

Fairbanks-Morse Stock Pumps

The Fairbanks-Morse Stock Pump is not just another pump. When Fairbanks-Morse & Co. decided to build a pump for handling wood pulp stock and other fibrous or stringy material, they consulted with Mr. A. B. Wood, an outstanding authority and designer of pumps of this nature.

The CANADIAN Fairbanks-Morse COMPANY Limited

ABSORBINE

WILL REDUCE Inflamed, Strained, Swollen Tendons, Ligaments or Muscles. Stops the lameness and pain from a Sprain, Side Bone or Bone Spavin. No blister, no hair gone, and horse can be used.

Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Eastern King's Exhibition Association, will be held in McQuaid Building, Souris, on March 17th, at 2:30 p. m.

TENDERS

Tenders are invited for all or in part of the undermentioned lumber, to be delivered at my ranch in Grahams Road, Emerald.

FARM FOR SALE

Farm for Sale at Tryon, containing 73 acres, nearly all clear and in a good state of cultivation.

AUCTION SALE

Auction Sale of choice household furniture at 172 Sydney Street, on Friday, March 16th, commencing at 10:30 sharp.

AUCTION SALE

I am instructed by the Executors of the late Artemas Clow to sell by Public Auction on the premises at North Wiltshire, all his Real and Personal property, on Saturday, March 17th, 1927.

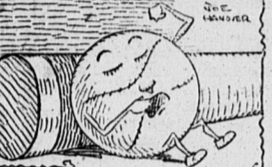

SMILES

Sometimes it's impossible to straighten things out when you're in wrong.

REPUTATION GONE "He used to have the reputation of never starting anything he couldn't finish."

WON'T BE LONG Baseball: Ho-hum, I guess I'll have to be waking up soon now!

THAT'S OUR BET, TOO Wife (reading): This humorist says the modern mother can hold safety-pins and a cigarette in her mouth at the same time.

WENT TO HER HEAD "What's the matter with Marie? She acts like she's drunk."

Stop your suffering—use PAZO OINTMENT

Shore Farm For Sale

1/2 mile from the town of Souris, containing 90 acres, 20 acres plowed for seed potatoes and with first class buildings, ideal farm for seed potatoes.

L. O. A. R. A.

The Annual Meeting of the R. W. Grand Orange Lodge of P. E. Island, will be held in the Orange Hall, Hunter River, on Wednesday, March 21st, 1927, at 1 o'clock p. m.

MISS BROWN OF X. Y. O.

By E. Phillips Oppenheim (Copyright 1927 by E. Phillips Oppenheim)

Miss Brown sat quite still. He had released her hand now. She too it away and rubbed it gently. She bent over and examined the place where his signet ring had left a little mark.

"I think Frances is the dearest girl in the world," she confided, "and I am sure that she likes you, too. Next time you meet, if I were you, I should tell her just what you have told me."

"You really think," he asked eagerly, "that she would not be angry?" "I am quite sure that she would be proud, and I believe glad," Miss Brown declared.

"They are just as likely to do that," he assured her, "as to come into this room. For one thing, Bretskept the people's copy here, on what he calls an official visit, was spending the night in a fashion which, if publicly known, would bring disgrace upon him.

"I have not spoken as I should have done of the gratitude which is in my heart," he declared. "I am proud that you two young ladies should have been so wonderfully kind, that you should have permitted me the shelter of your room, and I am glad, Miss Brown, that I found courage to tell you what I am feeling for Miss Frances."

MISS BROWN'S first few days at Camberley were unproductive of any event of importance. She had to attend to a somewhat voluminous correspondence which plainly indicated the nature of Lady Hanterton's political sympathies.

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles, Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

SALE OF C. G. S. "BRANT" TENDERS are invited for the purchase of Canadian Government Steamship Brant, now the Marine Duck, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS SUPERVISION COMMITTEE Ottawa, March 9, 1927.

FARM FOR SALE

I offer for sale my farm situated at Springfield, Lot 67, 1 1/2 miles from Bradalbane Station, consisting of 103 acres, 90 acres clear and in a high state of cultivation.

small study which had been given up for her use.

"Plenty of work for you this morning, Miss Brown," she announced, handing her two long sheets of paper. "I want three copies of these lists of names. Be careful to get the regimental numbers right and the numbers of the battalions. Also you will see that after each name there are either one, two or three crosses, or a query. Those marks tell me just what the political opinions of the men are, and what chance I have of getting them to vote for me.

"I have come to the conclusion," Lady Hanterton went on, after a moment's hesitation, "that you are a person in whom I can place entire trust. I want you to go to preserve all your notebooks and let me have them when you leave. It is a foolish idea of mine, perhaps, but people are so inquisitive and the newspapers might distort the most harmless remarks."

He walked to the door with her and summoned a taxicab, standing on the pavement for a last word, as he handed her in.

MISS BROWN'S first few days at Camberley were unproductive of any event of importance. She had to attend to a somewhat voluminous correspondence which plainly indicated the nature of Lady Hanterton's political sympathies.

She telephoned on several occasions to Dessiter and exchanged a few guarded words. On the fifth morning, Lady Hanterton, in a warm rose-colored dressing gown, trimmed with fur, came into the

my views. I particularly want the vote of every soldier, because being a soldier's widow I mean to fight for more than any one else. I tell the general the same thing; I tell all the officers whenever they come here to dine. I think the privates and non-commissioned officers are the worst-paid men in the army."

There was some slight applause, a definite undertone of sympathetic approbation, several questions to which Lady Hanterton replied. "I suppose you all read the papers," Lady Hanterton went on presently. "You know that preparations are going on for what looks as though it might turn out to be a universal strike. They'll probably want to make use of the army to do all sorts of work they never ought to be asked to do while this trouble is on, but one thing I want to point out to you is that the end of it all will probably be either what we hear so much about nowadays—a revolution—or else considerably higher pay for the workers, while you will remain exactly where you were before."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

with immovable face

Lady Hanterton trailed out, leaving behind her an odor of bath salts and kindred perfumes. Miss Brown bent over her task. Typed for some hours, ate her exceedingly moderate luncheon comfortably at a small table drawn up to the fire, and typed again until 10 o'clock. By that time the lists were finished, and neatly pinned together. Lady Hanterton, looking more attractive than ever in a quiet, but very fashionably made house gown, looked them through, murmured a few words of approval and took Miss Brown with her into the larger room where a score or so of women were seated whispering together. Lady Hanterton greeted them all smiling.

"I'm so glad you've come to have a little talk with me," she said hospitably. "Do draw up as close to the fire as you can. It seems to get colder and colder. Plenty of toast, please, Mary," she told the parlour maid.

Tea was served, and very thoughtfully served. Afterward Lady Hanterton sat in an easy chair and smoked one of the cigarettes which were handed round.

"Of course you know what my ambition is," she began. "I want to get into Parliament and I must warn you that I am very liberal in my views. I particularly want the vote of every soldier, because being a soldier's widow I mean to fight for more than any one else. I tell the general the same thing; I tell all the officers whenever they come here to dine. I think the privates and non-commissioned officers are the worst-paid men in the army."

There was some slight applause, a definite undertone of sympathetic approbation, several questions to which Lady Hanterton replied. "I suppose you all read the papers," Lady Hanterton went on presently. "You know that preparations are going on for what looks as though it might turn out to be a universal strike. They'll probably want to make use of the army to do all sorts of work they never ought to be asked to do while this trouble is on, but one thing I want to point out to you is that the end of it all will probably be either what we hear so much about nowadays—a revolution—or else considerably higher pay for the workers, while you will remain exactly where you were before."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

my views. I particularly want the vote of every soldier, because being a soldier's widow I mean to fight for more than any one else. I tell the general the same thing; I tell all the officers whenever they come here to dine. I think the privates and non-commissioned officers are the worst-paid men in the army."

There was some slight applause, a definite undertone of sympathetic approbation, several questions to which Lady Hanterton replied. "I suppose you all read the papers," Lady Hanterton went on presently. "You know that preparations are going on for what looks as though it might turn out to be a universal strike. They'll probably want to make use of the army to do all sorts of work they never ought to be asked to do while this trouble is on, but one thing I want to point out to you is that the end of it all will probably be either what we hear so much about nowadays—a revolution—or else considerably higher pay for the workers, while you will remain exactly where you were before."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

There was a little uneasy movement among the women. Even those who had come in contented and smiling, were looking gloomy. "Her Ladyship's right," one woman muttered. "I'll tell my Tom what I think when I get home."

TO TEACHERS!

Come to Niagara Falls in July—don't wait for your "honey-moon" to see the Great Cataract. Children in public and parochial schools who write best essays on "Wheat" come with their teachers at our expense. The conditions are easy.

Write for particulars to THE CANADIAN SHREDDED WHEAT COMPANY, Ltd. Niagara Falls, Ontario

Great Nine Day Shoe Sale At Alley & Co's Limited Sale Starts 9 O'clock Friday Morning, March 16th

Continues Each Day Until Saturday March 24th

Our stock is still much too large—we are bound to lower it at any cost—Every article reduced—The goods are so displayed, you may practically wait on yourself—Reduced price and size on each article—We quote a few of the attractions below—Be sure and read our prices on Rubber Boots, Lumbermans heavy rubbers and overshoes.

THIS IS A GRAND OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE YOUR SPRING PURCHASES OF FOOTWEAR.

For Women

- Women's Black Kid Strap house slippers, Low heels, wonderful value at 95c
Stroller Tan Calfskin, 3 eyelet tie shoes with Reptile trim, Cuban heels, very chic $2.45
Patent Leather one strap pumps, with New Spring trimmings, different heels, at $2.45, $2.95 and $3.45
Many shades in pretty Comfy Felt Slippers, ribbon trim and Pom-pom 75c
Black kid one strap pumps, with Cuban heels (rubber top lift). An eye opener $2.45
Growing Girls, high class Goodyear Welted Brown or Black Calfskin laced boots, with regulation low heels, reduced from $6.00 to $2.95
Women's Farm boots, Amherst and other good makes, all sizes at $2.45

Ladies Silk Hosiery

- Penman's silk to the welt, popular colours 79c
Better grade, 12 strand silk thread 98c
Outsize hose, elastic tops, sizes 9 1/2 to 10 1/2 98c
All other elastic top lines 59c
All broken lines of regular $2.25 and $2.00 lines at $1.69

For Misses

- Box Kip Blucher Boots, Panco soles, Amherst make, solid as a rock $1.95
Patent leather strap pumps, good solid soles, a wearer $1.65
Brown leather Oxfords, solid throughout and comfortable $1.95

For Children

- Boots and slippers, many kinds, well displayed for your choosing at $1.45, $1.15 and 95c

Rubber Goods

Table with 4 columns: Item, Men's, Boys', Youths'. Rows include Rubber Boots, Red soles, Knee high; Rubber Boots, Red soles Thigh Height; Lumbermans, Moccasin style; Lumbermans, Moccasin Style, White Soles; Women's Rubber Boots, $2.15; Misses, 11 to 2, $1.85; Child, 7 to 10, $1.60; Special Brand ordinary rubbers, Men's 90c; Boys' 78c; Youths 69c; Special Brand ordinary rubbers, Women's 70c; Girls', 11 to 2, 62c; Childs 55c.

Absolutely at factory prices, the balance of all other Lumbermans Rubbers and all over shoes.

Charlottetown, P. E. I. ALLEY & CO LIMITED Terms Cash $5.00 Order by Mail Free