BEAUTY! SONG! LOVE! AND HAYWORTH TOO!

Columbia's "Cover Girl," the ten best musicals of the year rolled into one, starring gorgeous Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly, is now showing at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Glamour! . . . Romance! Technicolor! The wonder of love is in it . . . the opulence of beauty . . . the brilliance of imagination . . . 15 of America's most beautiful Cover Girls! It was too thrilling for words so they set it to the lilting melodies of Jerome Kern. All this and Hayworth too. "Cover Girl" is a memorable experience you'll always cherish.

Besides its stars, Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly, the cast includes the featured players Lee Bowman, Phil Silvers, Jinx Falkenburg and the Cover Girls. Other players are Leslie Brooks, Eve Arden, Otto Kruger, Jess Barker, Anita Colby and Curt Bois.

The music is by Jerome Kern, the lyrics by Ira Gershwin. It was directed by Charles Vidor, from the screenplay of Virginia Van Upp.

By An Island Farmer's Wife

tained others. I heard one tell a story that I liked. They had been discussing the bravery of the people in Great Britain. It seems that once two men were talking; an Englishman and an American. The Englishman said: "We always win the last battle of the war." And the American said wonderingly: "But supposing you lost it?" "Oh then" was the reply "that wouldn't be the last one!"

There was a small girl visitor — Barbara — only recently commencing school and liking it. I have noticed girls do! She likes also to play at being grown, for yesterday she discarded her Sunday sandals to don a pair of my best shoes. I thought how strange is human nature. One would be old, another young. And there was a bright young lad who visited me, a Canadian only one generation removed from England. I liked to hear him talk. I'm afraid I was not very polite for I asked him many questions, mainly to hear his accent—not altogether Canadian. One young lady visitor, performs a man-sized work, in connection with farming in a busy concern in the city. There was a time in pre-war days when this position was held only by the sterner-sex. Whether for good or ill, I can not say, but of necessity, the war has opened almost every vocation to women-kind. I'm afraid when post-war days arrive, those of—my—sex will be reluctant to leave their chosen work to others. Perhaps they will never have to vacate the new fields they have entered for in the post-war world, I hope there shall be "bread and work for all," wherever one chooses to be.

This morning, sunny and beautiful pleased James very well although he told me he wished "a snap of frost" would come to "knock" the potatoes. But frost would never pass-by the cucumber-bed in the garden. It would be certain to touch them with a cold caressing hand. It was a very good harvest day and before noon, leaving me alone, the others went to Rob's to complete the harvesting there. They were done early for as I went about the evening-chores I heard them returning. There was the noise of horses' hooves and the clatter of the grain wagons. Rob's car too with the trailer filled with the threshing-gear to be set in preparation for work at Alderlea tomorrow.

James is interested in the sky tonight. A bit, I tell him, like the moon-man in "A Tangled Web" only there is no moon, just stars. When I mention that it might be a good idea for us to take up the study of astrology again he says: "You won't be so funny in the morning". Well maybe he is right for tomorrow will likely be a busier that usual day. But as Aunt Kitty Mahoney used to say: "The hotter the war; the sooner peace."

Until tomorrow — Diary—good-night.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my darling husband Ab Alfred Raymond Cudmore, RCNVR, who was missing on the H.M.C.S. Ottawa on Sept. 15th, 1942.

I seem to see in the soft, dim light
A face I loved the best,
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off west.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going,
For absence can never close the door of my heart
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world
Your love the best to recall,
For no one on earth could take your place
You are still the dearest of all.

Sadly missed by wife Alice. 9-18-11

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. John P. DesRoche, who died Sept. 18, 1943.

Today is a day of remembrance,
With many sad regrets
A day I shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
I think of you in silence,
And often repeat your name
What would I give to hear your voice
And see your face again.

Fondly remembered by her daughter, Mrs. Henry Perry. 9-18-11

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving memory of late Mrs. B. H. Carruthers who died suddenly in O'Leary, P.E.I. on Sept. 18, 1936.

No one knows how much we miss her
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost her
Life has never been the same.
Though her smile is gone forever
And her hand we cannot touch
We shall always cherish memories
Of the one we loved so much.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When they sometimes see us smile
But they little know the hearache
That the smile hides all the while.

Inserted by husband and family. 9-18-11

THE KIRK PULPIT

Preaching yesterday morning on the text "And Gideon put a trumpet in every man's hand" (Judges 7:16) the minister, the Rev. T. H. Bussell Somers, said: The priesthood of all believers "is the foundation of the Church and her membership. The trumpet in every man's hand is the true democracy, for that word—much-used but little studied—has no meaning apart from God. We cannot have a democracy (government by the people) until first of all we have a theocracy (government by God). Human liberty is inseparable from divine law. The only place where freedom dare be universal is in the Kingdom of God.

There is no possible solution of the problems of the world today on a secular basis. If we had been reading our Bibles and especially the Old Testament prophets and the Sermon on the Mount, we should have realized that long ago, and, if we had not actually closed our volumes of psychology and economics, we should have read them alongside this profound and sacred literature which has made both our langauge and our life. One of the most significant things in present-day happenings is the new effort to get Christianity back into the schools. With all the bright new notions current in the nineteen-twenties and nineteen-thirties to the effect that religion was quite unnecessary and that "secular education" was "modern" and "practical', it has been found so disastrous to expel religion from the schools that the clergy are now despairingly besought to bestir themselves to get it back again.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Lieut. Wm. A. Johnston, lost at sea, Sept., 1943.

Dear Bill:

I think of you in silence
And oft repeat your name
But all that's left to answer
Is your photo in a frame.
Though parted by the hand of God
In Christ united still,
In God's own time we'll meet again
For Jesus says we will.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

The services in Trinity United Church on Sunday, September 17, were well attended. At the morning service the minister spoke on "Appreciation" and reminded people what an important place appreciation or lack of it plays in human experience and human relations. He referred to the gifts of God in nature that bring forth only spasmodic appreciation but which are always without interruption. In particular the minister referred to the deep appreciation which Jesus had of that which is worthy in human character. He pointed out how Jesus was able to discover in personalities that to the ordinary person revealed that which could be criticised. Jesus saw in them that which was to be loved and in such instances as Zacchaeus and Mary Magdalene through his appreciation he created in them a desire to be the kind of person that Jesus thought it was possible for them to be. In closing the Minister challenged the people of the congregation to try for themselves to discover the best spiritual value that lie in learning to appreciate that which is loved in God and every human personality.

The solo'st in the morning was Mr. Roy Smallman who sang "O Saviour, Hear Me".

In the evening the Minister spoke on "Unity in God" and referred to the great task of the Christian religion in making real to individuals and to the world the vast unity of all things in Christ.

The Choir rendered the Anthem "Teach me, O Lord"—Attwood.

In the Senior Sunday School and the Junior Department beautifully colored slides were shown depicting the Marine mission work of the United Church of Christ on the West Coast.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The service of morning worship was conducted by the Rev. I. Judson Levy B. A. The sermon was "The Things of Caesar and the Things of God." In the New Testament lesson of the morning are found the words of Jesus, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." How far should the Church be interested in the World? What must be the relation of the Church to the State? We are building, in blood and sweat and tears, a new world---will it be a better world? How far can the principles of Christianity be brought to bear on the problems of a new world?

The State is a power unit, exercising control, maintaining order within its borders, offering protection of its people from peril and attack from without. The State exercises its will by force. Christianity brings its powers to bear through love and persuasion. Some years ago Mussolini said "the world is divided into two areas, Church and State, each supreme in its own field" and the statement was true but his departure from its truth was definite. The modern word of Germany was "churchmen who dabble in politics must be told that their interest is in the hereafter." I believe that it is not the function of the Church to work out political and economic programmes but it is up to the Church to see that such programmes shall be animated by the spirit of Christianity. Education is an affair of the State but the Church is concerned with the way men shall use the knowledge thy receive. In days to come Caesar must recognize God and bow the knee before Him. Unles the State recognizes God, the totalitarian peril is before us. Christian people must pay their full obligation to God. We are paying our debts to Caesar, it is ours also to pay our debt to God in life and means and sacrifice.

The anthem of the morning "Gently Lord, Gently Lead Us," in arrangement by Porter.

The Church School returned to regular hour of session 2.30 p. m. with encouraging attendance.

The sermon by Mr. Levy at the evening worship service was "The Little Thing That Matters." Farrant's "Lord, For Thy Tender Mercy's Sake" was the evening anthem. Mrs. G. Eliot Full, organist and director of choir was in charge of the music of the day.
