Three Days To Go

The following telegram was received yesterday by Executive Chairman George S. Inman, K. C., in response to a telegraph asking for support of the Protestant Orphanage:

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 27. George S. Inman, Executive Chairman of the Protestant Orphanage Campaign, Charlottetown, P. E. I. Today I have despatched cheque for one hundred dollars for the Protestant Orphanage. (Sgd) G. A. Warburton, M. D. In response to a telegram sent at the request of B. Roy Holman, captain of Team 11, the following letter was received from J. A. Marven, Limited, biscuit manufacturers, Moncton, N. B., addressed to the Executive Committee:

October 27, 1924 Gentlemen: We are in receipt of your wire asking for subscription to your Orphanage and are pleased to enclose you our cheque for $100.00. We trust that your campaign will be quite satisfactory and that you will get good support from your Island citizens.

J. A. Marven, Limited Per S. L. Holder, Secy Treasurer

F. Wendell Tidmarsh, M. D., spoke last night to the volunteer corps. He said that it is the brightest of every child in the orphanage at Mt. Herbert to be fed, clothed, housed and sheltered, and trained in the path of good Christian citizenship.

Dr. Tidmarsh praised the volunteers for their splendid report, declaring that it was "the thought of the Protestant Orphans turning us with arms outstretched, begging for our help."

"We cannot give these children what naturally should be theirs—But we can give them our love, our Christian fellowship—and we can open our hearts to them. Prince Edward Island has not lost its ideals; its ideals have changed. This is the era of service, and the beauty and the value of service are paramount," continued Dr. Tidmarsh.

"When you leave this room on Friday night, with your goal achieved," he added, "you will have fulfilled a monument that shall ever be a credit to Prince Edward Island. You are helping nobly, fellow-workers, in the great upward progress of our race."

When he closed his talk, the building echoed and re-echoed with the applause. Executive Chairman George S. Inman, K. C., spoke briefly to give a few further instructions to the volunteer corps, as directed by Campaign Director Barber.

Professor W. E. Fletcher led the volunteer army in the singing of Campaign Songs, composed for the occasion by Mr. Barber. Prof. Fletcher had the women sing in competition with the men. He also had the married men sing in competition with what he pleased to call the "real men," by which he meant bachelors. The songs were sung with great fervor by the married men—assisted by their wives—As there were only three "real men"—three blushing, embarrassed single men—each pleaded first that he couldn't sing and second that he had a cold. Happily, Professor Fletcher was open to reason, so the single men escaped.

Executive Chairman Inman expressed himself as pleased with the result. Mr. Inman urged the volunteer workers to turn to the "Klondike" box, as he declared it was a veritable gold mine. "Last year, in the P. E. Island Hospital campaign," said Chairman Inman, "some of my team's best subscriptions came as a result of calling upon this 'Klondike'—the gold mine which is open to all workers."

Every man and woman listened eagerly to the report from Summerside, and in justice to that fair city challenged as it is by Montague O'Leary and Alberton, let it be remembered that almost the entire Executive Committee was absent from the city all of yesterday. Charlottetown's men and women campaigners were delighted to hear that Montague had accepted a challenge across three counties to the Queen City of Prince County. Chairman Inman's corps wonders if Summerside will take up the gauge of battle. "Will Summerside take the deft, and will it fight?" was the question on every lip last night.

Mr. Geldart on China

have been weak leaders and cause for dissatisfaction of the present. The direct cause of the arises civil war however was the act of the Central Peking Government in giving permission to the governor of Shanghai that the latter make war against the rebellious province of Chekiang which had refused for some time to pay federal taxes.

A battle line was created around Shanghai, where the arsenal was the desired prize. The news came days ago that the rebel governor had fled to Japan leaving the fighting party in control. At the same time however as the southern war, Chang Tso-lin a warlord in northern Manchuria made plain his intention of advancing against Peking. The northern front centred at the Great Wall near the Pacific Coast and this fighting was of but a desultory nature. As a climax came the startling news that the Christian General, Leng-Lui-hsiang had seized Peking. Some three years ago there was a little quiet talk that Gen. Feng would be the Cromwell of China. His standing in the army, forty percent of whom are Christians, might well be termed ironclad. They were kept rigidly disciplined, physically and morally. Feng stood for the younger statesmen and good, progressive government. If he succeeded in bringing about, as he seemed desirous, a republic, he would usher in a new day for China, and an ultimate lasting peace.

There was no opposition to General Feng because he was a Christian nor in fact was there now in China any very real general religious prejudice such as had been rampant twenty years ago.

The speaker was of course concerned with the world-wide outlook of the "Y" and especially with its work in China. Here it enacted among the youth of the country exactly the same four-fold program as was in force in America. The same was true of the other forty or more countries in which the Association was active.

In China there were 173 active "Y" workers including fifteen men from Canada, two being from the maritimes—Moncton, to be exact. The missionary work of the Association differed from that of the churches in its four fold work and it contained the one solution of China's problem in that it was the best organ for the creating of a sufficient bulk of intelligent good will for the bringing about of a personal union with the West.

Replying to questions Mr. Geldart stated the present resolutions similar to those causing previous rebellions. The government of the different provinces were virtually warlords and there was in China more soldiers than franks.

A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. J. A. Clark and seconded by Mr. R. H. Jenkins was extended to the speaker at the conclusion of his address. The vote of thanks was also extended to the Ladies' Auxiliary for the splendid supper provided and to the Black Cat Orchestra which had played many pleasing musical selections during the meal.

Police Chief Says

son and as Chief of Police. Acts which in the case of other men might be strictly private could not be considered in the police record. The Chief was interrogated on visits he had paid to various establishments and as to the nature of such places.

It was certain that he had never met Tony Frank or Frank Gambino at the Chateaugay, home of Emile Delisle, proprietor of an East end hotel. He had been visiting Delisle at Chateaugay for ten years, said the Chief.

Regarding places of ill-fame kept by Frank and Gambino, the Chief declared that he learned of such when raids were made on them. He believed he had known of the Frank places for two years at least, and of the Gambino establishments for a year. It was at this point that he denied having received anything from these houses.

With regard to his own pecuniary affairs, Chief Belanger said that he had borrowed money from Inspector Robert and from Mrs. Egan, wife of Inspector Egan. He had also borrowed from Ernest Belanger, his nephew, and from Arthur Belanger, both of the police force. He had repaid these loans, with the exception of that to Ernest Belanger. He did not recall having borrowed anything from the other officers.

ers to the effect that it is the duty of the officers and men of the British navy whose names are on the electoral rolls to record their votes on election day.

ABERAVON WALES, Oct. 28.—Prime Minister MacDonald was forced by illness to go to bed this afternoon on the eve of the general election, the Premier cancelled his proposed speech with which he had planned to close his campaign. MacDonald was exhausted from a strenuous tour and had been suffering from insomnia.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Premier MacDonald in his final appeal to the nation before voting tomorrow says "It is the end of the hardest fight I have ever known. Signs of Labor victories are unmistakable."

Each of the three political parties has issued its manifesto to the electors. The chief points of the Government's statement are— WORK FOR PEACE—For this the Labour Government has continuously worked; and it has already achieved much. The Government has refused to exclude the Russian people with whom it is essential to resume our trade in the interests of our unemployed and the country as a whole.

WORK FOR HOUSING—In face of much opposition, the Government has passed into law the great Housing Charter. FIRST LABOUR BUDGET—The Government has swept away no less than £30,000,000 a year of taxes on the people's food just six times as much in eight months as the Liberal Government did in eight years. Is it not because the Labour Government has refused to exclude the Russian people with whom it is essential to resume our trade in the interests of our unemployed and the country as a whole.

UNEMPLOYMENT—Apart from the necessary transformation of the whole industrial system, the only practical way of dealing satisfactorily with unemployment is working out of a constructive policy of national development, along with the restoration, through pacification of the production and trade of other nations. During the past nine months the number of unemployed has been reduced by considerably over 100,000. Labour's slogan still remains "Work or maintenance."

CONSERVATIVE. Call for Stable Government. The Conservative manifesto contains the following points:— CAMPBELL CASE AND RUSSIAN TREATY.—The Socialist Minority Government have forced a rushed election upon the country. Under pressure from the same extreme section which reversed the considered action of the Attorney General in the Campbell case, the Government hurriedly patched up a makeshift treaty with the Soviet Union.

UNEMPLOYMENT—by dissolving Parliament, the Government are not only also hoping to obscure their utter failure to deal with unemployment. At the end of September the unemployment figure was 180,000 higher than at the end of June.

SAFEGUARDING OF INDUSTRY. While a general tariff is no part of our programme, we are determined to safeguard the employment and standard of living of our people in any official treaty or unfair foreign competition, by applying the principle of the Safeguarding of Industries or by analogous measures.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE AND UNITY.—The best hope of industrial revival lies in the development of the Empire and trade of the British Empire. IMPERIAL FOREIGN POLICY.—The foreign policy of this country must be such as will command its self to the Dominions and must be carried on in closest consultation with their Governments.

AGRICULTURE.—The Unionist Party, if returned to power, will summon a representative conference in the hope of arriving at an agreed policy by which the arable acreage may be maintained and regular employment and adequate wages secured to the agricultural worker.

COST OF FOODSTUFFS—This demands careful investigation by a Royal Commission. HOUSING—After pointing out that the best tribute to the success of the Housing Act of 1923 is that the Labour Government have prolonged by the first section of their own Housing Act its operation until the year 1939. Mr. Baldwin advocates the development and employment of new materials and new methods of construction. Mr. Baldwin appeals for a broad and stable Government based on an independent majority in Parliament.

Grand Total for tonight $1,014.30 Charles R. Rogers, Vice-Chairman commanding, Miss Carrie Holman, Chairman Woman's Division, and Harold Lee Stephens, Field Organizer, made a whirlwind excursion to Kensington this evening and held a meeting in that town to organize the community. As a result a strong committee has been formed. Sixteen team workers have been enlisted, and will take the field tomorrow to get subscriptions from Kensington.

Mayor Profit is Chairman of the Kensington Division, and Mrs. Preston Kennedy has accepted the chairmanship of the woman's organization. In addition to these two Kensington citizens, the following also are on the Divisional Executive: Mrs. D. McKenzie, W. Champion, J. A. McKenzie, and James J. Profit.

The Kensington Division also will canvass the Kensington School District and outlying points. Kensington has announced its determination to beat Montague the Magnificent, which yesterday challenged Summerside to a race for the most contributions. Kensington, Montague, Summerside, O'Leary, Alberton—next?

ed on an independent majority in Parliament. LIBERAL. The chief points of the Liberal programme are:— ARMAMENTS.—The Liberal Party are in full sympathy with all efforts for mutual disarmament, but they have been unable to prevent the Government from increasing military estimates by £12,000,000, or starting a naval race in the building of new cruisers.

RUSSIA.—The Liberal Party are in favour of restoring economic and commercial relations with the Russian people. UNEMPLOYMENT—The confident assertion was made (at the last election) that the Labour Party alone had a positive remedy for unemployment. At that time the number of unemployed persons was 1,153,600; the most recent return (September, 1924) shows the number has swollen to 1,398,800, and it is still increasing. The Government's policy on this vital question has been one of drift and indecision.

HOUSING—Fewer houses are now being begun than when the Government came into office. The Liberal policy is to insist that the reserve of unemployed shall be utilized to build houses. LAND AND AGRICULTURE.—The long-standing neglect of agriculture in Great Britain must be redressed. The Liberal land policy would combine the advantages of ownership and of tenancy without the disadvantage of either.
