claims Vitally Dependant On Return Of Conservatives

The most significant Liberal statement in the present election campaign was made at Montague on Monday night by Mr. Thane A. Campbell, Liberal leader, when he admitted that "a balanced budget does not necessarily mean no increase in debt."

The whole Liberal appeal is based on the promise of making revenue and expenditure meet. Mr. Lea, in announcing the first Liberal platform, promised a balanced budget ON ORDINARY ACCOUNT. The three last words were deleted from the subsequent edition of the platform. Why was this done? Obviously to fool the people into believing that this would not be a repetition of the past Liberal record.

Fake Liberal surpluses on ordinary account have always resulted in INCREASED DEBT. Ex-Premier Saunders, who produced fake surpluses in 1928-1929, writing to Mackenzie King in December, 1928, complained that he COULD NOT MAKE REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE MEET. His successor, Mr. Lea, who produced a fake surplus in 1930, presented claims before the Dominion Audit Board for $438,000 FOR THE PURPOSE OF BALANCING THE BUDGET. The Audit Board, in reporting back to Ottawa, said: "The Provinces of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island showed DEFICITS in their Public Accounts."

These deficits were paraded as "surpluses" in the Liberal press!

A continuation of this policy is the only panacea the Liberal party has to offer for our economic ills.

It resulted under the Saunders-Lea Government in a debt increase of $1,177,000, over half a million dollars of which was incurred in their last eight months.

That period, they say, was the most prosperous in Canada's history!

It was, according to Ex-Premier Saunders in his letter to Finance Minister Robb, "THE OPPORTUNE TIME" to have pressed our subsidy claims at Ottawa.

WHY DIDN'T THEY PRESS THEM?

Not only did they fail to press our claims, BUT THEY REFUSED TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE OTHER MARITIME PROVINCES AND WITH THE MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE, WEN A JOINT PRESENTATION WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY HAVE FORCED THE MACKENZIE KING GOVERNMENT TO TAKE ACTION.

The loss to this Province, through their criminal disregard of everything but partisan political interests, figured on the basis of the $150,000 increase obtained last year by the MacMillan Government, amounts to THREE QUARTERS OF A MILLION DOLLARS.

During that time, the people of this Province were paying more taxes into the Dominion Treasury than they have paid under the Bennett administration.

"Past history!" say the Liberal party leaders, "We are only concerned with the future finances of the Province."

WHERE WOULD THE FUTURE FINANCES BE BUT FOR THE THREE CONSERVATIVE SUBSIDY INCREASES, OF $100,000, $125,000, AND $150,000 RESPECTIVELY, OBTAINED SINCE 1912 AFTER LAURIER HAD "BARRED THE DOOR"?

Where will it be in the future if efforts are not made to implement the findings of the minority report of the White Commission, which recommends further subsidy increase on the ground of fiscal need?

Mr. Thane Campbell, who in the event of a Liberal victory is likely to be the next Liberal Premier, says the minority report of the White Commission is valueless. The last settlement, he says, is "final and unalterable." THE VERY WORDS USED BY LAURIER IN 1907!

The policy of the MacMillan Government is to press this additional claim. THAT IS THEIR PLATFORM. The policy of the Liberal party is to ignore this claim, as they have consistently ignored our subsidy claims in the past. THAT IS THEIR PLATFORM, in which not one word about subsidy claims appears.

The smoke screen of irrelevant issues has cleared away. The main issue stands out clear and unmistakeable.

THE CONSERVATIVE POLICY OF CONTINUED CO-OPERATION WITH OTTAWA AND THE OTHER MARITIME PROVINCES, based on the Conservative record of achievement, is PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND'S ONLY HOPE!

BASEBALL

Pioneers and Red Wings renew their series to-night.

When the Red Wings and Pioneers line up for their fifth game in the playoffs here to-night no appreciable changes in the two teams are expected.

Wilson or Durant will be the starting pitcher for the Wings while Gay is practically certain to start for the Pioneers. Schurman will likely be at first with Ward back at short and Millman in the outfield. There is a possibility of Jim McInnis playing short and Ward going to the outfield but this will not be certain until game time.

Lorne Monkley, the popular young manager of the Red Wings, and also of the All Stars, will be back on the bench directing his warriors, after an absence of 2 days during which he has been attending military camp at Charlottetown.

Interviewing "Dave" Lidstone, captain of the All Stars, he stated that with Monkley back, they expected to take the All Stars to Charlottetown this week to play the return game of the Dominion Day tussle.

This game will be of particular interest to fans of both localities, especially at a time when the Island play-offs are only about two weeks away.—D.

MANCHESTER, England, July 17—Cricket authorities here figure they have as much chance to make both ends meet as to win a sweepstake. Every time an important match was billed early this season, it rained. Whitsuntide was to have seen the turning point. But the holiday was all tide and very little sun.
